It is significant that this Toronto conference is drawing nearly 70 delegates from India alone. Many of these are women of good circumstances who have never before left their families—to say nothing of their country—unaccompanied by their husbands. They were inspired to make this trip because of the 1952 meeting held in their own land. They will go back to India as irrevocably changed by their experience as were most of the western delegates who visited India for the first time in 1952.

And some of us are realizing that we had better make sure that their change will be for the better—theirs and ours alike; that they will go back home inspired by the promise they have seen and the ideas received, rather than merely bitter over the contrast—the brutally unnecessary contrast—between what we have and what they do not have. This is a very important meeting, and it more than justifies 500 miles of night-time driving.

One Man's Opinion

By LEON STEWARD

Here is a young man from San Diego. After finishing high school, during which time he worked in an aircraft plant, and also played a full part in school activities, John A. Graham concluded that he would attend the Los Angeles College of Chiropractic. While there he was initiated into the Delta Tau Alpha fraternity, which requires an average grade of "B" or better. Dr. Graham D.C. says he was the first of his race to be so honored. He later became president of his class. Less than a year after graduation Dr. Graham was married to Miss Lorraine Stimmonds. Their marriage date was September 15, 1948.

The doctor appears to be quite aware of the community of which he is a part. He gets around in it and what he says he sees reveals that he wants to serve his community. We wish him well in this regard and expect great things of him. His office—and a nice one it is—is located at 9703 Grandee Ave.

Atty. Ted Schaffer

One of the up-and-coming barristers in this community is Atty. Theodore "Ted" Schaffer, who came out of a South Pacific Quartermaster Corps in which he served for two years as a sergeant and jumped right into USC to continue where he had left off when called to the war, and never stopped until he had secured an A.B. degree in Economics in 1950, nor never paused until he had gotten his law degree, LLB.

We met him first at 177 W. Jefferson. More recently we have found Ted at Walter Gordon's offices. He explained that Atty. Gordon offered him a partnership and that caused him to make up his mind.

Atty. Schaffer "Up-and-Coming"

A Portland Lad

Ted started life in Portland, Ore. He came to L.A. to complete his high school work, after which he studied for two years at L.A. City College. He was working at Lockheed Aircraft Inc. when he was called to the colors.

We first met Ted Schaffer when he was a participating member of Kappa Alpha Psi. His social interest now is the Tweedsmen's Social Club.

Mr. Schaffer is also a member of the Langston Law Club, the Criminal Courts Bar Association, the Urban League, the NAACP and the Western Knights No. 56 F and A.M. These are to his credit as a young man interested in his community. We look for great things in the not too distant future from Atty. Theo. (Ted) M. Schaffer.

On The Book Shelf

PICTURES FROM AN INSTITUTION—by Randall Jarrell

Many practicing novelists begin as poets, but keep the fact hidden, as if it were some aberration of their nonage, to pass over quickly and in silence. Here, however, we have a practicing poet, and a good one—who after years of work in that medium, tries his hand at a novel. And an entertaining novel it is, being what is all too rare in this country, an intellectual comedy. The sharp pictures of university life, and the follies of the well—or perhaps over — educated, will amuse many readers. We recommend the book for everyone who, after hours of television commercials or radio crooners, suddenly longs for a little civilized wit.

Letters to the Editor

(Editor's Note: The manager of the W. T. Grant Co., in response to a telephone inquiry from the Eagle, emphatically denied that there is any policy of discrimination any place in the store.)

To the Editor.

I am reporting an experience, without exaggeration, to the Negro press with the hope that publicity may discourage other L.A. business organizations from trying similar tricks of racial discrimination by subterfuge.

Early on the afternoon of Saturday July 3, I was shopping in the basement of the W. T. Grant store on Broadway near Fourth. Heart symptoms, the gravity of which my doctor has explained to me, began manifesting themselves. According to instructions I immediately sought a place to sit down. I was told by a clerk that the ladies lounge was "upstairs." With much difficulty and frequent rests I climbed the two flights of stairs.

Near collapse I asked the young Mexican clerk at the nearest counter to direct me to the lounge. "It is out of order," she answered. I explained "I must sit down somewhere, I am very ill."

"You can't go back there," she countered, "it's out of order."

My strength was too far gone to think of anything but finding a place to sit down so I stumbled on to the rear of the dress section and the office.

There my gasping request for a seat was met by a gesture from one of the two young women behind the railing indicating a flimsy cord from which dangled a sign bearing the legend "out of order." The gesture was accompanied by a haughty admonition, "You'll have to go next door."

"But," I wailed, not believing my own ears, "I'm too ill to go any further."

"Well," came the terse retort, "You can't go in there. Go to the Broadway."

By this time I was past arguing. I saw a chair inside the railing. I pushed the gate open and dropped into it unheeding the shrill command "You can't sit there. That's for the employees. We can't have any one in here. There's a chair outside there."

Being unable to do anything else I remained seated. In a few minutes the haze of pain began to clear. I raised my head from where it had rested on my arms along the back of the chair where I sat turned sidewise facing the lounge entrance.

A dumpy little white woman approached the barrier with its proscriptive sign and before my startled gaze the cord was unloosed from within and the frowzy little shopper entered replacing the cord before vanishing.

Mind began taking charge over matter at this point and when a second white shopper went through the same mystifying performance mind took over entirely and wanted to know why and wherefore.

"This looks like discrimination." I remarked in a very clear and firm voice. Heart, doctor's warnings and even my presence in the forbidden precincts were all forgotten. However I immediately repaired the last by stepping around to the lounge entrance amid strident orders of: "You can't go in there. That sign is up there for everybody."

No hand unloosed the cord for me. Instead once inside the short corridor I saw the whisk of long black skirts disappearing through the inner door. A rather considerable pressure on that same door when I essayed to open it was accompanied by a strongly accented "No, no, you can't come in here."

At my peremptory reply of "You get away from that door. I'm coming in there," the pressure was instantly removed.

I entered an immaculate place to find the elderly Mexican maid nervously fiddling with her broom and staring at me in startled uncertainty. Calmly and deliberately I examined the place. It was in perfect order. On my departure I paused to remark to the two suddenly silent and very busy young women behind the railing, "I caught you that time, didn't I? This is something that needs investigation. I'll be back again. Good day."

Business Awakening To Large Negro Markets, 'Time' Survey Shows

NEW YORK—Businessmen everywhere are paying more and more attention to the huge and profitable but long-ignored Negro market, "Time" weekly newsmagazine, says in its business essay in the July 5 issue. The conclusion is based on a survey conducted by "Time's" news bureaus throughout the country.

Over-all, "Time" says, the Negro market is estimated at $15 billion a year. Census figures show that the total income of Negroes has quadrupled since 1940, and their median income has shot up even faster. For non-whites (98 percent of whom are Negroes) the median income has risen almost four times from $489 in 1939 to $1,943 in 1951, while the white income has increased less than three times over the same period.

Tapping the Southern Market

The increasing notice businessmen are taking of the Negro market is particularly evident in the South, where two-thirds of the 15 million U. S. Negroes live.

To help tap this market some Southerners have begun employing Negro salesmen. A Negro hired by a Packard dealer in Charleston, S. C., for example, sold two new and three used cars in his first 15 days. The month before the entire staff had sold Negroes only four used cars.

Growing Negro Ad Field

Market surveys show the Negro customer responds best to an advertisement emphasizing quality and prestige. A long history of exploitation makes him wary of cheap, shoddy goods. Thus, "Time" says, a Negro will spend more of his salary on high-priced goods than a white man.

Some 374 U. S. radio stations now broadcast special programs to entertain and sell to Negroes. And the Negro ad field is growing so fast that Manhattan's Batten, Barton, Durstine & Osborne hired a Negro two years ago as special consultant on the Negro market, has since boosted its accounts in the field from two to 40.

The economic rise of the Negro has not only helped break down many segregation barriers; it has also helped dissipate the widely-held belief that Negro customers are necessarily poor credit risks.

The New York Credit Bureau makes no distinction between races and the National Association of Real Estate Boards says that Negroes keep up house payments faithfully. In many stores, however, they still find it hard to get credit.

Trend Towards Equality

Retailers have found that the Negro shopper does not want special handling, but he does want to be treated as any other shopper. The trend toward equality of purchasing power with whites is helping him find the same equality at the sales counter.

Most retailers feel that even in Southern stores discrimination will disappear gradually, be wiped out by the legal pressure against segregation and the economic rise of the South. Eventually, "Time" concludes, the Negro market will merge into and become undistinguishable from the over-all market.

Loren Miller says . . .

Advice to Veterans

You can make out a good case for the claim that I am hardly qualified to offer advice to Negro veterans.

Too young for World War I, I was too old for World War II. I lived through two world wars without getting in a single day of service in the armed forces.

LOREN MILLER

With that out of the way, I can now get on with a little advice to Negro veterans organizations which seems to me to be particularly appropriate at this time.

Government made a special effort during and immediately after World War II to see to it that veterans had a chance to own their own homes.

That effort has taken the form of legislation and regulations giving them an opportunity to buy homes for low down payments and to make small payments on the purchase prices.

Very few Negro veterans have been able to take advantage of this kind of legislation.

No Negroes Allowed

Project after project has been built in and around Los Angeles, and in and around every other large city in the nation for that matter, from which Negro veterans are excluded—solely because of their race.

The immediate discrimination is the fault of the builders and subdividers but ultimate responsibility rests on the federal government itself.

The veteran building program is made possible through insurance of loans for home construction through FHA or VA.

Lending institutions are willing to lend large sums for home construction because the government through its agencies insures the lender against loss.

Any way you look at it, the practical result is that the public credit is pledged to guarantee payment of these loans. The public includes everybody—Negroes, whites, Mexican-Americans, persons of Oriental descent.

After it has pledged the public credit the government, as personified by FHA and VA, stands aside and refuses to protect Negro veterans. It permits builders and subdividers to discriminate against them because of their race.

This refusal to do anything is not due to any lack of power in government.

Fair Housing

First President Roosevelt, then Truman and later Ike issued executive orders requiring all persons holding government contracts to agree that they would not discriminate in employment on the basis of race.

Government by executive order should make that same requirement where FHA or VA insurance is secured for building construction loans.

We need a Fair Housing Commission comparable to Fair Employment Commissions.

It seems to me that veterans organizations with Negro membership owe it to their members to take a good long look at this situation.

It seems to me that the powerful Ben Bowie post of the American Legion, for example, ought to start throwing its weight around in this field. The same thing goes for the Veterans of Foreign Wars and others.

As the matter stands, Negro veterans are being cheated out of benefits by builders and subdividers with the active connivance of the federal government itself. And I don't think that such conduct comports with the democracy for which these veterans fought.

Henri O'Bryant's Fame Increases In All Churches

As an incentive to church choirs seeking to raise funds to purchase new robes, the Henri O'Bryant Uniform Co., at 1141 N-Western ave., Hollywood, offers the free use of a regal purple and gold robe and a crown for money raising "Queen" contests within the choral groups organizations.

Mr. O'Bryant pointed out that such contests enabled the choirs to purchase needed vestments, and made them self sustaining, besides giving each member the pride of belonging and of ownership.

Uniform Creator

Morning Star Baptist church Youth choir took advantage of the uniform company's generous offer recently when they couducted a Queen contest which enabled them to purchase a complete set of robes from the company.

Miss Rose Marie Holland, comedy member of the group, was crowned "Queen" by Mr. O'Bryant at a happy ceremony at the church. The Rev. J. P. Ellis, pastor spoke in praiseworthy terms of the choir's ambition and determination to be on their own. He said they were a great asset to the church. Dixie Church Women Back School Case

NEW YORK CITY — Women church leaders from 15 southern states have cautioned that putting into effect the Supreme Court decision banning segregation in the public schools will require "patience, understanding and creative action." In a statement, which is being sent to governors and officials of the 15 states which they represent, the women pledged themselves to work for "a Christian society in which segregation is no longer a burden upon the human spirit" and expressed their desire to "build Christian emotional maturity" towards that end. The statement was unanimously adopted at a two-day regional meeting in Atlanta, Ga., last week — the first such meeting of its kind ever called — sponsored by the Department of Christian Social Relations of the General Department of United Church Women, National Council of Churches.

The church women also voiced their concern over a number of specific problems: (1) the fact that some state officials may seek to use the churches as a means of avoiding "desegregation" by urging them to establish parochial schools which would not come under the Supreme Court ruling; (2) attitudes of prejudices "now being instilled" in white children at home and in public schools; (3) the plight of Negro teachers now teaching segregated classes who may have difficulty in finding teaching jobs in unsegregated schools.

Preps Report For Shrine Tilt

Disqualify Mayfield As Cosmo Winner

By A. "Shoeless Joe" Jaco

The tenth annual Cosmopolitan Invitational wound up in a sensational but confused state of affairs. Unorthodox swinging Lavell Mayfield, and the hard to beat Al McDaniel, both Cosmos, hit the wire in a deadheat, both having shot 149s for the 36 holes. However, Justin Grant, the erudite speculator, called the tournament chairman's attention to the fact that Mayfield had incurred a two-stroke penalty for picking up his ball on the final hole of the first day's play, before he had holed out.

Mayfield, who was reminded of the fact that in tournament play there are no "gimmies," immediately replaced the ball and proceeded to sink the two-inch putt; nevertheless the infraction had been made and the contestant was charged with a two-stroke penalty which placed him in a tie for third spot with Justin Grant and James Wilson. Henry Barabin, the erstwhile juvenile star now of the U. S. Air Force, here on leave for this event, convinced the gallery that he had not lost any of his ability by shooting a steady 76-74—150 for the runner-up honors.

The Champion, McDaniel, is developing a doggedness that is bound to carry him to the top spot among the amateurs of the nation. His 76 on the unusually tough and long Fox Hills (west), was some worse than Al would normally shoot, but he came back nicely under pressure, with a 34-39—73, which was good enough to box the boys up. Salud! Champ.

Emory Cain, a Cosmo and an insurance man, will be in the upper bracket, financially, if he can sell as many policies as he had pars in this tournament. Cain, shooting to an eight handicap, out-scored many of the championship flighters, with rounds of 75-77-(8)—136, to wrap up the "A" flight in good fashion. Bob Clark's valiant effort of 76-78-(8)—138 gave him the runner-up's mantlepiece, two strokes back of the determined winner. E. Jenkins, one of Cosmo's newer members, finished third here with a net 139. Jenkins' victory came after a sudden-death playoff with W. Powers, Cosmo, who also netted 139.

The "B" flight was won by York Mitchell, Chief in the U. S. Navy, who was playing through Paramount, of San Diego. Chief Mitchell hits the ball pretty good for a 13 handicapper, having a 78-81-(13)—133. Lionel Kelley, Cosmo, was runner-up here with a net of 136. Early Jones defeated A. Johnson in a playoff for third-place honors in "B" flight.

Jack Sheppard, Head Red Cap and a Cosmo, put together rounds of 86-87-(16)—141 to capture the bunting in "C" flight. Jack feels as if he can stalk bigger game now. John Byrd and John Lewis, both of Paramount, finished second and third, respectively, with nets of 143 and 144.

Ed. Jones, of the host club, has won the "D" flight in the last three major tourneys, and Brother Ed is sure he will have to go after bigger game. His 92-85-(19)—139 gave him a four-stroke bulge over Dr. Ellis Toney, who netted a 143 for runner-up laurels, and eight spare ones over Dr. P. Beal, who had a net 147 to finish third.

Eoline Thornton, after having shot for shot matched by the defending champion, Thelma Cowans, in the opening round, both having 85, turned on the heat in the final round with a man-sized 79 to cop the women's championship. Her 154 net gave her two strokes on Emma Banks, who finished second with 156. Mary Woodyard was third with a net of 156, having lost a playoff to Banks.

Joyce Robinson's 20 handicap was too much for Louise Hill's 16, and "A" flight hardware went to her net 170. Louise netted 174, and Gladys Mitchell had a 176 for third place. "B" flight was won by E. Fucuals of the Bay area. Fern Pemberton was second and Sammie Sanders was third. It was a great event, in every way, and the Cosmopolitan Club's growing pains are rapidly being cured. We hope to see you in 1955.

Beautiful Caliente in Old Mexico: The Fourth of July came with a $12,724.80 explosion last Sunday at the Caliente race track down Mexico way when Mrs. Ottillia V. Alexander, a middle-aged San Diego widow, won the largest daily-double payoff in the history of racing. She was the lucky one in the crowd of nearly 10,000 lovers of the sport of kings, and held the only ticket sold on the combination of Rocklite a Field horse and Slick Trick.

Rocklite paid in the mutuels $30, while Slick Trick rewarded $16.20. The payoff topped the former high dividend of $10,772.40 for $2 paid by Joy Bet and Merry Caroline at Washington Park, Chicago, Aug. 14 1939. It also more than doubled the previous Caliente record of $6,107.20 set by Silver Horn and Hadaway, Jan. 27, 1946.

Mrs. Alexander liked Slick Trick but could not decide on any one horse in the other races so she hooked Slick Trick up to the entire field of 12 in the other races. It cost her $24 to win the world's largest double. She had been a Caliente fan for many years. She also said the largest previous double she won was around $150.

FIORE & FUENTES FIGHT FOR LIVES SHOW HEADLINERS

Local favorite Ramon Fuentes battles Carmen Fiore in the "Fight for Lives Show" sponsored by the City of Hope hospital in a ten round welterweight match at the Olympic Monday night.

The bout between the two classy performers will not be broadcast nor televised.

Fiore has gone undefeated in his outings this year and he sports a ring record of 67 wins, 18 via the K.O. route. This boy Fiore holds wins over some of the nation's best.

Fuentes has amassed a record of 31 wins while racking up an impressive local following.

This bout should prove to be quite interesting because both athletes are noted as willing mixers.

The winner of this bout is virtually assured a world title scrap with champion Kid Gavilan state matchmaker Babe McCoy.

The ninth annual "Learn-to-Swim" drive, the 1954 edition of the Los Angeles City Recreation and Park Department's summer "waterproofing" program for youngsters in the 7-to-17-year-old bracket, is continuing at municipal pools, it was reported yesterday.

According to Supervisor of Aquatics C. P. L. Nicholls, the city's plunges are currently hosting capacity throngs of boys and girls during the "Learn-to-Swim" sessions which are being conducted by highly trained lifeguards at half hour intervals from 9 a.m. to 12 noon, Monday through Friday.

Brown Bomber Wants Chance At Eisenhower

Joe Louis revealed today that his main ambition is to play a round of golf with President Eisenhower.

In his monthly column in the magazine, NEW REVIEW, the former heavyweight king said: "I'd love to go eighteen holes with Ike."

RAMBLING

The Los Angeles Rams will meet Fort Ord's defending national service champions at Long Beach Memorial Stadium on Saturday night, July 31, it was announced yesterday.

Paced by Fullback Ollie Matson, the former All American and Olympic Games star, the soldiers swept through their 1953 service schedule to be acclaimed the greatest military team since the wartime juggernauts.

Table Tennis Tourney For City Pk. Program

Tense action in the 1954 Boys and Girls Table Tennis Tournament is currently highlighting activities at more than 100 Los Angeles municipal playgrounds, it was reported yesterday by the City Recreation and Park Department.

One of professional football's hottest rivalries will be renewed when the Los Angeles Rams clash with the San Francisco 49ers in a non-conference game at Memorial Coliseum on Friday night, September 10.

NATIONAL AAU DECATHLON STAR LEADS UPSTATE PREP GRIDDERS

By BRAD PYE Jr.

The North may be in for another defeat by the South in the Shrine prep all-star football game, July 21, in the Coliseum, but one thing for sure, it'll have Kingsburg High's Rafer "Rambler" Johnson, undoubtedly the state's finest and hottest college prospect, in its lineup.

Johnson, who distinguished himself in every major sport at his Alma Mater as well as being named student prexy, added still another sprig to his wreath of laurels by placing third in the national AAU Decathlon in Atlantic City last week.

However, the "Rambler" who is No. 1 on the list of every major football school on the coast, will have quite a problem trying to outshine some of his own mates, Art Forbes, (Mission High, San Fran.) Berkeley's Carl Gordon, and several others.

The South which is currently undefeated in the three-year series may not have an all-around star to match Johnson, but southern supporters feel confident, Oceanside High's C. R. Roberts, L.A. High's Thad Winston and other localites have enough on the ball at least to show up for the game.

Both squads check into the Ambassador Hotel tomorrow morning. The North will train at Pepperdine and the southern contingent will workout at Whittier College.

Determined Carries 126 In Hollypark Westerner

Although comparatively few Southern California racing fans had the privilege of seeing Andrew J. Crevolin's Determine win the Kentucky Derby last month, approximately 50,000 of them are expected to be at Hollywood Park Saturday when the little gray champion goes the Derby distance and carries the Derby weight in the $50,000 added Westerner.

ODDS AND ENDS

Local baseballers will be getting quite a bit of limelight competition from a number of gridiron stars, pronto . . .

The North-South Prep all-Stars check into town tomorrow and the bosses of the L.A. Rams and the Washington Redskins will hustle their employees into camp next week to prepare for their annual Times Charity tilt in the Coliseum Aug. 18 . . .

The prepsters will battle in the third annual Shrine-Hi classic July 21, in the same arena. Both contests loom as terrific tussles . . .

Several Northern high schoolers who 'll probably be registered in one of the PCC schools next September (via scholarships) are Kingsburg High's Rafer Johnson, Berkeley's Carl Gordon, Sacramento's Roosevelt Battey, Mission High's Art Forbes (spent last semester in Cal's extension) plus a couple of others . . .

Southlanders, C. R. Roberts of Oceanside High, Thad Winston, L.A. and Jeff's Willie Pennix all have shaky grades so I'm told . . .

POWELL VS ALBRIGHT

What kind of a house would the Olympic draw if it could sign a Charley Powell-Bob Albright heavyweight go? . . . We believe right now it would rival the Aragon-Martinez bout . . . And podner, that wasn't hay Aragon laughed all the way to the bank with . . .

At last, I came up with a winner! . . . We picked Martinez to wax Aragon . . . As far as this corner is concerned, Kingsburg High's Rafer Johnson has to be rated as the best all-around prep athlete in the state scholastically or otherwise . . . Johnson won the recent Muir Decathlon and placed third in national AAU competition back East last week against Olympic pole vault Champ, fabulous Rev. Bob Richards.

THAT MAYS MAN

It appears the N.Y. Giants' wonderful Willie Mays isn't only tearing up the loop with his batting and stellar all-around play but he's also the boy who keeps the Giants laughing while they're winning or loosing.

We like the following joke Willie usually utilizes: "Yep I made a mistake when I reported to the Giants, I should have reported direct to the Hall of Fame" . . . That's my boy, but I still like the Bums for the flag . . .

DYNAMITE PROMOTED

Popular Dynamite Jackson, proprietor of the Central ave. nitery bearing his name, was appointed a Main event referee, this week by the state boxing commission. Dynamite has been working the local prelim circuit much too long.

Dorothea Foster

Dear Joyce.

I miss you very much. Do hope you have been calling Dad every day. I managed to see Jim and Betty Scott just before their departure for Washington, D.C. Their new Roadmaster is beautiful—you know the kind that you want us to get some day. Cousin Mary gave them an elaborate dinner party just before they left.

My plane trip was wonderful and the thing that captivated me most was the lights. I arrived at night and it was a glorious experience. The many beautiful lights shining below held me spellbound. With the bright lights in the windows, even the shabbiest flats seem transformed from ugly tenaments into beautiful homes. To see the George Washington Bridge with the lights strung together, make a pathway for fairies to walk.

Sheila Montgomery and Nira Haxdon, two young girls from UCLA were on the plane with me. Remember we saw them at the airport. We talked and they informed me that they were on their way to India, along with 10 other UCLA students and 2 advisors and the, will be gone 2½ months on a good will and understanding tour and they will spend a few days in Paris and Rome.

Saw my first show last night, a Broadway Comedy called "The Seven Year Itch." It is really cute and Tom Ewell stole the show with his warm personality.

Again I'll say that I do miss you all very much and even though I am enjoying my stay here with the family, I await anxiously for the day when I arrive back in California. Please be sure and send my paper next week because Aunt Ruthe will report happenings in the Angel City.—Love, Mother.

If you took a baked ham to that picnic over the weekend, there is perhaps enough left over to make Ham Swirls. Left-overs usually present a problem, so this is a delicious way to solve one of them. To serve 6 or 8.

Ham Swirls

2 cups ground cooked ham
¼ cup brown sugar
2 teaspoons prepared mustard
1 teaspoon Worchestershire sauce
¼ teaspoon ground cloves
¼ cup melted butter or margaine
1 recipe (2 cups flour etc.) baking powder biscuit dough
1 1½ lb. packaged chedder cheese
1 6 oz. evaporated milk

Combine the ham, brown sugar, Worchestershire sauce, cloves and melted butter. Roll biscuit dough into a sheet 8 inches by 12 inches, spread with ham mix, roll lengthwise like a jelly roll. Flour a knife and cut the roll into 16 slices about ¾ inches thick. Place on a greased baking pan and bake in a hot oven at 400 degrees for about 25 minutes. Serve with a sauce made by melting the cheese in a double boiler with the evaporated milk and stirring it constantly. Miracle Cheese Whiz may be used instead.

OHIO VISITOR

Hazel Davis, attractive Columbus, Ohio school teacher, is visiting friends here on the West Coast. W. D. Barksdale, well kown Westside businessman is showing the young lady the interesting sites of the city.

CURTACEOUS—Shirley Pittman, New Jersey State Teachers College Negro co-ed, was proposed "College Queen of America" during a nation-wide search by Old Gold cigarettes among the 750,000 co-eds in the colleges and universities to find the college girl with the most beauty, personality and charm.

Contest Opens to Select College Beauty

Charming 19-year-old Shirley Pittman, of Newark, New Jersey, was proposed to be "College Queen of America" among the 750,000 co-eds now attending school.

Miss Pittman was entered by the New Jersey State Teachers College in the "College Queen of America" contest, a nation-wide search by Old Gold Cigarettes and P. Lorillard Company among the 1,500 colleges and universities of the United States to find the college girl with the most beauty, personality and charm.

Through "Queen For A Day," the great cinderella radio program, the makers of Old Gold Cigarettes in conducting the 1954 "College Queen of America" contest, endeavored to demonstrate to the American public that to the college campuses of our country are attracted the most beautiful young women in the world. Every co-educational institution of higher learning in the nation was urged to participate in the Old Gold sponsored contest.

Shirley Pittman was selected to represent her school by an authorized college poll of New Jersey State Teachers College students. The attractive co-ed is five feet, six inches in height and weighs 135 pounds.

Miss Pittman is a sophomore at New Jersey State where she is majoring in Kindergarten-Primary education. She is a graduate of Arts High School in Newark, New Jersey.

According to the President of the Student Council who proposed Shirley as a contestant, she has been especially popular as a singer in class productions. Shirley is president of the college's Arts and Crafts Club. Her hobbies are singing, collecting miniature ceramic animals and photographing still life.

ADMINISTRATION MEMBERS—The YWCA Committee on Administration closed its session of the summer last week. Attending the last committee meeting were: Mesdames John Doran, Dr. Pauline G. Roberts, Hazel Macbeth, A. C. Bilbrew, Marie Fredericks, Idell C. Vertner, Ella K. Mays, Bernice P. Nance, Della McDonald, Josephine Ladd, Carrie Bundy, Rosetta Overr, Mildred Boone, Frankie Ross and Effie Knox.

KERRY JACKSON and HAL MILLER

If it is true . . . that the fourth of July comes but once each year, we gotta ask you all a question . . . "Why you act like there ain't gonna be another one next year . . . Hmmm"? "Yass you partied dintcha?" Don't look so smug, we probably saw you if you made the rounds of the run of the mill places . . . like the Sands in Las Vegas or the Chi Chi in Palm Springs . . . (Think we don't get around?)

Marge Robinson, the more than lovely lass who has the Pink Slip on that Green and Cream Caddy was one of the many who upset the equilibrium of the owners of costal resorts over the rough holiday.

Among the many others who weaved down that coastal route bound for that exclusive paradise of the masses, Playa Del Rey, were an abundance of our feathered friends who had but one object in mind . . . To release all pent up, repressed inhibitions . . . Can you think of a better way of putting it? . . .

Lettin' their hair down at the beaches, we got down wind of Bea Byers and her unidentifiable guest; Val Markus, Jaunita Perez, Louis Grant, Rhae Tate, Joan Rayford, Don Wilson, Beverly Winston, Verna Smith, Local Scribbler, Marceline Sykes, Elaine Lindo and Ples Griffin, Gloria Stephens, Joe and Don Mims.

Didn't mind if we did . . .

Had a pleasant encounter at the Kappas Fourth of July Blowout, Sunday, at the Kappa House. As usual it was enjoyed by the large throng of partying people. Milling through the crowd we noticed such people as Gordon Caldwell and Sandra Shields, Sybil Thomas, Ellis Dickerson, Pat Anderson, Walter Givins, Al Elliott with an unindentified lovely, Evonne Loggins plus a multitude of others.

And another particular doing . . .

To add to the galaxy of weekend doings was the lavish food party cast upon an appreciable few (namely ourselves) by the one and only Kelly Williams at his picturesque outdoor party-garden. More than enjoyable were the tasty nourishments that were so readily devoured by those that eagerly desired to grease their gums. Among those attending were Barbara Hals and Marcus Tucker, Carl Clay and dazzling Arigne Provost, Shirley and Mac Morrow . . . oops, mistake . . . too soon yet . . . correction Shirley Johnson, Morris Taft, Mixie Floyd, Carmen Eilsworth, Charles Hatcher, Ted Smith and Bernice Byron plus others.

Shorts (irrelevant comments: "Should be worn during hot weather.")

Shiela Montgomery and Nira Harden, ambassadors of good will to India, have arrived safely there after a few minor delays.

Heard from Agnes Moreland who is on a work project in England. Popular Agnes just finished her first year as an English instructor at Spellman College. Her excursion was provided by the American Friends. (Brains can take one anywhere, huh? Wishfull thinking: Oh well Kerry, maybe someday?)

Mexico City is serving as a summer playground for Mary Ann Baumann, Lestrita and Angelita Nicholas . . . and to be a little on the serious side too, they're all attending school at the U. of Mexico.

Deloras Roberts has recently arrived back in town . . . and sporting a highfalutin air . . . they say.

Those "tight" Club sisters who chaperoned one of their flock to see her Pasadena beau had a tough time tracking him down. Men used to do the chasing. Oh well, this is the Atomic Age . . . no . . . the Hydrogen. Da dum dum. Dumb. M.F.D. (melody from Dragnet).

Our official source from that particular circle sent in his weekly notorized report stating his detection of a bit of dissention in the Tweedsmen ranks. It seems that one of the brothers dislikes the company of one of the fellow brothers invited to their Holiday Fandango . . . And he publically announced it. No violence was involved but their hearts are no longer "Young and Gay" . . . For one another that is. . . .

The contrast is three no trump by South. The opening lead was the nine of hearts. Dummy played the jack, East the queen, and South the king. On this hand the primary object is never to let East lead. If East should switch to a spade North and South are set before they start.

Key Discard

South now played five rounds of clubs. On four of these rounds East discarded two spades and two hearts. West discarded a spade and a diamond. South discarded the four of spades. This is the key discard.

North now plays the eight of diamonds. East the nine and South the jack, all falling to the West's queen. West returned the three of hearts which North took with the ace. North led a small diamond which South won with the ace. South led a small diamond and West was end-played, being forced to lead from his ace of spades.

South thus made four no-trump. At trick seven East can cause trouble by playing his king of diamonds. Alert defense will then hold South to three no-trump. If at trick six South fails to discard a spade, he loses all chance for an overtrick.

The interest in this hand lies in its initial planning to keep East out of the lead, its correct discard as mentioned above, and its throwing of West at trick ten which allows South to make an overtrick. It is a beautiful example of how a hand which apparently shows only eight sure tricks can be made to produce ten.

Classes are held as usual Tuesday at the YWCA. The time is 7:30 p.m. and all are invited.

Hilltoppers Slate Dance

On last Friday evening the Hilltoppers met at the home of Mary Ellen Britt on S. Van Ness. It was truly a meeting to be proud of. A report of the contributions to the Children's Home Society, St. Ann's Orphanage and to the Cerebral Palsy Fund was made. So if you see the Hilltoppers beaming and looking prouder than usual, that is the reason.

The club's many friends are in for a treat on Sunday, July 11, at the California Club. It's the group's birthday, remember? And don't forget they are having M.C. Niles and his calypso music and show, which means there will be real entertainment throughout the evening. The time: 4 'til 8. Tickets purchased before the dance will be $1. Admission at the door $1.25. Tickets may be purchased from any member of the guild.

Eddie Heywood Pleases Crowd At The Morocco

Eddie Heywood, considered one of the top pianists of the nation, made his first West Coast appearance in more than a year when he opened at the beautiful Club Morocco, 46th and Western last week.

Eddie generously offered many request numbers plus his famous recordings of "Begin the Beguin" and "The Continental" which brought him fame and thousands of ardent fans.

Many critics have termed the distinctive stylings of Eddie Heywood as "individualism" on the "88" and therefore in a class of his own among the greatest. Accompanying Heywood at the West's smartest dining and relaxing entertainment spot is the Morocco Trio.

Gourmet Guide

By R. E. ALEXANDER

Webster says a Gourmet is one who loves fine food.

This is your dining host R.E.A. saying that it is indeed a pleasure to be associated with the California Eagle. I trust that my association with the Eagle will be long and pleasant.

And now to work. . . . The purpose of this column is to introduce to the readers of the Eagle a selected guide to dining places where I think the food is excellent, the service is tops and the atmosphere is warm and congenial.

I am of the opinion that there are many families who do not know of the wonderful dining places where the whole family can dine without denting the family budget. So if you are a lover of good food, follow my column each week.

The Gourmet recommends for your eating pleasure some of those delicious tacos that are a specialty of Shaky's Hot Dog Korner and Tacos Korner at Jefferson and Western. I have just finished eating a couple of very delicious tacos, a specialty of Shaky's, "The Home of the Original Foot Long Hot Dog." The owners of this cute outdoor snack are Mr. and Mrs. Leland Young, who in less than a year have developed a very good business here at the corner of Western and Jefferson. If you call RE. 4-8569. Open 24 hours. Watch for the opening of Shaky's No. 2 at 35th and Central. . . . For tacos at their best it's Shaky's Hot Dog Korner, 3401 S. Western.

The New Orleans Sea Food Grotto, 2820-22 W. Jefferson, is high on our list of dining places recommended for the entire family. . . . The New Orleans Sea Food Grotto is the only Creole Restaurant in the West serving the exotic delicacies of old New Orleans. "MISS 102 BEAUTS AT ELBOW BEND — 53rd and Avalon, July 8. Those are a few of the pretty statistics, except for the gals from left: Lynn Lampert, Beau Franklin, the Peralta Sisters, Elma and Gloria, Marlow Lee and Jean Carol, who will be at the Elbow Room "kick-off" party to celebrate start of their campaigns for the $10,000 winning prize in the "Miss 102" beauty pageant.

Cab Plays 'Porgy' Role In Stage Hit

Cab Calloway, Mr. Hi-De-Ho himself, heads the cast of "Porgy and Bess," opening a four-week engagement at the Philharmonic Auditorium on Monday evening, July 12th. The erstwhile king of swing has converted into a singing, dancing, acting star headlining the Gershwin - Heyward musical which has been touring Europe and America for the past two years to unanimously fine critical reviews.

Cab plays the role of Sportin' Life, the carefree peddler of happy dust in "Porgy and Bess." During the course of the performance he introduces two of George Gershwin's greatest song hits, "It Ain't Necessarily So" and "There's a Boat That's Leavin' Soon for New York." Other unforgettable melodies include "Summertime," "I Got Plenty o' Nuttin'" and "Bess, You Is My Woman Now."

In addition to Cab the cast of "Porgy and Bess" is headed by LeVern Hutcherson, Leslie Scott and Irving Barnes, alternating as Porgy; Irene Williams, Elizabeth Foster and Gloria Davy, sharing the role of Bess; Georgia Burke as Maria; Helen Thigpen as Serena; John McCurry as Crown; Helen Dowdy as the Strawberry Woman; Catherine Ayers as Annie; Helen Colbert as Clara; and Joseph James as Jake.

"Porgy and Bess" is Cab Calloway's first Broadway show since he introduced Fats Waller's "Ain't Misbehavin'" in "Connie's Hot Chocolates" some twenty-five years ago. In the meantime he has toured the world with his band, popularizing a host of songs and winning friends wherever he played. However, when Blevins Davis and Robert Bheen offered him the opportunity of playing Sportin' Life in "Jorgy and Bess" he jumped at the chance.

George Gershwin had written "It Ain't Necessarily So" to fit Cab's style of singing but he hadn't been able to appear in the original production because of band commitments.

Ink Spots Hit At Sunset Bistro

The Ink Spots opened at the new Trocadero on the Sunset Strip Thursday night. And if opening nights are any indication, the famous vocal group will like the Coast as much as they are enjoyed by thousands of entertainment seekers here in the West.

Versatile Vocals

Just before opening their program, a wire was received announcing that the Ink Spots, after completing a highly successful engagement at the Flamingo in Las Vegas, were signed to repeat their show there for the next three years. So with music in their hearts, good news in the air, and a jammed-packed Trocadero, the boys really gave out with all of their famous songs.

Children 'Ink' Turnabout Contracts

"Tommy Turnabout's Circus," which opens its third season July 12 at the nationally-famous Turnabout Theatre, 716 N. La Cienega will feature Ella Lee, Gilfert Jackson, Richard Watts and Jim Cox.

Their contracts were signed this week by The Turnabout and they have started rehearsals for their roles in the Musical fantasy which tells the story of a small boy's dream of owning a circus.

Audience Participation

Children in the audience actually take part in the action and they are thrilled and delighted as they see the boy's dream come true before their eyes. Matinees will be held every day at 1:30 and 3:30.

Special recognition is given to birthday children—they are invited on-stage to receive a personal gift from the "Dancing Birthday Cake."

Ella Lee, 716 E. 25th, plays the part of "Aunt May" in the circus production with Gilfert Jackson, 1503 Santa Barbara, as her son "Impy." These are two of the most important parts in the production.

Highly Entertaining

Richard Watts, 1915 W. 37th, is no stranger to "Tommy Turnabout's Circus" having been "Impy" in the original production several years ago. He returns to share with Jim Cox, 3513½ 9th Avenue, the important roles of Ringmasters in the musical. Bring the entire family.

delegate to the Physio-Therapy convention at the Statler Hotel caused a near riot when she strolled in and out of the meetings. Betty Howard had her and Mrs. Cecil Dawson as dinner guests during their visit. Mrs. Dawson is the wife of William Dawson, Tuskegee's noted choir master!

TONEY LEWIS — cute 9-year-old daughter of Willa Gene and Joe, will audition for a part in the hit New York play titled "Nut Cracker Suite" at the Greek Theater. She's been taking ballet lessons for the past three years!

DOROTHY ROWLAND—pretty wife of Steven is seriously thinking of taking up swimming lessons in the plush Town Club pool to shed a few pounds!

PORGY AND BESS — noted Central Avenoo wolves, after learning that more than seventy-five shapely chicks are in the cast, have reserved the first five rows for the entire four week's run at the Philharmonic!

ATTY. CARL EARLES — will put a few miles on his new '54 Holiday Oldsmobile when he motors east taking in New York, Washington and Detroit.

ROBERT LEE — San Francisco's boy wonder is in town and isn't denying to close friends about his sudden marriage!

WEEDSMEN—when Earl and L'Tanya Griffin permitted that popular male club to use their swimming pool for a swimming party they didn't dream that the hairy-chest gents would make like Tarzan The Ape and refuse to let the pretties enjoy the water!

BEING FOOLISH — caused a noted social figure to get blackballed when her name came up for membership in a young social group that's going places. Reason being they didn't want any social climbers in their set-up!

HASTON WOODLANE — dapper hotel manager by day and a highly polished concert singer by night, just recorded two original tunes that could make the hit parade! They could be headed for the RCA label if the deal turns!

NAACP Holds Convention

gates overwhelmingly rejected efforts to water down the wording of the resolution.

Walter White, in his address at the concluding meeting, praised President Eisenhower's executive action to end segregation and his support of anti-bias court rulings and further commended the President for what he has done "to continue the battle to abolish segregation in the armed services and in the nation's capital."

Tasks Ahead

Among the tasks that lie ahead he cited enactment of a Federal FEPC, the continuing battle to end segregation in schools and housing and to push for increased voter registration in the South.

Dr. Bunche, upon his arrival, was met by a motorcade and given a police escort to the home of his host, the Rev. Dr. Ernest C. Estell, pastor of St. John Baptist church.

Dr. Bunche, who was recently cleared of charges of disloyalty brought against him by two ex-Communists, declared at the mass meeting: "There have never been more than a handful of Negro Communists and there has never been a Negro traitor against his country, though there have been more than enough against their own race."

Sacrifice Respect

He also hit hard at Negroes who say they prefer segregation: "They are entitled to their views, but not to our respect."

The six-day convention opened with a challenging keynote address by Dr. Channing H. Tobias, chairman of the Association's Board of Directors. Other outstanding speakers included Thurgood Marshall who outlined the legal strategy for the coming year and reported on plans for negotiating for desegregation of public schools by September, 1955; James B. Carey, secretary-treasurer of the Congress of Industrial Organizations who pledged continued support of the NAACP drive to end segregation; and Dr. Buell Gallagher, president of the College of the City of New York, who presented the 39th Spingarn Medal to Dr. Theodore K. Lawless, noted dermatologist of Chicago.

At a Freedom Fund rally and dinner local and state units made contributions totaling $19,000. Previously, Edward R. Dudley, special assistant in charge of the Fight for Freedom Fund, told the cheering delegates that in the first six months of the year $240,000 had been raised for the fund.

The convention named the following delegates to the seven-person nominating committee: Joseph Kennedy, San Francisco; Joshua Thompson, Ambler, Pa.; Dr. E. J. Stringer, Columbus, Miss.; and Bowen K. Jackson, Baltimore. The Board of Directors selected three members to serve with the convention-designated members. W. W. Laws of Savannah, Kelly Alexander of Charlotte, N.C., and Alfred Baker Lewis of Old Greenwich, Conn., were named to the committee which will nominate 16 candidates for the Board of Directors.

Typing Expert To Demonstrate

Hossfield established a record of 143 words a minute for one hour to win his first World's Professional Championship.

The typing expert will be guest of Mr. Eddie L. Pruitt, Sr., President of the local business school.

"EASY TO REACH"

BUS SERVICE for METRO Passengers

Based on today's standards, improved transportation between Los Angeles and the Bellflower, Lynwood and Watts areas requires the use of modern buses. Metropolitan Coach Lines has asked permission to install bus operation and to discontinue rail schedules.

EXTENDED, MORE CONVENIENT ROUTES

This change would enable us to plan street routing which will have stops closer to the homes of thousands of riders. Also, we will extend these routes so that more people will have Metro service easily accessible.

MORE FREQUENT SCHEDULES

With buses it would be possible to run more trips during rush hours. This, of course, means less passenger waiting at pick-up points, and the added advantage of timing your own activities more efficiently.

NEWEST AND MOST MODERN EQUIPMENT

Still further improvement would be provided by the use of Metro's latest model 48-passenger diesel coaches, which have "air suspension" riding comfort, "free-flow" ventilation, glare-resistant safety glass windows, a new lighting system and lower door steps. We believe that comfort, as well as economy and fast service, is important in any public transit system. Also, Metro's new diesel-powered coaches do not emit noxious "smog-gas," as shown by tests made by independent engineering companies.

Metro's policy is to give to the citizens of Southern California nothing less than the best that can be attained in any phase of public transportation. We offer these betterments in the Bellflower-Lynwood-Watts areas as a major step in that overall policy.

WIFE FAINTS AS SHE TELLS HOW SHE KILLED HUSBAND

Confession Stiff Blow to Defense In Murder Trial

As Defense Attorney Earl C. Broady gently asked his client Tuesday about the frenzied stabbing of her husband, last April 2, the quiet, diminutive Mrs. Genevieve Monroe suddenly lost the tight control she had consistently maintained over her emotions, burst into hysterical sobbing and collapsed.

Judge Ralph Pierson immediately declared a recess as prison attendants rushed to the aid of the distraught young woman, overcome by vivid memories of the early morning slashing of the man she had elevated from a shine boy to an engineer and who had then spurned her love for that of a white woman.

Severe Blow

When court reconvened in the afternoon, the prosecution dealt the defense a severe blow, confronting Mrs. Monroe with a four-page written confession she had made to police after the killing.

It was clear to observers that Atty. Broady was noticeably taken aback by introduction of the confession. Assertions in the hand-written testimony differed markedly from statements made by the witness on the stand.

When confronted with facts referred to in the alleged confession and the police report made at the time of the discovery of the crime, Mrs. Monroe stated she didn't remember, she couldn't recall. She said she had taken a large dose of sleeping pills and had no recollection of writing the statement.

Direct Examination

On direct questioning, Mrs. Monroe stated that her husband, James, had come home after 2:30 a.m. on the morning of Friday, April 2, had talked for a while and then had gone to bed. There, she declared, he began pulling hairs from her body, complaining when she objected that "other girls can stand it, why can't you?"

When she got out of bed, she said, he promised to stop, but when she returned he began again. In protest, she pounded him with her shoe, then with a hammer she had been using earlier in the day.

Got Knife

She got up, she said, and went into the kitchen. He followed her. She got a knife, and he got a knife. As she backed into the bedroom, he stepped toward her menacingly and she thrust the knife into his chest.

"You'd better get out of here

It's Legal But Illogical, Say 'Mob' Players

By CHAZZ CRAWFORD

The Cinemascopic Carmen Jones film that employs an all-Negro cast will probably emerge as a screen classic upon its release this winter, but for this week the movie (now in production at RKO studios) had lost a lot of its prestige with a wealth of ticket buyers who will plank down their hard earned "bread" at the box-office.

Otto Preminger, who is both director and producer of the epic, and who stands to make a slight fortune with the Jones gal, has been cutting financial corners to the marrow bone. And the California State Employment Service had a supporting role in the latest low-budget maneuver.

All Legal

The controversial director, who is frequently referred to as the bold, bald Viennese, and then again as the "Fox," hired 400 or more "extras" for the "Stand Up And Fight" scene filmed last Friday and Saturday at the Olympic Auditorium. And the "spectators" were routed out from the Unemployment Office instead of the Jasper Weldon casting agency which usually takes care of these waiver and bit player roles.

"Legal enough," said spokesmen for the Screen Extras Guild, the C.S.E.S., and Preminger himself, but the folks who sat under those hot arc lights at Olympic Auditorium, and who sweated out the chore felt that it may have been legal, but that it was hardly logical.

Swamped with Protests

The California Eagle was swamped with calls from the "extra" man and woman, who although registered with the Weldon agency were compelled to accept the meager wage in order to serve as atmosphere in the film. And there were numerous complaints from the Negro clientele of C.S.E.S. at 6610 Santa Fe Avenue, who said they were forced to work for six a day or forfeit their unemployment compensation.

Thomas Campbell, area manager of the California Employment Service, told the Eagle that the order for the casual extra jobs had come into the Hollywood office, but that since they had not been able to fill all the jobs, they had transferred some of the requests to the Huntington Park office, on Santa Fe.

He said it is common practice for the studios to seek extra help from the employment service when the Screen Extras Guild files are exhausted, under what is called a "waiver" call.

Not Actors

There is no way of identifying Negroes from the CSES files, Campbell stated. But Negroes who were applying for jobs

Youth Dies After Beating And Stabbing

Sixteen-year-old John B. Bradford, of 845½ 56th street, died last Wednesday morning as a result of many head cuts inflicted upon him five days previously.

At 3:30 in the morning of Friday, July 2, young Bradford was found by police at the corner of 20th and Flower streets, his head battered and bloody, a victim of assailants who had beat him and cut him and apparently left him for dead.

He was taken to General hospital and lingered for five days.

The autopsy report showed that he died from hemorrhage, cerebral concussion, fractured skull and bronchial pneumonia.

The youth was the son of Mrs. Faira Bradford, 4717 S. Wall street. Burial is being arranged by the Spaulding Undertakers in Santa Monica.

An inquest was being held July 14.

God's Angels Lose Fight for Property

Purity Love, one-time Angel in Father Divine's Heaven, isn't a bit afraid that Father will lay a "curse" on her just because she scored heavily in a skirmish over real estate claimed by Father and his Angels.

That's what she told the Eagle this week after hearing Judge William Palmer decide that she had to pay Father only $5000 of the $115,000 for which she was sued.

Father's reluctance to keep financial records of his transactions tripped him up in the legal battle waged in local superior court. Judge Palmer held that the failure to keep records was fatal to the Divine cause, in a suit brought by the Circle Mission Church of Santa Monica.

Purity Love, whose real life name is Mrs. Irene Prattis, was charged with embezzling property that had been turned over to the Divine movement. She denied the charge and convinced the court that the property was hers.

Paul Williams' Mother Dies At Age of 89

TAKEN BY DEATH — Mrs. Emily Clarkson Burnett, 89, mother of Architect Paul R. Williams, was buried here last Wednesday. Services were held at her church, First AME, 8th and Towne.

A.M.E.) delivered the principal eulogy Wednesday at eleven o'clock at Angelus Funeral home over the remains of the beloved pioneer, Mrs. Emily Clarkson Burnett, 89, for more than 60 years an active and loyal member of Eighth and Towne, and for a large portion of that time stewardess in the famed church she loved.

One of her acts for which she was well known was the fact that she raised Paul R. Williams, from the time he was a child, and through her sympathetic understanding, guidance and love made possible the brilliant career of the celebrated and illustrious architect. After his marriage he and his wife, Della, saw to it that Mrs.

Lads Warned of Danger, Claims Excavation Co.

The contractor responsible for digging the death trap at the Jordan Downs housing site where two boys drowned last Thursday, this week flatly denied any negligence on the part of the company.

The Seeger and Higday Construction Co., 9345 Kruse Road, Pico, which is handling the excavation, claims emphatically that the company was not at fault in any way.

Say Children Warned

They claim that they warned the children many times to stay away from the digging, that they posted warnings but that as soon as they put up the signs the youngsters in the area tore them down, and that they do not know how the hole became flooded. Mr. Seeger, head of the company, said he does not know whether the water pipe broke or whether the children turned on the water in order to go in swimming.

These statements were made during an investigation launched by the City Housing Authority immediately following the tragedy in which Charles Munns, 11, of 10515 Hickory street, and Joseph Moore, 12, of 10117 Grape street, lost their lives.

Protection

Howard Holtzendorf, of the Housing Authority, told the Eagle that in order to prevent any additional accidents at the site, 97th and Kalmia streets, the general contractor in charge of the project, the Hagstrom Construction Co., agreed to post guards and to build a fence enclosing the entire area. Guards were posted Tuesday, he said, and the fence would be constructed this week.

Bodies of the two young boys have been released by the coroner's office, although no final decision had been reached at press time as to cause of death. The coroner advised that an inquest may be held, but no date has as yet been set.

Funeral services for Joseph Moore are being held Thursday (today) at 1 p.m. from the South Los Angeles Mortuary, with burial at Lincoln Memorial Cemetery.

Charles Munns will be buried Saturday from the Conner-

Housing Protest Hearing Slated For City Hall July 21

More than 150 South Los Angeles home owners packed the auditorium of the Bel-Vue community church last Thursday to hear Attorney Loren Miller report on the progress of the fight to prevent location of slum housing in the vicinity of 120th street and Wadsworth avenue.

The Home Owners Protective Association is leading the fight against location of the housing units and will seek a revocation of a permit issued by the Department of Building and Safety. A hearing on the petition is set for July 21 at 3 p.m. in Room 202 at City Hall.

The dwellings under fire were formerly located at the Jordan Downs Housing project and were sold to the Rogers Sales company and the Janis Investment company when they were abandoned.

Meanwhile, United States Senator Thomas H. Kuchel has induced the Housing and Home Finance Agency to order destruction of similar units in Stockton instead of selling them to private investors. Kuchel charged that the units would only extend the slums if sold to private speculators.

Charge Two In Robbery of Rev. E. Redd

The two young suspects accused of beating and robbing the Rev. Ernest S. Redd, 71-year-old assistant pastor of Trinity Baptist church, two weeks ago were charged with one count of robbery, a felony this week.

Bail for each of the men, David Dunson and Wilfred Batiste, was set at $3,000, with the arraignment set for July 21 at 9 a.m. in Dept. 44.

The Rev. Redd was set upon, seriously beaten and left lying unconscious on the night of June 24 as he was closing the church following a rehearsal of the Gospel Chorus. The two thugs demanded that he open the church safe, and when he insisted that he did not know the combination, they knocked him to the ground and beat him.

Before leaving him, they ransacked his pockets and stole jewelry and money.

Better Try Again, Chief

Apparently miffed by Mayor Poulson's Sunday night radio mention of Fire Department jim crow, Chief Alderson on Tuesday came up with a cute gimmick — if it works.

He had a bulletin posted in the various stations stating that due consideration would be given all applications for transfers from any firemen (white, natch) to the two Central avenue (Negro) stations. But he had nothing to say about Negroes transferring out of Stations 14 and 30. Better try again, Chief.

Santa Monican Asks Mercy; Gets Life Term

SANTA MONICA — Willie James Battles, 45, was sentenced to life imprisonment following a jury trial here Monday in Superior Judge Orlando H. Rhodes' court, for riddling the body of his wife with a barrage of five shots.

The semi-illiterate defendant who at first pleaded not guilty and not guilty by reason of insanity, abruptly changed his plea and admitted the killing.

When he was asked by the jury, which held his life in its hands, whether there was anything he wanted to say, he humbly replied: "I'm facing something I never faced before. I'm asking the mercy of the court. Please help me if you can."

It took the jury only 30 minutes to decide the man's fate.

When his plea of insanity was denied following the report of the medical examiner, his lawyer, a public defender, agreed that a confession he had written after he was captured could be used as the basis for deciding the case. In the confession, when he was asked why he had fired three additional shots into the body of his wife, Mrs. Edna May Battles, he replied: "I wanted to be sure she was right dead."

Battles was captured in Ventura an hour after he had committed the crime at his wife's home, 2009 4th street, Santa Monica. He said he had shot her because he feared she would leave him, and that he had bought the gun when he became convinced she had another man in her apartment.

DALLAS, Tex.—NAACP Local branches in Portland, Ore. and Baltimore, Md., received first prizes in the annual Thalheimer Award competition at the Association's convention here last week for bettering the status of civil rights in their local communities.

'I've Been Cut,' Woman Cries, Fatally Injured

A young woman went into the lounge at the Texas Barbecue, 3171 S. Central avenue, early Sunday morning, and rushed out a few minutes later screaming:

"I've been cut!"

Bleeding from neck and chest, Miss Arleane Kizzee, 26, of 3130 Naomi avenue, was taken to Georgia Receiving hospital where she died from stab wounds at 3:40 a.m.

Arrested and charged with suspicion of murder was Mrs. Doris Johnson, wife of James Howard, 1321 E. 21st street.

Witnesses, according to the police report, stated that shortly after Miss Kizzee went into the rest room Mrs. Johnson entered, opening a pocket knife and coming towards the other woman with the words: "I've finally caught up with you!"

She began stabbing Miss Kizzee about the neck, police reported.

Officers were unable to find the death knife. Mrs. Johnson told them she had thrown it across Central avenue before they arrived.

Miss Kizzee's brother, James Kizzee, lives at 3001½ Naomi avenue, and her father, Walter Kizzee, at 1115 E. 29th street.

The autopsy report stated that Miss Kizzee died from hemorrhage and stab wounds in the neck and chest. It also showed that the young woman had been drinking.

NAACP Attacks McCarthy; Plans March on Capital

DALLAS, Tex.—Restriction of the federal loyalty and security program to "security-sensitive departments" of the government, repudiation of "McCarthyism" which "aims to lead the nation to Fascism," and an annual civil rights mobilization on the nation's capital were among actions called for at the 45th annual convention of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People here last week.

The 766 delegates from 40 states and the District of Columbia adopted a lenghty list of resolutions ranging in subject matter from international affairs to racial and religious tensions in the U. S.

March on Washington

The contemplated civil rights mobilization would have as its objectives a Federal FECP with strong enforcement powers, Federal legislation to abolish the poll tax, strengthening of the civil rights section of the Department of Justice, initiation of a government program of education in race relations at all levels, amendment of Rule 22 in the Senate to end the filibuster, and other action to bring equal rights and opportunities to both races in the fields of housing, education, public accommodations and health services.

The statement on the present government loyalty program charged that under Executive Order 10450 a Federal employee who is accused as a "security risk" is denied the right of appeal to a loyalty review board.

"There should be set up some method of appeal within the government from an adverse decision by a department head," the resolution urged. "Furthermore, every government agency should be required to give back pay to any person accused wrongly and suspended under the security program." The statement asked that the security program be restricted to security-sensitive departments such as the Defense and State departments, the Atomic Energy Commission and the FBI.

Assails McCarthyism

"McCarthyism" was assailed in a resolution which described the present U. S. climate as one "of pillorying, of breastbeating, of cunning indictments." The document urged public support of the Senate Resolution introduced by Senator Lehman (D., NY) requiring that McCarthy be relieved of his powers as chairman of the Committee on Government Operations, and of the resolution of Senator Flanders (R. Vt.) calling for investigation of alleged financial irregularities by McCarthy.

A multiple statement on international affairs denounced imperialism—"the rule of one nation by another"—as "unjust and a threat to world peace," asked the U. S. government to support nationalist movements among colonial peoples, condemned "the dangerous racist policies of the Union of South Africa," called for a halt to terrorism used by both the Mau Mau and anti-Mau Mau forces in Kenya, assailed the "tactics of delay" used by the 83rd Congress to prevent admission of Hawaii and Alaska to statehood, asked for revision of the McCarren-Walter Act "in such manner as to eliminate the national origins quota system and other racist-based provisions," and urged larger appropriations for foreign economic aid as compared with military aid.

Says U. S. Promotes Jim Crow

In the field of domestic affairs, convention resolutions named the U. S. government as "today the greatest single force in promoting jim crow in housing through FHA, the slum clearance program and other agencies in this field; urged churches to help ease racial and religious tensions and to put into actual effect their policies of racial integration; hailed "democratic trade unionism" and the principle of collective bargaining; directed NAACP state and local units to promote "more intelligent use of the ballot" by distributing to the public at large the voting records and views of Congressmen and Senators as well as of local candidates for office; called for legislation to secure equal protection under law for migrant farm workers; and declared support of a guaranteed annual wage in labor union contracts.

The extras, he explained, were not actors and needed no acting experience. The only requirement was that they should wear clothes which would be suitable for the role of prize-fight spectators.

With regard to the rate of pay, he explained that the usual practice in such situations is for the employment office to send on such assignments only those applicants whose pay scale aproximates that which is being offered. The practice is, he said, to pass over without prejudice those who have higher skills. Those in the same pay bracket would presumably forfeit pay for the day if they refused the assignment.

Out to RKO

Last Monday, at the invitation of Preminger, this reporter and newsgal Wini Orr took a trip out to the RKO lot to get the other half of the story from the man who directed "Laura" and, "The Moon Is Blue," but the bold, bald director was in no mood to be wooed by the press. He told us off in his brusque, foreign manner stating that he acted according to the rules.

"I'm not afraid of you or any press," the big man said, "and you can print whatever you like. But," he warned, "if you print anything libelous, I'll sue you."

Well, here's the facts, man, and you too, mister! If the celluloid mogul figures we've libeled him, then he's welcome to sue. The only danger of his libel charges is that we're liable to prove every syllable. But don't get us wrong. We love Hollywood!

Texans Reject Dictation From Supreme Court

AUSTIN, Texas.—The U.S. Supreme Court can decide what happens in the rest of the country—but Texans will go right on being Texans.

On Monday the Texas State Board of Education voted to abide by present state laws providing for segregation of whites and Negroes until the statutes are "changed by a duly constituted authority of this state."

The vote of the 21 members was unanimous. It was the first meeting of the board since the High Court ruled separate schools are unconstitutional.

School offices, 4131 S. Vermont avenue, will be open from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on that day to counsel new students and plan programs for the fall semester.

New York Teacher Here To Study Human Relations

Dr. Marguerite Cartwright, instructor at Hunter College in New York and well-known columnist, writer, speaker, and world traveler, received a grant from the Fund for Adult Education of the Ford Foundation for 1953-54 to study human relations programs in several communities and university centers.

One of the cities selected for study is Los Angeles where she arrived last week. During her stay here, she will reside at the Hotel Statler.

She hopes to meet as many community and agency leaders as possible and confer with various instructors in surrounding colleges.

She has recently been in Chicago and Detroit during her study, where she conferred with many social, religious, and educational leaders. Since this time spent in various cities, she has written rather extensively on her observations.

Her objectives have been,—in her own words:

". . . To meet people and learn. . . . It is my impression that there is much being done that is hopeful. I hope to discover what skills have been developed, what honest, fruitful and creative efforts have been and are being made, and what aspects seem most promising."

"The specifics of any human relations effort are the product of the social milieu and the community leadership potential. Progress is determined by these relationships. — for this reason, it is necessary to have an understanding of the social forces and their expression in social organizations."

Complete modernization of the Willowbrook lighting district has been ordered by the county board of supervisors with the work scheduled to begin within six weeks. Supervisor Kenneth Hahn announced this week.

Local Elks Bid For Conventoin Of Grand Lodge

The Elks Golden West Lodge No. 86 took advantage of the Pacific States Association meeting in Sacramento last week to push its bid to hold the 1955 Grand Lodge convention in Los Angeles.

Exalted Ruler C. L. Smith obtained approval of the Sacramento meeting for the plan. Smith pointed out that the local lodge has already voted the necessary money for the convention fee, and that Los Angeles will make additional attractive offers to the 1954 convention in Chicago in August.

Golden West Lodge, "passed" an opportunity to get the Pacific States Association convention here in 1955 in order to get the grand lodge. In so doing, the PSA will go to Tucson, Ariz. in 1955. Pilgrim Rest Lodge, No. 601 will be the host lodge for the association meet.

Outline Plans For Integrating Nation's Schools

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Three nearly-unanimous conclusions were arrived at by the 90-odd students and specialists who participated in the 10-day Workshop on School Integration which ended at Howard University last week.

They were:

(1) integration should take place immediately.

(2) schools can be integrated without disrupting the normal way of life, and

(3) non-governmental organizations must play an active role if the integration is to be complete.

A Hot Day

It was about 7 p.m. of a hot day. A group of youngsters near the Jordan Downs project were drawn toward the harmless looking water hole that beckoned, cool and inviting. There were no signs that told of danger, no guards, no warnings. There was no reason to believe it was a deep hole. It wasn't very large—about 200 feet long and 40 feet wide.

The youngsters played around the bank for a while. Several of them—Leonard Thomas, 9520 Juniper street; Jack Roy, 9601 Juniper street; and Bob Jennings, 9601 Croesus street—went to the narrow end and began wading.

Stories differ as to just what happened to the other boys. The three who were wading said later that the bank at the side caved in, plunging Charles Munns, Joseph Moore and his brother, Alvin, 9, into the water.

Revived

Alvin, who was hauled out and resuscitated by an inhalator squad had a different version. At Tweedy Industrial hospital, he said: "It began to happen when a boy named Albert threw Charlie Munns' shoe in the water. Charlie jumped in after his shoe and hollered for help, and my brother Joseph jumped in after him.

"Joseph went down and then I jumped in after him. I went down, and when I came up Charlie Williams held the stick out to me and I grabbed it and he pulled me in. Then I went to sleep."

Alvin said he thought there was another boy in the ditch whose name was "Johnny."

Firemen who had been hastily called to the scene dragged the hole while they tried in vain to revive the other two lads.

They estimated there was something like 100,000 gallons of water in the hole. It was further estimated that the water was about 15 feet deep.

The Jordan Downs project is being torn down and re-built. The ditch and another one nearby were dug as repositories for broken concrete and other debris from the old structures. The concrete is dumped into the hole, covered with sand, then flooded with water to a depth of several feet so that the sand will settle. No one seemed to know how it happened that the hole was flooded to the surface.

Divorce Suit Calls Policeman Co-Respondent

Walter M. Goodlow, well known police officer attached to the University station, has been named co-respondent in the divorce suit of a prominent local couple.

In the suit filed June 28, Wesley Russell, 2311 Bronson Street, charges his wife, Mrs. Nellene Russell, 2748 Westview Avenue, with adultery and extreme cruelty, and specifically names Officer Goodlow. Russell also charges his wife, mother of two small girls, with adultery involving various other unnamed men.

Officer Goodlow denied the allegation. He said that he knew Mrs. Russell, who was a policewoman, but emphatically rejected the charge that their relationship had been in any way questionable.

Mrs. Russell, through her attorney, Theodore Schaffer, filed a demurrer Monday and sought an order to restrain her husband from molesting her, taking her children away from her and disposing of community property.

With regard to the charges leveled against her, Mrs. Russell alleges that her husband has trumped up the accusations in order to avoid the legal responsibility of supporting her and the two girls.

The demurrer was granted Monday; the order to show cause was postponed until July 26.

In the demurrer, Mrs. Russell asserted that the divorce action was defective in that it was ambiguous and that several causes were improperly united. She claimed it was impossible to tell from the charges how she had been cruel and where or when the adultery is supposed to have been committed and with whom.

With regard to Goodlow, the suit charges improper conduct between Mrs. Russell and the police officer sometime between Jan. 1, 1952, and August, 1952, and alleges only that this act was performed in the city and county of Los Angeles, but does not mention a specific date or place.

Atty. Schaffer refused comment on the proceedings other than to say that he believes the filing of the suit resulted from a misunderstanding, which he feels will be cleared up.

Gary W. Sawtelle, lawyer for Russell, said he could not discuss the case without prior permission from his client.

The Russells were married April 30, 1944.

Burnett had every comfort that a mother could want.

She was a resident of Los Angeles for more than 65 years. Following the death of her first husband, Charles Clarkson, she was united in holy wedlock in 1910 to Steven Burnett, a prominent member of the Masonic Order, and it was at this time that she became affiliated with the Eastern Star with which she was actively identified until her health began to fail her a few years ago.

A native of Waterloo, Iowa, "Mother Burnett," as she was affectionately and universally known, left there as a bride of 24 to make her home in San Francisco. However, after a few months there she came to Los Angeles to reside and has lived here ever since.

The service here Wednesday was attended by a capacity throng and many tributes were paid to the unselfish service and devotion of the deceased.

Mrs. Burnett leaves a foster son Paul, internationally known architect, his wife, Della, who so beautifully watched over and cared for her through the years; their two daughters and their husbands, Atty. and Mrs. Elbert T. Hudson, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harvey, and a host of friends throughout the Southland.

Interment was in Evergreen Cemetery.

Majority Approve Ruling on Schools

A just completed Gallup poll shows that 54 percent of Americans approve the Supreme Court decision ordering an end to segregated schools.

On the West Coast the figure was considerably higher than the national average. Here 65 percent approved, 31 percent disapproved and four percent were undecided.

As expected, the overwhelming majority of Southerners took exception to the decision. There only 21 percent approved, with 71 percent unreconstructed and five percent on the fence.

Highest area of approval was in the East where 72 percent approved. The Middle West gave only a 57 percent majority to supporting the decision, with 37 percent opposing.

Reasons given by those who approved were that integration is the democratic, American and Christian way; that prejudice should be eliminated; that integration will reduce trouble, friction and delinquency; and that it already works successfully in many places.

Opponents said that races should not be forced to mix by law; that they should be kept separate but given equal facilities; that Negroes will be worse off; that it's not good for future races, will encourage intermarriage; and that ending segregation may cause trouble, riots, bloodshed.

Talladega College has received $45,686.84 from the United Negro College Fund, according to President Arthur D. Cray.

The grant includes funds for both operating expenses and capital improvement purposes, the announcement said.

Wife Sobs, Faints In Murder Trial

or I'll kill you," he threatened. Hastily she put her skirt over her nightgown and left.

Mrs. Monroe testified further that she didn't know that her husband was dead until 9 o'cloth the following morning. In the intervening hours she had been to a doctor and obtained some sleeping pills.

Written Confession

In the written confession, Mrs. Monroe had stated that both she and her husband had gotten knives from the kitchen and then returned to bed. As he continued to molest her, she claimed, she got up, grabbed the weapon and stabbed him in the chest. She wrote that she knew he was dead and went to a doctor to get some sleeping pills, taking them all.

On Wednesday, Mr. and Mrs. A. Hall, friends of the accused woman, testified that she had come to their home at 3 a.m. one morning in February, clothed in her bathrobe, telling how her husband had attacked her. Mr. and Mrs. F. McGhee also testified that Mrs. Monroe had come to their home early one morning. They said she was barefoot and clad in her nightgown, and told them of how her husband beat her. Other witnesses told of seeing bruises on the young woman's body, apparently the result of beatings.

Lengthy Trial

Earlier in the lengthy trial blonde, statuesque Mrs. Rita Malcolm had testified that she loved James Monroe, and that she had spent many weekends with him from October, 1953 to March, 1954.

Mrs. Monroe was arrested April 3, after she disclosed that she had stabbed her husband at their fashionable apartment, 3207 W. Adams blvd., and was charged with murder.

The trial opened July 1, with prosecution and defense questioning prospective jurors for two full days. Mrs. Malcolm took the stand July 7, the first witness for the state.

Prosecutor William McGinley has demanded the death penalty.

Robeson Seeks New Passport

NEW YORK.—Singer Paul Robeson on July 2 applied for a new passport to enable him to fulfill engagements in Israel, England and other European countries. He made no reference to plans to visit the Soviet Union.

In his application to the State Department, Robeson stated that he has been "blackisted for political nonconformity" by the American stage, screen, radio and television.

White Opposes Withdrawal of U. S. From U. N.

NEW YORK.—Withdrawal of the United States from the United Nations and a subsequent collapse of the international organization would end "almost the only hope of two hundred million people still held in colonial bondage and of many hundreds of millions more who have only recently gained their independence," a top civil rights leader declared here this week.

Walter White, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, expressed this view in a radio interview.

GOP Seeks Negro Vote

The Republicans have found a formula by which they hope to appeal to the Negro voter and to recapture "the Negro vote." At bottom, their strategy will depend on the claim that the advances in civil rights in the past two years are traceable to the Republican triumph in 1952 and that if the Negro wants more of the same kind of progress he ought to cast his ballot for the Republicans.

Emphasis will be put on the abolition of discrimination in the District of Columbia, the practical end of segregation in the armed forces and the successful outcome of the school segregation and other Supreme Court cases.

There is a certain plausibility to GOP claims that may appeal to the Negro voter. In anologous circumstances the party in power never hesitates to claim credit for a period of prosperity even when the basis for the good times has been laid during prior opposition administrations.

The clean-up in the District of Columbia can be credited to the courage and resourcefulness of Negro litigants who found an old 1872 civil rights law in the District and pressed the claim that the law had never been repealed or amended. The courts agreed as they would have agreed no matter who was in the White House. As a matter of sober fact the agreement came from a court all of whose members had been appointed by Roosevelt or Truman.

The armed services integration program was begun by President Truman at a time when General of the Armies Eisenhower was extremely critical of the program and convinced that it would not work. It is to the President's credit that he continued the program of which he was originally critical but certainly the Republicans are a little out of line in claiming it as a Republican accomplishment.

The Supreme Court decisions in the school cases, the housing cases and in other spheres of civil rights are the end results of long-time campaigns by the NAACP and it is only a historical accident that the decisions were rendered after the GOP victory in 1952.

All of these facts will do the Democrats no good unless they make some effort to get the truth across to the Negro voter. As of the present time, California Democrats are letting the Republicans steal the show from them, apparently because of lack of understanding either the seriousness of the GOP bid for the Negro vote or through lack of knowing how to meet the claims.

Something Wrong Here

The Department of Justice is reported to be conducting an investigation of informants who made the claim that Ralph Bunche was a security risk. Bunche was cleared promptly at the conclusion of his hearing in the face of categorical statements by these informers that he was a member of or cooperated closely with the Communists.

It is plain that the informers made statements directly contrary to the truth and the issue is whether or not they lied or were mistaken. It is hard to believe that they could have been mistaken in a case of this magnitude and the inference is plain that they deliberately faked a case against one of America's most distinguished statesmen.

The threats of investigation and the collapse of the case against Bunche show the weakness of security procedures. Under present security regulations any and all gossip is carefully collected and collated by the FBI and placed in the file of the accused person. The FBI does not evaluate the material and in time a pile of malicious gossip assumes the proportions of serious doubt as to loyalty of the public servant in whose file it is placed.

The evil is compounded by the fact that the burden of proving loyalty or of being a good security risk is thrust on the individual. The governmental department need prove nothing beyond the fact that some vague doubt exists in the case of the person under fire.

Suppose that Bunche had been an unknown or a man without his habit of putting his views in writing or without powerful friends. There is the uncomfortable feeling that he might have been separated from the service and left with a ruined career. That feeling is bolstered by the fact that the same two informers who made the charges against Bunche have appeared against others and that some of those others have been fired, or even convicted under the Smith Act.

What will the government do in the case of those others in the event that it is found that there were gross mistakes, or even perjury, in the Bunche case? How will it decide whether they were not similarly mistaken, or worse, in the lesser cases? What will happen to those who were fired or convicted of crime partially on the basis of the testimony of men who have been found unreliable?

These disturbing questions suggest that departure from old and long-established procedures for proof of guilt have led us into a situation in which injustice has resulted.

Unfit For Office

It is becoming increasingly plain that when racial segregation is abolished in the Los Angeles Fire Department Chief John H. Alderson should resign.

His latest statement to the effect that abolition of segregation will reduce the Fire Department to a "second rate, third rate or even fourth rate" department portrays him as hopelessly convinced of the inferiority of Negroes, and as equally dedicated to the belief in white supremacy.

It is hard to see how a man in this frame of mind and with this set of beliefs could be expected to treat Negro employes in a fair manner in the event that racial bars are dropped. Certainly, he would strive to keep them in subordinate positions and to find some ways and means of having them treated as the inferiors he believes them to be.

Nor is there any hope that Chief Alderson will be swayed by Mayor Poulson's findings of the workability of integration in other cities where Jim Crow is abandoned.

The chief's prejudices are the familiar ones. They are unreasoned and consequently cannot be diminished or swept aside by any amount of proof.

Similar sentiments have been voiced in every situation in which abolition of segregation has been abandoned. Admirals and generals said the same thing about segregation in the armed forces; there were prophecies of doom, and worse, when the courts swept aside Jim Crow in schools, in dining cars and in voting and when fair employment policies were ordered by law or executive decree.

Any man who has not learned the fallacy of Chief Alderson's line of reasoning by 1954 just won't learn. The best thing Los Angeles can do is to find a new fire chief who is abreast of the times.

Battleaxe and Bread

By Lester B. Granger

Two news items coming out of the South last week illustrated the two extremes of political leadership in that section at points where racial change is involved. The Louisiana Legislature surprised no one at all by voting, 35-2, to defy the Supreme Court ruling in the matter of segregation in public education.

Lester Granger

Probably few of the Legislature's members really expect that their action will stand the test of constitutionality. What they are doing is taking a position which they feel will be popular with their white constituents, and the pity is that they are probably correct in their estimate on a white majority basis.

Outside of New Orleans and possibly a couple of much smaller cities, there is really no liberal movement in Louisiana; the state's canebrake and bayou dwellers are still too far behind the times in most social and economic affairs to provide hope for a strong reform movement sweeping the state in the very near future.

Atlanta Different

The news from Atlanta is different. This Georgia metropolis has always been a political anomaly. It has been headquarters for some of the most brutish anti-Negro movements operating in the South; at the same time it has been a center for the South's strongest liberal activities.

On an over-all measurement, Atlanta can probably be placed up in the top quartile of southern cities in the matter of interracial dynamism.

A young lawyer by the name of Morris B. Abram is even now trying his best to move Atlanta and surrounding De Kalb County high in the scale of liberal measurement. Of the Jewish faith, Morris Abram is a native Georgian. He was an honor student at the University of Georgia; he won a Rhodes scholarship; during World War II he received the Legion of Merit, the nation's second highest military honor for meritorious service. He is also rated as a first class lawyer.

Running for Office

Morris Abram is seeking election as Georgia's Congressman from the Fifth District. That district is composed of the counties of De Kalb, Fulton and Rockdale, and since 1946 the congressional elections have been on the basis of the county-unit system. This system provides that no matter what the popular vote may be, the candidate who wins a majority of the county-unit votes wins the election. The system, which on a state-wide basis has kept the Talmadges—father and son—in the Governorship, is similar to the electoral college system that determines our Presidential elections.

The significant feature of the Georgia county-unit set-up is that an overwhelming proportion of the state's counties are rural. It's among the ruralites that the Talmadges and the Klansmen have traditionally enrolled their most fervent and numerous supporters. As long as the county-unit system is in, the cards are stacked against any liberal, or even a decent, candidate in a state election.

In the Fifth District, the question of popular or county-unit system of voting in a congressional election is determined by the district executive committee. This committee is appointed by the successful Democratic candidate for Congressman.

"Right" on Race Issue

There's the importance of the Abram's candidacy. He has come out against the county-unit system and pledged himself to abolish it if nominated. He is known to be "right" on the racial issue. He is against McCarthyism, Dixiecratism, Klanism and all the other ugly bigotries that befoul the South's reputation.

On the surface of things, it would appear that this kind of a candidate — Jewish, liberal, anti-county-unit system — wouldn't have an outside chance to win a seat in Congress. The news that's so different is that, as matters stand at present, Morris Abrams has a good chance of being nominated. If he's nominated, of course, he's in—Georgia's one-party system being what it is.

It would be an especially fine thing at this particular time if Morris Abrams should win. Following on the heels of the victory of Atlanta University's president Rufus Clement in last fall's race for the Board of Education, an Abram's victory would be a second and reaffirmative notice that white and colored voters can stand together in Georgia for decent community causes — and can win when they do stand together on matters that affect both races equally.

Those of us in New York, California and places north and west can't vote in this election, but we can—and it will be fine if we do—remind our Georgia friends of the importance of this election.

Pure and Simple

By L. F. Palmer Jr.

Just completed another piece of momentous research the results of which I'm forwarding to the U.S. Office of Education with a lot of tongue clucking.

Seems our schools are putting emphasis on something or other but where American History is concerned, it must be on the other. Take the Fourth, for example. Nobody seems to know what the heck it's all about. Here's what my survey turned up:

I asked my 21-month-old reasonable facsimile of Dennis the Menace what the Fourth meant to him. His answer: "Da Da."

Then I tried the question out on a recently promoted second grader. Answer: "Firecrackers".

Fourth Grader

A cute little girl told me she was in the fourth grade so I put her to the test. Answer: "Oh, that's so we don't have to go to school and can go on a picnic in the park."

By now, I'm getting quite concerned about the state of the nation's potential leaders but I don't give up. I wade in a little deeper. The target of my research this time is a high school football luminary. His answer: "Ugh . . . ugh . . ." He never managed another word.

Of course, now, you realize that I'm not expecting any of these flowers of youth to answer "The Fourth of July is in reality Independence day. It marks the 178th anniversary of the adoption by the Continental Congress of the Declaration of Independence."

One Word

I think I would have been satisfied if just one of the young Americans in my sample had slipped in edgewise the word, "Independence." I wasn't looking for an encyclopedic exposition on the divorce of America and Britain back on July 4, 1776. But I did feel awful disturbed that all I could get was something about fireworks, picnics and ugh . . . ugh. . . .

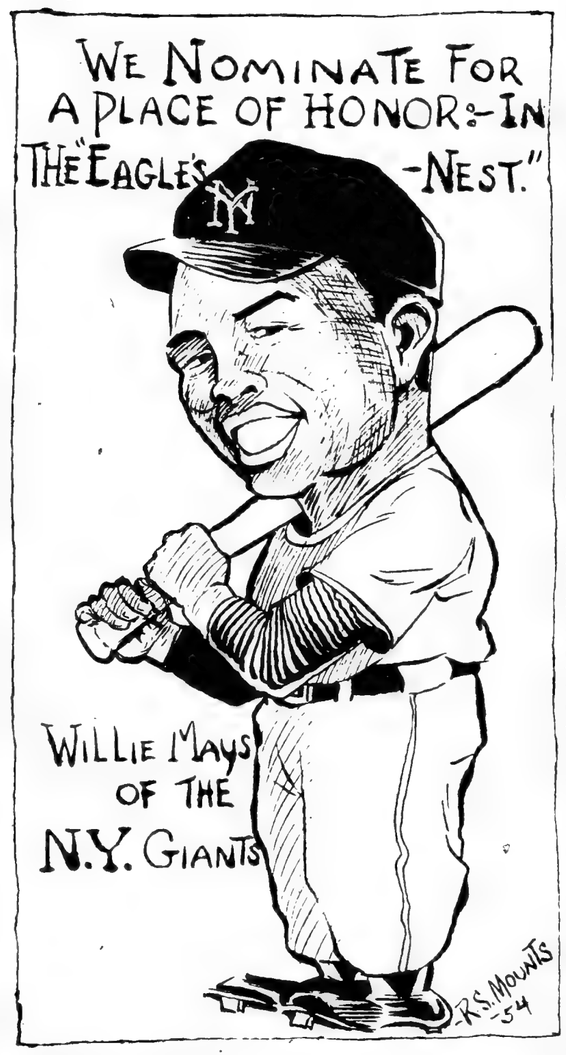
Could it be that our teachers were falling down on the job? Perish the thought, I told myself. But I couldn't sleep that night. I had to know. I just had to know.

So early the next day, bleary eyed and distraught, I dashed over to the house of a little woman I know. She teaches 6th and 7th grades. I pleaded ignorance and told her I just had to know what the Fourth of July was all about. Told her it was for something I was writing.

This moulder of minds looked at me in disbelief. I could see what words were spinning around in her brain. You big oaf, she was thinking, you mean to say you don't know what the Fourth of July is celebrated for?

Words of Wisdom

She opened her mouth to speak but nothing came out. She sputtered like a T-Model Ford with a hangover. At last she dropped her words of wisdom:



"Why the Fourth has something to do with . . . ugh . . . you know . . . what's his name . . . ugh . . . Oh, you know what I'm talking about . . ."

I thought for a minute, then answered: "Aw, sure, I remember now. Something to do with Roger Bannister and the Spanish American war".

Great relief flooded her face and made way for a smile.

"How in the world could I have forgotten?" she said, slumping into a chair.

I slithered on out of her house and rushed home to write up the findings of my survey. I sure hope the U.S. Office of Education knows that Roger Bannister is that English speedster who just cracked the four minute mile.

One Man's Opinion

By LEON STEWARD

This is a story about a young artist in our midst. Wesley Gale was born in New York City where he began his public school career. As a child he was brought to Los Angeles, where he continued in public schools until his parents, who were West Indians, took him to Kingston, Jamaica, at the age of 11.

Leon Steward

When he returned with his mother to Los Angeles, he was 16 and when he entered Jefferson High School he was taken aback by the fact that he did not know any American games—his being cricket.

While in the West Indies, Wesley became interested in expressing in art forms what he felt in that picturesque country. Thus, when put to it regarding a course of study, it was easy for the lad to decide upon the art course. He had already begun making motion pictures through the influence of a friend. Two weeks before graduation, his mother and he went to Acoma, New Mexico. But they returned just in time for the graduation exercises and Wesley was permitted to graduate with his class.

Didn't Like Barbering

After high school the art student entered L. A. City College (1941) and its fine arts course. His mother, wondering how he could make a living in art, encouraged him to enter a barber college a year later — for economic reasons, the young artist declared. After five months Wesley began to feel that he was hurting himself and that the money made was not satisfying him in the least.

His friend had opened up for him the route into the motion picture studios and the young man began his way back to them. In 1952 he said: "I almost went to the West Indies to practice my art."

After participating in several pictures he was well able to go. When he returned he was more inspired than ever with West Indian art. His problem was to show his art to the public. His first opportunity was at the Negro History Week Art Exhibits in which two pictures by Wesley Gale were shown.

On Display

"I wanted to create something in my own community rather than seek a haven in Hollywood," so said Mr. Gale as he looked for a place in which to display his art and some from the Caribbean countries.

He finally found a store at 2922 S. Western avenue. It is now entitled "House of Caribbean Arts." While we were there a handsome actor from Hollywood was buying one of his shirt creations for summer. He says that people often come in to look at the West Indian items of cloth, ceramics, paintings and baskets, and upon being about to leave they would ask him: "Are those things for sale?" He said that he assured them that they were.

Let us invite you to the House of Caribbean Arts, presenting paintings by Wesley Gale—done in Cuba, Jamaica, Haiti and New York, and introducing Haitian ceramics, Jamaican hats, baskets and fabrics. Daily from 10 to 6, Friday and Saturday 10 to 9, and Sunday 3 to 6. We are sure you will feel well repaid.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Loren:

With the successful conclusion of our campaign I want to tell you how much I appreciated the support you gave me in your columns.

The good vote cast in my behalf (108,040 to 66,096) indicates that the work of a large company of friends and supporters like yourself was most effective.

Again my thanks for all your help.

John Anson Ford

Dear Staff:

I would like to thank you so very much for your cooperation with the clubs in which I worked this past year.

Your close work with us has made the community more conscious of the work of the Delta Sigma Theta sorority, Jack and Jill club, and the auxiliary to the Medical, Dental and Pharmaceutical Association of Southern California. For this last organization, thanks for your cooperation during my presidency of the past three years.

We have also appreciated everything.

Michigan Parish Open To All

NEW YORK. — Negroes are now invited to join formerly all-white Episcopal parishes in Michigan according to the forthright policy of the Rt. Rev. Richard S. M. Emrich, bishop of the Diocese of Michigan.

Bishop Emrich made his position clear in a statement reprinted in the current issue of the Episcopal Churchnews. "The Church is not the Church of any one race, class or nation. It is God's family . . . all peoples are to be welcomed in every parish and mission of the Diocese of Michigan."

The Bishop's policy is slowly breaking through years of ingrained prejudice, the magazine reports.

While some churches still seem reluctant to reach out to colored members of their physical parish, others, like Detroit's Grace Church, not only have a mixed congregation, but a Negro curate with a white rector.

Too much sympathy is apt to spoil the underdog!

ISN'T ONE WIFE ENOUGH?—by Kimball Young

Kimball Young, a grandson of Brigham Young and one of the noted sociologists of our day, is as well suited as anyone to clarify one of the most confusing institutions in our history, that of Mormon polygamy. Attempting to separate history from hysteria, he covers the practice of plural marriage from Joseph Smith's time to the recent uproar at Short Creek, Arizona. Never has the reader been given so close a look at the polygamous household, nor have so many questions been answered about this strange way of life.

ELEVEN BLUE MEN—by Berton Roueche'

We have had the suspense mystery, the locked door mystery, the true crime story—here now is something new in the field of detection—mysteries of medicine as faced by public health doctors. What caused eleven men to be brought to the hospital in the same mysterious and inexplicable cyanosed condition? Why did a New Jersey dishwasher die and his two companions recover? These skillfully told and fascinating articles first appeared in the "New Yorker."

Lillian Smith, author of "Strange Fruit," traces her journey through life searching, as each person must do, for self-understanding. Her quest leads her into an exciting search of her own heart and into the hearts of her neighbors. Eloquently, and with a sense of awe, she reaffirms the dignity of man. This is a book of hope, written with power and compassion.

PRELUDE TO SPACE — by Arthur C. Clarke

Here is a documentary of the events leading up to the launching of the first rocket to the moon in 1978 — a science-fiction tale that is far out of the space opera category. It is well possible that such exploration of a new world may come within the experience of our generation, and if the next quarter of a century should see such a voyage, there will be few newspaper or magazine articles that will be able to compare with this imaginative study of the scientific and social implications of our first step into space.

MAN LOST VIGOR

UNDER DR. LEW'S CARE REGAINS HIS HEALTH

I had suffered with my prostate gland, it caused me nervous, sleepless, leg pain, kidney and bladder trouble, and so bitter to go toward opposite sex, and complete loss of vigor. I had tried all kinds of remedies without result until I was recommended to Dr. F. Y. Lew (Chinese Herb Specialist). In couple of months time I am completely well. Now I am well and the future is more brighter and stronger than ever. If any one suffers as I did, please wish to Dr. Lew. I am sure you will receive the same results.

CHURCH BEAUTIFIED—Here is the interior of Faithful Central Baptist church, 4020 Paloma avenue showing the new pews and pulpit which were dedicated at stirring ceremonies last Sunday. In the background is the new choir loft and a painting, Cross and Crown, which was suggested by the minister, the Rev. W. L. Robinson. Dedication of the new pews and pulpit climaxed a long effort by members of the church to refurnish and beautify the church building.

New Pews Dedicated By Central Baptist Church

Under the leadership of Reverend W. L. Robinson, Faithful Central Baptist Church has just completed a new milestone in the advancement of the church.

In February, 1948, the late Dr. A. C. Capers saw the need, and visualized the importance of a more spacious edifice to serve the ever increasing membership and visitors, and ventured into the building of the present beautiful structure located at East 40th place and Paloma Avenue.

Faithful Central's building was completed in 1950. From 1950 to 1953, Dr. Capers struggled to keep Faithful Central growing in spirit and advancing the cause of God. Dr. Capers, realizing his failing in health, accepted retirement after recommending and requesting that Faithful Central Baptist Church call Rev. W. L. Robinson to continue the church's program.

The Rev. Robinson accepted the call of Faithful Central in May 1953, and immediately began to advance the church program by first demonstrating his ability to fill the church with spirit and love for everyone.

He increased the membership and visitors to the extent that the building proper had to be altered to accommodate the crowd of gospel seekers.

The Rev. Robinson was instrumental in the church's purchasing a new pipe organ. In February he advanced the idea of purchasing new pews for the church. Chairman of the Deacon Board, Charlie Ary, and Chairman of the Trustees, James Robinson, approved of the idea and cooperated to the fullest extent.

Mrs. Della P. Young was appointed Chairman of the Seat Committee. It was by the untiring effort of Mrs. Young that she was successful in receiving the cooperation of the members and visitors at large, and last Sunday, new church pews were occupied and enjoyed by all present.

More than $5,000 worth of new pews were arranged so that all choir members, pulpit occupants, members and visitors could relax.

The dedication of the new seats began by assembling in the basement of the church, and forming a line of march from the basement to the most beautifully decorated church in the city. All people, forming the line of march, carried in their hands bills of various denominations in token of their appreciation.

The new pews, plus the pulpit fixtures of same material and color, but of different design, caused all eyes and mouths to express amazement.

The amazement and rejoicing of the new equipment lasted only until Rev. W. L. Robinson began to "paint" a picture with words in a sermon that caused the spirit of God to take precedence over the excitement of the new seats.

ILLNESSES

She leaves to mourn the loss a husband, Shirley Wills; one daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Ottman of Evanston, Ill. Interment in Woodlawn Cemetery with the Spaulding Mortuary in charge. Officiated by Rev. E. M. Blair.

BOLANOS NIGHT AT OLYMPIC MON.

—On the Turf—

GEORGE RAMSEY

BEAUTIFUL CALIENTE IN OLD MEXICO: My Heroine from the stable of the famous R. C. Ellsworth captured the featured Sunday, making it two in a row for the daughter of Pere Time-Dark Heroine Setting nearly all the pace and holding off a determined bid by Dark Khal the France handicap at the bordercourse last in the stretch he won by a half a length, paying in the mutuels as the public favorite $4.20

George Ramsey

The Flanders at a mile and 70 yards for 3-year-olds, was marked by the disqualification of the pace-making Jet Propulsion, who bore out on Hamburger John in the stretch. Jet Propulsion a 6-to-1 shot ridden by Joe Espinosa, was moved back to third as the result of a protest lodged by Alex Maese aboard Hambuger John. The latter was awarded second and Tina S. was moved from second to first.

The daily-double combination of Tracing, winner of the fourth race, and Ready Cash, victor of the fifth, paid $38.40. Quniela backers of Sir Roy, a field horse and Sister Butch who finished in that order received $116.40.

HOLLYWOOD PARK. — The track of the Lakes and Flowers reaches its high point of interest this week with the renewal of the Hollywood Gold Cup which is famed as the only race in the world which guarantees its winner a net purse of $100,000. How many horses will contest the run of a mile and a quarter is not certain, but the prospects are that few more than a half-dozen will be in the starting lineup.

The favorite will be the King Ranch's Rejected who in his last race won the American Handicap, beating almost all of those he expects to meet in the Gold Cup. Rejected equaled Hollywood's track record for a mile and one eighth in his last race by defeating his stable mate High Scud in 1:48 flat.

Former UCLA Player To Coach Wiley Team

Alva Tabor, former UCLA Bruins football player, will become one of the youngest football coaches in the Southwest Conference and fans all over the nation will follow the Wiley Wildcats this season. Tabor will be fighting to regain the football prominence of the famous Wiley Wildcats under Fred Long, who won several national football titles. The eyes of Texas are upon the fleet-footed California coach, who is facing a rugged nine game schedule.

Lightweight To Be Given Boxing Honor

"Enrique Bolanos Appreciation Night" will be celebrated at the Olympic Auditorium, Monday, in tribute to the most popular Mexican battler that ever wore gloves.

In the main event, colorful Ramon Tiscareno will try to reverse the decision he dropped to Mario Trigo last year — the only loss on his record since he came to California.

Following the Trigo defeat, however, Tiscareno shot right back into popularity with a win over Freddie Herman, up in Sacramento, an impressive 2-round kayo over Denver Joe Fisher at the Olympic, and a 5-round kayo over Chu Chu Jimenez at South Gate.

As for Trigo, he maintained his reputation as a spoiler in his last fight, when he held heavily-favored Manny Renteria to a 10-round draw. Renteria had knocked out three in a row, all in main events, prior to his meeting with The Twister.

Bolanos will be the "big man" Monday. His picture will be hung in the Olympic's fistic Hall of Fame, and he will be presented with tokens of esteem from his many admirers.

Adolfo Dominguez, Mexican consul-general, will make the picture presentation. Famed Mexican stars of stage and screen have been invited, such as Antonio Moreno, Ricardo Montalban, Lina Romay and others. There will be Mexican music, provided by a mariachi band.

TENTH ANNUAL COSMO GOLF TOURNEY ENDS IN DEADLOCK

By A. "SHOELESS JOE" JACO

The Tenth Annual Cosmopolitan Invitational Tournament finished in a three way deadlock for third place. Lavelle Mayfield, who picked up his ball on the 36th hole before holeing out, suffered a two stroke penalty which gave him a 151 for the two days' play, along with Justin Grant and James Wilson.

Mayfield's error deprived him of a chance to meet the champion Al. McDaniel in a playoff for the championship, instead of Grant and Wilson for the third place trophy. These three men and "Thop" Smith, who also was tied with Wilson for medalist honors with 74s the first day, engaged in as close a match Sunday as one will ever witness.

Mayfield opened with two straight birdies, and it appeared as if he would breeze in handily. Grant who had bogeyed the first hole, chipped in a 60 footer to also bird the second hole. From this point on it was a spectacular exhibition of tremendous tee shots, deadly chipping and sure fire putting. They hit the turn with Mayfield's 36 leading "Thop" Smith by one stroke and the other two contestants by two.

Smith, however, was only interested in Wilson, that is if you disregard the "friendly rivalry" with "Juddie Boy," whose recovery shots and putting was literally phenomenal.

Mayfield appeared to tire on the back side as his shots became a bit ragged. Nevertheless he hit the 18th tee still one stroke to the good. After hitting a beautiful drive, the roof fell in on him, as he wound up with seven blows and still was not in the cup, so, again he picked up his ball without holeing out.

Wilson and Grant finished with identical scores of 77s, which necessitate another playoff between them. Smith bogied the last two holes to wind up with a 75, which was good enough to win the medalist honors from Wilson.

Covingtons Fete 25th Anniversary

Celebrating their silver wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Covington, 2003 Virginia Road, entertained a large group of friends at a lovely garden party Sunday afternoon. Adding interest to the occasion was the presence at the anniversary party of many of those who attended the Covington nuptials at Wesley Chapel church twenty-five years ago.

Mothers of both the Covingtons were present to rejoice with their children and to recall memories of the couple's wedding and the many intervening years. Mrs. T. A. Greene, mother of Mrs. Covington, and Mrs. Lillian Brown helped receive guests who came to offer congratulations and best wishes.

Hostesses for the affair were Mesdames: Dorothy Johnson, Ethel Bell, Bessie Burke, Anna Mae Murdick, Louella Bryant.

KERRY JACKSON and HAL MILLER

Don't ask us what happened over the weekend 'cause we don't know it. . . . At least not locally. You see, we were weekend guests at "Fernando's Hideaway." . . . Tiajuana, Mexico.

No need to go into detail concerning the trip. It was just one of those things. . . . Party and more party . . . sickening, isn't it?

The folks who shared our company wish to remain anonymous for reasons known only to themselves. We wonder why?

THIS WEEKEND

We're going to stick around for this weekend's activities 'cause it's being rumored that the Pyramids (Delta pledges) are going to present their greatest formal ever.

Whip and Saddle Clubsters who had a heckuva beach party over the weekend, are planning another for Saturday evening. . . . Or sometime soon.

OTHER STUFF

The interfrat council is giving a lot of praise for the success of their Saturday night NAACP benefit dance to Mike Ellington, who helped get such stars as Joe Adams, June Ekstein, Harry Belefonte, Earl Hines, Eddy Beal and Dorothy Dandridge out to the affair. With this type of participation next year's basketball series should be a whopper.

At the same dance one of the local lads got his wires crossed and found himself stuck with both of his current flames. We're wondering which one is the Queen Bee. . . . Or should we say the Queen-Ann. . . . Allen that is.

Out South L.A. way one of our good buddies, Lavelle Dunlap and his "good-cooking wife," Othello, gave a feast fit for kings.

All of this is hearsay, but one of our most trusted spies reports that she saw Blonde and Lovely Dolle Williams making it home in the wee-dawning last weekend. . . . It's said she was coming in from one of them recording affairs with the Ink Spots. . . . Wow!

Bridge Pointers

By 'KENNY' SCOTT

There are many things to remember about crossruffing a hand. The most important is to be sure to take all possible tricks in side suits so that opponents cannot discard these suits and then later ruff them.

A knowledge of distribution and bidding also helps. As cards are played they tell their story. If a player drops an unreasonable high card it means he is short in that suit. If declarer or dummy has a long suit which one of the opponents has bid, the other opponent is short in it.

Small things like this will often help bring home a contract.

North is playing four hearts. During the auction West bids clubs. The singleton seven of clubs was led. West took the ace and returned a spade. A heart lead would have been better.

Advantageous Position

North took his ace of spades, ruffed a club, reentered his hand on the king of spades, ruffed another club, played the ace of diamonds, ruffed a diamond, ruffed his last club, ruffed another diamond, and still had the ace and king of hearts to play for the fulfillment of his contract.

In this case each ruffing hand was sitting behind, that is it played after the hand of the opponent which happened to be short in the same suit. This is the most advantageous position. There are times when dummy and declarer have all the high trumps. In this situation it does not matter whether the short suited opponents are in front or behind. They cannot overruff.

Note also that North played his ace and king of spades as soon as possible. That way East had no chance to throw a spade away.

Defensive minded players should note that regardless of apparent trick loss, trumps should always be led to kill a crossruff. In this case West's queen was useless. He should have led it. It would have set the contract.

Each Tuesday classes are held at the YWCA for beginning players. The time is 7:30 p.m. and all players and would-be players are urged to attend.

The ruddy ripe tomato is at it's succulent peak now, and by approaching it from the oven as well as in salads a variety in menu can be achieved.

Baked Tomatoes Stuffed With Rice

Select a tomato for each serving and cut a thin slice from the stem end. Scoop out the pulp leaving a medium thick shell. Add a bit of curry powder to as much cooked rice as you have tomato pulp, season with grated onion and finely chopped pepper if desired. Add salt and pepper, a dash of sugar. Refill the tomato cases, paint them with melted butter and sprinkle with breadcrumbs. Bake in buttered casserole in a hot oven (400 degrees) for 20 to 25 minutes. Serve the hot tomatoes on a bed of hot chopped spinach.

Remember the song "Come on a my house"? Peaches and pears and plums and dates were all offered to please the unsuspecting guest. Well, if the diet you've been following has put on some extra pounds, try using a variety of fresh fruits as desert or salad these hot days. Dress them simply with a bit of lemon juice and honey or use sour cream. It helps bring out the full flavor of the fruit. Watermellons are especially good this season.

Add a bit of thyme to the fresh peas before serving next time for a change in flavor. Cook the peas about ten minutes in a small amount of water.

Hintwise—A bit of vinegar rubbed into that scorched spot on material. Wipe off with clean water. No scorch.

N.Y. BALLET 'DANCESATIONAL' AT GREEK THEATRE

THE PEARL—during the shooting of movie Carmen Joues a heavy light crashed in the middle of four hundred extra players, seriously injuring one. Pearl Bailey leaped to her feet, raced to the unconcious bleeding victim snatching a handkerchief on the run from the pocket of Maxie Thrower and skillfully eased the pain of the player. So masterfully did the singer handle the incident she averted a stampede!

JOSEPHINE PREMICE — noted Haitian singer, dancer, almost went unnoticed during her run at Hollywood's bistro by the sepia press. Reason being that her praise agent is doing a rather poor job for the gal who got her star as a model in New York during the 40's.

REV. A. A. PETERS—who banks the Sunday collection at the Avalon-Vernon branch on Monday is being watched by trio holding membership cards in that well known fraternity called "Larceny, Inc!"

G. G. PENLAND and Herman Hill formed the Gipson-Hill agency and held open house in the Hotel Watkins the other eve. Their offices will handle Advertising, Public Relations, Publicity. We certainly hope the Eckstine's, Bailey's, Cole's, Jordan and other top boxoffice names insure themselves good press relations by tossing a little business their way!

Local Dance Enthusiasts Acclaim Corps de Ballet For Greatest Season in History

Two new ballets, "Con Amore" and "Fanfare," are being given on a program of four by the New York City Ballet during the second week's program at the Greek Theatre with final performance Saturday, July 17, at 9:30 p.m. The others, "La Valse" and "Sylvia, pas de Deux" were danced by this famed groupe here a year ago.

Capable Cast

Lew Christensen created "Con Amore," used music by Rossini with scenery and costumes by Esteban Frances. It is a satire on three aspects of love and its episodes have to do with a determined thief in a camp of Amazons.

Terrific Tone Poem

"La Valse" reveals whirling clouds giving glimpses of couples dancing—a realization by Balanchine and Karinska of the "program" which Maurice Ravel inscribed on the score of the tone poem which provides the music for the ballet. A final burst of illumination shows us a magnificent ball at an Imperial court of 1855.

Versatile Aggregation

"Sylvia pas de Deux" by Balanchine with music from "Sylvia" by Delibes. The foregoing ballets enlist all of the 14 stars of the company.

"Fanfare" the final number, is Benjamin Britten's "Young Person's Guide to Orchestra." With choreography by Jerome Robbins, the ballet has a grandiose, ceremonial character and was created to celebrate the coronation of Elizabeth of England. Thirty-four dancers are characterized in terms of the instruments, on a theme by Purcell.

Monday, July 19, through Saturday, July 24, four famous ballets will be presented: Serenade Age of Anxiety, Harlequinade and Cakewalk. Conveniently located at 2700 N. Vermont Ave, the Greek Theatre should be a definite must with every patron of the "dance."

Caricature Continues Run At Show Case

With "Caricature," Irving Phillips' hit comedy, slated to close Sunday, July 18, the "Ebony Showcase Theater is readying its next production—"If I Had a Chance."

A variety show, with singing, dancing and blackout, "If I Had a Chance" will boast a cast of professional and semi-professional performers.

Nick Stewart, producer-manager of Ebony Showcase Theater, will start holding talent auditions for the production next Monday night and will continue on following Monday nights.

According to Stewart, producers, agents and press will be invited to the theater to review the newcomers assembled in these auditions. Those interested in appearing in "If I Had a Chance" should call the theater at RE. 6448, or attend the Monday night open auditions in person.

TV TREAT

NEW YORK—Operatice singer, Gloria Davy, appearing as a guest on the "Chance of A Lifetime" TV show, tells emcee Dennis James about her current role as "Bess" in the road show of Porgy and Bess.

Lela Harris Theatre Cashier

The race barrier has been broken on Hollywood Blvd.—at least as far as theater box office cashiers are concerned.

The first and only Negro woman ever to run a box office on Hollywood's most glamorous thoroughfare is beautiful Lela Harris, 26, of the Marcal Theatre, where "Salt of the Earth" is now in its eighth great week.

Merits Patronage

With calm and great dignity Lela has charmingly and efficiently carried out her duties. She has added immensely to the prestige of the theater.

Even during the first few days of the showing of "Salt of the Earth" when paid rowdies screamed and danced in derision only a few feet from her boxoffice. Lela remained unruffled. When they found they couldn't terrify her, they left.

When asked if she had been afraid during that period she replied, "No, I wasn't frightened. I've been used to discrimination all my life. I realized how ignorant those people were."

Highly Qualified

Lela and her husbank, Northrop Aircraft Mechanic Oliver Harris, came here five months ago from San Francisco, where they were married six years ago.

The pawtees that made news last weekend: The 20th Century Mouernettes Mexican Frolic at the Starlight Room. Si, Senor, it was so silly of you if you missed it . . . The opening of Shaky's number two outdoor snack bar at Jefferson and Central avenoo . . . The get-together Gert Gipson and Herman Hill had at the Watkins kicking off the announcement that they are a new public relations Jo Brooks! . . . The Inter-Frat Beam. Move over, Jules Fox and Basketball Council's Trophy Dance at the Cosmopolitan Saturday evening with June Eckstine, Olga James, Vera Francee and Josephine Premice as guest stars and several of us newspaper people aiding in the giveaway of the awards to the hoop stars . . . Credit Michael Illington with the promotion of the affair!

SOME PEOPLE ARE TALKING ABOUT

The story in the current Confidentialmag that speculates on the breakup of the romance between Billy Eckstine and French star Denice Darcel, the goddess of the bodice! . . . The way Enid Mosier, who owns the sculptured Ebony body beautiful, has returned from Europe and is upsetting the hip crowd who lend an ear to her sexy Parisian songs at N'Yawk's Vanguard club in Greenwich Village! . . . The way Pearlie Mae . . . is stealing the Carmen Jones show by just being her natural self . . . and the fact that petite little Olga James, who plays Cindy Lou in the film, is going to be a beeg beeg star, but who never sticks her pretty little nose in the air and who is thereby gaining the reputation as the darling of the set . . . Luscious Lucille Horne who is once more sharing secrets and listenable music with radio listeners via KFOX nightly beginning at eleven! . . . ad-lib session betwixt Dinah Washington and deejay Charles Trammell when he interviewed the plush thrush on his program Tuesday nite. It was our good fortune to be sitting in on the deal. And Slappy White was there too! You remember Slappy. He's the comic who gives your funnybone the giggles! . . . The way Sammy Davis Junior warbles the "Hey You" tune from Broadway's "Pajama Game" show and makes the rest of the vocalists who make a stab at it sound tired! . . . The fact that troubador Lawrence Stone will record next week with thirty musicians providing a background of mostly string music . . . As how Betty Edwards the dancing model, has switched to Calvert's or so she whispers! (That last item won't reach everybody, but a few folks will get the message) . . . or at least that's what Betty says! . . . The pocket flask of joy juice Leon Bratton offers to pals who feel they didn't make quota before the two ayem curfew took place . . . the true or false (?) murmur that Josephine Baker will start an engagement at a Sunset Strip nitery around August one . . . this may be a bogus whisper, but somehow we'd like to see it happen . . . we get a real charge out of this woman who has come a long way from St. Looey! . . . The way a certain cover gal rates all that "notoriety" by her ability to "whine the press around her finger" . . . the way sassiety bandleaders Jeep Smith and Don Johnson are vying for the choice musical dates sponsored by the town's social clubs . . . the daily love letters the Johnny Cepages pen to one another altho they've been married several months . . . the philosophical attitude crooner Lawrence Stone's 3 yr. old son has toward life. The chip off the old block is from the "cool school" too . . . the way Blues and Rhythm songs are gaining as much popularity as the so-called "pop" or popular tunes. And a few years back many of these hits would be known to a great majority as just another "race" record . . . the temporary split up between a former mag publisher and his winsome wife. And we never thought they'd part as they're both such nice people! . . . the Winchell item about insurance folks claiming that press agents have a "high mortality" and whose life span is about 48 yrs. Aside to clients: Don't push me! . . . the way our entire staff misses the friendliness, sensayuma, and the brilliant scribbling of Eagle scribe L. F. Palmer who is back home in Chicago . . . the fact that this newsboy has paid his journal dues for this week and is more than satisfied to yell thirty along about right now.

LAWRENCE STONE — newest bobby-sock rage was such a hit when he guested at the Twentieth Century Modernettes Mexican Frolic the other eve club members are voting him their favorite pin-up. Stone sang without the service of a mike and after the first note a hush came over the packed house and the dapper conductor of ballads, blues, and sweat tunes completely spellbound the huge crowd!

JESTER HAIRSTON — who is directing the group chorus in Carmen Jones was up in a dither when members couldn't read and sing in dialect to Husky Miller's victory song. This could have easily been avoided by writing the score in plain old English and the dialect would have been most in evidence.

BIG BUZ—an attempt was made to blacken the name of a well known sportsman by circulating a petition with false charges. It backfired when neighbors refused to sign. In fact they are ready to standup in court and swear the sportsman's conduct is above reproach!

HAZEL SIMPSON — just purchased a $90,000 dollar ranch in the San Fernando Valley with equipment to raise 10,000 chickens!

ARTHUR TOPSIL'S newest heartthrob is said to be the ex of a top flight lush salesman!

LUCILLE HORNE—is being labeled as the gal who can really keep a secret after her "Share A Secret" pawtee at the Morocco didn't jell. Now the whispers are what, why the sudden cancellation of the pawtee and the secret behind it!

OTTO PREMINGER—flew up in a rage when two newsgals appeared on the set of Carmen Jones of which he is the overlord. He didn't fancy their sideline kibitzing and promptly tossed them off the lot to the delight of most of the cast. However Bob Thomas, an AP Hollywood correspondent got the usual ofay treatment, and was granted special interview. That scribe later took him and his Carmen Jones over the coals in the Mirror.

YVONNE WALKER, attractive Kansas City Call Church editor, is in our midst. It's her yearly coast visit and she finds our Town Tavern a delightful spot for class and dinner!

BANDSTAND REVUE—One of the top TV Sunday night shows scored a smash with the sepia living room audiences when the Ink Spots and Nellie Lutcher held forth!

JENNIE WOODS—Las Primeras prexy will be entertaining her club members with an outdoor Bar-B-Q come Sunday out So. L.A. way!

DINAH WASHINGTON — who moves into the Club Oasis this week kicked-off her opening with a lavish press and cocktail pawtee and properly labeled it as "Dee Night." "Dee whiskey flowed into Dee deep night."

EMMA ADAMS—personable wifie of Joe will lend her charm to the Club Pigalle during the summer months. She indicated she'll work on an idea to attract vacationers during the hot mid-afternoons to cool refreshing cocktails!

TIJUANA MEX—visiting Angelenos were shocked when Mexican Police arrested a high-powered westside socialite for being drunk and disorderly across the border Sunday eve.

OLIVER COLEMAN — dapper bartender had Lady Luck smile up on him to the tune of $18,000. The method he used is a bit hazy!

Shot Ends Game of Dice

A Central Avenue dice game Saturday afternoon ended in a shooting, leaving one of the participants on the critical list at General Hospital and another held by police charged with attempted murder.

According to police and eye-witness reports, the dice game in the rear of a cafe at 2619 S. Central Avenue was going full swing when Chippe Rushing, 30, of 1261 E. Adams Blvd., who was experiencing a streak of bad luck, grabbed up the dice and threw them away.

Albert Lacy, 64, irritated, asked Rushing, "Why did you throw the dice away? They were mine." Whereupon, according to witnesses, Lacy pulled a gun and shot Rushing in the stomach.

In his statement to the police, Lacy, a presser, who lives at 608 E. Adam sBlvd., denied emphatically the version told by witnesses.

Lacy stated that Rushing was angered over his losses and pulled a gun on him and a struggle ensued.

Bishop Jordan Tells Africa Experience

Bishop Frederick D. Jordan, of the A.M.E. Church in South Africa, returned to the city this week full of optimism and enthusiasm over the difficult responsibility the Church has given him in South Africa. He is being given a music benefit at Ward A.M.E. Church, 1177 W. 25th Street, Monday night, featuring Jan Rubini, "poet of the violin"; Cecil Stewart's "Roguettes" TV's Five Sweethearts of Song; and Ann Hunter, popular dramatic contralto.

The purpose of his visit is to complete the arrangements through Thomas Cook & Son for his third trip to Africa, which he will make early this fall. After being denied admission to any part of the area in April 1953, Bishop Jordon returned to America by way of England where he began making contact with Church and government officials with a view to obtaining entry to his work.

Many influential persons in America, in both Church and Government, came to Bishop Jordan's aid and just before the close of the year he succeeded in obtaining 30-day visas for both Northern and Southern Rhodesia. "To many people," said Bishop Jordan, "it seemed a waste of time and money to go so far for so short a time."

He was convinced that the problem would be more easily solved by face to face conference, rather than through correspondence. "My faith was justified when after seeing the Prime Minister, several Cabinet Officials, and members of parliament, I was able to obtain, before leaving Rhodesia, written permission to re-enter the country and remain for a period of 12 months with the privilege of requesting an extension."

Bishop Jordan also stated that some progress is being made in negotiations with the Government of the Union of South Africa for his admission. He regarded as extremely significant, the action of the Union Government in receiving a delegation of leaders of the African Methodist Episcopal Church for a restatement of their case in requesting a visa for the bishop.

Baptist Heads Given Gowns By O'Bryant

One of the highlights of the thirteenth annual session of the California State Baptist Convention, July 6-10 at First Union Baptist church in San Francisco, was the presentation of a handsome pastor's robe to Dr. L. B. Moss, president, by Henri

DR. L. B. MOSS

O'Bryant of the O'Bryant Uniform Co., in Hollywood.

The presentation was made just before Dr. Moss delivered his annual message. Dr. Moss lauded Mr. O'Bryant for his acumen and contributions as a businessman.

O'Bryant also presented Rev. E. W. Wade, Convention treasurer, with a $50 check for the Baptist Boys Summer Camp near Fresno.

The Rev. H. W. Watson, Convention vice president invited Mr. O'Bryant to address his congregation in Oakland last Sunday morning. He received an ovation.

The highly successful convention attracted a banner number of delegates from all sections of the state, with approximately 1500 from Southern California alone.

Friendship Lodge Holds Annual Meet

The Grand Lodge and Temple of the United Brothers of Friendship and Sisters of Mysterious Ten and Juveniles, California, Oregon and Washington Jurisdiction celebrated their 100th year of existence in their 19th annual Grand Lodge session which began Sunday, June 27 and ended June 30. The Grand Lodge opened at Victory Baptist Church of Los Angeles with Rev. A. A. Peters preaching the Memorial Sermon for the deceased members.

Grand Lodge opened officially Monday at the Avalon Christian Church of Los Angeles, with delegates from California and Washington. Public reception was held Monday in the Avalon Church Sanctuary with Herbert Greenwood, police commissioner, bringing greetings from the Mayor's office.

One of the outstanding events of the grand session was the issuing of lifetime memberships to two members who have worked with the S.M.P.s 50 years or longer. Those receiving memberships were Mrs. Janie Williams and Mrs. Willie L. Willingham both of California Temple No. 17 Los Angeles. Another outstanding event of the session was a recommendation to reorganize the youth program. The youth program has been enlarged to include a wider range in age groups and a new program which includes supervisors from Lodges and Temples. These supervisors along with the mayor's office, the county Board of Education and a coordinator will plan better programs for their individual communities in an effort to help curb juvenile delinquency.

Newly elected Grand Officers are as follows: E. W. Fisher, Grand Master; Royal Mershon, Dept. Master; Virginia Cory, Grand Princess; Hilda Clisby, V. G. Princess; Annie E. Seldon Grand Secretary; Mary C. Cook, Grand Secretary Relief; E. J. Brown, Grand Treasurer; J. M. Edwards, Grand Chap.; and Lucy Norwood, Foreign Correspondence.

EDUCATIONAL GIFT - David Holt, special representative of the Budweiser Brewing company, arrives at 24th Annual Convention of the Pacific States Association, IBPOE of W., at Sacramento, at the close of the Educational Department's annual Oratorial Contest to present the retiring association president, James M. Stewart, with a substantial sized check from his employer to further the cause of education. In the center is Leo H. Kingsbury, Brig. General of the Antler Guard, Northern division.

Whip 'n Saddle Club Gives Beach Party

The Whip N' Saddle riding club began their summer festivities with an old fashioned weiner bake Saturday evening, Playa Del Ray's sand dunes opened up to almost completely swallow the many personal friends who gathered joyfully around the fire to roast marshmellows and imbibe cold drinks.

To name all of the many merrymakers would be a semi-impossibility but a few were Mr. and Mrs. Ken Spencer, Joyce Johnson, Bob Sandburger, Jeanne Turner, Billie and Dot Everett, John Brooks, Larry and Fay Spencer and Tommy Waterford.

Youth Day at Ward Church

Sunday (July 18) is Youth Day at Ward A.M.E. church and Dr. Fred E. Stephens has announced that the entire morning worship service will be carried out by the young people. Robert Kealing and Lee Starr are chairmen for the day and will lead the youth in conducting the service.

In the afternoon at 4:00 o'clock there will be a gigantic Youth Musical with choirs from Walker Temple A.M.E., First A.M.E., Grant A.M.E., First A.M.E. (Pasadena), Bethel Church of Christ Holiness, Holman Methodist, and Mount Sinai Baptist Churches. An added attraction at the afternoon program will be the appearance of Miss Libby Clark.

Those in the race for church honors this year are Helen Lewis and Jerry Taggert, Lorraine Fowler and Tom DeVault, Lorreta Salsbury and Ed Johnson, and Gene Shauntee and Robert Crawford. Lee Starr and Brenda Stephens were Mister and Miss Ward winners last year.

Supreme Court To Set Date In School Hearing

WASHINGTON.—When the Supreme Court convenes in October one of the items to be considered at its first conference will be the setting of a date for a review of the school case.

When the momentous ruling was handed down, the Court agreed to hear arguments in the fall on ways and means of implementing the decision.

Blows Below The Belt

FIRE DEPT. PLAYS ROUGH—Stooping to low blows, officials in the Fire Department this week and last were busy pressuring white firemen to sign petitions objecting to integration of whites and Negroes in the fire stations. White firemen told the Eagle their superiors were passing out the papers asking for signatures. Other petitions, openly prejudical, were being circulated in white communities. Above are reproductions of the petitions and letters being passed around.

ACQUITTED—Mrs. Genevieve Monroe found not guilty.

Police Shoot, Kill Fleeing Suspect

Dies During Police Quiz At Hospital

After breaking away from police and running down the alley between 52nd place and 52nd street near Central avenue, early Sunday morning, a man later identified through his fingerprints as Johnnie Hervey was shot and killed by a Newton Street policeman.

According to police reports, Officer C. M. Wade shot Hervey three times from a distance of 60 feet, after ordering him to halt.

The stricken man, seriously wounded, was still able to stand up. He hailed a passing motorist, Charles D. Thompson, 705. E. Jefferson blvd., and begged him to drive to the nearest hospital.

Before Thompson could comply, however, police intercepted them and ordered Hervey out of the car. As the officers pulled open the door, the wounded man, obviously in great pain, fell to the street.

He was taken to Georgia Street hospital in an ambulance. Police reported that they continued to question Hervey even after they arrived at the Jury Gives Quick Verdict Of 'Not Guilty'

Mrs. Genevieve Monroe sat tense and taught, Atty. Earl C. Broady hoped even while he braced himself for a possible defeat, the mixed audience sat motionless as the jury that has heard three weeks of testimony in one of the most sensational murder trials in local history filed back into the jury box late Tuesday.

All eyes turned to the foreman. Then came the words every one was awaiting.

"Not guilty!" said the foreman.

Those short syllables released a torrent of uncontrolled emotion. Mrs. Monroe, the diminutive, sad faced woman who pleaded self defense in the hammering and slashing to death of her husband, James Monroe, on the tragic night of April 2, burst into hysterical sobbing.

Members of the jury wept unashamedly.

Tears rolled freely down the cheeks of men and women in the courtroom, Negro and white, who have followed the trial daily since its inception.

Absent from the scene at its climactic moment was Mrs. Rita Malcolm, blonde statuesque sweetheart of the slain man, the prosecution's star witness who had boldly detailed in court the months of her love relations with Jimmy. It was the first session of the lengthy trial she had missed.

Contrary to expectations, the jury deliberated only a little over two hours. Judge Ralph Pierson gave the charge to the 10 women and two men Tuesday morning. They filed out

Legal Opinion On Fire Dept. Ducks Issue

In an opinion denounced by the NAACP as "leaving the door wide open to Jim Crow," City Attorney Roger Arnebergh Tuesday told the Fire Commission in effect that Negro firemen may be assigned "in the manner that results in the most efficient operation."

While he added that assignments cannot be "based upon race alone," Arnebergh's opinion obviously left the Commission and Fire Chief John H. Alderson free to pursue their present policy of segregating Negro firemen in two stations if they find that such segregation will result in "efficient operation."

Begs Question

In a statement issued through its attorneys who have been active in the case, the NAACP charged that "the opinion begs the questions. It leaves the door wide open to the continuance of segregation. Unless the Board of Fire Commissioners immediately issues an order forbidding all racial considerations in the assignment, transfer or promotion of firemen we will have no option but to appeal to the courts. We are confident that the separate but equal rule is not the law in the state of California."

The statement was made by Attorneys Thomas G. Neusom, Edward Maddox, Albert Hudson, Herbert Simmons and

Arnebergh Flunks

An Editorial

City Attorney Roger Arnebergh said a whole lot of nothing in his opinion on segregation in the Los Angeles Fire Department.

The opinion takes the worm's eye view that Jim Crow is all right so long as it isn't called Jim Crow.

The practical result is that Arnebergh has left the Board of Fire Commissioners and Chief John H. Alderson free to continue to confine Negroes to two stations, or even one station, so long as they alibi for it by saying that the practice will result in "efficient operation."

The most astounding portion of the opinion is that in which Arnebergh indicates his opinion that the Separate-but-Equal rule has validity in California.

Hiding behind Chief Alderson's double talk, the City Attorney comes to the remarkable conclusion that he cannot determine whether or not the long standing practice of assigning all Negroes to two fire stations and the refusal to let them transfer to other stations is a "violation of any decision of the appellate courts of this state, or of the United States."

It is true that the City Attorney does say that assignments cannot be "made on the basis of race alone." That sounds fine but it leaves the impression, doubtless intended, that race is a factor that can be taken into consideration. The law is otherwise.

The conclusion is inevitable that the opinion is a neat straddle designed to give lip service to high sounding principles but leaving Jim Crow untouched.

The opinion leaves the Commission free to make up its own mind as to whether or not it wants to keep up the present policies. Unless it abandons them immediately in the most forthright manner it would seem that there is nothing left except for the NAACP to take the matter to the courts.

Our judges, both state and federal, understand a great deal better than Mr. Arnebergh and his hired hands that the Constiution does not tolerate racial distinctions and discriminations.

Dr. Hatcher Dies After Long Illness

Dr. Jerome G. Hatcher, prominent dentist, died Wednesday morning, July 21, at 3:30 a.m. at the University Hospital after an illness of about four years.

Dr. Hatcher was born in Kansas City, Mo., and received his early schooling in San Diego. Later his family moved to Los Angeles where he graduated from the College of Dentistry at University of Southern California.

He was a member of U.S.C. Alumni Association; California Dental Study Club; Southern Calif. Medical, Dental & Pharmaceutical Assn; Cosmopolitan Golf Club; Attorneys', Doctors' & Dentists' Bridge Club; Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity and Second Methodist Episcopal Church.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Leola Ferguson Hatcher.

Buddy Young, Grid Star, In Near Riot

CHICAGO—Buddy Young, football idol of the nation a few years back when he was All-American star halfback of the Illini's unbeatable Rose Bowl team, was the center of a near riot at Trumbull Park here last week.

Young and his brothers, Clarence, who lives in the Trumbull project, and Hendricks, carted a football to the playground for a little practice.

Bum's Rush

Instead of practice, they got the bum's rush. A crowd of about 25 hostile whites gathered threateningly. One woman asked why they didn't go to Washington Park. A swarm of policemen surrounded them. One grabbed the football. Another warned Buddy to get going. If he wasn't gone in 10 minutes he would be arrested. The crowd increased.

A lieutenant told Young the whites didn't want Negroes playing there. Capt. George Barnes, in charge of the Trumbull Park detail, interrupted to say, no, Young couldn't be arrested. But he said he couldn't control the crowd if the Youngs remained.

In Washington, meanwhile, the NAACP has urged Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell to make a thorough investigation of the hate-inspired violence at Trumbull Park Homes and prosecute those responsible.

Waiter Free In Narcotics Case Trial

Claude McKrrel, a waiter who lives at 3679 S. Grammercy place, was found not guilty of possession of narcotics when his case came up before Judge Burnett Daniels Friday.

Insufficient evidence was given as the reason for the court's findings.

McKrrel, who was represented by Atty. Xenophon Lang, claimed he didn't know how a marijuana cigarette got into the pocket of the coat he was wearing when arrested, how another stick of the drug found its way into the pocket of his pants hanging in the closet or how still a third stick happened to be on a shelf in the kitchen.

He said he had just gotten home when officers walked up behind him and searched him and the house. A statement he made to police at the time, he claimed, was made under threat that unless he admitted guilt his wife would be carted off to jail.

Youth's Arrest Irks Residents In Santa Monica

SANTA MONICA.—The Santa Monica community is angry over what seemed the senseless and unprovoked arrest of young Alfred Wayne King, 1936 19th street, on a charge of "disturbing the peace" last July 10.

King pleaded "not guilty" when the case came up for a hearing Monday morning before Judge Thurlow Taft, who set the date of the trial for July 26 at 10:30 a.m. King is being represented by Attys. Rufus Carter and James Flournoy.

King claims he went for a swim on the day of the arrest and came out of the water a little after 4 o'clock. Attracted by an excited group on the beach, he walked over to see what had happened. He asked one of the fellows he knew what the trouble was, and was informed that the police were confiscating their cans of beer.

The former Santa Monica High footb ll star says he told them to forget it and made

Stopped for '53 License, Man Is Treated Like a Criminal

Alphonso Harper, 2332 West Blvd., unemployed worker, this week told the Eagle how he was arrested for not having 1954 California license plates on his car, treated like a criminal, booked on suspicion of robbery, humiliated by arresting officers, and held in jail for 72 hours of interrogation.

Released July 10, he was handcuffed, and rearrested two days later when he went to recover binoculars which had been taken from his automobile. This time he was charged with failure to register his car in California, though in the intervening period he had obtained his license.

Goodbye to L.A.

Again jailed, he was subsequently tried and fined $20. To top it off, his car was repossessed by the finance company which reportedly told him they couldn't take a chance on his character any longer because he had been arrested on suspicion of robbery.

Harper is returning to Chicago, which he left 15 months ago, disillusioned with the hospitality of the Southland.

He tells his story in a letter to the editor:

"This letter is in regard to my recent arrest and the unjust treatment I was given.

Didn't Protest

"The original reason that I attracted the policemen's attention was because I had 1953 out-of-state licenses on my car. I know my car should have been registered in the State of California and 1954 license plates should have been displayed. Due to my financial difficulties brought on by unemployment I had been unable to get them.

"I didn't mind being stopped or questioned by the police as to my reason for not having the '54 plates. I will say I was hoping no one would stop me because I had planned to secure the registration and plates in the very near future.

Hands Over Head

"I was stopped on July 8 at approximately 2 p.m. The policeman requested that my friend and I get out of the car. After getting out and showing proper identification, I asked the officer why all this was necessary. I didn't get an answer. I repeated the question several times. Still no reply. By MRS. FRANKIE NASH ROSS

Teenagers of the Woodlawn Branch YWCA turned out by the hundreds recently to enjoy a beautiful graduation formal given for them by the branch's Teenage committee in the newly decorated club rooms of the Alpha Bowling Social Club.

Graduates from Poly, John Adams, Manuel and Jefferson High were honored guests.

The graduates were: Vera Porterfield, Evan Thompson, Connie Robinson, Quinela Taylor, Betty Hardy, Naoma Jackson, Hattie Williams, Phyllis Porter, Vivian Clark, Weltha Higgins, Delores Hale, Peggie McCullough, Rheta Chetham, Rosetta Campbell, Patricia Rickerson, Annie Jackson, Amerlia Saterfield, June Lowe, Vivian Kyles, Barbara Day, Stella Leman, Vivian Hayes, and Lavern Campbell.

After having worked six years with the Teenage department, Mrs. Ross was appointed to serve on another committee for the 1954 program year. She, too, will be leaving the Teenage department this year.

After saying goodbye for the summer, the committee entertained Mrs. Ross and Miss Bundy with a brunch at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Forney.

Serving on the Teenage committee this year were: Mesdames Frankie Nash Ross, chairman; Miriam Christian, Margaret Forney, Mary Jackson, Willie B. Johnson, Ruth Maddox, Jewell Randolph, Rose Marie Talley, Ruby Weddington, Flossie Williams, Myrtle Williams and Messrs. White warned that if the Trumbull Park affair gets out of hand it may develop into another Cicero riot, and said that this situation is "only a part of a larger housing problem which has been aggravated by the policy of such government agencies as the Federal Housing Administration, the Veterans Administration, the Public Housing Authority and the slum clearance program which continue to give federal assistance to housing planned for the exclusive use of one race."

Venice Lad, 11, Dies After 3-Day Illness

VENICE — The Venice community was shocked last week at news of the death of 11-year-old Robert Lee Garling, Broadway school pupil, who had been ill for only three days.

Young Robert, an enthusiastic Eagle salesman, was taken violently sick two weeks ago Sunday, with a raging fever. His parents, Mrs. Effie Garland and Hermie Garland, of 621 Santa Clara street, called the doctor who had the child rushed to the hospital. The youngster was burning up with a fever of 105 degrees.

Cause of death was given as meningitis. Only 18 months ago Robert recovered from an attack of polio.

The body was shipped by the Spaulding mortuary to Hope, Ark., the family's former home, where burial services were held at the Mt. Hebrew Baptist church, with the Rev. R. Williams officiating. Interment was at Union Chapel cemetery.

Young Robert was an active participant, along with other members of his family, at the Calvary Baptist church in Santa Monica. He and three of his brothers formed their home Gospel Singing group. He sang spirituals even as he was being rushed to the hospital, and as he lay on his death bed at County, he summoned enough strength to sing "Can't You Weep?" and "Remember the Sabbath Day and Keep It Holy."

A. J. Carey To Speak on Role of U.N.

The Hon. Archibald J. Carey, first alternate-delegate to the Eighth General Assembly of the United Nations, is being presented jointly by the NAACP and the Morehouse Alumni club of Los Angeles, Thursday, July 29, at 8:30 p.m. at Second Baptist Church, 24th street at Griffith avenue.

Carey, a practicing attorney of Chicago and alderman of that city's Third Ward, will speak on "Race Relations and the United Nations."

His outstanding services were recently recognized when the Chicago Sunday Evening Club presented him with one of five Bibles given "in appreciation of his efforts to apply the principles of Christianity to the field of government in Chicago."

In 1952, Carey, along with Adlai Stevenson and Gov. G. Mennen Williams, was the recipient of the American Veterans Committee award for distinguished public service. On March 4, 1954, his efforts in this field were further rewarded when he received the Abraham Schwartz human relations award, which was presented to him by the Council against Discrimination of Greater Chicago for "providing effective human relations leadership in community and government."

He is vice-president and director of the Illinois Federal Savings and Loan Association, as well as director of Unity Mutual Life Insurance Co.

USE CAUTION

Mr. Thomas A. J. Dockweiler, president of the City's Social Service commission, this week cautioned the public to use extreme care in responding to the numerous appeals for funds to send needy children to summer recreation camps.

failed to find any of the off-brand cigarettes on her person. However, a deuce of June's friends were reportedly "caught in the act" of blue smoke.

The 27-year-old beauty whose divorce from the handsome singer becomes final any day now has been preparing for a night club act that was temporarily set back with the invasion of the bluecoats.

Arresting officers said they had received tips that wild reefer parties had been held on the premises, and had been keeping a close vigil for three months before moving in on the scene.

After being staked out and smoked out, June was released on bail from police custody soon after being taken to the lock-up.

Mrs. Monroe Freed by Jury

about 11 a.m. After an hour's deliberation, they recessed for lunch. At 3:20 p.m. they returned to the courtroom, all 12 agreed that Mrs. Monroe was innocent.

When the hubbub subsided, Judge Pierson turned to the liberated woman. In judicial tones, tempered with human mercy, he told her: "I neither condemn nor condone your actions." He then wished her the best of luck.

As the court closed for the day, Mrs. Genevieve Monroe walked from the room, a free woman.

Earlier Atty. Broady had made an impassioned and masterful plea for his client. He built his case around the motives of self defense and Mrs. Monroe's fear for her life. In closing he summarized the state laws governing a person's right to protect himself against attack and injury.

Prosecutor William McGinley demanded a verdict of murder. In his summation to the jury he attempted to prove that the killing was a clear case of premeditated murder. He reminded the jury of the evidence presented, leaned heavily upon the discrepancy between the accused's confession shortly after her arrest and her testimony in court, and dwelt at length upon the bloody and battered body of the dead man.

ONE EVERY HALF HOUR

Californians are now entering state mental hospitals at the rate of one every twenty-nine minutes, according to Dr. Walter Rapaport, director of the State Department of Mental Hygiene.

During the year just closed, the director stated, more than 18,000 persons were admitted to the state hospitals.

Brutality Charged In Police Beating

SAN FRANCISCO—Two members of the San Francisco police force were officially charged Friday with brutally beating up Harrison Williams, 27, an employe of the University of California.

Williams, the complaint states, was beaten about the head and face. His jaw was broken, a tooth fractured, lips and eyes battered and his back was sprained.

The young man, it is charged, was attacked when he was stopped for questioning, then again severely beaten and cursed at the Park Police Station.

After treatment at the emergency hospital, he was once more assaulted by the policeman, kicked and cursed, and subsequently booked for "resisting arrest, battery and using profanity."

The two police officers cited in the complaint were listed as Officers Nos. 1596 and 1330.

The complaint, filed with the Board of Police Commissioners by Terry A. Francois, chairman of the NAACP Legal Redress Committee in San Francisco, charges that on Saturday, June 26, Williams was stopped by Officer No. 1596 at Hayes and Broderick streets and interrogated as to his knowledge of the use of fireworks in that vicinity. When he professed ignorance, he was "struck over the left eye, breaking the skin and causing the eye to bleed" and behind the left ear.

Subsequently, the complaint charges, Williams and another man were taken to Park Station where they were cursed and Williams was severely beaten about the face and the back.

Emmet Ashford Presented Chapman Sports Award

Emmet Ashford, 37, outstanding umpire with the Pacific Coast League, this week received a Distinguished Service Award in "sports officiating" from the Chapman College Alumni Association.

George N. Reeves, college president, presented Ashford with a framed award in behalf of the Alumni Association. Ashford was a student at Chapman just prior to World War II, where he played baseball and officiated at his first ball game.

Right On Top

The awards were given on the basis of a poll taken of the entire Chapman Alumni Association. Of the six recipients in this, the second year the awards were given, Emmet came out right at the top.

"Ash" has a number of firsts to his credit. At Jefferson high school he was the first Negro student body president and the school's first Negro to edit the newspaper. He was the first member of his race to become an umpire in organized baseball. He also plans to be the first Negro to officiate in the major leagues.

A well-rounded athlete, he competed in gymnastics, tumbling, tennis and track in high school, concentrating on baseball at LACC and Chapman.

After the war and a hitch in the Navy, he began working his way up from the amateur leagues. In 1951 he was signed as an umpire with the Southwest International League, next went to the Arizona-Texas League and last year worked in the Western International Loop.

Colorful

One of the most colorful officials in his calls, he appeals to the fans, players, managers and officials who rate him as one of the most competent in the business.

In fact, Charlie Dressen, Oakland manager, has called him "the best ball-and-strike man in the league."

A first-rate basketball official too, he handles the USC, UCLA and other top local games in his soft-spoken but gentlemanly manner.

some offhand remark about police interference.

The long ears of the officers apparently picked up his words. The police told him to get in the car, and drove him away, although he was still dripping wet from his swim.

When some of those involved in the altercation went to the police station and complained the desk sergeant told them they had a right to have the beer and the police should not have objected.

Not Guilty of Murder, Says P.O. Worker

Local postal employee, Rufus Elliott, accused murderer of 5th street figure, Lewis Tackwood, was arraigned in Superior Court Monday and pleaded not guilty to charges of 1st degree murder.

Released on $5,000 bail shortly after the shooting, Elliott, whose trial will begin Aug. 16 in the courtroom of Superior Judge Ralph Kauffman, will relate how he shot the victim in self defense.

At the time of the arrest, police witnesses stated that Elliott and Tackwood had engaged in violent arguments prior to the shooting and that the disagreements had resulted in the early morning gunplay.

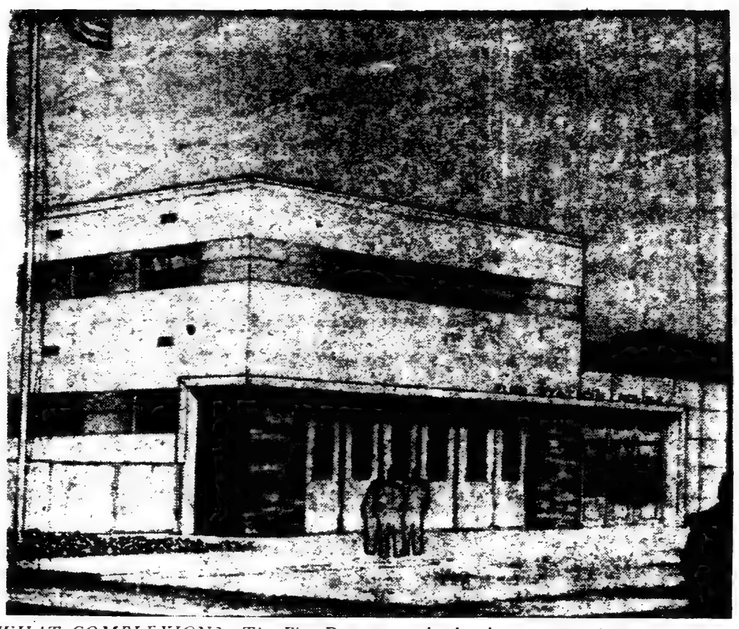
According to police, Elliott and the victim met the morning of the killing and exchanged words with Elliott chasing the victim into a Gladys avenue parking lot and pumping four bullets into his body.

His attorney, Crispus Wright, told reporters this week that four surprise witnesses to the June 28 killing who were not interviewed by the police will corroborate Elliott's story.

Miller to Talk On 'Next Step'

"What's Next in Breaking Down Segregation"? will be discussed by the Crenshaw Community Relations Council at its next meeting.

Loren Miller, publisher of the "California Eagle," and principal attorney in the recent segregation cases before the U. S. Supreme Court, will discuss legal aspects of segregation. Dr. A. R. Tweed, prominent psychiatrist and lecturer, will discuss the psychological effect of segregation.



A question and answer period will follow the talks.

The meeting will be held at the Holman Methodist church, 3320 W. Adams boulevard, at 8 p.m. Thursday, (tonight). Admisison is free. The public is invited.

Reminder -- NAACP Meet

A reminder—the NAACP will hold a public meeting Friday, July 23, at 8 p.m. at the Macedonia Baptist Church, 1755 E. 114th street, of which Rev. S. O. J. Evans is pastor.

The Branch will hear reports from the NAACP national convention. Music will be furnished by the Macedonia Baptist choir.

WHAT COMPLEXION?—The Fire Department is planning a new station at the corner of Santa Barbara and Rodeo, patterned after Station No. 34, pictured above. If Chief Alderson has his way, bets are that this, too, will be a lily-white outfit.

City Att'y Straddles Issues in Fire Dept.

Loren Miller.

The city attorney's opinion says in effect that the widely heralded school segregation decision has no application to the fire department situation and refers to a Texas golf course case to justify the conclusion the "separate-but-equal rule" has been rejected only in the field of education. He adds that "the California courts" have "recognized the separate-but-equal doctrine."

Hectic Week

"As to violations of any decision of the appellate courts of this state, or of the United States," Arnebergh said, "we know of no decision directed to the Board of Fire Commissioners, the Fire Department, or the Chief Engineer of said department, or any officer thereof, upon this matter. . . . We cannot make a determination as to whether or not the practices referred to . . . are in violation of the Constitution or laws of this State or of the United States."

The opinion climaxed a hectic week in which firemen started open circulation of petitions furnished by Loyal Neighbors and United Neighbors urging the retention of Jim Crow by the Fire Department. The petitions were distributed to firemen in the stations by officers, the Eagle learned. The men were urged to distribute them and secure signatures.

"Negroes Don't Have It"

The two organizations appeared at last Thursday's meeting of the Fire Commission to ask that body to keep its present policies under which all Negro firemen are assigned to Stations 14 and 30 which are located on Central avenue.

At the Thursday meeting, Commissioner Cyril Rothmund charged Mayor Norris Poulson with "playing politics" in accepting his year-old resignation. In what he called his "swan song," Rothmund said that "Negro firemen are happy" with the present assignments and said that their failure to get promotions was due to the fact that "they don't have it from the ears up."

Rothmund's statements were challenged by Dr. H. Claude Hudson and Miller on behalf of the NAACP. Both said that his statements had been made many times in connection with other proposals to end racial segregation and stated flatly that the Association will not be satisfied until segregation is eliminated.

Advocate Jim Crow

Loyal Neighbors and United Neighbors are both organizations formed to uphold residential segregation. They were active in the fight to keep race restrictive covenants and filed briefs in the United States Supreme Court last year in an effort to uphold damage suits against persons who sold race restricted property to Negroes.

Harold Story, secretary of the Fire Commission, admitted to the Eagle that he knew that the petitions were being circulated by firemen but said that they were not "officially sponsored by the Department."

The Police and Fire Protective League repudiated a statement that it had endorsed the petition campaign and said that it was keeping hands off the whole controversy. The petition urges the Commission to "vigorously oppose the unreasonable demands being made by a dictatorial minority."

Spokesmen for the NAACP said that the Association will "move as quickly as possible" to put the whole matter to a court test unless the Fire Commission makes changes in its rules and regulations. They added that it was "unthinkable that Los Angeles should permit racial segregation in any department of city government on the flimsy ground that Jim Crow promotes efficiency."

hospital. They stated that he "did not cooperate" and "refused to answer" any questions. A few moments later he died.

Hervey lived at 3713 E. 137th Street.

During a routine patrol of the Eastside, Officers Wade and G. E. Conroy spotted Hervey driving a 1947 Chevrolet which was listed on their report of stolen cars. They gave chase and succeeded in forcing Hervey to the curb.

After brief questioning, according to the report, the policemen tried to handcuff the suspected thief. It was then that Hervey is said to have bolted into the alley in his ill-starred bid for freedom.

METRO'S PLAN- Streamlined TRANSPORTATION FOR YOU!

Both the public and the transit companies agree about the urgent need in our communities for modern, efficient service. To get such service, the first step in the Bellflower-Lynwood-Watts area calls for installing motor coaches in place of the present street cars.

INCREASED SCHEDULES... SHORTER WAITING TIMES

Shifting to motor coach operation permits much greater frequency of trips. Between Los Angeles and Bellflower, there will be 10 more daily round trips, and Watts will have 94, instead of the present 59—a step-up of almost 60%. The Lynwood-Los Angeles runs will total 34, almost double the current number of 19. This means that you eliminate waiting at bus stops... can plan your own trips more accurately.

ROUTES EXTENDED—MORE CONVENIENT

By doing away with the limitations of rails, Metro will be in a position to run coaches over streets on both sides of the tracks, bringing service closer to many homes. The motor coach route will also cover an additional stretch in Bellflower city.

LESS DELAYS AND GREATER SAFETY

Use of motor coaches also provides the further vital advantage of flexible operation. Not being confined to tracks, they can pass each other whenever necessary, and shift street and highway routing instantly, in the event of accidents, fires or other traffic tie-ups. Also, statistics prove that, on the basis of accident rates, today's motor coach is 300% safer than the street car.

NEW STANDARDS OF COMFORT

As for passenger comfort and relaxation, the modern new diesel-operated Metro coaches have a host of splendid features, including: (1) "air suspension" supplanting metal spring construction (2) deep-cushioned individual seats (3) pressure ventilation and thermo-matic heating (4) individual reading lights (5) lower steps and (6) non-slip composition flooring.

A PROGRAM OF PROGRESS

Put all those benefits together and you can see that Metropolitan Coach Lines is out to give Southern California a type of interurban transportation which compares favorably with any other from coast to coast. We have promised this to our patrons, and are carrying out this promise in every possible way.

The Fire Department Mess

The effort to rid the Los Angeles Fire Department of racial segregation has been fanned into a major issue by the stubbornness and arrogance of John H. Alderson.

Recent events are worth recounting:

1. Last week two organizations—the Loyal Neighbors and the United Neighbors — presented petitions to the Fire Commission urging retention of the Department's Jim Crow system.

2. Fire Commissioner Cyril Rothmund stepped down from the Commission with a blast at Mayor Norris Poulson and with an elaborate apology for racial segregation in the Department.

3. Top officials in the Fire Department last week began openly encouraging firemen to circulate petitions furnished by the Loyal Neighbors and United Neighbors. The petitions were given to the firemen by officers during business hours.

4. The Police and Firemen's Protective Association announced that it was behind this petition campaign to retain racial segregation.

5. Chief Alderson continued to insist that he will not change his racial policies.

6. Chief Alderson issued a snide order giving white firemen the right to transfer into the Jim Crow stations under the bland pretense that the issuance of such an order was compliance with Mayor Poulson's plea for Department integration.

7. Chief Alderson took to the radio to alibi for his racial policies and to make an indirect answer to the mayor's plea for fair play.

RACIAL RACKETEERS

Each of these items deserves some attention. The Loyal Neighbors and United Neighbors are hangovers of the old race restrictive covenant days. They were formed for the purpose of upholding covenants and to confine Negroes to certain neighborhoods. They have close associations with the Gerald L. K. Smith outfits.

Last year they helped finance, and lost, a case in the United States Supreme Court in which that Court held that damages could not be assessed for the sale of race restricted real property to Negroes. The briefs filed in their behalf were filled with open appeals to racial prejudice.

Loyal Neighbors and United Neighbors are outfits openly and unashamedly devoted to the cause of racial segregation. They believe in and plump for residential segregation, for school segregation, and for all other kinds of Jim Crow. It is strange to find apparently responsible city officials hand in glove with outfits of this kind. The fact that they are playing such a large part in the Fire Department case is revealing of the depths to which Alderson has sunk in his fight to keep his Jim Crow system.

And more than that, the language used in the petitions being circulated by these outfits is the same language that Alderson has used, and used repeatedly, in his arguments for segregation. If the chief didn't write the petitions he certainly inspired their language.

MR. ROTHMUND'S SWAN SONG

Mr. Rothmund charged last Thursday that Mayor Poulson had accepted his year-old resignation because he (Rothmund) had withdrawn his previous vote to the effect that Negroes are assigned to the two Jim Crow stations on the basis of race.

The effect of the withdrawal of that vote is to put Mr. Rothmund on record as believing that the assignments are not made on the basis of race!

That belief flies in the face of the uncontroverted facts that no Negro has served in any other station for a quarter of a century and that no Negro assigned to the Jim Crow stations is permitted to transfer to any other station!

The amazing fact about Mr. Rothmund and his attitude is that he is not a man of the stamp that belongs to or supports such outfits as the United Neighbors or Loyal Neighbors. He is a decent enough individual who hails from Minnesota.

Yet Mr. Rothmund has been so propagandized by Alderson that he repeats the chief's statements like a child repeating a nursery rhyme: "Negro firemen are happy with segregation; Negro firemen don't advance because they haven't got it from the ears up; Negro firemen work best when they work together; integration of Negroes in the Department would lower efficiency, etc., etc."

Mr. Rothmund made those statements last Thursday with no knowledge or understanding of the fact that those are the same arguments that have been repeated endlessly wherever segregation has been attacked. They were made in reference to integration in the Army; they were made when the first FEPC order wiped out segregation in defense plants during World War II; they were made about separate schools; they were made about racial segregation in public housing, in dining cars, and in transportation. The list could be extended indefinitely. They have been proven false as many times as they have been made.

THE VOICE IS ALDERSON'S

Whether the hand is that of United Neighbors or Loyal Neighbors or that of some misguided firemen circulating petitions to keep Jim Crow or that of Mr. Rothmund, the voice singing the siren song of segregation is that of John H. Alderson. He has learned nothing and forgotten nothing about race relations since his boyhood in the state of Maryland. He is as attached to segregation now as his neighbors were when he was a lad.

It is ironic that Maryland has moved ahead of Alderson. Baltimore has dropped racial segregation in its fire houses. It has abolished it in parks and playgrounds. And next year Baltimore will begin integrating its public schools. All of that is happening in Maryland, a former slave state and certainly a southern state by any definition.

On his part, Alderson is trying to re-make Los Angeles in the image of the Old South of his boyhood. He wants Jim Crow. He loves Jim Crow. He will stoop to any means to retain that Jim Crow.

Today, Alderson is making common cause with Loyal Neighbors and United Neighbors, the on-the-sly allies of Gerald L. K. Smith and other race racketeers of his ilk. And tomorrow, if Jim Crow slips a little bit more will John H. Alderson take the next step and embrace the fanatics of racism?

There can be no doubt in the mind of anybody even remotely conversant with recent Supreme Court decisions that racial segregation of civil service servants violates the Constitution of the United States. It is equally at odds with the constitution of this state. It flies in the face of California's public policy.

How long is Los Angeles going to tolerate the mischief-making of arrogant, stubborn John H. Alderson? Is it going to wait until he has sown enough seeds of hate so that this city will fall into disrepute? Just how much of John H. Alderson is enough?

We think there has been enough of dallying. We urge the Fire Commision to take action to rid this city of the stigma of Jim Crow.

Sojourner Truth Honored

Sojourner Truth Home's celebration of 50 years of service to this community is an occasion that should make all of us proud of the foresight and vision of the women who established housing facilities for working girls a half century ago.

These women were in advance of their times. When they got their heads together in 1904 neither the Urban League nor the NAACP had been founded. Los Angeles itself was a straggling little city with only a minimum of concern for social service or the welfare of the less fortunate.

During the five decades since 1904 the Sojourner Truth Homes have performed invaluable services to the community. No man can estimate how much that service has been worth to this community. All we can be sure of is that we owe a profound debt of gratitude to the farsighted women who established Sojourner Truth. Three of them still survive and we are sure that they will agree with us that the best way for us to show gratitude is to offer continued support so that Sojourner Truth facilities may continue their invaluable service.

Battleaxe and Bread

By Lester B. Granger

Albion Ross, capable foreign correspondent of the "New York Times," has recently confirmed what most expected to happen and some have known to be happening in South Africa, namely, the steady rise of Communists into posts of leadership in native African resistance against the Fascist racism of Malan's government.

In a recent dispatch from Pretoria, South Africa, Mr. Ross pointed out that the Negro political movement, as such, has been disintegrating and a number of rival political groups have pushed the old leadership of the African National Congress into the background. The reason is that the old leaders have been unable to produce any identifiable results.

Lester Granger

Bad Beating

The comparatively mild Liberal Party, which constituted the nearest approach to an interracial political effort, has likewise failed to produce. It took a bad beating in the last elections and is fast fading out as any effective political influence.

Thus a vacuum has been created, into which adept Communist leadership is moving according to time-tested methods. South African Indians have formed a Congress of their own and within it is a hard core of well-educated, carefully-coached young Indian Communists. They are busy working up a partnership arrangement with native Africans, an arrangement which is producing results because the Indians too are "colored" people with a long record of grievances against Malan's racist policies.

Brutishly Stupid

The South African police system is as brutishly stupid in handling this situation as one would expect any Fascist police system to be. Repressive legislation has been passed that cannot possibly be enforced, but the police have been trying to enforce it. Consequently the Communist movement among African Negroes is taking firm root underground. And once its roots have gone far enongh and grown thick enough, no white minority such as Malan's government represents is going to be able to dig it out.

This represents the ABCs of political history, but it's one of Fascism's fatal weaknesses that its leaders are never able to benefit from reading history. It is as certain an anything in history has ever been certain that Prime Minister Malan's government will fall, but this brings scant comfort to those who are hoping for the emergence of a democratic future, not only for South Africa but for the continent as a whole.

For if the Communist movement goes far enough in South Africa, not only will it shape living relationships in that part of the country, but it will serve as a recruiting and training center for the whole of the continent.

Won't Release Stranglehold

It is too much to hope that the white farmers, businessmen and bureaucrats who have established a stranglehold on the economy and government of nearly all of Africa are going to release their hold willingly. This has been proven by the "reorganization" of Rhodesia's affairs, wherein a radical governmental change was voted without the participation or approval of the Negroes who constitute seven-eighths of the people affected.

And it's too much to hope that the British Parliament, that political antiquity operating in a modern world, will have the guts to do anything to change present trends. It was Clement Atlee, head of the British Labor Party, who declared that if the Labor Party had been responsible for handling the situation in Kenya, its policies would have been practically the same as those of Churchill and his government.

The only hope, therefore, that Africa will not, in the years ahead, follow the lead of Asia by adding her millions to support the Communist slave empire lies in the rapidly-spreading success of such self-government trends as are taking place in the Gold Coast and Nigeria.

It is ironical that neither Liberia nor Ethiopia, the two independent Negro nations, has contributed anything of importance to the freedom movemen for black Africa. Perhaps it is because these two nations have been so worried about preserving their precarious independence that they have not dared to take too much interest in other parts of the continent. Be that as it may, Nkrumah and his fellow leaders of a New Africa have placed the rest of the fre world deeplyin their debt; for if we remain free, it will be because Africa attains freedom, and they are on the road to attainment.

One Man's Opinion

By LEON STEWARD

We clipped some news from newspapers which we think might have missed some of the readers of this column. There are some whose voting might be affected by reading some of this which they missed in the newspapers which we have read.

Leon Steward

First, let us tell you of a statement which has been in the papers at least twice but which no one seemed to have caught regarding our Governor, who is running for re-election.

One Slip

A few days before the primary election this is what we culled out of Drew Pearson's column and which reveals just how two-faced or inconsistant that gentleman is. Now to Pearson's statement:

"Governor Knight made one slip which isn't going to help him in certain quarters, especially in view of the Supreme Court segregation decision. Asked how he stood on FEPC, Knight told a Stanford University audience: 'I'll tell you what I told the teamsters when they asked me the same question. How would you like to have a Negro riding and sleeping in the same truck with you?'"

Of course, he did not say that to an audience of Negroes and it is really inconceivable that he would say it anywhere in the state in the hope of not having it get back to the people for whom it was not intended. That is just how smart we think the gentlemen is. And many Negroes voted for him.

Drew Pearson evidently thought that it was going to hurt him among Negroes and other Americans whose minds are not warped by prejudice.

Texas Billionaires

"Texas Billionaires out to beat Senator Douglas of Illinois," says Marquis Childs in the Daily News.

Douglas is a Democrat who led the fight against turning tideland oil over to certain states which happen to be touching the sea. His opponent will be Joseph T. Meek, who for many years has been director and lobbyist for 10,000 store keepers and is known by most of the store keepers in Illinois.

It is rumored that the "crowd of conservative Texans will put five million dollars to work against Douglas."

Meek was quoted in the primary campaign: "I am convinced Stevenson could never survive the defeat of his favorite candidate here in his own state. The smart Democrats would desert him like rats leaving a sinking ship."

May Be Dirty

Stevenson will campaign for Douglas. This looks like the failure of Douglas could eliminate Stevenson in 1956 as the Democratic candidate for president. We shall see what we shall see about that.

Marquis Childs concludes there are signs this will be a bitter and perhaps a dirty campaign. Meek takes the line that Douglas is a Socialist. Douglas charges Meek with opposing Social Security and even other reforms of the past 20 years. And so it goes.

Oops, how much, Governor Knight? Yes, how much did your campaign cost last May? You admit that it cost more than the $2,316 which you reported to the Secretary of State. All of those large billboards over the state, that television time, radio time must have cost somebody plenty of money. Probably millions. Which only goes to indicate who was and is supporting you. You said you would tell all after you are re-elected. Let's hope that will never be.

Pure and Simple

By L. F. Palmer Jr.

I've always believed that parents who take young children to the movies should be tarred, feathered, run out of town and be called Communists. In my movie-going days, nothing ever set my blood boiling like a dear, sweet child competing with Ava Gardner for attention.

So when Scry was born, I put away worldly things (like movies) and devoted myself completely to the "little bundle of heaven that God had deposited on my doorstep." For 21 months, the only movies I saw were those made before I was born and displayed after my son was born (on TV). The movies were on TV—not my son's birth.

But the other night I got a hankerin' to see "Flame and the Flesh" with Lana Turner. Couldn't locate a sitter, so the wife and I decided that Scry was quite old enough to be introduced to the "moom picture."

Supreme Penalty

Now I believe that parents who take their little darlings to the movies should be given the supreme penalty—a week in a Senate chamber with that man from Wisconsin.

I felt real superior for the first half hour after I entered the theater with Scry, the wife, six boxes of popcorn, three bars of candy and a spare diaper. A "shoot 'em up" kept the little one enthralled. The popcorn kept him quiet. And I kept my fingers crossed.

But the popcorn and the shoot 'em up ran out at the same time and luscious Lana made her appearance. From that point on, the following events transpired:

The Great Shift

1. Scry shifted from my lap to his mother's 24 times.

2. I went out for more popcorn.

3. Scry dumped same on the floor.

4. I missed what sounded like a red hot love scene looking for my eyeglasses which Scry gleefully snatched and flung to the floor.

5. Scry bopped the man sitting in front of him two times.

6. Scry needed his diaper changed.

7. I changed same.

Brother In Arms

8. Scry discovered a brother-in-arms about seven seats over and engaged him in a spirited conversation.

9. I took Scry to the lobby to lecture him on how to act in a movie.

10. Scry waited until we returned to our seats to want a drink of water.

11. The seats around us became mysteriously empty.

12. I took Scry out for water.

13. Scry took me out for more water.

14. And so forth and so on.

15. I'm told, by the wife, that the picture was lousy.

They Say

(The following editorial appeared in "The Sacramento Union" Monday, July 19.)

"The hottest thing in baseball since Babe Ruth—"

That's what the New York sports writers are saying about Giant Willie Mays, who is "blacker than the ace of spades." He is one of the two best centerfielders (Snider of Brooklyn is rated as the other) in baseball today, but that's not a skimption of the whole.

Says the New York Daily Mirror:

"Mays belted his 28th homer and a single, walked once, hit a sacrifice fly, scored twice, and batted in three runs—normal for Willie but outstanding for others."

New York sports writers (these writers are white boys) describe Willie in such terms as "miraculous," "fantastic," "unbelievable."

Race prejudice? There's none of it here.

A few short years ago, when Negroes were first introduced into major league baseball, the general reaction was that neither the white players nor the fans would go for it.

How wrong can these guessers of public opinion get?

Baseball has followed boxing, the track, and the theater in accepting the black man. The black man is forging ahead as he proves his mettle. The white man is giving ground before him—and the black man is only starting.

On The Book Shelf

THE COMPLETE SHERLOCK HOLMES by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle.

This is the volume referred to by the more devout Holmesians as the Canon or the Sacred Writings. It contains every authentic Sherlock Holmes story. Doyle began the series in the 'eighties when he sold A STUDY IN SCARLET, the first Sherlock Holmes story, for twenty-five pounds: (Of course, it later proved a gold mine to the publishers.) THE SIGN OF FOUR came next, and then later in the Strand Magazine the famous short stories that brought world-wide acclaim. Here is the flavor of Victorian London, a faraway secure world, where even the crimes seem simpler and less complicated than those in our modern mysteries. Here to your eternal delight are the famous pair, the temperamental, overly intellectual, moody Holmes and the faithful, average, not-too-quick Watson, with his fine loyalty and good heart. You owe it to yourself to dip once more into this book and regain a pleasure that you may have forgotten.

THE LIFE OF SIR ARTHUR CONAN DOYLE by John Dickson Carr.

Carr, himself one of the best of the modern mystery writers, writes the biography of Doyle approved by the family, who gave access to all remaining papers and documents. It is a fascinating story of a poor doctor's early struggles and then astounding success. It tells the sources of Sherlock Holmes and how the stories came about. It also reminds us of Doyle's other writings, including his fine historical novels.

Banquet Honors Africa Overseer

Overseer Louis Marcellius Driver was signally honored at a testimonial banquet in the spacious dining hall of St. Paul Baptist Church last Friday.

A committee, composed of Frieda Bell, Mattie Dickens and Elizabeth Erwin, sponsored the event, occasioned by Driver's appointment as overseer to Abyssinia, East Africa.

This honor was conferred on Elder Driver June 14, and was a direct appointment from Senior Bishop C. H. Mason. As overseer, Elder Driver will preside over the Churches of God in Christ in Abyssinia, ordaining elders in such meetings as he may call.

The testimonial banquet was attended by some 80 friends and church members, who brought sincere compliments and many gifts.

Among those who participated were Marque Neal, Elder L. F. Catley, Joseph Mayfield, Gilbert Jackson and Cora Berry. Martha Jeter, Juanita Driver and Frances Driver contributed vocal solos. Elder L. S. Gholar as master of ceremonies introduced Elders U. Blake and Mason Driver, who opened and closed the evening's festivities with prayer.

The newly appointed overseer has already formulated plans to build a church and school on ground which has been granted to the Church of God in Christ by Emperor Haile Selassie. These plans call for an immediate all-out fund-raising campaign to back the undertaking.

A biographical sketch of this son of one of California's pioneer families points to many outstanding achievements. The son of Bishop Eddie Robert Driver, who came to California in 1914 and founded "Saints Home Church," mother church of all of the Churches of God in Christ in the state, Louis Driver started his ministerial career in 1928, and has held every office in the local church. State-wide, he is former superintendent of the Emmanuel District; State president of the Y.P.W.U., and chairman of the Board of Elders.

He is pastor of Saints Home Church, superintendent of the Santa Barbara District, Pacific Coast president of the Evangelist Board, national president of the United Benevolent Association, member of the National Finance Board, and secretary-treasurer of the Emmanuel Bible Institute.

Politically, he is chairman of the Republican County Central Committee of the 62nd District; and was appointed by Supervisor Kenneth Hahn to the County board on Human Relations.

Wolf at Door Of Ministers

The Protestant ministry today is the poorest paid major profession a man can choose. While everyone knows that no one gets rich in the ministry, few know how badly off clergymen really are, says Dr. Benson Y. Landis, associate director of the Department of Research and Survey of the National Council of Churches.

Quoted in an article titled "You're Underpaying Your Pastor" in the July issue of the Nation's Business, Dr. Landis reports U. S. Department of Commerce figures on the national income show the average full-time religious worker in the U. S. has an income of $2,560 a year.

DEBUTEERS TAKE BARONS & TITLE

Big Luke Easter made his return to the Coast League by pounding out three hits in the first game of a doubleheader and provided the winning run for a victory in the nightcap by banging out a two-run homer to lead San Diego to a 3-0 victory.

Willie Mays, the hottest item in the National League, is six games ahead of the pace set by Babe Ruth in 1927 when the immortal Bambino slammed a record 60 home runs. Ruth tagged his thirty-third in his ninety-fifth game. Mays got his thirty-third in a game last week. It was Willie's eighty-ninth game of the season.

Jimmy Carter, former lightweight champion, and Glen Flanagan of St. Louis signed for a 10-round bout in Chicago Stadium Aug. 4.

Charley Powell, 213½ pound San Diegan, won his nith victory in 10 starts when he knocked out Rocky Jones, 179, Chester, Pa. in the first round at Oakland.

KERRY JACKSON and HAL MILLER

Spicy news items make meat for the HOUNDS . . . Exposing skeletons in closed closets gives us the consolation that we have rendered the community a worthwhile service and has many times given us the delusion that we are martyrs for a just cause. But we know better . . .

Suppose we were on the "other side of the fence." We oftentimes think that if our business were put in the street by some unfeeling bums who thought only in terms of getting a scandalous column once a week. In the position we occupy "it'll never happen," and thus by quick rationalization we wake up to reality and remember that it is you folk that are digging us from the wrong side of the fence . . . so prepare yourselves, 'cause we don't feel a thing.

Stuff we didn't forget . . .

There are lots of sizzling comments circulating about concerning two marriages that are still hot off the altar . . .

One of them deals with a North-end play girl and her lover of the same locale. It looks as though she didn't get her fill of "makin' eyes and stuff" before the altar march 'cause she is causing many of her ex's (a short roster) considerable embarrassment with her extreme aggressiveness. She must have bedbugs in her belfry.

That gal who everyone thinks is so nice (and we do too) reportedly spent the weekend, before her hitching, with the OTHER man. Maybe it was a last fling. Anyhow she's still the flower of the musical world . . . as Jackie Gleason says.

Our friend Calvin Spann got hitched up real unexpected like this weekend. They say it was a lass he met and conquered while she was visiting here a couple of years ago. . . . Guess it's as they say (memorandum: always blame it on them) the melody lingers on.

Lovely Spann, Calvin's ex is also expected to trundle down the center aisle with local Alpha man Percy Laws. Is he the same fellow that blackballed Calvin from the frat awhile back?

People who made Les Marquisettes fashion show at the California Club got more than a big kick out of viewing the bonny knees of local upsetters Walter Smith and Ted Schaffer as they modeled the latest in Bermuda shorts.

Other Stuff . . .

Local Kappa man Preston Johnson and his long time gal pal Gloria McPherson made it down the wedding aisle Sunday. . . . . Best of luck to ye.

Becky Dover, the real cute wife of comedian Arnold Dover, is presently acting as his personal manager. . . . How personal can you get?

From all reports (sorry we didn't make it) the Pyramid Formal was as magnificent as oblivion itself . . . See what a little work will do.

Dianne Carrol the songstress who had Ed Sullivan crying, and is reportedly doing the same to Howard Hughes, is about the most captivating beauty imaginable . . . even out of our minds (that includes a broad scope).

That Horne girl, Lucille that is, has the town waiting with baited breath for her radio show that is broadcasted every evening . . . KFOX, each night 11:30 'til 12:00 p.m.

If you're looking forward to an enjoyable weekend, it won't be complete without actively participating in the festivities to be thrown by the Athenians Saturday night at the Alpha Bowling Club. If it's anything like they usually are 'twill be the most.

Old pal David Mijares is back in town this week after a long four year stay with Uncle Sam's Air Force. Know he's glad.

Notice that a lot of people have taken bowling as a pass-time sport. Checked in on Dallas Perkins, Sandra Shields and Gordon Caldwell, Louis Grant and Rhae Tate, Ernie Lindo and Carolyn Cresswell, plus Fernandez Goode down at a local alley trying for that respectable 'hundred points.

Another dirty thirty . . .

GOLF OPEN AUG. 16

Late Rally Gives Team Big Victory

The 98 degree weather provided slightly more than enough heat to enable the Sir Debuteers and the Social Barons to come up with a red-hot softball game that decided the Associated Clubs 1954 championship last Sunday morning at the Will Rogers playground. The Debuteers struck back in the last frame to nip the Baron 7 to 6 to give them their first title in three years.

Barons Tommy Miller hurled good ball after his teammates got him off to a four run lead in the first four innings and it looked as though the Barons were headed for the title as Miller continued to bear down and retire the Debuteers. In the top of the seventh, Bragg Cook was safe on an error and later scored to give his teammates an insurance run making the total six.

The Debuteers came up for the do or die seventh and final inning. Miller Lampkins opened the inning with a scratch single, Carl Green drilled a grass cutter to Sylvester Jenkins at short and it was too hot to handle and all hands were safe.

Earl Thomas followed with a blast deep into center and three runs came across the plate as Bedlam broke loose in the packed grandstand bleachers. Cleve Macon followed Thomas' circuit clout with another four bagger and the Barons began to get jittery.

Lionel Williams who followed Macon was safe on a fielder's choice and with the tieing run on first the Barons completely fell apart as the next batter Watson Childs was purposely passed and Harold Washington smacked Miller's first pitch to Jenkins who couldn't hang on to the ball and that was the ball game. Miller and Wilbur Dukes both gave up a total of eight hits. Two costly errors gave the Debuteers the title.

BOOSTERS PLANS SAN DIEGO TRIP

Several hundred Hollywood fans are going to San Diego to see the Hollywood Stars and the Padres play for the first time since Big Luke Easter joined the O'Doul team.

The Boosters have a special train which leaves Union Station, Los Angeles, July 31, and returns Sunday evening, August 1. Thus the Boosters will see a single game Saturday and a double-header Sunday. Round-trip tickets, including tickets to the ball game both days, cost $7.

Many a whole-souled man is wearing half-soled shoes!

Sinking All Putts

By "SHOELESS JOE" JACO

All games have a specific set of rules by which they are governed. Golf is no exception. The rule which inspired the title of this column is: section 3, rule 1, which states in part: "The game of golf consists in playing a ball from the teeing ground INTO the hole by successive strokes in accordance with the rules". Is that not clear enough?

The Cosmopolitan Golf Club has been and is waging a campaign to become recognized as a genuine and bona fide member of the U.S.G.A. In order to do this we must comply with the U.S.G.A. rules and regulations. Of prime importance is having a working knowledge of the rules of the game.

Among the one hundred odd members of the Cosmopolitan Club, at least 30 per cent have the shots to play championship golf, but the legislative side of their game has been sadly neglected. Take this matter of giving 15 to 18 inch putts. It's bad procedure as the rule says "into the cup" and not UP to the cup. Even in every day play, one opponent many, in desperation, pull a rule technicality on you and if he can show it to you in the book, then there is nothing you can do but abide by the rules.

We have just recently witnessed a heart breaking situation where an exceptionally good shot maker threw away at least an even chance to win a tournament by not sinking a short putt. Next time it may be you who forfeits an opportunity to gain a much coveted trophy just through perfunctoriness; so let us all secure a rule book and get a little more hep to what's happening.

SINCEREST CONGRATS—Charles of Charles Ltd., the Angel City's fabulous clothing tycoon, offers best wishes for continued success to Dynamite Jackson, who refereed his first main event Monday night at the Olympic auditorium when Ramon Tiscarerno, the best looking welterweight around these parts, defeated equally good Mario Trigo. Jackson is considered one of the most capable third men in the ring today. He was the first Negro licensed referee in the state.

The Sluggers will be sporting their new uniforms and Coach Norman E. Ward, former Wilberforce University great, is hoping to rack up a win for the boys. Sgt. Wells the teams number one booster who worked hard in getting the new uniforms, will be on hand to root for the home team. Playground director Joe Lewis urges the general public to be on hand to watch a great game.

Les Petite Femmes Club Cools At Annual Affair

Staunch believers of "Avoid the Xmas Rush," the Les Petite Femmes did just that by having their Sixth Annual Christmas in July party.

The scene was an informal party for club members. There was a Christmas tree, with trimmings, presents and "real egg nog."

Organized in 1945 with the purpose of "Helping those less fortunate than ourselves," the girls started out in their own way doing just that. They do not ask for praise just the cooperation of the public.

Some of those who have been recipients of the girls generousity are: Boys Home, Camarilla State Hospital (Children's Div.), Out Door Health and Life and individuals too numerous to mention.

This unique and original idea is the members' way of saying "Thanks to you and yours for your cooperation in the past."

The members wearing smart cotton cocktail dresses were introduced by D. Overstreet Gray, popular young dentist in our city. Members are: Bernice Avery, wearing beige and brown print off-shoulder, and brown and toast accessories; Melva Combs, green and yellow with white accessories; Ruth Dennis in red; Marjorie Fraser, lavender print on white and purple accessories; Clara Marcee, yellow; Goldie Moore, beige sheath with aqua; Edna Marie Ray, red and white print with red accessories.

Officers are: Claretta Quinn, chartreuse, yellow and gray print, yellow accessories; Katheryn Bowie, figured print on white background, publicity; Cecelia Carr, (general chairman of dance), beige with black accessories; Lela Hurst, corresponding secretary and business manager, pink-halter with white; Evelyn Thierry Williams, president in pink appliqued, tired sheath dress and orchid accessories.

The before-party was held at the home of Mrs. Bernice Avery with guests being Mrs. Jessie Beavers, Dr. and Mrs. D. Overstreet Gray, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Harris and Edward "Abie" Robinson of the California Eagle.

After eighteen glorious days visiting the East Coast, New York City to be exact, I am now back home and oh so happy to be back and ready to go to work for you, my readers, reporting your social activities ...

My stay in New York was most enjoyable. Seeing my many relatives, enjoying their good cooking and visiting with my many old friends, such as Lois and Freddie Jenkins, Mary and Sam Countee; Ruth and Roy Campanella, whom I spent several days with in their beautiful St. Albans home and got acquainted with their latest addition, "Princess", a darling little miss that is adored by everyone, especially her brothers, David, Roy and Toni. My thanks to Jerri Major, Major Robinson, Pete Richardson (who sent so many messages back to Angelenos that it will take me a week to deliver) and Sonny

By 'KENNY' SCOTT

The problem of knowing when to stop bidding is ofen a very confusing one. Sometimes there is the question of whether to bid one more over the opposition. Sometimes there is the question of whether to bid one more for game.

The question of pushing a hand may often be resolved by the bidding. This is why it is so important to pass as much information as possible across the table until one or both partners know what the final contract should be. We are all in favor of pushing hands as far as possible, but only if there is a reasonable chance to fulfil the contract.

This hand is a case where the bidding is all important. Both sides are vulnerable.

North Opens

After North opens one diamond, East can do nothing but pass. He is too weak for a take-out double, and a bid of one no-trump would not accurately describe his hand. Too many players would warn North and South of the unfavorable distribution by hestitating or by bidding. Any bid here will get East in trouble.

North has eight points, counting his singleton, and correctly bids his five-card major suit. North shows his spade suit and South risks a two club bid. After North bids two hearts South knows the distribution of North's hand and wisely passes. His own hand is too weak to go farther.

If North held a good hand with 5-4-4 distribution, he would have raised hearts without bidding spades. From the fact that diamonds were bid first, South knows that diamonds is the longer suit. Since North jump raised the heart his support is only ordinary. Game is not possible under normal circumstances.

Notice that five bids were exchanged and yet the contract stopped at two hearts. Correct play will enable South to make three hearts. Yet the hand is very tricky, and many who played it were able to make only one or two hearts. Distribution alone is not enough. High card strength is also very important.

Bridge classes for beginners meet each Tuesday at the YWCA at 7:30 p.m. All are invited to attend.

Four Ballets On 'Greek' Stage During Weekend

In the third of five separate programs of ballet during the 1954 summer season of the beautiful Greek Theater in Los Angeles' Griffith Park, the famed New York City Ballet Company currently offers four ballets each evening through Saturday, July 24, including two ballets which will be seen for the first time in Los Angeles.

The program opens with Balanchine's classic "Serenade" danced in four parts to Tchaikowsky's Serenade in C Major for String Orchestra, with Patricia Wilde, Diana Adams, Jillana, Yvonne Mounsey, Herbert Bliss and Nicholas Magallanes heading the company.

"Age of Anxiety," a Los Angeles premiere, is a dramatic ballet in six scenes, based upon the poem by W. H. Auden which inspired Leonard Bernstein's Second Symphony. It is the story of four persons' search for happiness and understanding in a troubled world. The four leading roles are danced by Tanaquil LeClercq, Francisco Moncion, Todd Bollender and Roy Tobias. The scenery is by Oliver Smith and costumes by Sharaff.

"Harlequinade," another premiere, is a new Balanchine pas de deux, danced by Maria Tallchief and Andre Eglevsky in the classic costumes of Karinska.

The closing ballet is the colorful bit of Americana, Ruthanna Boris' "Cakewalk" to an arrangement of Gottschalk's music by Hershy Kay.

WHAT'S COOKING

BARBARA MOUNTS

Favorite recipes or methods of preparing foods vary in an ingredient or two with many people. Most of us have tasted "Jambalaya" made with fowl, fish, lamb and beef. Mrs. Dora Jacobs, a native of Lake Arthur, La., and a resident of Los Angeles for more than thirty years, prefers her Jambalaya made with chicken. Her recipe for serving six hungry people is as follows:

Chicken Jambalaya

1 stewing hen, cooked with a piece of celery, an onion and carrot, one bay leaf.
2 cups rice cooked until crispy soft in some of the chicken browth.
3 green peppers coarsely chopped.
1 bunch green onions, chopped.

Saute onion and pepper in a small amount of butter and add with the cut-up chicken to the cooked rice. Salt and pepper to taste. Toss all lightly together and place in a casserole. Add some of the broth so that the ingredients do not become dry and sprinkle top with chopped parsley. Heat thoroughly in oven to blend flavors and serve.

With this dish Mrs. Jacobs serves zucinni or green beans, a mixed green salad and fruit or sherbert for dessert.

Your family needs hot food even in scorching weather, but they don't need or want a broiled cook. You can hold down the temperature by utilizing your chafing dish. Or cook cauliflower in the bottom of your double boiler and make cheese sauce in the top at the same time. Wrap your rolls in foil and heat over vegetables, or cook those biscuits on a griddle. Cover them and turn to brown.

"Speak of the virtues of others as if they were your own, and of their vices as if you were responsible and liable to their punishment."

When a friend asks you for your candid opinion—he usually wants it candied!

'Blues Queen' At Club Oasis

Everybody is agreed that Dinah is finer than ever, during the current engagement of Dinah Washington at the jazz mecca of the West Coast, the Clb Oasis, Western at 38th.

Seasoned Singer

The Queen of the Juke Boxes merits undisputed title by consistently recording the biggest hits on Mercury records, played most frequently on the juke boxes across the nation, enjoying tremendous popularity among the disc jockeys and her huge following of fans.

Fun Packed Show

On the Oasis bill with "Miss Dee" is funnyman Slappy White, long a West oCast favorite comedian, plus Dinah's own musical group, a sextette composed of Keter Betts, bass, Edmond Thigpen, drums, Joe Mance, piano, Gus Chappell, trombone and vibes, John Anderson, trumpet, and Clifford Solomon, sax.

Pruitt Opening Summer Season

In the light of the present wave of world-wide interest in the nation's new school integration, it is interesting that the Pruitt College of Business followed an interracial policy from its start. When founded two years ago by Prof. Eddie L. Pruitt, Sr., at 1752 West Adams Blvd., corner of Brighton Avenue, Negroes, Caucasians, Orientals and Latin-Americans were enrolled in all the classes.

The college teaching staff, also interracial, is at present launching its summer courses beginning Tuesday, July 19, and culminating Friday, August 27.

PRUITT COLLEGE Of BUSINESS

The school is prepared to do special work, such as term papers and theses. We also specialize in mimeographing—stenographic service—letter service—bulletin printing—typing service—manuscript, addressing and mailing.

Protests Treatment by L.A. Policemen

our heads and being treated like criminals.

"I told the officer I was being subjected to a lot of unnecessary embarrassment and should be given at least an explanation. To this he replied, 'Boy! Are you getting smart with me?'

We'll Show You!

"I replied, 'I have never had such treatment from a policeman in my life. I have heard that Negroes are treated like this in the South.'

"To this he said. 'We will show you how we treat them from Chicago,' which is my home. He continued by saying to the other officer 'Let's book them on suspicion of robbery.'

"After being taken to City Hall, we were told that we fit the exact description of two wanted robbers. When we learned this I became highly indignant and couldn't understand why we were being booked on a felony just for not having a '54 automobile registration. I voiced an opinion once more that the whole thing was ridiculous and absurd. I was to learn how absurd.

Car Impounded

"My car was impounded and a pair of binoculars was taken from the car and held for evidence of something.

"I was locked up and investigated for 72 hours. My wife wasn't notified.

"I was released on the morning of July 10. I finally was able to have my car released after paying the Police Dept. for towing and storage charges.

"The following Monday, July 12, I had my car registered at the Vehicle License Bureau. The same day City Hall called me to tell me that my binoculars had been released and would I come get them. I asked if the next day would be all right and they told me it would.

"So Wednesday I went to get the binoculars and was told that it would be necessary to see the investigating officer. I waited. He came and politely greeted me and asked that I come in to the other room and sit down. I did. He handcuffed me to the chair and informed me that he had a warrant for my arrest. I asked for what. The answer 'For not having my car registered in the State of California.' The warrant was dated the 12th of July, the day of the call requesting me to come for my binoculars. I told him I had proof of the vehicle registration dated the 12th. He told me it was too late. I went to jail again for not having my car registered.

"The investigating officer's remark before I left City Hall was 'We will show you just how — — — — — we can be.'

Anti-Climax

"The next day I went to court and was fined $20.00 for not having my car registered while standing before the judge with my proper registration papers dated the 12th, the same day the warrant was supposed to have been issued.

"As an anti-climax, the finance company repossessed my car. The reason—The Police Dept. failed to inform them of the true nature of the case and when they contacted the finance company to check on ownership of the car, merely stated that I had been arrested for robbery. The finance company said they had repossessed the car, not because of delinquent payments, but because they couldn't afford to take a chance on my character any longer.

Others Similarly Jailed

"This is my story. While I was in Lincoln Heights jail I talked to approximately 32 Negroes. Three claimed to be guilty of preferred charges The remaining 29 had been arrested on charges similar to mine and all were uncertain as to why they were in jail. Six men had been in Los Angeles only two to three days.

"I am writing the Eagle because I feel something should be done about this terrible injustice. I want the people of Los Angeles to know of it.

Likes Eagle

"In my 15 months in L.A. I have read the Eagle every week. It is very fine. The courageous and effective means which you employ in fighting prejudice of every kind is very encouraging. Also, I want to congratulate Loren Miller and Mr. Waller on their unending campaign against segregation in the Fire Department and trying to secure decent housing for the many worthy families of L.A.

"I can't understand why the Los Angeles Sentinel seems to have no concern for the progress of the Negroes in Los Angeles. Their poor journalism and pro-Jim Crow attitude are enough to make every self-respecting person ashamed enough to prevent the Sentinel from continuing with this disgrace any longer."

E. Heywood Holding Forth At Morocco

Rookie Brown announced that he will hold that pianist extraordinary, Eddie Heywood, for another week at John T. McClain's Morocco Supper Club.

Brown says he intends continuing on with big name policy at the popular supper spot at 46th and Western—and that the famous "Begin the Beguin" and "Continental" man topped business there since the Dorothy Donegan engagement.

Years come and go and time is good to all of us. It is the most plentiful commodity in the world—make the best use of it always!

La Caritas Club Initial Tea Sun.

La Caritas Club, newly organized charitable and social club, will make its debut Sunday (July 25), from 4 to 8 at an affair at Phyllis Wheatley Home, 2125 S. Harvard.

To date the organization has made contributions to one of the missionaries to Africa. Helping youth here in Los Angeles is also one of the projects included in the club's program.

Home Owners Seek To Block Project

Led by President Oscar Long, more than 200 members of the Home Protective League of South Los Angeles invaded City Hall last Wednesday to urge the Department of Building and Safety to revoke a permit for the relocation of "temporary war housing" in the vicinity of 120th street and Wadsworth avenue.

Home owners presented testimony from George McKinney and the Watts Savings and Loan Association to the effect that location of the housing in the area would depreciate property values by at least 25 per cent. Both described the area as a "small home owners" subdivision. Engineers and contractors charged that the buildings do not meet present city building code requirements.

Attorneys Loren Miller and Samuel C. Sheats who represented the property owners urged revocation of the permits and Long and Mrs. Mary Carter, secretary of the Association, described the health and school problems that would be created by relocation of the homes.

The buildings were sold from the old Jordan Downs public housing site and moved to their present location by the Rogers Sales Company and the Janis Investment company. They are barracks type buildings with each of the 21 structures built to accommodate four families.

After an hour-long hearing in which members of the Appeals Board said that they regretted that all of the facts weren't known prior to the issuance of the permits, the Board took the issue under submission and directed attorneys and officials of the department to confer with the city attorney on the legal aspects of the matter.

The relocated buildings were constructed without building permits during World War II and were designed to last for a ten year period.

Woman Held For Murder Of Her Rival

Diminutive Doris Jean Johnson, 23, of 1321 E. 21st street, was held to answer on a charge of murder last Tuesday after a preliminary hearing before Municipal Judge Harold D. Shepard. Arraignment was set for Aug. 3.

Mrs. Johnson's attorney, Curtis C. Taylor, stated that his client will probably enter a plea of not guilty and not guilty by reason of insanity.

Mrs. Johnson was charged with the fatal stabbing of Arlene Kizee, of 715 E. 29th street, her asserted rival for the love of James Howard, who lived with Mrs. Johnson at the 21st street address.

Officer William Broady, of the Newton Street Homicide Detail, testified that the day after her arrest Mrs. Johnson told him she didn't mean to kill, she was only trying to frighten the other woman into "letting her man alone."

The dead girl's friend, Martha Jones, 1120 E. 40th place, testified that the two of them were in the ladies rest room when Mrs. Johnson rushed in and said, "Now I have caught you," and immediately whipped out a knife and inflicted the fatal wound.

Two other witnesses, Eliza-

Sheriffs Beat Mailhandler on Gov't Property

Postal employes, Post Office officials and the Sheriff's Department were in a tussle this week over a beating given to mailhandler Tommie Bayliss, 12512 Mona blvd. at Terminal Annex last Wednesday morning.

Two deputies approached Bayliss in the P.O. building to arrest him for a traffic violation. The slugging followed with Bayliss picking up a black eye and other bruises during the melee.

Fellow workers are incensed over the fact that in the course of making a simple arrest deputies found it necessary to beat up a suspect. They are also angry that such an arrest took place on Federal property.

Federal property is generally considered sacrosanct, with local police having no jurisdiction on the premises.

Postmaster Olson told the Eagle, however, that Federal property was never intended as an island of sanctuary to which people could run to evade ar-

Detroit Lawyer Named Delegate To U. N. Meet

WASHINGTON—Atty. Charles H. Mahoney, of Detroit, president of the Great Lakes Mutual Life Insurance Co., was named Monday to the delegation the United States will send to the United Nations General Assembly meeting in September.

Atty. Mahoney was named one of the five full delegates.

President Eisenhower appointed seven new representatives on the 10-member group.

Dr. Somerville To Advise on Civil Liberties

Dr. John A. Somerville, former police commissioner who was recently decorated by the British government, has just been appointed one of the 22 members of the newly formed advisory council of the American Civil Liberties Union, Southern California branch.

Announcement of the appointment was made by Jerome W. MacNair, council chairman.

Nurse's Aide Miraculously Escapes Death

Mrs. Marion Hawkins, nurse's aide at Children's hospital, who was visiting relatives in Pueblo, Col., was hurled to the floor early Sunday morning, when a stick of dynamite was thrown into the front room of her brother's house.

The force of the blast crashed the picture window just above where Mrs. Hawkins was sleeping. An iron patio chair hurled through the window clipped her on the back of the head.

Her 10-year-old daughter, Francine, who was lying on a pallet on the floor, was cut above the eye and on her arms and legs. Her cousin, Beverly Parrish, who was next to her, was unhurt. The other members of the family miraculously escaped injury.

Neighbors claimed they saw five men in the vicinity of the house—four whites and one Negro—at the time of the explosion.

The home at 1123 E. 7th st., Pueblo, of Moses Parrish, steel mill machinist, is in the heart of a solid white area. He and his family have lived there for nine months without molestation.

The attack Sunday about 2 a.m. came without warning.

Police immediately investigated and after ascertaining the facts set up road blocks throughout Colorado and into Kansas.

Mrs. Hawkins, who lives with her husband, Willie Hawkins, at 1910 S. Hobart avenue, was visiting in Pueblo for the weekend. She returned to Los Angeles Tuesday.

Naughty Word Brings Fine to Santa Monican

SANTA MONICA — Alfred Wayne King, 1956 16th street, whose slighting comment about police interference at a beach picnic was picked up by the long ears of the law, was found guilty of disturbing the peace, placed on two years summary probation and fined $35 when his case came up before Judge Thurlow Taft Monday morning.

Young King, represented by Atty. James Flournoy, pleaded not guilty to the charge, but the judge held he had used "profane" language in the presence of women.

The former Santa Monica High football star was in swimming several weeks ago when he saw a crowd congregating on the beach. He went over to see what was happening and asked one of the young men he know what the trouble was. Informed that police were attempting to confiscate their cans of beer, King uttered an off-hand slang remark, and to his amazement was immediately arrested.

The brief court hearing centered around the precise meaning of the expression King had used. When pressed by the judge, one witness said he knew what the word meant in the Army.

That did it. Guilty said the judge.

Alderson Ordered To End Jim Crow

Fire Chief John H. Alderson has "cooked up a scheme to retain and extend racial segregation," the NAACP charged this week as Alderson prepared to present what he called "three major policy recommendations" to the Board of Fire Commissioners.

Alderson's recommendations called for:

1. Assignment of Negroes to stations manned heretofore by Caucasians if there are no openings for them at the two all-Negro stations.

2. Promotion of Negroes to the rank of officers — if they pass the proper examinations—and their assignment to command white members of the department.

3. No Negroes will be turned away or discriminated against on the entrance examination.

Same Old Jim Crow

The recommendations will be made in response to a Commission order of last week directing the chief to bring in plans for integration in the department.

The NAACP pointed out that the first of Alderson's recommendations is merely a proposal to keep the present two jim-crow stations and to create new jim crow stations by assigning Negroes to other stations.

The association also pointed out that promotions for Negroes are stymied because the oral examination is given by Fire Department brass who know

Sheriff's Dept. To Be Mixed, Statement Says

Sheriff Eugene W. Biscailuz and members of his administrative staff, together with a committee of the NAACP Monday released a joint statement relative to the Sheriff's Department's program for employment and assignment of personnel. Committee members of the NAACP are Attys. George Cannady and Eugene Hall.

The statement asserts that the Sheriff's Department "has been engaged in a program for integrating colored personnel into all branches of departmental activities, in a manner calculated to avert misunderstanding and to conform with the principles believed in and supported by Sheriff Biscailuz and the NAACP."

This statement of present policy is the result of numerous conferences

'White Only' Not Jim Crow, Say Angry Exchange Clubs

The "white only" restriction in their by-laws caused charges, counter-charges, angry expulsions and heated withdrawals from the sedate National Exchange Clubs this week up in San Francisco.

"We're not un-American," declared one official defensively. "We don't discriminate," said another, "we just restrict."

National Secretary Herold Harter, of Toledo, Ohio, reported by some of the delegates to be the virtual boss of the organization's 1500 clubs with a total membership of 100,000, huffed and puffed that all who disagreed with national policy should "get out and join other clubs."

Made in Moscow

Harter, who was also accused of "high-handed and dictatorial rule," fumed: "This is a lot of trouble over just one Chinaman. I suspect it's the Communists starting it. They got orders direct from Moscow to infiltrate our clubs and stir up trouble.

"Our clubs'll send a Negro kid to camp," he continued, "but that's no sign his old man can join."

Expelled in quick succession were the Exchange Clubs of Palo Alto, Redwood City, The Golden Gate club of San Francisco, the Stockton club, Menlo Park club, and others in Oakland and San Leandro.

Delivered Ultimatum

Representatives of the state's 200 clubs have been meeting at Berkeley's Hotel Claremont. Herter came to California in an attempt to settle the turmoil.

TRAVEL SEGREGATION FEDERAL HEARINGS OPEN

WASHINGTON—Hearings opened here Tuesday on a rounded attack on jim-crow interstate travel involving 11 railroads, a railroad terminal company and a restaurant operator.

The global complaint was brought before the Interstate Commerce Commission by the NAACP and 17 individuals including one white man.

Among the railroads named are the Arkansas Topeka and Santa Fe, the Illinois Central, the Southern Railroads and the Louisville and Nashville.

Violate Constitution

The complainants, in a lengthy brief filed Dec. 31, 1953, claimed that the policies and practices of each of the defendants subject Negro passengers in interstate travel to segregation and discrimination solely because of their race and color, in violation of the Interstate Commerce Act, the Commerce clause, and the Fifth and Fourteenth amendments to the U.S. Constitution.

They claim further that these policies subject Negroes to humiliation, harassment and embarrassment.

The Commission is asked to order the defendants to end these practices, and to ban such actions by all interstate carriers.

Santa Fe

The case involving the Santa Fe railroad deals with passage from Los Angeles to Dallas, Texas, December 15, 1951. It is claimed that Wendell Ferguson, of Dallas, rode in the Dallas car along with other passengers, Negro and white, until the train reached Clovis N.M. At that point, he and all other Negro passengers were required to move to a segregated coach for the remainder of the journey.

The incident involving the Louisville and Nashville occurred January 28, 1952 when a Negro and a white man were traveling together from Mobile, Ala., en route to the NAACP meeting in Jacksonville, Fla. to protest the bombing murder of Harry T. Moore.

Forced from Train

At Flomaton, Ala. the conductor forced Crishon, the Negro, to leave the coach and go to a car set aside exclusively for Negroes. Stetzel attempted to follow his friend, but was compelled to remain where he was because he was white.

On Sept. 13, 1953, T. E. McKinney Jr. purchased a ticket from the Southern Railway for a trip from Charlotte, N.C. to Brunswick, Maine. All seats in the segregated coach were taken and he was told he would have to stand. Instead, he went into a "white" coach. When he was ordered to leave, he refused. The conductor ordered the train to return to the station, summoned police and forced McKinney from the train.

Small-Time Users, Sellers Snared In Net

Small-time narcotics users and peddlers bore the major brunt this weekend of the largest mass round-up of dope suspects in the city's history.

Over 20 Negroes were arrested in the drive participated in by the entire 42-man squad which netted 108 violators, including 13 women.

Of the Negroes picked up in the city-wide crackdown, over half were arrested in the Fifth street-skidrow area, with scattered arrests in the Western district.

No Big Wheels

None of the "big wheels" in the Eastside racket were caught in the dragnet, but police hoped the big-scale crackdown would flush out the wholesale dealers.

Biggest catches on the Westside were 21-year-old Charles Alexander, of 2024 W. 28th st., and Gilbert Johnson, 31, of 3749 Halldale.

Alexander, brother of famed musician Nelson Alexander,

Shoots White Woman Tenant, Tries Suicide

A complaint charging attempted murder and assault to commit murder was issued Tuesday against a Pasadena landlord who is in the prison ward of County hospital, seriously wounded from a self-inflicted bullet wound in his mouth.

Carl Luther Davis Echols, 55, of 203 W. Del Mar street, was accused of seriously wounding Mrs. Opal Brown, a crippled, white housekeeper who rented a room in Echols' home.

A Cripple

According to the police report, Mrs. Brown, 32, a cripple since childhood when both her legs were hurt in an accident, went to the Echols' home Thursday to remove her belongings.

She drove up in her small electric auto, accompanied by 10-year-old Yvonne Elliott, daughter of Glen Elliott, 8127 E. Grace street, for whom the handicapped woman worked.

Echols reportedly met them at the front door and began firing. One of the shots hit Mrs. Brown and she slumped over in her car.

Police Officers William Paisley and Dalton Newland claimed that when they reached the scene they found Mrs Brown bleeding profusely and through a window saw Echols inside waving the gun in threatening manner. Unable to get in the house, they shot through the front door.

Put Gun in Mouth

When they got inside, they found Echols on the couch. In an apparent suicide attempt, he had placed the gun in his own mouth and pulled the trigger.

He still clutched the gun, however, and refused to drop it. Police shot, wounding him in both hands.

Both Echols and Mrs. Brown were rushed to Huntington Memorial hospital, then transferred to County. At first Echols was not expected to live, but late reports were that he was improving. Date of arraignment, however, has not been set, pending his recovery.

Mrs. Brown was said to have been less seriously wounded than her assailant.

beth Combs, also of 1120 E. 40th place, and Dorothy Brown, of 4784 Morgan street, testified that they were also in the rest room at the time, but told a slightly different version of what happened.

However, all agreed that there was only one stab wound following which the Kizee girl ran out of the rest room and fell on the floor by the bar, where she was picked up by Jimmie Holmes, special officer on duty.

House Kills Alaska-Hawaii Statehood Bill

WASHINGTON — Statehood chances for Hawaii and Alaska at the present session of Congress were killed Monday when the House Rules committee by voice vote tabled a resolution to send the bill to conference to iron out variances in House and Senate proposals.

The House bill grants Statehood only to normally Republican Hawaii. The Senate approved statehood for both areas. Alaska usually votes Democratic.

SACRAMENTO—Girls attired in shorts and mothers accompanied by small children will not lose their visits to local offices of the California Department of Employment to claim unemployment insurance more pleasant under a new policy put into effect this week by Director of Employment William A. Burkett pointed out that a claimant "must be available for work" in order to obtain unemployment insurance, but added, "You can determine a person's availability without harassing him over trivial matters."

The worst thing about a skeleton in the closet is that it is apt to come to life!

Good Morning Judge

The old judge hadn't been on the bench for quite a spell. His head was balder and his gait was less springy but you could see that the hours he had spent writing briefs for the NAACP's fight against segregated schools had increased his sense of justice.

Justice, Justice, that was what he was mumbling when he climbed aboard the bench he'd been riding for so many years. "That Alderson and his no fire chiefing self can't see the right for the Jim Crow," he was heard to say.

The old boy was getting angry as he looked over the crowd of local wrongdoers but he knew it would be a great injustice to take it out on these people who had merely assaulted their mates, robbed their brothers, or beat their grandmothers. They hadn't done anything compared to that boy.

He sighed as he looked over the throng. "It's good to be back with the nice folks."

WHAT THE SAM HELL? . . . He reads, felt sorry for Sam Hill of 357 E. 64th Street who was coming home from the Save Friday evening and decided to be a good Samaritan when he saw a stalled car on Avalon and 59th Street.

"Good SAM," as the judge called him, pushed that auto for about 20 blocks and the only reason they asked him to stop straining his car was because one of the free-rolling occupants lived on 36th Street.

He was surprised when they told him they had a handsome award in the pad, a taste of giggle juice and the companionship of five appreciative people. Two women and three men.

As soon as the taste met up with his stomach his head began to "Shake, Rattle and Roll" and he kinda figured the patch had been spiked.

When he lifted the phone to call Lassie to get him out of this, a heavy hand stopped it out of his drowsy hands.

Sam woke up in his car with a head feeling a little out of tune and also out of his wallet which he said had one time contained not less than $74. The balding Judge wiped a tear from the corner of his eye and said, "Never drink with five strangers."

HORSES, WHAT THAT IS? . . . John Law had something to say to the good Judge about people making book on Central Avenue. He'd heard this tune before but he decided to listen. Seems the heat, fuzz, the Boys as they are known in the Bookie set caught George Clowers of 4763 S. Central with some suspicious looking papers in his pocket. When confronted with this startling evidence Clowers first shrugged and said, "sure that's my writing but you can't make anything out of those numbers, they're just results . . . Sure I know all those people that come in and out of here." The Judge just said, "any excuse is better than none."

OUCH! . . . Mary Joe Young, 637 E. 23rd Street was kinda mighty, decided the balding one, despite her 90 pounds. According to A. B. Dudley who limped up to the old man with that hurt expression on his face the little lady who he invited up to his room for a fast game of shuffle board and a few beers did not play the game according to Hoyle. In fact he might have been minus his gaming equipment had it not been for the intervention of the local gendarmes. Even at that, he suffered a six inch cut where it hurt worst. The old boy met the gaze of Mary Joe with mixed emotions but she looked at him with that look that drives men mad and said "I only punched him."

Police Shut Down 5th St. Pool Hall

Richard Childress, who has worked on the Santa Fe for 14 years and who runs a small pool hall at 500 E. 5th street in his spare time was informed by the Police Commission that his place would be closed down at midnight Wednesday.

Reason given by the commission was that the "applicant is not a fit and proper person to operate this type of business."

Childress amazed at this assertion, has appealed the decision.

Listed as "derogatory" facts on his record were, a charge of vagrancy was placed against a man picked up in Los pool hall; a cigarette machine and a coca-cola machine were burglarized, three people were picked up in the hall on suspicion of narcotics.

AUTO INFLUX DIPS, BUT CLOSE TO RECORD

At the halfway point of 1954 automobile influx into the Southland was slightly behind the record year of 1953, according to the Touring Bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

389,566 cars of state passenger cars carrying 1,074,23- persons entered Southern California as of June 30 compared to the 415,832 cars with 1,126,756 persons at the same time last year.

was taken into custody Friday when he reportedly made a marijuana sale to undercover narcotics agents who had gained his confidence in previous buys.

Indictments

Police were following up the arrests with immediate processing of the suspects. At press time a number of those nabbed had already been indicted in a secret Grand Jury session, but police did not release their names.

Beginning Friday noon, the crackdown continued throughout the night and into the next day with plain-clothesmen jailing suspects spotted during two months of undercover investigations.

Capt. Carl Shy, who directed the operation, said the bulk of the activity centered in the Central avenue and Eastside districts.

Men and Women Arrested

Among other local residents who were arrested as users or peddlers were: Helen E. Porter, 22, who listed her address as 1617 E. 104th street; Clarence W. Dacus, 31, 544 Crocker; Robert E. Gay, 26, of 925 Carlton; Eddie Armstrong, 23, of 1730 E. 6th street.

Rosie Lee Morgan, 906 E. 6th street; Alice M. Hancox, 30, 1141 E. 11th street; Sidney Cherrie, 33, 2615½ S. Hooper; Alvin A. Thompson, 22, 719 E. 5th street; Alice M. Johnson, 39, 1765 E. 42nd street; Mattie Bell Johnson, 21, 5600 S. Central avenue; and Bernard Carlton, 25, of 125 E. 5th street.

SLOW DRIVERS

Slow drivers must keep to the right.

California Highway Patrol Commissioner B. R. Caldwell emphasizes that while speed and reckless driving are the most frequent causes of accidents, driving in the center of the road at slow speeds is dangerous and unlawful.

Alderson Sounds Off

The full measure of Fire Chief John H. Alderson's arrogance was displayed last week after the Board of Fire Commissioners passed a resolution obviously designed to end racial segregation in fire stations.

The Board recited that "It is now the policy of this Commission and the Fire Department that personnel are assigned and promoted without regard to race, creed or color."

After that recitation, the Board directed Alderson to "submit his recommendations not later than six weeks . . . concerning the manner in which Negro personnel . . . could be integrated gradually at stations other than 14 and 30."

The ink hadn't dried on the resolution and the anguished screams of the race-haters were still filling the air when the Chief took to the radio to tell the Commission in substance and effect that he intended to continue his segregation practices.

"This resolution," he said, "indicates no attitude of the Board. It is not an order. It simply asks for a report from me." Then he added: "If I am deprived of the privilege of transferring and assigning personnel as I see fit . . . I will retire."

The meaning of the Chief's words are plain. He is saying in effect what he has said so many times before: that he has a right to make transfers and assignments on whatever basis he deems best. And it is no secret that he deems racial segregation "best."

We have no doubt that the Board has finally decided that racial segregation must go in the Los Angeles Fire Department and that it is prepared to implement that determination. We are equally sure that Chief Alderson has no intention of bowing to that policy.

His radio statement tips off his course. He will submit a bland report to the Board which will argue the case for segregation. It will be larded with pious phrases about "the best interests of all the people." It will repeat the endless myths about disruption of morale and the lowering of efficiency, in the event integration is ordered.

Alderson hopes that by such tactics he can ultimately wear out his opposition and have his own way. We are just as sure that the NAACP has no intention of letting him have his way and that it will take the matter to the courts if necessary.

We hope the Board will learn that nothing is to be gained from temporizing with this arrogant man and that it will issue a flat order directing the integration that it should have ordered when this matter was first presented to it almost a year ago.

Mr. Granger Quits

Lester B. Granger's resignation as special consultant to the Secretary of the Navy on the ground that the naval service has been laggard in rooting out segregation is the first sour note in what has been a mighty chorus of praise for what the GOP has done in eliminating discriminatory racial practices.

Granger is no radical or New Dealer who wormed his way into Republican ranks. He is a Republican who has been a source of strength to the party both in New York and on a national scale. It was only yesterday that some of the board members of the National Urban League, of which he is secretary, were assailing him for being too conservative.

If the middle-of-the-road Mr. Granger finds the Navy moving too slowly it is reasonable to suppose that its speed in dealing with racial problems leaves something to be desired.

Failure on the part of Naval officials to evaluate and expedite his recommendations finally led to his departure, Mr. Granger told the Secretary of the Navy.

It is worth remarking here that the Army, which was the last of the services to embark on an integration program, announced last week that it had broken up all, or virtually all, of its segregated units. The real impetus to its action came during the Korean struggle when necessity drove the Army brass farther and faster than it had intended.

For its part the Navy has seen little action since World War II and it has apparently adopted the attitude that there is plenty of time for change. We hope that the Granger resignation will serve to spur it into greater activity.

World conditions demand that America move speedily to eliminate all racial discrimination in order to let the world see, and quickly, that democracy can attain the equality it preaches.

Home To Roost

We can't say that we have any high degree of sympathy for William F. Knowland and the Republicans who find their congressional program all snarled up in a filibuster that is raging around atomic energy legislation.

Our lack of sympathy doesn't spring from any profound knowledge of the merits, or demerits, of the legislation although we do suspect that the Democrats are on the right side of the argument. Rather, we're snickering because the GOP's predicament is a case of chickens coming home to roost.

When the Eisenhower administration assumed office the NAACP did its level best to persuade the Republicans to make some changes in the Senate rule to limit debate. The Association wanted those changes made because the Southerners had used the filibuster to kill off every piece of civil rights legislation proposed during the past 40 years.

At the time Mr. Knowland talked a great deal about the changes that should be made and almost everybody was convinced that he was going to back some worthwhile rules. After all was said and done the Knowland changes didn't amount to much and the NAACP charged at the time that it was still impossible for the Senate to limit debate under the changes.

Mr. Knowland, who has been beating his head against a stone wall for the past 10 days in an effort to get the senators to stop talking and get down to voting, must be in a mood to agree with the NAACP by this time.

If we wanted to draw a moral from the whole situation we would be tempted to say, as we've said so many times in the past, that attempts to delimit rights of Negroes have a habit of boomeranging.

Maybe this filibuster will convince the Republicans that they had better make some real changes in Senate rules so that debate can be limited after everybody has had his say on the merits of the question.

Battleaxe and Bread

And In India

Maybe the 20-year span estimated by my friend is too long, but it must be admitted that there is some justification for his diagnosis of current leadership affairs in India. Any revolution tends to glorify the hell-raiser; he is inevitably promoted to a leadership role not possible for him in more even constructive times. For any revolution is destructive, whether it is destroying something evil or something good.

The revolutionists are the house wreckers of governmental change. They are excellent for tearing down old buildings that stand in the way of new projects. Chances are that few of them will be valuable in putting up the new construction. What India now needs to do is to find capable "construction workers" to let her new government to take the place of the old "wreckers," and meantime to keep older heroes of the revolution from becoming the undermines of the present growing order. And that's a large order for Prime Minister Nehru.

And there's a lesson in all this for colored Americans. It's been nearly a century since the Emancipation Proclamation was issued. That near-century has been devoted to a revolutionary fight for full freedom. We had our heroes of the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries. They consisted of all types, the let-down-your-buckets-where-you-are-ers, the back-to-Africa speechmakers, the defenders of the "talented tenth," the leaders of the fight against lynching, the spokesmen for equal opportunity.

Booker T. Washington, W. E. B. DuBois, Marcus Garvey, James Weldon Johnson, Eugene Kinckle Jones—all of these made their contribution to the [illegible] in American thinking [illegible] and then passed off the [illegible] as history changed the [illegible] and got ready for the next phase. That phase is now [illegible]

[illegible] Light is for integration and has been for a couple of decades, without the awareness of some of us. The fact that the fight itself has changed form does not mean that the struggle is any less intense. In some ways it will be more intense than ever.

[illegible] armed forces on Guam and Saipan found that it was a dirty, hazardous job to blast Japanese on the islands, they found it even tougher, though not as deadly, to wipe out the pockets of resistance established by the Japanese who dug into mountain sides for a fight-to-the-death resistance. There's still a long fight ahead of us; those who have common sense with devotion realize it, and are adjusting to meet the new demands.

One Man's Opinion

By LEON STEWARD

This is a story of a real estate broker whom we would trust with our last dollar. Although he has been in real estate for some years we will challenge any man who considers him in a class with those regarded as "Pioneers of the Industry." And just how he has retained his integrity for so long is even a puzzle to many of his friends.

Leon Steward

So here goes his story which begins when he was just a boy in Shreveport, La., who, as soon as he finished high school, made a bee line to Los Angeles seeking a better way of life than he found in his home town.

First A Pharmacist

When USC opened in 1920 Bernard C. Herndon enrolled in its College of Pharmacy. After graduating, his first job was at Smith's Drug Store on Tenth and Central avenue, where most of the Negroes of the East side stopped for drugs and ice cream sodas during the early '20s. Bernard remained there until the depression came in the 'thirties, and then he worked as a health inspector for two years. After that he opened gasoline stations at 49th and Central and 40th place and Central.

In 1937 Mr Herndon took an examination for Real Estate Broker. He had previously married a charming lady, Miss Helen St. John, of Des Moines, Iowa. They have recently celebrated their silver anniversary.

President of Golden West

For some time his offices have been at 3419 S. Central avenue. When we returned to Los Angeles in August, 1944, we asked our brother-in-law to recommend a real estate dealer and to our surprise it was the young man we remembered as a pharmacist at Smith's Drug store in 1921. So he sold us the house where we live. As we recall, he left it to us and the sellers until the paper work was necessary. And now we are working with him.

Mr. Herndon was a charter member of the Golden West Realty Board and for many years was its treasurer. He is now its president. He is also one of the two Negro members of the L.A. Chamber of Commerce.

His community concern is shown by the fact that he is a trustee and a member of the Board of Directors and treasurer of the Out Door Life and Health Assn. He is a member of the Church of Divine Guidance and a charter member of Alpha Delta chapter of Alpha Phi Alpha.

When you find a real man you usually observe that organizations will trust him, his friends swear by him and he can hold to the wife he won in his youth. What do you say?

MEN OF COLDITZ, by Patrick R. Reid.

In The Colditz Story the author, an English officer and diplomat, told about his escape from prison in Germany during World War II.

In this sequel he tells the whole war-time story of the allied prisoners, English, French and Dutch, who were held in the old fortress castle of Colditz in Saxony from 1942 until their liberation by the Americans.

Their ingenious, detailed escape plans, their black market activities, their hopes, their conflicts are told dramatically.

NEVER VICTORIOUS, NEVER DEFEATED, by Taylor Caldwell.

Those who enjoyed Dynasty of Death will find in this story of a railroad dynasty the Taylor Caldwell they knew of old. Power, pride, and the complicated social and political history of our country in the '70s for a rich and dramatic portion of the novel.

Add this to your books that illumine a period when the battles were fought in directors' rooms and in laborers' gangs, when big business was immense and workers' rights were obtained through poverty, bitter strikes and negotiation by violence. What the lesson of history finally was for members of the proud, ruthless DeWitts, railroad tycoons, is the climax of this story.

BLESS THIS HOUSE, by Norah Lofts.

In France, Norah Lofts saw builders continuing an ancient tradition—fixing a small fir tree to the chimney of a house just completed, to give luck and life to the house.

So, she wrote a novel whose hero is a house—an English house that in 400 years saw owners come and go, saw history change but families continue, in a country whose tradition is born of change as well as of stability.

The house brought luck to some of its owners, sorrow to livelihood to some—but in turn its possessors brought it people like itself, passionate and responsible, to thieves and bring them to justkeep it flourishing like the tree growing fir tree.

Fire Chief Cooks Scheme To Preserve Segregation

and understand Alderson's segregation scheme.

"Just Don't Pass"

"Negroes just don't pass those oral examinations," the NAACP charged.

The third proposal was branded as meaningless since Civil Service regulations already provide for appointment on the basis of merit. Alderson skirts that provision by over-manning the present stations.

The Fire Commission's resolution last Thursday, apparently designed to end segregation, left everybody confused.

The ink was hardly dry on the resolution before Fire Chief John H. Alderson took to the air to proclaim that he hadn't been issued an order of any kind and that he had been merely asked for advice.

The Commission's resolution, passed unanimously, stated that "it is now the policy of this Commission and the Fire Department that personnel are assigned and promoted without regard to race, creed or color."

As if that wasn't plain enough the Commission "ordered" the chief to "submit his recommendations . . . not later than six weeks from this date concerning the manner in which Negro personnel . . . could be integrated gradually at stations other than 14 and 30."

Called Skunks

Members of the Loyal Neighbors and United Neighbors who had been busy as little bees circulating petitions to keep segregation found the order plain enough. They accused the Commission of "selling out" and branded NAACP attorneys as "skunks" and in the "pay of Russia."

Newspaper headlines proclaimed that the Commission had doomed segregation—and then Chief Alderson got on radio to put his own interpretation on the resolution. Appropriately enough, he was followed by Loren Miller, one of the attorneys for the NAACP who hooted at Alderson's interpretation and said the Commission order foretold the end of segregation.

Meanwhile, Alderson supporters were as busy as ever stirring up support for the chief among white firemen, particularly among members of the A.F.L. Firemen's Union. The Eagle was unable to learn what action the union took but it did foster a resolution in the Central Labor Council last week which gave backhanded support to Alderson's position.

The Los Angeles Daily News got into the act with a long obscure editorial in which it announced the astounding news that the chief and the NAACP were in agreement as to the need for integration! NAACP Attorneys Herbert Simmons and Thomas G. Neusom laughed at that statement. "If we are in agreement, why doesn't the chief act?" they asked. They charged that the News had been the chief "stumbling block to settlement of the issue" with its unbroken support of Alderson from the inception of the controversy.

Mayor Stands Firm

The Eagle learned that Mayor Norris Poulson was as intent as ever on ending segregation. Informed sources said that he had urged the Commission to pass a far stronger resolution than the one passed last Thursday and had warned his supporters on the Commission that the order would have to be specific and detailed if it expected action of any kind.

The NAACP issued a statement through Attorney Edward C. Maddox saying that it was as determined as ever to blot out the disgrace of racial segregation in the fire department. We are still hopeful that the end can be achieved without resort to litigation but if necessary we will take the matter to the courts."

Long Overdue

At the Thursday hearing, members of the Loyal Neighbors appealed to the Commission to "back Alderson" while Miller told it that while the NAACP welcomed the spirit of the resolution it did not feel that so much time was necessary to achieve an end that was "long overdue."

City Hall rumors had it that the Commission will tell Alderson in no uncertain terms today (Thursday) that its resolution was an "order" and not a request for advice and will tell him to produce an integration plan in the six weeks period.

The petition asking the Commission to end segregation was presented last October. At that time Alderson denied that there was any segregation in the department and later secured a vote of confidence for the continuance of his policies.

Pure and Simple

By L. F. Palmer Jr.

"Money is the root of all evil."

Such is the way many folks misquote the old adage, "The Love of money is the root of all evil." Let's mis-misquote it and come up with "Love and money are the root of all evil."

You are, as I am, no doubt following with great interest the two current news stories involving the deaths of Montgomery Ward Thorne in Chicago and Jules Lack in a mansion near Saugatuck, Mich.

I am intrigued by both stories and from the amount of space they are pulling in the newspapers, so are a lot of other people. In a way, they are similar. In another way, they are vastly different. In still another way, they are both very tragic.

Massive Fortune

There is nothing at all conclusive about the mysterious death of young Thorne who was about to come into a massive fortune. Some of the best medical minds in the nation are attempting to discover the cause of death. Was it natural? Was it foul play? Time may provide the answers to these questions.

Meanwhile, the great suspicion hovers about the case. Was Thorne killed because some one put his millions above the life of this young man who apparently was deeply in love with a beautiful young girl?

So far there seems to be no evidence to support this theory. But it is a theory.

"The love of money is the root of all evil."

Jules Lack

And then there is the Jules Lack case. Lack, as you know, was shot to death by a prominent dentist, Dr. Kenneth E. Small, of Detroit. Dr. Small was just found "not guilty by reason of insanity" after a sensational trial which saw his wife take the stand and announce her switch of "love" to Lack.

Here is that age-old quandary man inevitably has to wrestle with. Can a man be held morally and legally responsible for protecting his family from the ruinous effects of "the other lover?" Even if it means killing him?

The jury in this case decided, probably on the basis of this "unwritten law," that Dr. Small was "not guilty by reason of insanity."

Family Man

The chances are excellent that within a very short period of time the dentist who seemed so devoted to his family will be declared sane and allowed to return to whatever life is left for him.

His wife had clearly spurned him for another man. He went temporarily insane and killed the other man.

"Love is the root of all evil."

Or is the lack of love the root of all evil?"

Your answer is as good as mine. Probably better.

"SENT ON A MISSION"

(Mark 16:15 "Go Ye Into All the Worlds and Preach the Gospel to Every Creature.")

The term "Mission," proposes three essential facts about one sent on a mission. Jesus Himself was the great Missionary. He constantly spoke of Himself as "the Messenger sent by the Father to a lost world. And He said, "As my Father hath sent me, even so send I you." Being sent on a mission implies that someone is sent on an errand charged to do something. He does not speak of his own initiative but as the commissioned agent of the one who sent him. And the more absolute he represents him and the more implicit and faithful he is to convey his message the more perfect does he fulfill his missionary calling.

Dedicated To Christianity

We, who are the ministers and servants of the Master, as workers in the vineyard, and as subjects to their captain, and as servants to their sovereign, put in a mere claim of high sense to be with wholehearted a zealous and a supreme desire for the exaltation of Christ. He must be recognized, be accepted, be loved and enthroned in the hearts of men as Saviour and Lord. To this end all our preaching and effort must be directed.

Religious Teaching Vital

The fact of sin, its gravity and universality, must be preached from pulpits and taught in the way it used to be. We must be so effectual in our mission work that we can hear from people who desire to unite themselves to Jesus Christ, the deep poignant penitence and confession of sin that was heard in the early church.

Education Important

When an individual has accepted the Lord Jesus Christ as his personal Saviour, his basic need is religious education. Jesus said, "Teaching them to

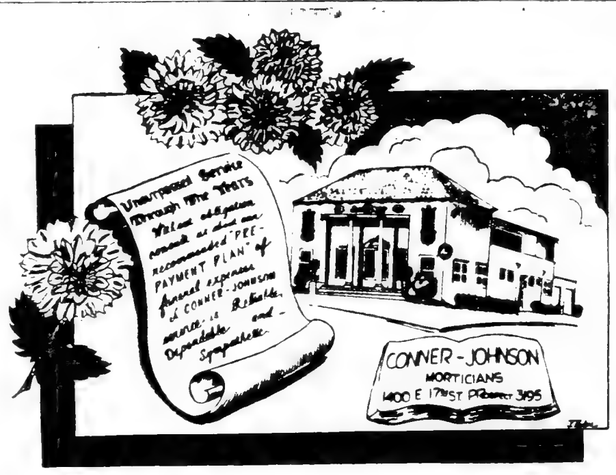
Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Find Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special)— For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to stop bleeding—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.



And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form for hemorrhoids under the name Preparation H.® The price is only 98c a tube including an applicator. The name to ask for is Preparation H—at all drug stores. And remember—if not entirely satisfied—your money will be refunded promptly.

Cleve Macon Kids Win City Wide Table Tennis Titles

Roland Macon, defending city table tennis champion, won the title for the second straight time last week at the annual Department of Recreation and Parks tourney. Skillful playing and expert coaching from his father Cleven enabled the young star to score his second big triumph. While Roland was buring the celluloid ball out of the reach of his opponents, his sister Francis was doing the same thing in the girls' division to win the first city-wide playground title in that division.

The young players are coached and trained by their athlete father who, in 1934, was the city sprint champion while attending Jefferson High School.

Roland and Francis both demonstrated accuracy, speed and cool heads as they fought their way into the finals and the city titles. Both attend the Bret Hart Junior High School and are better than average students.

The senior Macon is encouraging his son to take up track and his daughter to follow the game of tennis. Veteran players looking in on the tourney expressed a great athletic future for the Macon's kids.

George Ramsey

There's an old saying among horsemen that twins are "no-account for racing purposes, and the performances of Mr. Kamp and Mr. Kreutz 2-year-old geldings, didn't do much to contradict the axiom here last Sunday before nearly 8000.

Veerita, a longshot, captured the race to pay $31.40. Mr. Kamp, finished seventh and Mr. Kreutz eleventh in the 12 horse field. Sea Kid, with jockey Bellion Pulido, won the featured Acanthus handicap while Dark Khal, with Jockey Allen Carmichael scored in the co-feature named "Azalea". Another lush daily-double payoff for holders of tickets on Jiffy Boy and Good Opinion were rewarded with $237.00. Quiniela backers of Diamond V. and Dogma who finished in that order received $45.20.

DEL MAR. — The opening program featured the $5000 Inaugural Handicap at six furlongs for fillies and mares. Saturday will come the presentation of the $10,000 Oceanside Handicap, a contest over the same distance for 3-year-olds. Among some of the great stables that will race at Del Mar are the Calumet Farms, Circle M. Farm, R. C. Ellsworth. All three have possible candidates for the opening headliner.

Calumet has Miss Clementine, winner of four stakes at Hollywood Park, Bubbley, winner of one and Lap Full, Circle M. Ranch has the speedy Is Proud, holder of Hollywood's six-furlong track record. Ellsworth could start Fleet Khal and Heather Khal.

ATTENTION!!

Dear Sirs:

Many athletes of this community join me in urging that some action be taken by the Los Angeles Department of Recreation and Parks to provide shower and dressing room facilities at South Park Playground.

It is regrettable that this fine park, with night lights, a good diamond and playing field, has no accommodation to offer players after a game.

Many requests and many promises have been made over a period of two years but the condition remains unchanged.

We hope that you will give us the support of your voice in our efforts to overcome this problem.

WEDDING BEAUTIFUL—Lu[illegible] L. Bonnett and Geo[illegible] L. Bryant is one of the summer season's most [illegible] Sunday afternoon in the Berkeley Square residence.

Elegant Lucille L. Bonnett Is Lovely Summer Bride

On Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, one of the season's most beautiful and elaborate weddings was solemnized when Miss Lucille L. Bonnett became the bride of George E. Bryant at the Berkeley Square residence of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lyons. Rev. J. M. Hoggard, minister of Hamilton Methodist Church, officiated at the ceremony.

Vows were spoken against a bridal background of white orchids and carnations accented with a mantle plaque of green and white tapers in candelabra, and two cornucopias of white gladiola. The guests were seated on both sides of the spacious and well-appointed living room forming a bridal aisle for the wedding entourage. The right aisle posts decorated with lacy bouquets and the white kneeling bench completed the floral arrangements in front of the huge fireplace and set the scene for the impressive double-ring wedding ceremony.

Descending the stairs on the arm of her brother-in-law, Basil Chrisien, the bride was exquisite and lovely in a bridal gown of chantilly lace over tulle net and satin. The stately dipped overskirt of chantilly lace framed the slotted bodice. The crown crescent neck line was accented with scalloped inserts and capped sleeves. The gown was fashioned by Mrs. Wilma Kerr.

The bride's attendants were costumed floor length sheaths of pastel organza and taffeta with matching shoes embroidered and studded with rhinestones. She carried the traditional white Bible with a bouquet of white orchids and stephanotis.

The gown of her matron of honor, Mrs. Ora B. Chrisien, sister of the bride was of sky blue chantilly lace over net and taffeta. The bridesmaids, Miss Bernice Catherine Wright wore pink chantilly lace over taffeta and net. Both wore matching accessories and carried contrasting pink and blue cascading bouquets of carnations.

The groom and other members of the wedding party, Mr. Wesley Brazier, best man, Dr. N. A. Fearon and Mr. Robert Minor, ushers, and Mr. Basil Chrisien were in semi-formal attire, accentuated by gray oxford gray jackets with gray vests, gray with black striped trousers and white vests with gray four-in-hand ties.

Miss Edythe Owens directed the wedding and was at the piano. She played a medley of wedding musical selections, the impressive and beautiful wedding music, "Because" and "With This Ring I Wed" was sung by Mrs. Jean Keele.

Mrs. Frank Lyons, hostess to the day, greeted the friends at the wedding and the 300 guests at the 5 p.m. reception on the spacious lawn which provided a perfect setting for the occasion. A four-tiered wedding cake, entitled "bridal flowers" graced the center table on the lawn and was displayed under a green and white canopy. The wedding motif was carried out in the pink and blue floral arrangement of the two appointed boards from which the punch was served; nuts, mints and sandwiches were on tiered plates.

Hostesses assisting at the reception were: Johnnie Williams, Zenovia Allen, Jessie McDaniel, Thelma Banks, Mabel Calhoun, Octavia George, Vivian Strange, Grace Lewis, Ruth Johnson, Peggie Smith, Bernice Wilson, Ethel Howard, Sophronia Simpson, Azalea Jones, Elizabeth Green, Essie Tucker, Bertha Beck, Ethel Page, Lillian Bush, Rachel Lee, Fannie Ozier, Beatrice Kelley, Emma Greer, Effie Enox, Georgia Brown, Geneva Russell, Rhea Threadgill, Cherie Chrisien, Mattie Lewis, Gwendolyn Dyson and Susie Hawkins.

Mrs. Ruby Dudley from Victoria, Texas was the out-of-town guest.

The bride is formerly of San Antonio and is an English instructor at Jordan High School.

Links Annual Cotillion Ready for Hotel Statler

The Pacific Ballroom of the Statler Hotel will be the scene of the Third Charity Cotillion of the Los Angeles Chapter of the Links.

This year's affair will be held on Oct. 23 and will feature an evening of dining, dancing, and big name entertainment. This year's dinner dance promises to be the most spectacular of the Links' three affairs.

Cocktails will be followed by dinner at 9:00. Eighteen lovely young girls of our community are being carefully selected to serve as cotillionette, dancing a feature number for the entertainment of the many guests.

Invitations are being extended in September, and this charitable event is being very warmly received by friends in the community who have supported this organization in its other two cotillions.

The guest list is limited and tables will be reserved this year, each table seating ten persons.

The sum of $26,000 has been given to the NAACP by the National Links. Included in this sum was the life membership of the local chapter of Links, the first contributing chapter. These funds were raised at its first Charity Cotillion.

Bridge Pointers

By 'KENNY' SCOTT

All of us have read about the various coups, end plays, and intricate methods of playing hands which the experts are supposed to use all the time, but not too many of us have actually seen hands of this type in regular games. Of course the truth is that these hands come few and far between.

What makes a player an expert is the fact that he can recognize one when it does come and can take adavntage of it. Recently we were fortunate enough to play this hand, which illustrates one aspect of the method of play called dummy reversal.

	S. AQx H. A9xx D. 10Sxx C. A9
S. 10xx H. K10xx D. xxx C. xxx		S. Jxx H. Qxx D. Ax C. KJxxx
	S. Kxxx H. Jx D. KQJx C. Qxx

This hand could be played at three no-trump, but instead it happened to be played at diamonds. West led a small heart, dummy taking the ace. The object now is to trump hearts twice, thus holding the losers to a heart and a diamond if the spades break. At trick two dummy led a low diamond and East played ace and returned a low heart. The third heart South ruffed with the king of diamonds:

Led Trumps

He led the queen of diamonds and when both East and West followed, he knew there was only one more out. He led a spade to the ace, led the last heart and ruffed it with his last trump. Dummy was entered with the ace of clubs and the ten of diamonds picked up the last trump. The spade suit split and South was able to throw away dummy's nine of clubs on the thirteenth spade.

It is important for South to lead one round of trumps before he ruffs any hearts. This helps him get a line on the distribution. East should hold back on his ace because South might not have nerve enough to lead them again. This would upset his line of play because if whoever held the ace of trumps played it the second round and had another to lead back, South's reversal is ended. He will then lose a club trick even if the spades split, and if they don't, he might lose two club tricks.

South will be able to ruff hearts twice because he has no fear of an over ruff. He can do this safely after he knows the diamonds are divided three and two and dummy's ten will pick up the last one.

These hands don't come too often, but they are always nice to recognize, and nice to play.

Bridge classes meet as usual each Tuesday at the YWCA. They start at 7:30 p.m., and all are invited.

LOUIS JORDAN TYMPANY FIVE BACK BY DEMAND

In show business, the struggle is hard but success is sweet. Many a successful entertainer has been quick to forget his long, hard climb to the top. Not so Louis Jordan, the man who sings and swings the blues, who brings his orchestra to Billy Berg's 5-4 Ballroom, 5th and Broadway, this weekend Thursday, Friday and Saturday July 30, 31 and August 1. The singing, swinging maestro is ever mindful of his humble beginnings as a struggling musician in Brinkley, Arkansas. He knows, better than anyone, what a helping hand can mean to a newcomer.

Returned By Demand

The popular bandleader has always encouraged new song-writing talent. Seldom using material of established song-writers in his repertoire, Jordan

People and Places

BACKYARD PARTIES—Portia and Alonzo Harris tossed one for the members of the Merry Wives and it was out of this world. Eadward's San Bernardino ranch parties use to draw like "Who's Who" and now draw like "Who's What." South Park had a full house and not light. Val Verde had just the right number for an enjoyable outdoor evening.

MARIE COLE — inspiring, personable and pretty wife of Nat, dropped in on the Club Pigalle the other midsummer eve. Gerry Nicholas and Atty. Leo Branton were with her. Well, bet the charming lady was a bit dismayed when she and party joined hostess Alyce Keys, Leslie "Porgy and Bess" Scott, Joy (she is a looker) McCann and Chazz (Mr. Hollywood) Crawford and became an eavesdropper to one of Keyes and Crawford's famed discussions on the mores and demerits of showbiz and its disciples. The two raconteurs should never be taken too serious on these spots, cause they both speak with "tongue in cheek" and a sly wink in their voices. When questioned about the incident, Chazz vows that he has sworn off expressing views in gumbills, and from this moment on will remain as neutral as Spain.

JERRY BROUSSARD — upset the plush Beverly Hills mid-afternoon shoppers the other afternoon. Seems like Nabs mistook the fur salesman for a dealer in hot goods. Before he could produce credentials, a large mob had formed and when he finally cleared with the cops the mob had increased. Quick wit Broussard sized up the deal and took over the front window of a large Beverly Hills jewelry store and proceeded to give a flash and bring a discourse which in judged movie star George Raft a one-man fur demonstration of his own creations. As a result he is now doing business with some of the wealthiest ofays in the movie colony!

PIER SIX BRAWL — a well known bartender came out second best when his gal friend from Chicago tried him out for size the other a.m. in a Western Avenoo bistro. She is a six footer and he a five footer; he came out of the brawl second best!

DR. WALTER W. DAVIS—will share his smart W. Jefferson office with a newcomer named Dr. Arthur B. Burris. The young medic just completed his training tour!

CALVIN BOZE — noted musician, is flat on his back out at the Wadsworth Veterans hospital making it his fifth trip this year. Arthur Adams, a grand guy, is setting the stage for a big benefit because the kid's wife needs food for her three small ones! In the meantime you can drop Calvin a card with something tangible saying get well soon!

CHINA DOLL — is sporting a mink cap, a money bag looking coat and telling collectors to call her at his office. Which means she's in love!

BROOKLYN'S GIFT — is shapely Jeannie Adams and she is more exciting than the Dodgers ever dream of being!

BILL BOSTIC — is the reason for the growing mid-day trade at the Paradise. Manager Lawrence Sweetwine discovered he possessed an I.Q. over 190 so he put him to work behind the bar. Now he is featuring Dimitri Vodka and Orange Juice with a high I.Q. and the mob is going for it! In fact they are raving about the stuff!

DR. OVERSTREET GRAY — dapper Vernon Street dentist, was publicly acclaimed in the Oasis the other eve when he presided to catch Dinah Washington. The song stylist not only dedicated a number to him but she let the packed house know he did her beautiful bridge work!

BARBARA THOMPSON — an ebony, willowy, seal skinned, eye-catcher with European features and a rhythmic stroll is the figure that should interest Archie Savage, the noted teacher of interpretive dancers!

HARRY BELAFONTE — is a hit as a night club act but under arc lights operators report his acting won't get a nod from the Academy Award committee!

RUBY GOODWIN — noted novelist, will be happy to learn her book is being accepted in most of Europe's universities and libraries. She will be unhappy to note it's not even listed in our own Negro colleges!

JO BROOKS — must have goofed when Dinah Washington appeared on Larry Finlay's Strictly Informal show Sun eve. She came to sing and all she could do was sit because someone failed to have her music cleared. Dinah boiled. The Mona Lisa club jinxy really shouldn't be peeved at Dinah for failing to show at their dinner spread. The lady was very much indisposed. Ask her hubby!

MARY ANN BROWN—switchboard operator at the smart Hotel Watkins, will be changing her name to Ronald Miller shortly!

CHICO HAMILTON — international bongo favorite, has teamed with Joe Castro, piano stylist, to form a plush recording studio out Hollywood way!

BILL CRAWFORD'S praises are being shouted out Jefferson way which is why the Club Capri dinner crowd is increasing in number. The well known chef is back in business!

ELEANOR HAYLES — big bright eyed beauty, is getting more than rave notices as a model. In fact a brother from Oklahoma is trying to interest her in oil, cattle and other looted things!

JIMMY EDWARDS — ex guitarist, is now styling miladys wig from the swank Kathrine Stone Western Avenoo fry parlor!

HILLIARD PATTERSON'S — terrific session nightly on the 88s at Your Room is coming to the attention of the night club circuit and they are rating him excellent listening!

WHAT'S COOKING

BARBARA MOUNTS

If you are one of those who feel that a souffle is for the professional cook and an art difficult to achieve, then you should try this simple and easy to make Cheese and Ham Souffle.

2 cups fresh white bread crumbled into pea sized bits
2 cups scaled milk
⅔ cup sharp chedder cheese grated
½ teaspoon garlic salt
½ teaspoon dry mustard
Dash of pepper
2 tablespoons melted butter
2 teaspoons Worchestershire sauce
½ cup ground cooked ham
4 eggs separted

Pour scalded milk over crumbs, cheese, mustard and seasoning. Stir gently and add ham. Fold in beaten egg yolks and add butter. Beat the egg whites stiff but not dry; fold them lightly into the souffle! Pour into a buttered baking dish and set in a pan of hot water in a 350 degree oven. Bake until the souffle is well set and browned, about one hour. Serve as soon as possible. It will shrink a little if allowed to stand but may be reheated with good results.

Do you deny yourself the flavor of garlic because you're going out? Then do chew a sprig of parsley after eating garlic to sweeten the breath.

"There is no duty we so much underrate as the duty of being happy."

Remember when a child is taught to play with a few toys and put them away before taking out others, he or she is learning how to manage tools and cooking tins later on. Habits are important for everyone.

which turned out to be the music for the popular best selling record "Run Joe." The good doctor is recognized as an authority on West Indian music.

Stimulates Songwriters

Unlike many ork leaders who refuse to play tunes of unknown songwriters Jordan has always used their material whenever he has found it suitable to his style. He feels that these neophyte songsters provide new and fresh material enabling him to give his public variety with every appearance he makes. During one year, he listened to over 200 amateur tunes and selected 25 for use with his band.

Danny Kaye is about to sample a glass of soybean 'milk.' Dr. S. S. De, nutrition officer for the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations (FAO) in Bangkok, does the honors. The film comedy star has been touring the Far East as Ambassador-at-large for the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF). FAO and UNICEF have been working hand-in-hand in promoting soybean milk as a substitute for animal milk to overcome protein deficiencies in popular diets, especially in countries of the Far East.

American Vodka's Finest Representative

Duffield Distilling Corporation has been given an exclusive Southern California franchise for Great American Vodka, according to an announcement by Gilbert "Gil" Eckes, United States representative for GAV.

Well Known Head

Eckes, for many years Young Marner's leading salesman, points out that Great American Vodka has won more honors than any other vodka in the world—37 medal awards for highest quality in international competition. Eckes also explains that Great American is the only American vodka which voluntarily exceeds the minimum standards set by law and this, because of its superior quality and secret formula, pays an additional federal tax.

This, he adds, makes Great American the world's most expensive vodka to produce, although it is sold at competitive prices.

Vodka Drinkers Increase

Marshall Duffield, president of the Duffield Company, says that Great American definitely proves all vodka is not the same. His enthusiasm stems from the fact that GAV has been consistently imported for over 3 years and is almost the most discriminating vodka drinkers.

He also hails the new exciting red, white and blue and calls it "pure American." Duffield predicts significant consumer approval of the fact that Great American removes all foreign connotations from vodka.

The one who has accepted Christ is a new creation, and having become such he stands in need of enlightment from those who have been sent on this mission. He must be guided in his new experience. May we all keep this in mind that the ultimate aim of religious education is to help the individual in his own continuous reconstruction and readjustment of his experience, increasingly to understand, appreciate and participate in the Christian way of living fruitfully in this world.

Dept., Union Arrange for $2 Bite From Pay

City firemen were caught in a neat squeeze-play this week as union officials and Fire Department brass teamed up to force them to kickback part of their salary to pay for an "investigation" designed to "prove" that integration of personnel hinders the putting out of fires.

White firemen were asked to contribute $2 each to foot the bill for the survey. If they balked, they were given a "talking to" by their superiors.

Unanimously Endorsed

Negro firemen had to sit by while the union which is supposed to represent the workers passed a resolution paying glowing tribute to Fire Chief Alderson and pleading with the mayor and the fire commissioners to keep in office the man who has steadfastly refused to give colored firemen a square deal or treat them on a basis of equality with other firemen.

As if to compound the insult, the resolution, passed by the International Association of Fire Fighters Local No. 748 AFL, was unanimously endorsed by the central body of the AFL, the Central Labor Council.

While the AFL was thus doing everything in its power to prevent the resignation of the man who insists upon his "right" to discriminate, the Urban League and the Langston Law club were just as energetically backing the mayor and the commissioners in efforts to force Chief Alderson to comply with the law.

Don't Like Bite

White firemen telephoned the Eagle complaining about the $2 bite being taken out of their paychecks. When they entered the fire stations, they were asked to sign a commitment authorizing the city to deduct the money from their salary. Those who protested were "reasoned with" by battalion chiefs. Some still refused to sign.

Edward Cokely of Engine 35, who the Central Labor Council advised is the Fire Fighters union secretary, seemed annoyed when the Eagle called to get the union's version of what was happening. He denied that he is secretary, and had some nasty things to say about the Eagle. He said the paper misquoted statements.

Admits 'Undertakings'

Advised that the Eagle would be glad to make any correction if he would give us the specific story in which the alleged misquote occurred, he dropped the subject.

At first he dummied up, said plans haven't "jelled" yet. Informed that white firemen have protested the $2 kickback, he remarked that "no collection is being taken at the present time." Pressed for further comment, he finally admitted that "undertakings" are being entered into that money will be collected.

A committee is being formed, he said, to find out all the facts regarding integration, and added it will attempt to have those facts published.

Time Running Out

A thorough investigation could take a long time, of course. And Fire Chief Alder-

Police Accused of Whitewash Probe In Negro Beating

SAN FRANCISCO—"Police whitewash in an obvious attempt to cover up brutality and incompetency" in the Police Department.

This accusation was hurled at Police Chief Michael Gaffey Wednesday following his comment that his investigation of charges against two police officers of beating and kicking a Negro prisoner were "without substance."

Harrison Williams, 27, of 1026 Griffith street, filed a complaint through his attorney, Terry Francois, charging Officer Vincent Traina, 27, of 1328 Ninth Avenue, and an unidentified officer with manhandling him on the night of June 26.

Chief Gaffey replied that "a complete and exhaustive investigation of all the circumstances finds that the complaint is without substance."

Franklin Williams, secretary-counsel of the NAACP, countered: "This is the most obvious and worst example of police whitewash in an obvious attempt to cover up brutality and incompetency that I have ever seen.

"Any responsible Police Chief would at least have had the complainant interviewed.

"Since my arrival in San Francisco three years ago, we have received a number of complaints and heard many rumors of corruption, incompetency and brutality in the San Francisco Police Department. This 'whitewash' seems to give substance to at least some of those reports."

Resisted Search

Harrison Williams is an employee at the University of California Medical School. With him on the night of June 26 was William Steele 21, of 160 Harbor road. Both were charged with disturbing the peace, resisting an officer, and battery. Both await jury trial on the charges. Steele, however, was not beaten.

U. S. Railroads Defend Policy Of Segregation

WASHINGTON — Seven railroad companies last week freely admitted before the Interstate Commerce Commission that they segregate Negroes on trains crossing state lines.

They attempted to excuse the jim-crow practices with the twin excuse that the facilities are "equal," and that in separating the races they are merely complying with state laws.

Four Deny Charge

Four of the railroads acused denied that they separate Negroes and whites, despite testimony citing names, dates and places where the segregation occurred.

The hearing was held last Tuesday and Wednesday by the Interstate Commerce Commission on a complaint filed by the NAACP and 20 individuals, including one white man.

Several witnesses testified to the fact that they had been subjected to humiliation and embarrassment as a result of the railroads' continued practice of enforced segregation.

To File Briefs

Briefs on the hearings are to be filed with the ICC Oct. 15.

The railroads admitting segregation are the St. Louis-San Francisco Ry. Co., the Louisville and Nashville Ry. Co., the Santa Fe Railway System; the Atlantic Coast Line; the Kansas City Southern; the Gulf, Mobile and Ohio; the Southern Railway Co.; and the Richmond Terminal Co., which operates the waiting rooms and other facilities in the Broad Street Station in Richmond, Va.

Railroads denying segregation are the Texas and Pacific, the Missouri Pacific, the Sea Board Air Line and the Illinois Central.

The Union News Co., which operates a restaurant in the Broad Street Station at Richmond, was listed in the NAACP's original complaint with the Interstate Commerce Commission. It was dismissed.

Pepper Bandits Strike Again, Steal $7,000

The two pepper-throwing bandits who last July held up and robbed two Catholic ministers Wednesday morning attacked, partially blinded and robbed a vending machine collector of $7,000.

The two men, known to be Negroes, accosted John Gayton, 26, when he stopped his car at Venice Blvd. and Hoover street for a red signal. One of the bandits pulled open the door, the other threw pepper in his eyes.

Police have placed their names on the "Most Wanted" list of criminals in the state.

Gayton told police that, with his eyes smarting, he was pushed from the driver's seat, driven around, robbed and beaten, and then left on Overton street. When found, he was suffering from severe pain and was partially blinded from the stinging pepper.

An unidentified passer-by saw him sitting huddled up in the doorway of 1015 Overton street and called police, who took him to Georgia Street Receiving hospital where it was discovered that in addition to his other injuries, he had a hole in the top of his head caused by a sharp instrument.

Just a month ago two priests were set upon by bandits who police believe are the same who committed Wednesday's attack. Fathers John Gallagher and John Ward, of the St. Thomas Catholic church, 1321 S. Mariposa street, were robbed of $1931. The attackers had blinded the men by hurling stinging pepper into their eyes.

Police Officer Saves Victim From Flames

Suddenly awakened at 4 a.m. Tuesday morning by the crackling sound of flames, Police Officer James W. Herndon jumped out of bed and dashed out barefoot to the scene of the fire across the street.

Unmindful of danger, he kicked in a plate glass door and led the dazed and distracted occupant of 239 E. 28th St. to safety.

Officer Herndon, 32, of 226 E. 28th st., is attached to Newton Street Police Station.

This valiant officer, it is reported by Newton officials, sustained a deep 6-inch cut on his leg that will keep him from duty for some time. He was rushed to Georgia Street Receiving hospital where he was treated.

Lincoln Univ. Drops Color Bar

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo.—In a neat reversal of white schools dropping the color bar, Lincoln University this week threw its doors open to white students.

Since its foundation in 1879, Lincoln has been a strictly Negro institution.

Town Turns Out To Honor Worker

SANTA MONICA—It was a hot summer day like many that went before and many others that would follow. The sun was shining, growing in intensity with each passing hour. People rose as usual, drove or walked or rode the streetcar to work, stopped for their coffee or "coke" break, continued on until noon.

For the others it seemed just one more day. But not for James B. Maxwell, who had worked at the Clover Field for 22½ years, toting baggage, doing the hundreds of jobs that fell to the lot of a "mechanical handyman" as he described himself, helping people, befriending those who needed assistance. Beavers Again Heads Housing Authority of City

At the 16th annual meeting of the Commissioners of the Los Angeles City Housing Authority last Thursday, George A. Beavers, Jr. was re-elected chairman for the fiscal year commencing July 1, 1954 to June 30, 1955. Leo A. Vie was named vice-chairman for the same period.

Beavers, first appointed to the Commission in 1946, is chairman of the Board of the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company, president of the Los Angeles Urban League and a former director of the YMCA.

Leo A. Vie, member of the Commission since 1951, is secretary-treasurer of the Los Angeles Building Trades Council, AFL.

Other commissioners are Robert R. Clark, president of the Greater Los Angeles CIO Council; Robert W. Gilbert, local attorney; and Frank E. Pickett, business and civic leader.

Views Board Action as Vote Of Confidence

James Faustina whose name was cleared last year in a sensational court trial, was reinstated to his post as principal of the Willowbrook Grammer school when the School Board met on Monday. He will begin his new term on Aug. 9.

Faustina told the Eagle that it was with a "sense of deep humility" that he had received word of his reappointment. He said further that he regarded it as a "vote of confidence" from the community.

He was selected for the post after the Board had interviewed several available candidates. Atty. Erskine Ragland, Board member, stated that Faustina was chosen because he "was the best candidate" available.

Faustina, during the past year, has been teaching the 4th grade. For two years prior to that he was principal at Willowbrook, the post to which he has just been reappointed.

Towards the end of his previous term as school head a tense situation developed in the community with charges and counter-charges flying freely centering, in large part, around the allegation that school records had been removed illegally from the board rooms.

The dispute culminated in charges being placed against Faustina, and the case being tried in court. Faustina was cleared of any wrong doing, and has maintained great popularity in the community.

Church Group Condemns Bias

LONG BEACH — Segregation was condemned here Saturday by delegates to the 66th annual assembly of the Christian Churches of Southern California in sessions at the Long Beach Municipal auditorium.

The resolution called for ending discrimination in job opportunities, hotels, restaurants and other places of public gathering.

It stated that Christians are committed to unsegregated church membership by the teachings of Christ, and the New Testament.

Should Have Picked Better Place for Fight

He should have known better.

If you're going to beat up your former landlady, you shouldn't pick a place within ear-shot of a whole bevy of police.

But C. D. Treadgill was mad last Tuesday afternoon. Maybe it was the heat. Anyway, he went around to the rear door, kicked it in, and pounced upon 48-year-old Mrs. Georgia B. Scott.

First he began to choke her, but then he spied a floor mop and grabbed that and began beating her. When the mop handle broke, he hit her on the head with a chair. Then he started dragging her to the front of the house.

Mrs. Scott, blood running from a cut on the jaw and another one over the eye, began to scream lustily.

Police cocked an ear and came over on the double, a whole battalion of them. Mrs. Scott lives at 1351 Newton street, just across from the police station.

It was no time at all before they had Treadgill, whose latest address is 1429 Hooper street, in custody, and Mrs. Scott on her way to Georgia Street Receiving hospital.

Sue Santa Monica Motel For Shutting Door On Negroes

SANTA MONICA — Charging that they were refused accommodations on the basis of race and color at a local motel on June 24, several officials of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People filed suit here last Thursday in the Municipal Court seeking damages amounting to $2,500.

Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Domerque, owners and operators of Resthaven Motel, 2015 Lincoln Blvd., are charged in the suit with refusing to honor reservations made for the NAACP officers when they presented themselves to claim the lodgings and the Domerques then learned that they were Negroes.

The NAACP officials, all of San Francisco, were enroute to Dallas, Texas, where they attended the annual convention of the organization. The plaintiffs are Attorney Joseph G. Kennedy, his wife and daughter, Miss Jane Bosfield and Lester P. Bailey.

Atty. Kennedy is president of the Northern California Area Conference of NAACP, a member of the west coast NAACP Legal Redress Committee and for several years chairman of Region One's delegations to the national convention. Miss Bosfield is secretary of the San Francisco Branch NAACP. Bailey is field secretary for the west coast NAACP.

Frank Barnes, former president of the Santa Monica NAACP and presently a member of the local board of directors, is also named as a plaintiff in the suit. Barnes made the reservations for Atty. Kennedy and family, Miss Bosfield and Bailey.

E. G. Allen, local NAACP president, stated that following a special meeting of his board, the Santa Monica Branch decided to sponsor the suit.

"This city has won the acclaim of our organization due to its lack of racial bias in restaurants, hotels and places of recreation," Allen declared.

"The owners and operators of Resthaven Motel are giving Santa Monica a black eye. This organization will pursue the matter with all vigor to eliminate this blot from our city where fair treatment of all persons in places of public accommodations is generally the rule," Allen concluded.

The local NAACP discussed the filing of the suit at its regular meeting Sunday night at the Crescent Bay Masonic Lodge, 1720 Broadway. The law firm of Flourney, Carter and Woods has been retained by the NAACP and the plaintiffs.

Town Turns Out to Honor Retiring Airport Worker

years, and he'd never missed a day.

Long, Long Ago

For Maxwell, who had just turned 70, it was a nostalgic day, a day on which his schooling at Fisk University in Nashville and Berea College in Kentucky seemed long, long ago.

Three score years and 10. That's retiring age for those who work at Clover Field, it was Maxwell's last day. A little preoccupied, perhaps, with his own thoughts, he failed to sense a whisper of excitement that quivered through the heat.

Mounting Excitement

As the day wound to its close, the excitement mounted. Maxwell prepared to say his final goodbyes.

Then it happened. All those who had worked with him through the years and had learned to love him had banded together to make this, his final day at the field, one of the most memorable of his life.

Quietly, with the stealth of secret agents, they had planned a giant surprise dinner for Maxwell, at Adams Rib, on Wilshire.

Everyone was there. Maxwell, with his wife Anne by his side, was the center of 110 guests who had come to honor him. Mayor Tom McDermott was there to pay tribute to James Maxwell. The manager of the airport, Vern Tyler, was there.

Tyler's secretary, Marie Kuehner, was one of those who had masterminded the party, along with Norman Warren from Lear Inc., airplane manufacturers.

There were letters, too, and telegrams, from others who were out of the city, from Assistant City Manager Bundy, from friends in Chicago, Denver and Florida.

As a going away gift, Maxwell's fellow workers had chipped in to buy him a gold St. Christopher medal. And other presents—men's presents—the kind of things that a man with a little leisure would be sure to enjoy, like cigars and tobacco and a pipe, and fishing tools and such.

Woman with Tousled Hair

Maxwell now has one more memory to add to his many others, from the time he got his first "temporary" job at the bean patch called Clover Field. His scrapbooks are filled with pictures of those he has known —A man named Lindbergh and his wife, the former Anne Morrow. A newspaper publisher called William Randolph Hearst. A quiet young woman with far-seeing eyes and tousled hair who made one of her last stops at Clover Field before the world mourned the unfinished flight of Amelia Earhart.

Maxwell was born July 4, 1884 in Kentucky. After finishing college, he taught school for several years, as did his wife, Anne. In 1920 he and his family came to Santa Monica, where he helped found the Santa Monica branch of the NAACP, of which he was president for seven years.

New Interests

To this interest in recent times he has added several others, including ardent work at the West Los Angeles Veterans hospital where he is a volunteer worker with the National Catholic Social Service.

Another of his consuming interests centers around the lives of his five children, one of whom is in the Los Angeles Police department, another in the U.S. Postal Service, one at Douglas Aircraft, and still another in the Santa Monica Board of Education.

July 29, 1954. Just another hot summer day like those that went before and those that have followed. Well maybe.... Better ask James Maxwell.

Granger Blasts Navy; Resigns Consulting Post

Lester B. Granger, executive director of the National Urban League, last week resigned as special consultant to the Secretary of the Navy. The action was approved by the league's Board of Trustees.

Granger accepted the Navy post in September, 1953, to help correct race differentials among Navy personnel.

Granger's letter of resignation, addressed to Secretary Charles S. Thomas, asked that he be relieved of his assignment in view of the fact that only a "negligible" demand had been made upon his time during nine months and that "there appears to be no serious recognition of urgency in this matter on the part of the key officials responsible for evaluating and expediting any recommendations" he might make.

Agreeing that some important changes had been made, such as the elimination of segregated facilities for Negro employees in southern Navy yards, the abolishing of separate recruiting for stewards and some broadening of assignments of Negro commissioned officers, Granger nevertheless declared that these changes "are not sufficiently encouraging or direct to demand the services of a special consultant."

Accompanying the letter was a copy of a memorandum of Jan. 7 listing four important problems calling for special action by the Secretary of the Navy. Chief among these was the continuation of the Stewards' Branch as "the heaviest concentration of Negro personnel in the Navy" and practically an "all Negro personnel concentration."

The memorandum referred to frequent allegations that inexperienced Negro recruits were tricked into choosing stewards' service while white recruits who might be interested were discouraged.

Other allegations are that young Negroes with better-than-average training and experience before their Navy induction have been kept in the Stewards' Branch with "suspicion that arbitrary influences prevent their transfer."

Granger urged that the Stewards' Branch be abolished and that it be merged with the Commissary Branch. This would make it possible for white and colored recruits to be assigned together as stewards, cooks and bakers.

Other problems referred to in the memorandum include conditions of civilian employment and the housing and training of the families of Negro civilian employees, the training and assignment of Negro officer personnel and the development of a closer "public relations contact" by the Navy Department and the representative Negro public.

Judge Disbars 'Stocking Cap' Case Lawyer

Atty. Morris Lavine, well known in the Negro community of Los Angeles for his persistent though unsuccessful attempt to save Dewey Adamson in the "stocking cap murder case," was in serious trouble with the law this week.

U.S. Judge William C. Mathes, in an almost unprecedented action, ordered Lavine disbarred as a result of a bankruptcy proceeding which was before the court. The judge accused Lavine of "willful and deliberate fraud" and "abuse of the injunctive processes of the court," in pursuing the case for his client.

Lavine is the attorney who took the Adamson plea to the Supreme Court twice in a desperate effort to keep him from San Quentin's gas chamber.

Adamson, who up to the very moment of his death proclaimed his innocence, was convicted of the murder of a white woman by an all-white jury. One of the bits of "evidence" which apparently swayed the jury was the finding of the top of a woman's stocking in Adamson's room. The jury apparently attached some sinister meaning to the "find." It was never explained to them that a stocking top is commonly used by men in the daily grooming of their hair.

Firemen Must Contribute To Help Keep Jim Crow son has just four weeks to come up with recommendations to eliminate segregation.

The Central Labor Council spokesmen denied emphatically that the council had taken any action dealing with "integration as such."

The resolution passed by the Fire Fighters and endorsed by the council, however, ended with the resolve that this "council urge the Honorable Mayor and the Los Angeles Fire Commission to take no action which will deprive the City of Los Angeles of the services of an outstanding and world recognized fire administrator and thereby reduce the efficiency and the present high standard of fire service now enjoyed by this community."

Insult and Affront

The Urban League branded Alderson's attitude an "insult to the intelligence of any fair-minded American." The Fire Chief's recommendations, said the League, "plainly provide for continuation of the obsolete racial policy which Chief Alderson has sponsored throughout the years."

The Langston Law club said Alderson's approach is an "affront to the dignity of every person of a minority group;" asserted his refusal to integrate Negroes in the department "can be interpreted in no other way than a pledge of continued defiance," and strongly condemned his actions.

Appeals to City Council

It further resolved that "the Board of Fire Commissioners be asked to make clear in no mistakable language that its order heretofore given to the Chief Engineer was an order that he submit a plan of integration in which race was not a factor, and that the policy of said Fire Commission be declared as opposed to any assignment of personnel in which race plays any part whatsoever."

The resolution also asked that the City Council be "urged to endorse the premise that in the administration of the various functions of the City of Los Angeles, considerations based on race are improper; that all executives, officers and employees of the City of Los Angeles be so instructed; and that the said City Council go on record as censuring the Chief Engineer for his patent failure to accord Negro personnel under him equality of opportunity with other personnel, and ask that the Chief Engineer, for the best welfare of the City of Los Angeles, and in the finest tradition of American democracy, forthwith order integration of all races within the Los Angeles Fire Department."

Bishop Jordan Wins Entry to South Africa

Gains Visa for Four Months in Malan's Realm

Bishop Frederick C. Jordan of the A.M.E. church has just won an important victory over the arch-reactionary government of South Africa which, after years of stubborn refusal, has finally granted him a visa permitting him to remain in Malan's country for a period of four months.

The electrifying news was received here as the prelate was preparing to leave Los Angeles for Evanston, Ill., where he will attend the National Council of Churches. The information was contained in a letter from the committe which has interceded for the church with the Secretary of the Interior at Pretoria, South Africa.

To Leave In October

The Rev. Jordan, together with Mrs. Jordan, plan to leave New York Oct. 29 for Capetown. He had been planning to leave for Southern Rhodesia, South Africa's northern neighbor, in September. He plans to divide his period of residence between October and the General Conference of the church in May, 1956, commuting between Capetown and Rhodesia.

Following the Evanston meeting, Bishop Jordan will proceed to New York to greet his protege, Julius Chaballa, Rhodesian student, whom he will escort back to Los Angeles where Chaballa will enter medical school.

Long Battle

Ever since he was assigned the difficult task of heading two African districts, the prelate has been battling in vain to enter South Africa so that he can carry on his church duties. Last year he went to Southern Rhodesia in the hope that on-the-spot negotiations might prove more effective than communication by letter.

He had to return empty handed, but the wheels set in motion while he was there have finally resulted in at least partial success.

The Rev. Jordan, who pastored the First AME church at 8th and Towne before becoming the minister at Ward AME, was elected to the Bishopric at the General Conference in Chicago, May, 1952.

questioned him and his friend about the use of fireworks and demanded that Williams submit to a search. When Williams refused unless first taken to a police station, Traina struck him in the face and head with his fist. Police, however, claim that Williams was abusive and struck Traina.

The men were then taken to Park Station where, Williams claims, they were cursed, and he was again severely beaten about the face and back.

Police Urged to Block Mixed Study

JACKSON, Miss. — Fielding Wright, former governor of Mississippi and 1948 vice-presidential candidate on the States' Rights ticket, was back at his old stand this week trying to bolster the white supremacists.

He is supporting a move to get Gov. Hugh White to use the state's "police power" to prevent the mixing of the races.

Among the bills being considered at a special session of the legislature in September is one calling for a Constitutional amendment giving the Legislature authority to abolish the public school system. Naturally, Wright backs the bill.

The show started with exhibitions at 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. Esnold Ruffin officially welcomed guests and participants. One of the highlights of the convention was the glittering style show of hair fashions presented by Mrs. Dorothy Gay, Lillian Giles and Gene Swain.

Decoration of the rooms was handled by Roy C. Lee.

Reports Stir Search for Kidnaped Tot

CHICAGO, Ill.—Impetus was given this week to the search for two-year-old Renee Hines who was kidnaped almost three months ago on May 15 as she played in front of her home, 2151 State street.

Reports reached here a few days ago that the toddler was seen in a nearby state. Detectives, working full time on the case, were investigating these new reports.

Some 10,000 posters giving a description of Renee have been posted over a wide territory. Disc jockeys, radio stations, ministers and newspapers have given publicity to the search.

The child's father, John Hines, 26, army veteran, has taken a leave of absence from his job as food inspector with the Chicago Board of Health to devote full time to the search.

The mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Hines, busies herself caring for the couple's four other small children.

TRIBUTE PAID BELOVED MARY CHURCH TERRELL

NEW YORK—The NAACP was one of a host of organizations which paid tribute to Mrs. Mary Church Terrell of Washington, D. C., noted women's leader, who died last week at the age of 90.

In a telegram addressed to Mrs. Terrell's daughter, Mrs. Phyllis Langston of Washington, Roy Wilkins, administrator of the NAACP declared that Mrs. Terrell, "in her tireless crusade for equality, justice and true democracy over nearly a century . . . gave inspiration and leadership not only to members of her racial group, but to all Americans who love our country and support its ideals."

Mrs. Terrell, who died in Annapolis, Md., vigorously crusaded for equal rights for women and for members of minority races. For many years she advocated these rights from lecture platforms, and in recent years she was active in the Congress of Racial Equality in the nation's capital. For thousands of Americans the name of Mrs. Terrell was synonymous with militancy and zeal in the advocacy of civil and political rights for women, and racial equality under the law.

Mrs. Terrell received wide publicity when, at the age of 55, she applied for membership in the Washington, D.C., branch of the American Association of University Women, and was rejected because of her race. The succeeding controversy resulted in a revision of the Association's by-laws, making an academic degree the only qualification for membership. Mrs. Terrell led her graduating class at Oberlin College.

During the course of her career, Mrs. Terrell served as a member of the Board of Education of the District of Columbia, president of the National Association of Colored Women, and president of the South West Community House in Washington. She studied in Europe, and attended a number of international conferences on the Continent and in Britain, including the International Congress of Women in Berlin in 1904, the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom in Zurich in 1919, and the World Fellowship of Faiths in London in 1937.

Kearny P.O. Set to Open At New Site

The new Kearny postal station of the Los Angeles Post Office, 1211 E. Vernon avenue, between Central and Hooper avenues, will open for business Wednesday, Aug. 18 at 8 a.m.

An opening ceremony, to which the public is invited, will be held Friday evening, Aug. 13, at 8 p.m. at this location.

A 66-foot loading dock in the rear of the building will facilitate the handling of mail, and additional lock boxes have been installed for the convenience of Kearny patrons.

"The modern station will provide much needed extra space and will be a welcome addition to the community," Olesen said. He added that the new structure for Kearny station is part of a modernization and expansion program in the Los Angeles Post Office, designed to keep pace with the growth of the city.

How much are Standard's owners paid?

75 years ago one of the companies from which Standard Oil Company of California grew was formed by five men. In those days smaller communities and simpler needs could be served by concerns owned by one man or a small group. They furnished all the money—they kept all the profit, too. But the West grew tremendously, and we've grown up with the West.

Today, no one man could pay for all the oil fields, refineries, and other equipment Standard needs to serve you well. These investments are shared among Standard's 112,000 owners. About 97% of these shareholders are private individuals like you—including 12,000 Standard employees, our largest single group of owners. In addition, 293 schools and universities are owners of Standard, along with 224 churches and religious organizations, 165 hospitals and medical groups, and 1889 small and large businesses. These are our sole proprietors—we are neither owned nor controlled by any of the Standard companies in the East. Like the proprietors of any company, these shareholders receive the profits from their business. Each dollar they have in Standard is currently earning approximately 10¢ a year. Only about 5¢ of this is paid to them in cash. The remainder is plowed back into the business to bring you even better products and services . . . to stay ahead of competition. By planning ahead this way, Standard grows with the West, keeps pace with your needs.

Alderson's New Pals

The Fire Fighters Local of the American Federation of Labor has betrayed the principles of labor by its open and unashamed support of Jim Crow in the Los Angeles Fire Department.

Ever since its rise in the nineteenth century the labor movement has proclaimed its opposition to segregation and discrimination. For the past three decades labor has struggled valiantly to put those principles into practice.

The local A.F. of L. unions have been in the forefront of the nationwide drive to halt discrimination against workmen because of race, creed or color. We hope that the Central Labor Council will rebuke the firemen for their action.

Chief John H. Alderson, with his back to the wall in his efforts to keep racial segregation in his Department, was quick to seize on the union's proffer of help.

The union has proposed, and Alderson has accepted, a proposal for a payroll deduction from all firemen for a "survey" of other fire departments througout the United States to see how widespread integration is and how well it is working. This is an obvious effort to "prove" that segregation is desirable.

At the outset we think that the city has no business, and no right, to offer left-handed support to Jim Crow by agreeing to this payroll deduction plan. We hope it will not do so.

In the next place, it is a well known fact that racial segregation is the rule in American fire departments. We need no survey to establish that fact.

We would be more than surprised if these segregated outfits didn't vote that segregation was desirable. We are just as sure that a poll of school boards which maintained Jim Crow schools would have yielded a vote in favor of school segregation. The issue is not whether practitioners of segregation believe in segregation but whether or not segregation of civil service employes squares with constitutional requirements and with our democratic way of life.

The answers to those two relevant questions are not hard to find. Whenever the Supreme Court has spoken in the past two decades on specific issues it has held that racial segregation does not meet the requirements of the Fourteenth Amendment forbidding denial of equal protection of the law and requiring due process of law.

Whenever men have honestly wrestled with their consciences on the issue of segregation they have come up with the answer that Jim Crow weakens the fabric of democracy and, to quote Vice President Nixon, that it hurts us in our foreign relations and in our attempts to persuade the world that democracy offers a good way of life.

Los Angeles has long borne an excellent reputation as a city where all men are treated equally and where race and color have been disregarded in law enforcement and in men's relations with government.

Los Angeles is disgraced by Fire Department segregation. The labor movement has been disgraced by the action of a handful of little men who have perverted and betrayed the principles of organized labor.

Great Lady, Great American

Mary Church Terrell was a great lady and a great American.

The America she left when she died was a vastly different America than the one into which she was born ninety years ago.

No man can measure the degree to which she was responsible for the changes that came over her native land. All of us can agree that as an individual she contributed a great deal.

Typical of Mary Church Terrel was the fact that the last great battle of her life was the one which she inspired against segregation in Washington, D.C.

All kinds of organizations and politicians of all stripes are claiming credit for breaking the back of Jim Crow in the nation's capital.

The fact is that it was 86-year-old Mary Church Terrel who had the courage to demand service in a restaurant at which she knew she was going to be refused.

The indomitable lady then demanded that the restaurant be prosecuted for violating an 1872 statute which everybody said was no longer in force.

She lived long enough to see the United States Supreme Court declare that the law was in full force and effect and she saw Jim Crow disappear at hotels, restaurants, theaters and other places of public accommodation in her beloved city.

All her life she had been engaged in similar battles particularly among women's groups and clubs. She hated injustice; she spurned compromise; she kept her eye fixed on the equality of mankind.

The better America she left is a monument to her faith and courage.

Building New Slums

The Board of Supervisors has taken the correct stand with its determination that publicly owned temporary war housing that will be abandoned next year shall be demolished, rather than sold for removal elsewhere.

It is unfortunate that the city did not take a similar stand in reference to housing removed from the old Jordan Downs project.

That housing was sold to private speculators who have been moving it to various locations throughout the city. The housing is being painted up and a few minor repairs have been made to give the appearances of conformity with present city building codes.

The appearance belies the reality. Within a few years this jerry-built housing will have deteriorated to such an extent that it will be slum housing pure and simple.

Residents of South Los Angeles are on sound ground in opposing the location of this war housing near good residential districts. We hope that some way can be found to prevent this destruction of property values.

Sheriff Shows The Way

Sheriff Eugene Biscailuz is to be congratulated for instituting a series of reforms in his Department that are designed to wipe out the last vestiges of differential treatment because of race.

His action is a refreshing example of the manner in which reasonable men can iron out a situation of this kind when there is goodwill on both sides. In the case of the sheriff's department the NAACP and the officials involved simply sat down together, considered the complaints, and fashioned a policy that, to quote those involved, "will result in the integration of colored personnel in all branches of departmental activity."

That is the American Way. We would like to recommend it to other officials, particularly Fire Chief John H. Alderson. Pursued to its conclusion, the program instituted in the sheriff's department will allay racial strife and will result in giving substance to the American dream of equality of all men.

Battleaxe and Bread

By Lester B. Granger

Strange as it may seem, visitors can often tell you more about civil rights conditions in your own state than those who have lived there for a number of years. It's really not so strange either, because homestaters are apt to take conditions for granted, pretty much on the basis of their own personal experiences. Those of use who have lived in a city or state for a long period have generally established fairly well-set routines of living and contact. We have our favorite restaurants and theaters; we forget that we frequently chose them in the first place because we felt most "welcome" there. When we want something out of the ordinary, or when we want to make a protest over not getting what we should have, we know where to go to get help or register our protest.

Lester Granger

Not so with the visitor, who comes in cold and raw—and frequently finds conditions very cold and very raw, indeed. When he is recognized as a stranger—and dark of skin—some of the very services which we home-staters receive because the law says that we must, are withheld with brazen effrontery. The proprietors who practice such discrimination do so for two reasons: the visitors are assumed not to know their rights; even when they do, they are apt to leave for home without going through the trouble of a law-suit.

Take Pennsylvania

Take Pennsylvania, for instance, which is supposed to be pretty civilized in the matter of civil rights. Pennsylvania's Governor Fine makes fine (what a pun!) public statements on civil rights. So does its Senator Duff. Most Philadelphians whom I know would indignantly resent any insinuation that theirs is a Jim Crow state. But two young Minnesotans of my acquaintanceship could tell them the real facts of life about the interior of that state, in the vicinity of Harrisburg.

Jerome Kaplan, who is secretary to Minnesota's Commission on the Aging, and Thomas Talley, who is executive of the St. Paul Urban League, were traveling together by auto from Minnesota to Atlantic City. They turned off the Pennsylvania Turnpike at night to find lodging in the vicinity of Harrisburg. They were turned down at the Hotel Harrisburg, which is an AAA-aproved motel. "No room," the clerk said, but a few minutes later, when Kaplan called by phone, he was assured that there were plenty of available beds.

At several restaurants, the travelers were refused service, being told at one "You've had enough." This, of course, is the familiar prelude to the courtroom alibi that service was refused because the would-be customers were "drunk and disorderly."

Call a Cop

Messrs. Talley and Kaplan then decided to call upon the police. They went to police headquarters, directly across from the State Capitol. The police lieutenant in charge was hostile, when not indifferent. He justified the refusal of service by declaring, "This is the pattern here." When the travellers referred to their understanding of the state's civil rights law he snarled, "Are you trying to start trouble here?" He refused to give his name; when the officer on duty at the door was asked for the information, he turned his back and walked away. That's Harrisburg—and unless state action is taken to correct it, that's Pennsylvania as well.

So the travellers wrote a letter to governor Fine, on May 27. They got a form letter regretting that the Governor was out of town. A month later, still no answer to their complaint—neither from the Governor, nor from the Mayor of Harrisburg, nor from that city's Chief of Police. The last communication was sent to Senator James Duff, who also has some influence in the state and who makes moving speeches on Lincoln's birthday about the dignity of man.

This happened in Pennsylvania, but it could have happened in New York or California or in any one of two dozen states that brag of civil rights codes. Every state has its ugly pockets of resistance against the march of progress. They remain mainly because home folks avoid them and visitors can't stick around long enough to clean them up. But the clean-up job is really ours, and we can't consider ourselves clean until we do our job.

Pure and Simple

By L. F. Palmer Jr.

It was a hot summer day last year when I was a crime reporter for a Chicago newspaper. My editor called me and told me to grab a photographer and to interview Donald Howard at Trumbull Park.

My heart leaped at the words, "Trumbull Park." For several days it had been the scene of wild racial disturbances and hundreds of policemen—about 1200 to be exact— were needed to keep order at this federally-owned housing project. All because Donald Howard and his family, Negroes, had moved in.

The lensman and I received clearance from police headquarters to enter the beseiged housing project. When we approached the vicinity, it looked like the kind of stake-out that would make Dragnet's Sergeant Friday green with envy.

Sentry After Sentry

We drove past sentry after sentry, showed credential after credential. We were escorted to the temporary police headquarters which had been established in a vacant apartment. There we were given final permission to enter the Howard apartment.

I cannot describe in a few words what we found. As I recall, it took me hundreds of hard-to-find words to try to capture the drama, the tragedy of a man imprisoned for weeks with his family, cut off from all outside contacts except for a phone which stayed off the hook to keep silent the slurring words of bigoted cranks.

Suffice it to say, what we found was ugly. Nasty. Unbelievable.

Year Later

That was a year ago, mind you. Just a few minutes ago, I picked up a newspaper and saw that 1200 policemen were on duty at Trumbull Park because some Negroes who had later moved in wanted to play a game of ball. Instead of umpires, policemen ringed the field. Not 12 policemen but 1200 policemen. Not in Jackson, Miss., but in Chicago, Chicago, where the crime rate is appalling largely because there are not enough policemen to go around.

I know, I've covered crime in Chicago.

This need for such a huge force of law enforcing officers to "attend" a ball game has not been sporadic at Trumbull Park. For a solid year, a fantastically large percentage of Chicago's policemen have been nailed down to one spot.

Nobody — no, nobody — has had the guts to put an end to this foolishness. There have been the usual meetings and protests but Trumbull Park remains the symbol of America's attitude toward the Negro.

How About Los Angeles?

Could this have happened in Los Angeles? If it had happened in L.A., would it have dragged on and on and would there still be citizens wondering when it was going to end?

Is Los Angeles doing anything NOW to see to it that there could be no Trumbull Park in its future? Does the fact that Trumbull Park is way across the nation—in Chicago—make it too remote to stir something within YOU, something revolting, something belligerent?

Food for thought?

A full nine-course meal, I'd say.

YOUR CHILD'S READING TODAY

by Josette Frank

An authority on children's reading has written a guide for parents' worries about children who read too much, or too little, or too slowly, or not at all. Unlike some other writers on this subject, Josette Frank does not decry the influence of the radio, movies, comics and TV. She gives common sense suggestions on how these media can be used to broaden the child's horizons and stimulate an interest in books. There are chapters on special needs of children, the classics, and reading and children's emotions. Included are carefully chosen book lists for different age levels.

Loren Miller says . . .

The Next Issue

The next great battle against racial segregation and discrimination in America is shaping up now.

It is the fight against government aid, direct or indirect, to builders and developers who exclude Negroes and members of other minorities from housing developments.

Los Angeles is vitally interested in that fight.

It has to be because residential segregation in this city is growing by leaps and bounds.

The time is not far distant when there will be a solid black belt extending across Los Angeles from Alameda to La Brea street and from Santa Barbara to Washington blvd.

Start at Alameda and drive west to La Brea. Note how the old east side and the west side Negro populations are meeting. In all that distance you will hardly pass a block in which Negroes do not live and in which the white population is not declining.

The next day start at Washington boulevard and drive south on Western to Santa Barbara. Western, you will see, is a "Negro street".

Growing Black Belt

Criss cross through the district between Santa Barbara and Washington and between Alameda and La Brea. See how many blocks you will find where the Negro population is growing and the white population is declining.

Back of this growth of the Negro population in the center of this city is the fact that Negroes are excluded from the great new housing developments that encircle Los Angeles.

Take a look at that new housing and you will find that almost without exception it was built with the aid of FHA insured loans.

FHA is a government agency. It does not lend money itself.

What it does do is to guarantee the money lender against loss if the home builder defaults on his loan.

Your Money

Sift it all down and these FHA guarantees are made possible through government pledge of public funds—public funds that come from all of the people without distinction as to race.

You can't escape the plain, simple fact that government is lending aid to residential segregation.

Get residential segregation and you get "Negro" schools, and public facilities of all kinds since people must use the facility nearest their homes.

Government has refused to act in this matter on the specious plea that the discrimination is the work of the private builder with which it is powerless to interfere.

Sheer Poppy Cork

That is nonsense.

FHA lays down all sorts of requirements which builders must meet.

It requires this many feet of floor space, that kind of yard space and another kind of construction. The builder simply must comply or he cannot get the loan insurance that he must have in order to build.

FHA has the power to require that no builder or developer can get loan insurance unless he covenants with it that he will not discriminate in the sale or rental of homes. Such a promise could be enforced in the courts if necessary.

President Eisenhower said early in his term that "wherever the federal government is clearly involved, there is no place for any form of discrimination, segregation or restriction based solely upon race."

The federal government is involved when FHA insured loans are made. There is discrimination and segregation based solely upon race when Negroes are excluded from sale or rental housing made possible through FHA insured loans.

This is going to be a tough battle against intrenched real estate interests, powerful money lending institutions, and selfish and shortsighted builders.

It is time that we began girding ourselves for that battle.

One Man's Opinion

By LEON STEWARD

This is the story of a splendid type of man in the professional life of the community. Indeed, he is a doctor. To the surprise of no one who is acquainted with this person, his name is Dr. Henry A. McPherson.

It is interesting to observe a person who has been here for some ten years and wonder just what makes him different from so many of his compatriots, and then have the opportunity to ask him the revealing questions.

Leon Steward

His dad was a Presbyterian minister and his mother a school teacher. He was born and raised in Camden, Ark. Impressed by the town doctor, young Henry had the neighboring children calling him "doctor" at a young age.

Ministry or Medicine?

Of course the father would have liked for his son to follow in his steps. He might have, so the story goes. He played football in high school and might have sung in the glee club there had they had one at the time. "I won a scholarship to Biddle College, but chose to go to Lincoln University, Penn., or I really might have been a minister after all," declared the doctor.

In college he sang in the glee club, but there was too much "skullduggery" in the realm of football during his day, he said. Having finished high school at 15, young Henry McPherson took time out to earn a bit of money for tuition while his grades were being transferred. He also worked to get money for his medical studies at Howard University from which he graduated in 1933.

He came to Los Angeles directly, arriving in the midst of the economic depression and finding office space at 3315 S. Central avenue, where he has been ever since.

Kind Cooperation

His start in his new found profession might have been too bad for a young man launching a profession in the midst of depression, had it not been for the kind cooperation of Drs. Henry Wallace, Leonard Stovall and T. W. Kyle. He had known Dr. Wallace during his high school days. His step mother, Mrs. Sarah Alexander McPherson, permited him to live with her.

Dr. McPherson

The young doctor stated that he joined Westminster Presbyterian Church at this very early part of his career, and soon became a trustee of the church. In 1941 he was ordained an elder.

It was at an early date that the young doctor found a young woman whom he wished to share the home he expected to establish and on July 11, 1939 he was married to a native daughter, Miss Marjorie E. Bright at her Wesley Methodist Church. On the eleventh of each month since then he has given her a token in celebration of his good fortune.

Active in Profession

In 1937 the young doctor joined the L. A. Medical Association and the outside medical relief at the County Hospital. Five years ago he joined the Temple Hospital Staff. " I can count the number of medical meetings I have missed attending in 20 years," said Dr. McPherson.

The doctor volunteered for medical service during the second world war and served with the 761 Tank Battallion as Captain. Before the war he was stationed at Jefferson High at an outdoor health casualty station.

Recently Elder McPherson was commissioned from L. A. to attend the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church USA at Detroit. He is also the reading clerk at his church. He was president of the Medical, Dental and Pharmaceutical Assn., 1942, '43, '46 and '47, and president of the Charles Drew Medical Society in 1950.

Although the good doctor and his wife are seen at almost every worthwhile program in the community we have a hunch that Henry A. McPherson Jr., 10, is a very special person in the lives of both Dr. and Mrs. McPherson.

Letters To the Editor

To the Editor:

I enjoyed every minute last Thursday night, Aug. 2, at the Second Baptist Church, listening to Atty. Archibald Carey, Jr. of Chicago. I don't think anyone gets tired of hearing such a wonderful speaker as Atty. Carey.

I heard him when he spoke at UCLA last year. The meeting should by all means, have packed the house. The NAACP and the Morehouse Alumni are both doing great work.

I am proud of the group of attorneys who are doing this work. I am glad we have such men as Dr. H. C. Hudson, Atty Loren Miller, Dr. E. I. Robinson and others. I took out my subscription to the Eagle last week.

Last night I went to the opening of the Turnabout Theater. I heard Miss Gilda Gray sing two of my old friend's songs, W. C. Handy, the "Beale Street" and the "St. Louis Blues." She received a big hand of applause. I am sending Mr. Handy one of the programs. I saw him with Miss Gray on "This is your Life." That was the first time I had seen Miss Gray in years when I saw her on TV. I was at the Hill Street Theater when she made her last appearance with her show here back in 1930 or 1931.

The face of Miss Gray faded from the people around the world. After many years had passed I read about her law suit against Columbia Studios. I saved several clippings out of the newspaper about her. I did not know then that she had been ill. Seeing her on TV was true to life. After she lost her fame and fortune her friends soon forgot her. But she still had some friends, and the old show world should congratulate a women who went through so much, and is now on her way back in show business like Gloria Swanson.

After the show, I went in the rear show room of the theater. In the theater I saw the name of Butterfly McQueen and Nellie Lutcher, both colored. I saw many stars of silent films. I saw the Duncan sisters. I did not see the pictures of Will Rogers, Sr., nor Doug Fairbanks, Sr., nor Mary Pickford, nor the Costello sisters, Helen and Dolores, the Bennett sisters, Constance and Joan, nor the Talmadges, Constance and Norma. Richard Bennett was a fine actor, and he helped some colored actors on their way. On the Sunset strip I saw the name of Sophie Tucker and Eartha Kitt. I saw Miss Gray's picture when she was a star in 1920.

by Daphne du Maurier

Daphne du Maurier, no slouch at portraying such enigmatic figures as Rebecca, found she need only dip into her own ancestry to come up with one of the most fascinating females she has ever written about. In a gay, wicked century, Mary Anne played a gay and wicked role, consorting with royalty, profiting by her connections in the sale of army commissions, and living life to the hilt, during her days of wealth, her days of disillusionment, her days of final exile.

Hollywood Stars Get Early Easter; They Meet San Diego

Easter comes to Hollywood in August!

No, this isn't any trick calendar stunt in the film capital. The Easter coming to Hollywood on Tuesday, Aug. 10, is big Luscious Luke Easter, gigantic, slugging first baseman and legendary character with the San Diego Padres. The Padres will be tackling the Hollywood Stars at Gilmore Field in night games Tuesday through Friday, with the series closing on Saturday afternoon, Aug. 14, with an afternoon game.

Easter last showed his wares in Pacific Coast League competition in 1949, when he smashed 25 home runs in 80 games, which is at a rate Babe Ruth would have been proud of. Luke then went to Cleveland, with brief stays also in Ottawa and Indianapolis. Now that he is back in the Coast League, the tremendous, colorful batsman has continued to hit prodigious home runs.

Luke's very first homer after rejoining the Padres a short time ago was a drive which traveled 490 feet. They didn't measure his second one, but his third homer was "only" 400 feet—a drive none would be ashamed of.

Easter's return to the San Diego club strengthened an already-powerful team which is posing the most serious threat to the Hollywood team's chances of winning another pennant this year. Besides the fearsome Easter, Dick Sisler, Earl Rapp, Bob Elliott and Hal Elliott are all devastating hitters. The Stars, on the other hand, have been strengthened by the addition of the man who won 20 games for them in 1953—George O'Donnell.

George will be making his first appearance in Hollywood during the upcoming crucial series with the Padres. "Ez"—that's what everybody calls O'Donnell, throws a deceiving knuckle ball, and is great on control.

Jim Mangan, the former Santa Clara collegian, has added hitting strength to the Star's catching staff. Carlos Bernier and Tommy Saffell are continuing their tight race for base-stealing honors. At the start of the week Bernier had 36, and Tommy 34.

Lino Donoso, slender Cuban southpaw, out three weeks with an appendix operation, should be back in action for the San Diego series, which could decide the 1954 pennant.

Welters Meet in Olympic Ten Round Feature

Don Jordan, only man to hold a win over Andy Escobar, will face converted southpaw Manny Renteria in the 10-round feature at the Olympic Auditorium, Monday night. They are jr. welters, and neither has celebrated his 21st birthday, as yet.

The Jordan-Escobar fight, in January—their first meeting—drew a net gate of $5,800, with Don winning the unanimous verdict to score a mild upset. One of the judges, Dynamite Jackson, tabbed Jordan 58-52.

The re-match, in March, was witnessed by another whopping big house, about 4,800 customers, and this time the duke went to Escobar. There was some dissension from the crowd however, for Jordan decked Escobar in the 9th heat.

In his last Olympic fight, a couple of months ago, Jordan dropped a decision to Dickie Wong, the Hawaiian-Chinese newcomer.

As for Renteria, he made his main event debut at the Olympic in February, knocked out Armando Muniz in the 2nd heat. A month later, he kayoed Johnny Ethan in the 4th, and in April, flattened Joey Eslan, highly-regarded San Antonio lightie, in the 4th.

In his last Olympic fight, Manny was held to a draw by that incorrigible upsetter, Mario Trigo. It was El Twisto's style that stymied the hard-hitting Garfield High pride. Or perhaps it would be more accurate to say lack-of-style.

Both Jordan and Renteria pack K.O.-wallops; both are talented youngsters with bright ring futures. However, it would seem that the luster of one or t'other is destined to be somewhat dulled, Monday night. That is, unless the fight ends in a draw, which is quite possible.

Swim Stadium To Host AAU

Nicholls.

Myra Anne Burton Pledges Vows With Bobby Cain Before Fashionable Group

Against a background of gladiolas and mums flanked on each side of the traditional seven white tapers in candelabra, Miss Myra Anne Burton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matt B. Burton, became the bride of Bobby Cain, Sunday, July 25, at 5 o'clock in a double ring ceremony. The fashionable semi-formal wedding was solemnized at the Morning Star Baptist Church with the Rev. P. J. Ellis, pastor, officiating.

Bridal selections preceding the processional included "The Lord's Prayer" by Miss Darlene Powell, "Because" by Virgil Patterson, and "I Love You Truly" by Norell Lewis, accompanied by Mrs. Hazel Faggett, sister of the bride, at the organ.

Bridal Procession

Entering on the arm of her father, the bride was radiantly attired in an exquisite creation of bridal satin, featuring a cathedral train with an overskirt of white rose-embroidered nylon and a panel of crystal pleated chantilly lace down the center front.

The fitted bodice had a decollotage sweetheart neckline with long pointd sleeves. Her fingertip veil of French illusion net was held by a scalloped cloche styled of seed pearls and irridescent bridal sequins.

The bride's gown was designed and made by Mrs. Olivia Logan. Her shoes were of white satin and she wore pearl earrings and necklace. She carried a cascade bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley.

For "something old," she carried tucked into the palm of her hand a handkerchief of linen and imported lace that was carried by her mother and also her grandmother as they spoke their marital vows.

Pastel Gowns

The bridesmaids wore dresses of pastel shades of nylon net made over matching shade of paper-taffeta with fitted bodice and sweetheart neckline with full sweeping skirts. The matron-of-honor, Mrs. Logan, sister of the bride, wore yellow rose-embroidered nylon tulle over paper taffeta, the pattern being th same as that of the bridesmaids.

Little Donna Sheryl Faggett, niece of the bride, and Linda Marguetite Gray, junior bridesmaids, wore minature versions of the bridesmaids' attire, even to the matching tiara, wrists cufflets, pearls and minature colonial bouquets. They wore pink and aqua respectively.

The bridesmaids were Misses Mildred Tobin, cousin of the groom; and Annie Smith, wearing pink; the Bias twins, Artimease and Bonnie, wearing orchid; LaNetta Armstrong Scott and Eunice Hurd wearing aqua, and Callie Miles and Dorothy Brooks wearing yellow.

Ushers

Leading the entourage were junior ushers, Larry High, DeWayne Logan, and Gerald and Ronald Lisberg, followed by ushers Alvan Burton, Lawrence Johnson, Howard Sanders, Chester Hill, Roland Burton and Everette Burton, wearing single breasted dinner jackets, navy trousers with satin stripe, maroon cummerbund, tie, and handkerchief and red carnations. Best man was Walter Cash in similar attire.

Ringbearers were cherubic Glenn Staten dressed in white linen suit and carrying the bride's ring, and Rolaline McDonald in white dress, bearing the groom's ring.

Flower girls were Monica Yvette Faggett, niece of the bride, wearing yellow and Madelyn Price in orchid. Their dresses were fashioned after that of the other bridal attendants.

500 Attend

All dresses of attendants were made by sisters of the bride, Mrs. Logan and Mrs. Evelyn Johnson, assisted by Mrs. Nola Ross.

Mrs. Arma L. Burton, the bride's mother, was very attractively dressed in a rose colored lace dinner dress with white accessories. Mrs. Vother Tobin, aunt of the groom, was lovely in peacock blue taffeta with white accessories. The wedding was under the direction of Mmes. Jewell Tomlin and Hilda Allen.

The reception at the Golden State Mutual dining room was attended by approximately five hundred guests. Senior hostesses to this affair were Mmes. Evelyn Johnson, Lois Lisberg, Nolan Sanders, Jean Burton, Jeanette Ivie, Ira Bennett, Celestine Morgan, Harriet Plummer, Jewel Tomlin, Hilda Allen, Blanche Horace, Evelyn Jackson, Olivia Murray and Josephine Benjamin.

Out-of-Town Guests

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Anne Sherrod of Sacramento; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Davis of San Francisco; Miss Mary Keene of New Orleans, La.; Prof. and Mrs. James Lincoln Bonner of Ruston, La.; Mr. and Mrs. Willie Benton of Minden, La. and Herman Lee of Chicago, Ill.

Following the reception the couple left for a brief wedding trip to Houston, Texas where they will visit the mother of the groom, Mrs. Angeline Lewis. They will be at home to friends and relatives after Aug. 4.

The bride is a garduate of Los Angeles City College and the groom is a graduate of Los Angeles State College.

Cotton Frolic Delights Pacific Town Club Guests

Lush Pacific Town Club was again bursting at its seams Saturday night as another special affair, given under the auspices of the members' wives, held sway.

The pastel invitations to a "Cotton Frolic" did not prepare guests for the Southern atmosphere which permeated the club. Pastel bales of cotton complimented pastels of guests and members. Table centerpieces were, of course, cotton balls, and magnolia blossoms were profuse in the patio and throughout the club.

Balloons galore, in flower formation in the pool and around guests wrists for "tag dancing," gave a Mardi Gras spirit to the occasion. Fresh honeysuckle and bird cages added to the gaiety.

And the food! Southern hospitality cannot leave out this item,- naturally, it was Chef Maurice's delicious chicken in the basket!

Hosts and hostesses were easily identified by badges of watermelons and bananas on their backs and fun hats for the men inscribed with "Seam Boots are a Comin'!"

Music, provided by the Bob Brady Combo, was for dancing and listening. The latter possibly brought memories to transplanted Californians who listened to medleys of "My Ole Kentucky Home" and "Swanee, Stay Way from My Door."

Chairing the affair were Mesdames Edward Ford, Isaac Huddleston and Lonnie Eberhard.

Some of the guests seen enjoying the frolic were: C. G. Price, recently returned from his Jamaican Estate, publisher of "Glancing" magazine; Theodosia Washington, new parents, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Beavers and their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. George Beavers; Dr. and Mrs. Dickson from Detroit; former Angeleno, Mattie Picou Sengstacke of the Chicago Defender; Dr. and Mrs. Perry Beal, and of course the illustrious names which make up the membership of the Town Club itself.

PROGRESS—and the brownskin variety which interests us. It's high time we saw more of our professional men and top brass society clan give a little more play to such highly rated establishments as the Town Tavern, Dynamite Jackson's, Rubaiyat Room, Le Caribe, Morocco, Pigalle, Your Room, Mi-Jumo and Vina's as once a month isn't asking blood. Or is it?

Billy Berg Keeps Best Band On Hand

Billy Berg put a period to the end of the 5-4 Ballroom's concept when Jordan and his Symphony Five last weekend.

International Favorite

Music lovers journeyed from as far north as Alameda, California and as far south as Mexico City to dance to the pulsating rhythm of the most versatile group of music makers ever to attend Billy Berg's spacious Baalroom. Because so many customers delighted dancing to Jordan's smooth rhythm, mellow music and blues ballads, Billy was successful in persuading Mr. 'J' to play at his gay ballroom for a second successive weekend, August 6, 7 and 8.

Crowd Pleasing Performer

Jordan stated: "I am happy to remain here in Los Angeles for another weekend at Billy Berg's 5-4 Ballroom because it gives me a wonderful opportunity to gain more friends and lovers of our band and entertainment." Such honesty is reason enough why Jordan and the 5-4 Baalroom are the correct combination for music, mirth and merriment. Let's all be there to bid farewell to the biggest little band in the land.

TWO-HANDED ARTIST

ALL THE GO AT THE 'MO'—Luis Rivera, "Prince of Percussion" and protege of organist 'Wild Bill' Davis, is playing pretty for the people at Bal and Bert's Mitoma, 29th and Western. Rivera has "chanted" some of the grandest bands in the land in plush lush spots from coast to coast.

John Thomas Joins Charles Ltd. Staff As Sales Representative

As the first step of a long range program of fair employment in the store, Charles of Charles Ltd. Men's Wear, at 752 S. Broadway, has hired ring referee and former state champion John Thomas as a member of the sales and promotion staff. Thomas will work part time in the store, and the balance of the time as goodwill ambassador at public events.

Charles predicted that Thomas will make a first rate sales executive. He said he intended to give him every opportunity to make good and to advance. Charles is personally schooling his newest sales-representative in the fine arts of the men's wear business.

Another "First"

Believed to be the first person of his race ever to hold such a position in a downtown store, Thomas said he was highly elated at the opportunity to make good in a brand new field of endeavor.

He extended a cordial invitation for his many friends and fans to drop by the store and visit him.

A product of local schools, Thomas graduated from Jefferson high school, became interested in boxing and subsequently won Golden Gloves honors. Turning professional he was an overnight sensation. He boxed the best in the 135 pound division and won the state lightweight title. Long John just missed getting a crack at the world crown when he was inducted into the army.

Two years later he returned to Los Angeles and resumed his career. His brilliant career was climaxed with his two memorable bouts with Enrique Bolanos at Wrigley Field.

He retired from the squared circle and opened a poultry market which he still operates with his father and brothers.

Several months ago he was named as a boxing referee by the State Athletic Commission. His work as third man has been outstanding.

Bridge Pointers

By 'KENNY' SCOTT

In one of our early columns we once said that trickery was perfectly legitimate if executed properly. Today we see how even experts allow themselves to be tricked.

Here is a hand where bold bidding takes the hand not to six hearts, which is logical, but to a much more difficult six no trump. And here is where ability to seize an opportunity leads to a top score instead of a bottom score.

The opening lead is a heart which sets up the situation. Five rounds of hearts are led. South discards a spade and a club, east a spade and two clubs and west two clubs.

South leads to the ace of spades, then switches and takes three rounds of diamonds ending with the king in dummy. Diamonds don't split and here comes the trick. A spade is led and South takes the king as East plays low. The object here is to prevent East from playing his queen which may well happen if he realizes that he is about to be end played.

As this was played, at trick eleven South led his nine of spades which fell to East's queen, which he had kept. East was then forced to lead from his king of clubs and South made six no-trump.

The sudden switch to the diamond suit from the ace of spades was enough to unsettle East so he did not make his correct play, which is a difficult one, we admit, but one which good players should know.

Trickery here was a method of playing a hand so that opponents made a mistake. East can easily see that he will be end played if he is thrown in at trick eleven. His only chance to evade this is to play his queen of spades on the second spade lead and hope his partner has the jack. If South has the jack he makes his six regardless of what East does.

But this way East has a chance.

We know a fellow who played a hand similar to this one and threw in East on the eleventh trick. But instead of East having the king West had it and the bid was set anyhow.

This happens even to the highest ranking experts. The thing to do is to recognize the plays as they arise and be able to execute them. This particular one is a type of strip and throw-in. We think its name is Vienna Coup.

While the hand demonstrates how declarer can play a contract, there is also a lesson in defence here. One cannot always be coped unless he allows himself to be.

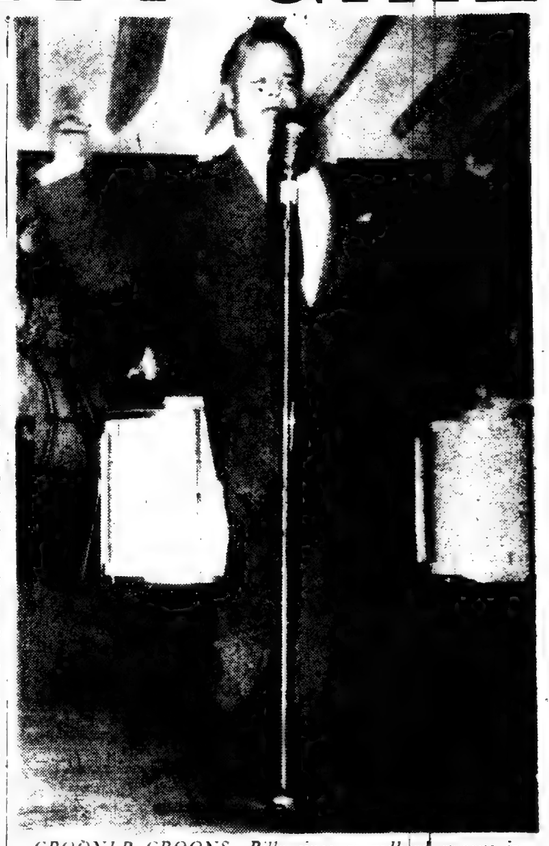
Redhead Found Hurt In Star's Dressing Room

By "CHAZZ" CRAWFORD



Crooner swooner Billy Daniels was in woman trouble again this week. And running true to form, a red-headed woman was the cause of it all.

Patricia Hirsch, age 24, was found "after hours" lying in Daniels' Mocambo dressing room with a possible fractured vertabra. The girl, whose sprawled shape was found by Charlie Morrison, the bistro owner, said the ol' black magic man pushed her. But the troubadour says he "heard she fell down and they had to call the cops to throw her out."

So Hollywood's highballing set, famed for its cafe society brawls, had another Sunset Strip tease to figure out while scotching with the soda.

It is to be recalled that the famous vocalist made headlines with a carrot-top a few seasons ago in the same locale. She was Ronnie Quillan, a habitue of the bright-lit arteries who was apparently toting a torch for Billy. The well-stacked playgirl was also "well fixed for blades" and slashed the crooner about the face with a deadly razor. Daniels survived the onslaught and his now divorced society wife, Martha Braun, stood by him through the ordeal.

To add further impetus to this new adventure, dame-rumor has it that the bruised doll, Patricia Hirsh, had been threatening to sue Daniels. And she was identified by police as one of six $100-a-night party girls arrested in a raid March 10 in a Malibu beach house. The injured woman was at first taken to Citizens' Emergency Hospital, but Citizens' employes said she was sent to General Hospital where she never checked in, according to hospital records.

CROONER CROONS—Billy sings as redhead swoons in Daniels' den.

1300 Pounds of Rotten Poultry, Meat Destroyed

A Central avenue market was accused this week of selling rotten meat to the public, as city authorities condemned and destroyed hundreds of pounds of spoiled, rancid and moldy food.

In all, 1300 pounds of meat, including rancid pork sausage, moldy ham and bacon and spoiled poultry, and 75 pounds of decaying chili con carne bricks were removed from a market by health inspectors this week, Dr. Pauline O. Roberts, Southeast district health officer, announced Tuesday.

"Acting on a citizen's complaint regarding spoiled sausage purchased from a Central avenue market which resulted in the illness of a young boy," Dr. Roberts stated, "our district inspectors were able to discover and destroy this large quantity of meat unfit for human consumption before it was sold as 'good' to other citizens."

Dr. Roberts advised the Eagle that only one market was involved. She stated she was unable to disclose its name or address.

All residents, however, are warned to make certain that the meat they buy is not spoiled, and are further reminded that after purchase all perishables should be kept properly refrigerated until ready for use so as to avoid spoilage in the home.

C. O. English Home Sold On Auction Block

The home of Clarence O. English, at 1250 S. Wilton place, estimated to be worth in the neighborhood of $25,000, went on the auction block Tuesday and was sold for $2800.

The sale resulted from a suit filed against the insurance and real estate broker involving property at 1166 W. Jefferson blvd., sold by English on June 10, 1952.

Not Turned Out

English, however, will not be turned out of his home, at least not at present. He has a year of redemption during which he must pay the $2800 judgment against him or forfeit his property.

The successful bid was made by the Lewis family, former owners of the Jefferson blvd. property, represented by the law firm of Gordon, Schaffer and Lang.

English is a well-known broker, who was formerly associated with the Golden State Insurance Co., but who at present has his own office at 1895 W. Jefferson blvd.

English was broker in the sale of the property for Nathaniel T. Lewis, 3022 Edgehill drive, and his brothers and sisters, to Mrs. Fania Davis.

Charged Misrepresentation

After the purchase, Mrs. Davis filed suit against English and the Lewis family, charging misrepresentation, stating that certain repairs to the existing

'Rochester's' Wife, Ernest Whitman, Die

Death struck heavily at the Los Angeles community this week, claiming the lives of four of its most prominent citizens.

Dead were Mrs. Mamie Anderson, member of the Allegria Girls club, the Orchid Girls and the Lullabye Guild, and the wife of Eddie "Rochester" Anderson of motion picture fame;

Ernest Whitman, 61, the "Bill Jackson" of the radio and television "Beulah" shows;

Thomas Rakestraw, 33, son of the Rev. E. W. Rakestraw, pastor of the Wesley Methodist church, and Mrs. Rakestraw; and William Smith, prominent South Los Angeles businessman, nephew of Maceo Smith, of Dallas, Texas, national president of the Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity.

Many Mourn

The town turned out to fill the Church of Divine Guidance to overflowing Tuesday morning to hear the Rev. Clayton D. Russell deliver the funeral ceremony for Mrs. Anderson who died Thursday after a lingering illness. Interment was at Evergreen.

Mrs. Anderson, 42, who was born in Georgia, came to Los Angeles with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Wiggins, when she was two years old. A graduate of Jefferson High School, she was active in church, com-

Rev. Williams Two Others In Hospital

Prominent evangelist Rev. Percy Williams was seriously cut in an automobile collision Saturday night, in which one woman was killed and another seriously injured.

The driver of the second car, Robert Charles Jones, is in General Hospital, critically injured, hovering between life and death.

Dead was Miss Beverly Lucille Sutton, 29-year-old dress designer, business woman and former honor student, of 4858 Mascot street, who was riding with her fiance, Jones, at the time of the accident.

Multiple Fractures

In Santa Monica Hospital, where Rev. Williams is being treated, is Miss Olivia Banks, who was a passenger in Rev. Williams' car. She suffered fractures in both legs, a fractured pelvis and a fractured jaw. Miss Banks, who lives at 1782½ 37th drive, is in the escrow department at the Superior Escrow Co.

Police reported that the car driven by Jones, a landscaper employed by the city, swerved over to the wrong side of the road at the intersection of Vista Del Mar Lane and Vista Del Mar in Venice about 11 p.m. Saturday. He drove directly into the path of Rev. Williams' car, which hit the Jones' vehicle broadside, police reported.

Rev. Williams was rushed immediately to the receiving hospital, with deep gashes in his knee and on his face. Rev. Williams is an evangelist of the Western Baptist State Convention, and is on the staff of the Southern California Baptist convention. He also assists the Rev. Dr. Horace N. Mays, who is state director of Christian education.

Funeral Saturday

Funeral services for Miss Sutton will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday, with the Rev. T. W. Cogg officiating, and the Angelus Funeral Home handling arrangements.

A dress designer and dressmaker of note, Miss Sutton worked for the telephone company for five years, following which she worked at the Jefferson and San Pedro branch of the Bank of America, starting as bookkeeper and working her way up to head teller.

In 1942, she graduated from

State Dept. Hosts Race Hating Editor

A South African editor, in a Hollywood press conference Thursday, placed the blame for Premier Malan's ruthless suppression of Negroes on the victims of that suppression.

Philip A. Weber, Cape Town pro-Malan editor, was in Los Angeles for two days as part of a three-month visit in the United States. He said he is a guest of the U.S. State Department.

There was no explanation as to why the State Department is showing special courtesy to a spokesman of a government whose ruthless racial policies have been condemned by every Negro organization in the country.

The African editor attempted to explain away South Africa's apartheid (total segregation) on the grounds that the 8,500,000 Negroes and Bantus there are "completely primitive peoples rooted to the soil, with their own separate language and culture and steeped to this day in witchcraft and all that it implies," as against a white minority of 2,750,000.

What the Africaaner failed to point out, however, is that the government deprives the Negroes of all opportunities to obtain an education, is hostile to any movement on the part of natives to improve their lot, and enforces with the aid of police and guns every conceivable restriction against their efforts to break out of their native limitations.

Weber said that in South Africa apartheid already is beginning to have a "smear" connotation. He said they prefer the words "parallel development."

Jack and Jill Joins NAACP Life Members

NEW YORK.—Jack and Jill, a national association, last week joined the growing list of organizations which have taken out $500 life memberships in the NAACP.

Social clubs, trade unions, fraternal associations and professional societies are among organizations holding NAACP life memberships.

Navy's Mixed, Chief Informs White Press

Secretary of the Navy, Charles S. Thomas last Wednesday told a "whites only" press conference here that there is no segregation in the Navy.

Secretary Thomas thus contradicted charges by Lester B. Granger, head of the National Urban League, who has just resigned his post as racial consultant to the Navy because of the lax and indifferent attitude adopted by key officials on the question of integration.

"No Segregation"

"There is no segregation whatsoever," Secretary Thomas reportedly told the news gathering. "There is complete integration," he continued. "The Norfolk (Va.) base was the last to do away with segregation."

The Eagle was unable to question Secretary Thomas on the allegations made by Granger. The first the Eagle learned of the press interview was when a report of the conference appeared in the daily newspapers the following day.

The secretary held the inter-

Newton DAPS Aid Clean-Ups

Beginning August 16 Deputy Auxiliary Police from Newton Street Station of the Los Angeles Police Department will be punching door-bells and distributing a special piece of education material, promoting "Operation Clean-Up Southeast," Rev. V. J. Waldron, Chairman, Southeast District Health Council announced this week.

"The DAPs are cooperating with the Health Council in its project to get residents in selected neighborhoods in the area to clean up the alleys, vacant lots and the general environment," Rev. Waldron said, adding that it is a citizen's responsibility to see that residential property, as well as neighborhoods, are free of garbage, trash and debris.

DEMOCRATS BACK FEPC, GOP PLEDGES EQUALITY

SACRAMENTO—California Democrats wrote a fair employment practices plank into their 1954 platform while Republican platform-makers praised their party's "one hundred years" of support for "equality of opportunity and equal protection of the law" as the state's political parties held their conventions here last week.

On the issue of employment, Republicans pledged themselves to "insure and safeguard for all our citizens the opportunity to obtain and hold employment on a merit basis without discrimination, as to race, religion, color or ancestry."

The Democratic platform was more specific on the fair employment issue with a flat promise to work for and enact an FEPC in the event of success in the November election.

The Democrats pointed to their state and national records on civil rights and plumped for repeal of the state's anti-intermarriage law, held unconstitutional by the state supreme court but refused repeal by the legislature. The Democrats also promised increased safeguards for all civil rights.

With Attorneys John Adams of Berkeley and Rayfield Lundy of Los Angeles prodding the resolutions committee, the Republicans reviewed the party history from Abraham Lincoln to Dwight Eisenhower and said that it all added up to a praiseworthy stand on civil rights. Chief Justice Warren was praised for his opinion in the School Segregation cases. The GOP pledged opposition to "segregation in schools, public housing, places of public accommodation, places of amusement, transportation and civil service."

Both parties went on record as favoring the appointment of qualified persons to responsible positions in government without reference to race or color. The Democrats drew the largest contingent of Negro delegates with Assemblymen Augustus F. Hawkins of Los Angeles and Byron Rumford of Oakland cast in the role of party spokesmen.

The Independent Progressive party also put itself on record as favoring civil rights and named its Hershel Alexander, its candidate for secretary of state, as chairman.

Entire City In Furor As Policeman Shoots Dog

The entire city this week was in an hysterical furor over the shooting of a dog by a police officer last Wednesday.

Daily newspapers bannered the news across their front pages, and subsequently have kept the story "alive" with lengthy day-by-day accounts of the "reputation" of the 10-year-old pet, pictures of all the principals and an up-to-the-minute account of the investigation into the incident. No previous shooting in the Negro area of the city has ever been accorded equal coverage.

On Monday, police investigators reported to Chief Willam H. Parker that no disciplinary action should be taken against the officer, Hurdel C. Jacke.

New Probe Ordered

Chief Parker, however, immediately ordered a further investigation by the Police Bureau of Internal Affairs, as numerous calls were received giving evidence pro and con regarding the habits of Topper, the unfortunate victim of the shooting.

Capt. James Fiske, Jacke's superior, submitted to Inspector James Lawrence his recommendations, along with the findings of a field investigation by officers J. N. Passarine and James Houlihan who carried on an on-the-spot probe of Topper's habits.

Following the probe, the officers found that Jacke was justified in defending himself against the dog.

Topper was the pet of Roy Gardner, 4328½ Honduras st., and his daughter, Betty Jean, 16, who raised him from the time he was a puppy. Gardner has threatened to press for action "to the limit of the law."

Officer Jacke refused to community, and social circles, an enthusiastic follower of her noted husband's appearances on radio and screen, and an equally enthusiastic devotee of the football performances of her son, Billy.

Prior to her illness, she was regarded as one of the city's most perfect hostesses, entertaining lavishly at her home, at outdoor affairs around her swimming pool, and in cruises on the couple's yacht.

In addition to her husband and son, she is survived by a brother, Nonie Wiggins; a sister, Mrs. Mildred Bruce, an aunt, Mrs. Mamie Jewell Smith, and numerous other relatives.

At Height of Career

Ernest Whitman, who was at the height of a lengthy career on radio and screen, died at his home, 2654 Harcourt street, Friday. The funeral was held Wednesday from the Angelus Funeral Home chapel, 1030 E. Jefferson blvd., with interment at Rosedale cemetery.

Whitman, on the "Beulah" show, was a slow-moving fellow without a thought running faster than a snail's pace. In real life, however, he was not only active on radio, screen and stage, but in addition, he was a well-known concert singer, an ordained minister in the A.M.E. church, and an athlete.

Some of his best known pictures included "Gone with the Wind," "Green Pastures," "Jesse James," and "Prisoner of Shark Island."

He leaves his widow, Helen, and a sister, Mrs. Earl Townsend of Oklahoma City.

Veteran and Poet

Thomas Rakestraw, 33, of 140 E. 47th place, died at General hospital Friday. Born in Atlanta, a Navy veteran of World War II, he was educated in Los Angeles, graduating from UCLA. In addition, he took postgraduate work at SC and UCLA, and was well-known for his poetry and prose writing.

Services were held from the Angelus Funeral Home chapel Monday morning, with Bishop Shaw conducting the service, assisted by Dr. Ragsdale of the Westwood Methodist church, and the Rev. R. M. Davis, associate pastor of the Wesley Methodist church. Interment was at Lincoln Memorial cemetery.

He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Shirley LaBeach, wife of Lloyd LeBeach, and Barbara Rakestraw; and an aunt, Mrs. Sarah Raynes, in addition to his mother and father.

Heart Attack

William Smith, a native of Texarkana, Texas, died at his home, 675 E. 120th street, from a heart attack early Saturday morning, less than two hours after he was stricken.

Only 40 at the time of his death, he was the owner and operator of the Mobile Gas station at 135th and Avalon, president of the Consolidated Civic Club of Southeast Los Angeles, a member of the Republican Central Committee, and very active in civic work.

The funeral will be held tomorrow, Friday, at 10 a.m. from the Bellevue Community church, 118th and Stanford, with burial arrangements handled by the Harrison and Ross Funeral Home.

Mrs. Smith had left here Thursday morning with her sister, Miss Johnevelyn Yeager, for Hope, Ark., to visit her grandmother who was ill, but had stopped off en route to see another sister, Mrs. Lillian Horace, in Fort Worth. She was reached there by telephone, and returned by plane.

Here from Texas for the funeral are Maceo Smith, Smith's youngest brother, Oscar, of Texarkana, and his father, William Smith Sr.

Other survivors are two children, William Smith III, 13, and Julie, 5; and a brother, Herman, of Los Angeles.

buildings required by the authorities had not been mentioned to her. The Lewis family then filed a cross-complaint against English, charging they had retained him to sell the property and give the buyer a true picture of its condition.

The case went to trial July 20, 1953, and the court entered judgment that Mrs. Davis could collect the $2800 from the Lewis family, and that the latter in turn were entitled to recover the same amount from English.

In the intervening year, English has failed to satisfy the judgment, and the time allowed for an appeal has elapsed. As a result the property was put up for public sale.

Brewer Heads Probation Unit

The promotional appointment of John W. Brewer, 5561 W. 3rd Street, to the position of Director of the Probation Department's Southwest Area Office, 5305 S. Vermont Avenue, has been announced by County Probation Officer Karl Holton.

Brewer's eligibility for his new duties resulted from Civil Service promotional examination and his appointment was based on his long demonstration of outstanding abilities in the work of the Probation Department, according to Mr. Holton.

Following graduation from Jefferson High School, Brewer earned his A.B. at Fresno State College and has done graduate work at both U.S.C. and U.C.L.A. He entered the Probation Department as a student deputy in 1941; was promoted to professional level of deputy probation officer the following year, and in 1945 was promoted to the position of supervising deputy probation officer in charge of the Group Guidance Unit.

Home accidents accounted for 28,700 deaths and 4,350,000 injuries during 1953. The Greater Los Angeles Safety Council reports that falls are the number one killer in the home.

K.C. to Obey High Court, Visitor Says

Plans are proceeding for integration in the schools in Kansas City, Kans., but not without certain hitches, G. B. Buster, retired vice-principal of the Sumner Senior High School there, told the Eagle this week.

Buster, here with his wife, Mrs. Katie Buster, for a vacation, said at the Board of Education has adopted the policy that segregation will be ended in the schools, grade as well as high schools, come September. Any student who prefers to remain at the school he has been attending, however, will be permitted to do so, and the city will provide transportation if the distances are excessive.

The NAACP, Buster said, is opposing the plan on the grounds that it will in effect perpetuate segregation.

Buster, a director of the Douglass State Bank of Kansas City, whose assets have zoomed in the seven years since it was founded to $2,000,000, is here visiting his daughter, Josephine McDavid, her husband, Band Leader Percy McDavid, of 9538 Anzac avenue, and the couple's son, Wendell, 11.

Buster retired in 1948, after serving as vice-principal of the same school for 18 years. During this same period he also taught Sociology and Psychology at Junior College.

In addition, he is the author of a book to be printed in November, entitled "Brighter Sun," an historical biography of his grandfather, Garret Buster, who struggled before and during the Civil War to free himself and his family from slavery.

CIO Demands Fire Dept. Ends Segregation

The Los Angeles CIO Council at its last meeting Tuesday night termed discrimination in the city Fire Dept. "abhorrent" and called upon Chief John H. Alderson to eliminate segregation "without delay."

In a resolution passed at the meeting, the council demanded "that a positive, unequivocal program which will strike at the root of the problem of segregation by clearly eliminating Jim Crow arrangements be issued by the Fire Department chief without delay," and continued:

"Failure to do so can only result in worsening an already bad situation that is injuring the Fire Department.

"Courageous, direct action to eliminate racial segregation forthwith would be of tremendous value toward regaining public confidence in the department and its present leadership and restoring to it the high reputation for excellent administration it has otherwise earned."

In making public the resolution, Albert T. "Blackie" Lunceford, secretary-treasurer of the council, advocated a three-point program to end segregation in the department.

He called for the breaking up of the two existing jim-crow companies, integration of white and Negro firemen in all city companies, and the instituting and enforcing of new regulations to insure that no discrimination is practiced in promotions.

Judge Denies Plea NAACP Subversive; Opens Park

CINCINNATI — A member of the NAACP here last week won the right to use the facilities of Coney Island Park, a local privately-owned amusement resort, when the case appeared before the Hamilton County Court of Common Pleas.

In opposing the case, owners of the park accused members of the association and of the Cincinnati Council on Human Rights of conduct that was unlawful, disorderly and subversive.

Judge Weber, however, in a strong decision granted a permanent injunction against the park owners and held that "the injury to the plaintiff by the wrongful acts of the defendant is irreparable and the statutory remedy is inadequate." The Ohio Civil Rights law provides for fines of from $50 to $500 or imprisonment of from 30 to 90 days, or both.

The suit was filed last year by Miss Ethel Fletcher who claimed she was denied admission on two occasions. The park replied that on the days specified its facilities were under contract to private organizations which had instructed them to bar members of the NAACP and the Council on Human Rights. Both groups had picketed the park in 1952 in protest against its jim-crow policies.

Donald Jones, NAACP area field secretary, hailed the decision, "The granting of injunctive relief rather than the usual imposition of a light fine and the rejection of the subterfuge of exclusive use of the park by private organizations," he said, "indicate a new appreciation by the judiciary of the full meaning of civil rights legislation."

view in his offices in the Foreman building where he formerly was president of Foreman & Clark, men's clothing firm. In a telephone call to his office, an aide to the secretary advised the Eagle that only the dailies had been present and that so far as he knew no Negro newspapers had been granted an interview.

Too Busy

The secretary, he said, would be too busy during his two remaining days in Los Angeles to discuss the situation with an Eagle reporter.

Granger, who is known to be exceptionally meticulous in ascertaining facts before making allegations, took the unusual step of resigning July 25. In his letter to Secretary Thomas, he asked that he be relieved of his assignment since only a "negligible" demand had been made upon his time during the nine months since he was appointed.

"There appears," he said, "no serious recognition of urgency in this matter on the part of the key officials responsible for evaluating and expediting any recommendations" he might make.

He specifically called attention to the stewards' department which he called "the heaviest concentration of Negro personnel in the Navy." He charged that Negroes with better-than-average training and experience before their Navy induction have been kept in the stewards' branch with "suspicion that arbitrary influences prevent their transfer."

HOT WATER

DAD SAYS WE'RE ALL SET FOR YEARS AND YEARS!
Our new automatic GAS water heater is a kind with a 10-year Warranty Plan!

You can be all set for years and years of trouble-free service, too. Just be sure, when you buy a new water heater, that it's an automatic gas water heater with a 10-year Warranty Plan. That way, you assure yourself of a top-quality appliance—one that's built of heavyweight steel—one that's been made corrosion resistant. Your plumber dealer or your Gas Company will gladly give you the details on the 10-year Warranty Plan.

Be sure of the right size. Choose an automatic gas water heater big enough to keep up with your family's present and future demands. The chart at right shows how big a tank you should have.

Be sure it's a gas water heater. Why? For two good reasons—gas heats water 3 times faster than any other fuel and it costs you less, too.

'The Grand' Up for Re-election at Elks Chicago Meeting

PHILADELPHIA—Grand Exalted Ruler Robert H. Johnson is up for re-election to the post long held by the late J. Finley Wilson when an expected 40,000 Elks converge on Chicago Aug. 22-28 for the 55th Grand Lodge in the history of Elkdom.

Johnson was elected to the full two-year term in August, 1952, following the death of Wilson in February of that year.

Biggest feature on the agenda will be the creation of "The Elks Foundation, Inc.," with an initial appropriation of between $50,000 and $100,000 from the IBPOEW.

Lovejoy Medal

Another highlight will be the awarding of the fourth Elijah Lovejoy Medal—Elkdom's highest honor—to Thurgood S. Marshall, chief legal counsel of the NAACP.

The award will be presented at a public meeting of the Elks Civil Liberties Department at 2 p.m., Aug. 23 at the Corpus Christi Center, 4600 South Parkway.

The Grand Temple, headed by Grand Daughter Ruler Nettie Carter Jackson of Staten Island, N.Y., will meet in Chicago at the same time, with sessions at DuSable High School, 4900 S. Wabash avenue.

Carey to Preach

The Rt. Rev. Archibald J. Carey, Jr., Alderman and former Alternate U.S. Delegate to the U.N., will preach the baccalaureate sermon. This will take place Aug. 22, at Corpus Christi Center. Grand Exalted Ruler Johnson will follow with a short address.

Important legislative changes are also to be considered by the Grand Lodge. One proposition recommends the retirement on pension of Grand Secretary William C. Hueston of Washington, D.C., who will be 74 years old in September. Judge Hueston is rounding out 51 years of service in the order this year.

Other proposals provide that no elected Grand Lodge officer shall remain active in office after passing the age of 70; and that no Grand Lodge officer can hold more than one office at the same time.

Non-Profit Corporation

The new foundation is to be a non-profit corporation for the perpetuation and expansion of the Elks' program of education, health and economics.

Long a dream of Mr. Johnson has been the idea of providing mobile health units which can be sent into backward rural areas—especially in the South—to provide medical services for needy persons. He estimates these units to cost between $40,000 and $60,000 each, fully equipped.

Another feature of this year's Grand Lodge will be a special ceremony on August 25 at 1 p.m., honoring the only three living Past Grand Exalted Rulers who actually served in that office. They are: Atty. Thomas Gillis Nutter, Charleston, W. Va.; Judge Armond W. Scott, Washington, D.C.; and George W. F. McMechen, Baltimore, Md. They will also have a place of honor in the big Elks' parade on Tuesday, August 24.

This year the Elks' Department of Athletics, headed by Grand Director Dr. J. B. Martin of Chicago, president of the Negro American Baseball League, is sponsoring the colorful "East-West" baseball classic.

This annual affair between Negro major leaguers will be played at Comiskey Park, home of the Chicago White Sox, on Sunday, Aug. 22 at 3 p.m. Grand Exalted Ruler Johnson will throw out the first ball.

According to the Greater Los Angeles Safety Council, motor vehicle accidents during 1953 destroyed $1,600,000.00 worth of property.

Count Basie Gets Nod for No. 1 Band

By "Chazz" Crawford

Downbeat magazine has been counting Basie instead of sheep. The good Count Basie and crew were chosen as the number one jazz outfit by jazz critics in the 2nd annual poll sponsored by Downbeat Magazine. The Duke of Ellington and company, last year's choice, placed second in this division but were nowhere close to the Basie group who polled 128 votes while the Ellington men trailed off with 18 nods. Twenty - three critics voted in the poll. One full vote was counted 10 points with five given for half votes and three for thirds.

Dave Brubeck took second in the combo division. The man with Indian blood and his outfit chalked up 23 points to run far behind the Modern Jazz Quartet who polled 65 Amens.

In the individual tabulation, Bill Harris was tops on trombone; Dizzy Gillespie on trumpet; Charlie Parker on alto sax; Stan Getz on tenor sax; Harry Carney on baritone sax; Buddy De Franco and Benny Goodman tied on the clarinet; Art Tatum triumphed on piano; Ray Brown was best on bass; Buddy Rich was too much on drums and Lionel Hampton vibrated more than any other on vibraharp.

Joe Mooney on the organ was voted the best in the miscellaneous instruments group. Louis "Satchmo" Armstrong was named the best male just in order to prove that his gravel throat is diamond studded and freewheeling Ella Fitzgerald is swinging with the best female singer honors.

DIZZIE?—He may be dizzie, but he's tops with the trumpet.

KNOWS HIS KEYS—Art Tatum's fingers are nimblest of them all.

Mississippi Governor Stunned to Find Negroes Don't Want Jim Crow

JACKSON, Miss. — Gov. Hugh White said this week he was "stunned" to find that Negroes turned thumbs down on his proposal for a "voluntary" jim crow system of public school education.

He was "completely shaken," he said, when 99 out of 100 Negro leaders flatly turned down his plan at a meeting with the state's Legal Educational Advisory Committee. He had previously expressed the view that 95 percent of the Negroes would agree.

Disillusioned

"Now I am definitely of the conclusion you can't put any faith in any one of them on this proposition," complained the disillusioned governor.

The one-in-a-hundred, the lone supporter of the governor's "voluntary" plan out of the 100 leaders, was J. W. Jones, a school teacher from Union County. Percy Greene, editor of the "Jackson Advocate," offered a seven-point compromise.

The Negro leaders, summoned to the state's first official interracial conference by the governor, rejected the plan by which many white southerners hope to circumvent the Supreme Court decision of May 17 banning public school segregation.

Equality For All

In a prepared statement they declared that "for sake of our posterity we cannot do otherwise than take our stand for the ideals of our America and the whole free world — for justice, human brotherhood and equality of opportunity for all."

The conference was preceded by a meeting of Negro leaders called by the State Conference of Branches of the NAACP.

They issued a statement in support of the court's decision and expressed willingness to work with any group toward implementing the decision.

Further, the statement asserted: "We are unalterably opposed to any effort of either white or Negro citizens to attempt to circumvent the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States of America outlawing segregation in the public schools." They recommended the appointment of a bi-racial committee of 25 Negroes and 25 white persons "to find ways of implementing the Supreme Court decision."

Church Funds Found Short, Woman Fired

NEW YORK — Miss Julia Shaw, general treasurer of the Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary Society of the AME Zion Church was found $18,741.83 short in the funds handled by her, Bishops of the Church announced this week.

"Mrs. Shaw admitted shortages and took personal responsibility for it, and the processes that had been used to make the shortages, and pleaded the merciful consideration," the bishops said. The bishops' conclusion was announced as follows:

1) That Mrs. Shaw be immediately removed from office as recommended by the Board of Foreign Missions. 2) That Mrs. Shaw is commanded to make restitution to avoid prosecution at the end of thirty days. The Board also made it clear that no part of the defalcation in any way involved the president, Mrs. Elsie Keys, or the executive secretary, Mrs. Emma B. Watson.

Tenement Blaze Kills 5, Injures 19

CHICAGO, Aug. 8—A tenement fire on Chicago's South Side today killed five persons, three of them children, and injured 19 others.

The tenement at 3101 Wentworth Ave., containing a mixed white and Negro population was in a slum area marked for renovation. Most of the dead and injured were Negroes.

ment when queried by the Eagle, pointing out that he prefers not to say anything publicly which might prejudice the police investigation.

Officers Passarine and Houlihan reported that Jacke found himself cornered on a second floor landing when the dog jumped at him. He either had to jump to the ground, try to ward off the animal with his hands or shoot, they said. He made the quick decision, and fired. Jacke had been attempting to serve a warrent when the incident occurred. The woman he was seeking no longer lived there.

Reports coming into the police indicate that poor Topper had lunged at several other officers from the Newton Street Police station and at least one neighbor.

Against this, however, the dog's owners claim that the dog was so gentle that he played with every child in the neighborhood, and that the welcome sign was always held out for him at many homes in the area.

"All the merchants in the neighborhood knew him," said Gardner. "Topper could go into the local butcher shop for a piece of meat any time he wanted to."

Who'll You Have?

Now that the tumult and the shouting that always surrounds party conventions has died away, the California Negro voter has the job of deciding which of the two major parties will get his vote in the November election.

Actually, party platforms don't mean very much in California. The individual candidates feel free to abide by as much, or as little, of the platform as they please. As an example, the GOP has promised some type of fair employment legislation for the past 16 years but it never delivered on that promise.

While he was governor, Earl Warren made a routine request to the legislature each year calling on it to redeem the party promise in respect to some kind of legislative measure on job discrimination. The Republican legislators ignored his request as often as he made it.

When it is all sifted down, the Negro voter will do what other California voters do; he will make his choice more on the score of the candidates' personalities than on the platform written for them.

Republican Goodwin Knight worked something of a miracle in the primary election when he got the majority of Democratic ballots cast by Southern California Negroes, in the gubernatorial race. His success was in striking contrast to other Republicans who lost out to Democrats on the Democratic ballot in that same primary election.

Richard Graves, the Democratic nominee, needs the ballots that will be cast by Negro voters in November. He has his work cut out for him as he faces the task of reversing the primary vote. He can do that job only if he gets himself and his policies before the Negro voter. And he can't do that with the kind of limping campaign he waged in the primary.

Other Democratic candidates—particularly Samuel W. Yorty and Edward Roybal—are in a far better position than Graves. They are known to Negro voters and, better yet, each bears an excellent reputation on civil rights issues.

With a close election in sight, the 300,000 ballots that will be—or can be—cast by Negroes in November loom as very important. The Negro voter probably holds the balance of power and we hope that he will wield that balance in such a fashion as to attain the very legitimate objectives that have eluded him for so long in this state.

The Changing South

That there is change in the southern air is evident from the victories scored by Senators John Sparkman in Alabama and Estes Kefauver in Tennessee. Each won the Democratic nomination for senator in the face of determined opposition.

A goodly portion of that opposition revolved around the charge that each of the nominees had failed to uphold the standards of white supremacy. Both were charged with deserting Dixie on the civil rights issues.

The truth of the matter is that neither of them would have found much favor with northern Negro voters on the basis of their civil rights records. Each of them had dodged, twisted and evaded on the civil rights issue in obvious efforts to keep in the good graces of the segregationists of their own states. Each of them knows better than he voted. Each was guilty of knuckling under in the name of political expediency.

What the nomination of each does prove, however, is that the old-fashioned Negro-baiting racket isn't the sure-fire road to political office that it used to be down in Dixie.

As the number of Negro voters increases in the South we can expect that the Sparkmans and the Kefauvers will inch forward just a little with each passing year until the time comes when they and men of their ilk can be honest and straight forward on civil rights. That will be a good day for America, and for democracy.

Abolish Death Penality

The long drawn-out legal battles revolving around the proposed execution of Wesley Robert Wells last spring and the current efforts of Caryl Chessman to escape the gas chamber have revived the question of whether or not it isn't time that California abolished the death penalty.

The death penalty is a hangover of the old, and long since outworn, eye-for-an-eye justice. Modern nations have long since abandoned that concept in most phases of criminal law. There was a time in England, for example, when more than 50 crimes were punishable by death. Gradually, the death penalty was abandoned in most cases and statistics prove that the diminishing of the punishment has not increased any particular type of crime.

American states which have abolished the death penalty have no more murders proportionately than those states where the death penalty is imposed. The taking of human life in a spirit of revenge is never justified, and all of us who are citizens of California participate in vengeance killing when we send a criminal to death for the crime he has committed.

This is no plea for Chessman. We don't know enough about the man or the evidence in his case to pass judgment on him. But this is a plea for California to abandon the policy of deliberately killing human beings who have transgressed our laws. The death penalty is a relic of barbarism unworthy of a modern civilized people.

You Better Register

September 9th is less than a month away.

September 9th is the last day you can register if you want to vote in the November 2 election.

California will elect a United States senator, a governor, a full slate of state officers, a state senator and state assemblymen at that election.

The public officials who are chosen in that election will guide the destinies of this state for the next four years.

Those four years will be fateful ones in the history of this state, and especially for California Negroes.

It does no good to fail to vote and then to spend months and years in complaining about what we get or don't get.

If you have moved since you last voted—

If you have never voted—

If you failed to vote in the last general election—

You must register if you want to vote on November 9th.

You owe it to yourself to vote and to persuade your neighbor to vote.

The time isn't long. September 9th is the last day to register if you want to vote on November 2nd.

Battleaxe and Bread

By Lester B. Granger

There's no excuse, these days for being ignorant on the basic facts involved in the recent Supreme Court decision on public school segregation. That's not to say that there's not plenty of ignorance around, and some in quarters for which there's the least excuse.

Lester Granger

For instance, get a copy of the Court's actual decision and try it out on some social group. See how many present have actually read the decision—either in true copy or in summary. Chances are you'll find that practically no one has. Most of us are headline-hoppers; we read the headlines, follow through with the lead paragraphs of the items that interest us, and then think that we have the news.

Reading a 'Must'

Serious reading doesn't have to be hard, even in the hot summer weeks. Especially is that true in this matter of school segregation, for a lot of thought is being given by clever publicists to the question of getting the most people to read up on the subject with the least effort, since that seems to be the only way to get large numbers of the public to read at all.

This is why Harry Ashmore, white Southern editor who did a masterful job on "The Negro and the Schools," wrote a modest-sized, easily-readable report instead of the compendious volume that would have been produced 20 years ago. The tightness of his writing, however, doesn't affect the fact that here is the most authoritative and broadly covering work of its kind that has yet appeared. Its reading should be a "must" for anyone who wants to hold up his end in a debate on the subject.

Additional Information

Additional information on the subject comes this month from Howard University's Journal of Negro Education. Published by the University's School of Education and edited by able Dean Charles Thompson, this special quarterly issue will be devoted to the whole broad question of desegregating our public schools. Some two dozen contributors will present their information and opinions in different areas of interest. This, too, is a "must," if we're really serious about knowing important facts and theories.

And from the deep south comes a brief little pamphlet entitled, "Answers for Action," and published by the Southern Regional Council. The Council is the recipient of a small grant from the Ford Fund for the Republic for the purpose of "community education" as a step in the direction of implementing the Court's decision.

This pamphlet gives the answers in succinct fashion to any questions that most people would like to ask if they were not ashamed of exposing their ignorance. This, too, is a "must" for most of us—or something like it—for most of us are more ignorant on the subject than we realize, or are apt to admit.

Skivvering Around

Washington, D.C. is providing observers with a pre-view of the kind of "skivvering around" that will be much more widespread during the next four or five years. The school board voted affirmatively on the White House request that the Capital furnish the nation with an example of willing and effective conformity with the Supreme Court's decision. But a Board vote is one thing; administrative policy is another.

Under pressure from resistant white opinion, the Superintendent of Schools seems to be trying to carry out a delaying tactic in the hope that resistance will die down. If he is honest and intelligent, he will quickly realise that resistance-catered-to becomes resistance-increased. Negro leadership is trying to teach him that lesson before it's too late for it to do the city any good.

While down in Greensboro, N.C., bless its conservative little old heart, school leaders seem to be sincerely trying to work their way through disagreement and unhappiness to a real acceptance of the Court's decision. Greensboro was one of the first, if not the first, of the Southern cities to vote conformity to the new order. A committee of respected citizens of both races is at work on procedural steps; that committee is assisted by the wisdom of President David Jones of Bennet College who is a new, precedent-making Negro board of education member. Perhaps a new slogan will be, "As Grensboro, N.C. goes, so goes the South."

Pure and Simple

By L. F. Palmer Jr.

Ever since the American Medical Association came out with that business about cigarettes and cancer, I've been having one heck of a time. I figured I'd really be playing with fire every time I lit up a ciggie, so for a matter of three whole hours, I quit.

Then I started getting the shakes so I stole some of the little one's jelly beans, having heard that candy will drive away the urge to smoke. I discovered that I hadn't lost my childhood craving for jelly beans. Nor had I lost the shakes.

I remembered a pipe I used to smoke during my Joe College days. Dashing frantically to a trunk full of memories, I finally found the old trusted briar under some examination papers which best remained unseen.

Drug Store

A quick visit to the corner drug store rewarded me with a wonderful tobacco and all the tools that a pipe smoker needs—tobacco pouch, pipe cleaners, pipe sweetener, tamper, borer, scooper, and 100 books of matches.

I spent a full 15 minutes cleaning and sweetening the old pipe, fell back into an easy chair and looked longingly at the slender, long stemmed beauty. I closed my eyes for a moment of great expectation. When I opened them and reached for my pipe, the little one had usurped it and was puffing like mad wondering, I guess, why no smoke was coming out.

I lunged for little one, pipe and all, but my agility was no match for his. I almost cried when I saw my clean, sweet, long stemmed beauty disappear out an open window. It ended up in a thousand pieces.

Another Idea

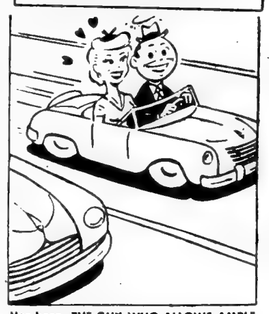
Back at the drug store for another pipe, I got another idea instead. Cigars! Pipes and cigars were not linked to cancer, the medics had found. So I stocked up on stogies.

I felt the shakes subside as I took long, healthy draws on the torpedo shaped burner. The aroma kept the little one at a safe distance and my problem was solved, I thought.

The shakes gave way to dizziness. I began to tremble and shake all over again. I thought I was going to black out. The wife came to the rescue just in time and managed to get me to bed. I slept it off.

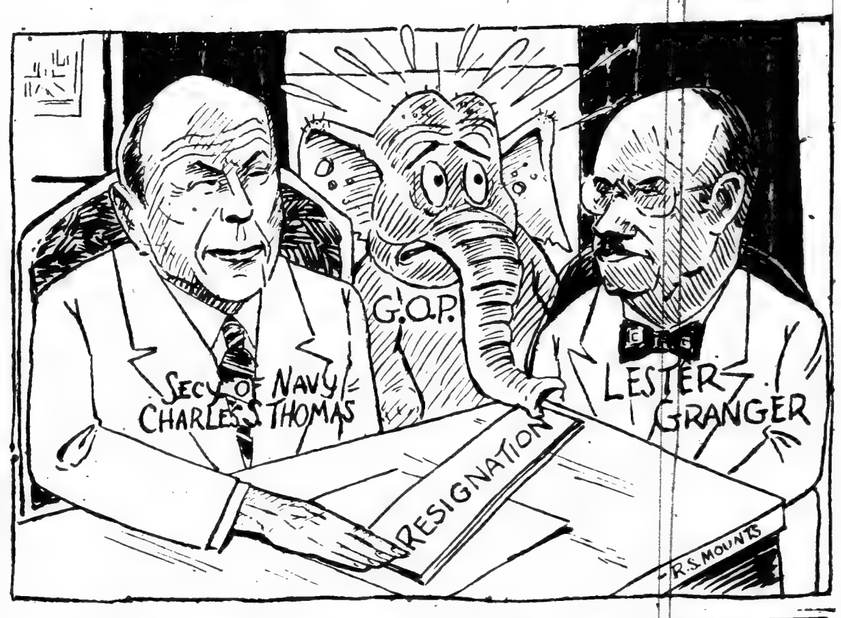
Look For Body

When I woke up, the wife and the little one were sitting by the bed. The scene resembled a wake. I pinched myself to make sure I was still alive. Assured, I looked around for the body. Thankfully, there was none, except for a partially smoked stogie.



Beside me on the bed were two neatly wrapped packages, one large and one small. I fumbled with the wrappings and opened the box to discover the neatest pipe you ever saw. The little one made a dive for it and I drew back in dismay.

Quick as a wink, the wife handed the little one the little box. He, too, fumbled with the wrappings and came out with a tiny, toy pipe.



So now we are both puffing around the house and the little one doesn't seem the least bit bothered that there's no smoke coming out of his pipe.

Please, doctors, don't find a link between pipes and cancer.

RENDEZVOUS
by Rose Franken

The author of the Claudia stories needs no introduction to many readers, and her large public will enjoy this novel of a young girl's difficulties with life and love. Told with the warm sentiment which is Miss Franken's stock in trade, the story follows the experiences of Josephine, daughter of a French peasant, who travels to England and the United States, and has a conflict between her love for an attractive American and her loyalty to the man she left behind in France. There is a self-sacrificing ending which is reminiscent of other days in fiction but which should please readers who still have romantic hearts.

This is a humorous account of one American who, on a very limited budget, tried to make her way in post-war Paris. But above all the book catches the never dying charm of the city which has become almost as loved by generations of Americans as by the French themselves.

WINGS ON HER PETTICOAT

This is the unusual story of an odyssey from Lithuania to South Africa and the years that followed it. The author was taken as a small child to join her father who had gone on ahead to South Africa. What chiefly emerges from the narrative is the picture of Mama, an admirable woman who never let myriad of difficulties daunt her.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

My dear Mr. Miller:

Several months ago when you wrote a number of articles exposing the methods which unscrupulous real estate people use to sell property to persons of meager understanding, I felt that you should have been given a medal for courage.

Last week when you spoke out again about the Black Belt which extends to La Brea, I felt that I had to say, "Thank you. Keep it up. Perhaps we'll learn by 1998."

I have waged a verbal battle with real estate brokers for seven years about filling one section entirely with Negroes.

Their contentions are: 1. The whites are going to move anyway. 2. You are trying to get away from your people.

Now as for the first, some will move, many will not, unless they are plagued daily by brokers who tell them that (a) the neighborhood is filling up with Negroes; (b) get a good price for your property while they are anxious to move into the section.

One Mrs. E. D. Quillen, of W. 20th Street, met me at her door with these angry words when I was taking a census last fall:

"I don't want to sell my property. We are happy here. Money isn't everything to us. My husband has a good practice; and if he isn't defiled by examining and treating Negro patients, their moving into the neighborhood will not hurt him nor me. You are the fourteenth (14th) Negro broker I've had this week asking me to sell because it's becoming a colored neighborhood."

By that time I had collected my wits enough to produce my credentials, showing that I was taking a census. We sat down and had a good laugh, together.

I have fought homogeneous grouping because I saw the results in Philadelphia. Exactly the same thing happened here. It happened when I was on Hobart Blvd. and is rapidly happening in this area.

First of all, the city stops systematic cleaning and repair of the streets. I recall that a Japanese neighbor and I dragged palm fronds an entire block and piled them in the middle of the street on Labor Day, 1950. They blew down in March. In 1944 the street was cleaned twice per month. Do you get the contrast? I'm happy to say they did find time to remove the fronds the next day.

In this area also, we couldn't get police out on call. I still have in my possession a cap and a knife, dropped by a prowler in January, 1949. He slashed our screen, started into the house and I screamed. We called University Station. Not a policeman has responded yet.

In my present neighborhood, the street sweeping has dropped from monthly to bi-monthly, but for some reason, police protection has remained good, with one exception. In 1951 neither car nor truck could remain in one place for more than 120 hours. That has been entirely relaxed, and more and more old flat-tired wrecks are dotting the area. That isn't true north of Olympic Blvd.

Mrs. E. B. O'Ferrall,
5031 W. 21st Street.

One Man's Opinion

By LEON STEWARD

This is a story of a man whom we have known since boyhood. He was born in Marshall, Texas where his father was a teacher of history at Wiley College. It was at Wiley College that we met in our early youth because our mother sent us to Wiley simply because she was a nurse and could not be in the home long enough to look after a son. At that time Wiley had grades beginning at kindergarten and ending with degrees. Thus it was that James Edwin Reed and we really grew up together.

Leon Steward

'Chicken' Reed

When we both grew a little older we played football and baseball together. The hero of this story was especially good in both. Although most of the players were of the large "corn fed" variety we somehow "made" the teams.

But before telling of his football prowess we had better go back a few years and tell you why we called him "Chicken" Reed. There was always room for improving the menu of the school and some of the young men devised a plan to stagger boys and themselves across the countryside until they were close to a farmer's ranch which was just teeming with chickens, the object of the endeavor. Edwin was such an expert at snatching the fowls and outrunning the beebe shots that they gave him the name of "Chicken."

There'll be a Hot Time

Several years after we began playing football and baseball we were given a flattering position with the team while "Chicken" and his brother Hobart were on the squad.

We were called to the Deraloc Carnival at Houston. We were to play Prairie View College and Elmer J. Carter, now a New York "big shot," was the manager of the PV team. He told us before the game that he would give us some points after the game.

When Prairie View ran onto the field the band played "There'll be a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight." When the Wiley team ran out on the field they played "Onward Christian Soldiers."

The two lightweight Reeds were on the Wiley team and showed the need of religious faith if they expected winning against that strong Prairie View team. During the first few minutes the other team not only made two touchdowns but wrecked our only big men in the process. The peewee Reed's were sent in and in the first two downs they had but both of the P.V. "pile drivers" out of the game. And as the game went along the Wiley team was the victor. Moral: don't play us little fellows too cheaply.

Studied Pharmacy

After college Hobart studied dentistry and "Chicken" studied pharmacy. The latter graduated in 1921. When he returned from college Edwin observed a cute little girl. He could not get his mind off her and as soon as she grew old enough he married her in 1923. Several years ago they celebrated their 25th Anniversary becomingly.

The Reeds and Hudsons appeared to have come out to California at about the same time. The first drug store he worked in was the Modern Pharmacy on Central Avenue, which was owned by Louis Hudson, Dr. H. Claude Hudson's brother. Louis is married to Reed's sister. After going the rounds in Smith's and Benton's Drug stores, James Edwin "Chicken" Reed is now in business for himselft at 1718 E. 55th st., which he calls Reed's Drug Store.

The other day we met a young lady with a little boy whose face we had difficulty in recognizing. It was the James Edwin Reed's pride and joy and their super dooper grandson than whom there is no finer—that is, to the grandmother and grandfather. Wonder if Edwin will tell them about those chicken deals?

B. A. Green, Negro Mayor Attends Convention Here

D. D. HOLMES—Announces details of the Knights of Tabor meeting.

The first Negro mayor ever to visit Los Angeles, Benjamin A. Green, of Mound Bayou, Miss., will arrive here to attend the triennial convention of the Knights of Tabor to be held at the Cosmopolitan Hotel, starting Aug. 16.

Official greetings from the Board of Supervisors will be given to Mayor Green and his party of delegates upon his arrival by Gilbert Lindsey, acting for Supervisor Kenneth Hahn. Mayor Green will be the honored guest at a public welcoming at the hotel that evening, at which the chief speaker will be Councilman Edward R. Roybal.

There will be a banquet Thursday evening, Aug. 19, at which Police Commissioner Herbert Greenwood will extend the official welcome of Los Angeles to Mayor Green.

D. D. Holmes, recently elected state president of the Laymen's League of the Western Baptist Convention, announced the details of the session this week.

Sir P. M. Smith is director of the triennial; Mrs. Mabel Gray is chairman of the local arrangements committee, which includes: Mrs. P. L. Williams, D. D. Holmes and Mrs. Hattie B. Williams. Mrs. Edna V. Elgin heads the Souvenir Program Committee. Chairman of the Banquet Committee is Mrs. Philetis Walker. Host for the triennial session is Sir George S. Rodgers, chief grand mentor for the Arizona-California jurisdiction. Hostess is Daughter Bertha Shelton, grand high preceptress, of Phoenix.

Among those who have sent their personal best wishes and greetings for the success of the triennial session are President Eisenhower, Vice-President Nixon, Governor Knight, and Dr. Ralph Bunche.

Mayor Green has been mayor of Mound Bayou, Miss., for 34 years, having been elected to that post in 1920, and having served continuously since his election. He is the son of Benjamin T. Green, who with his cousin, I. T. Montgomery, founded the town in 1887. Mayor Green, the first child born in Mound Bayou, is a graduate of Fisk University and of Harvard Law School, and is a veteran of World War I.

A majority of the inhabitants of Mound Bayou are members of the International Order of Twelve, Knights and Daughters of Tabor.

The order grows out of the work of the first 12 who met at the call of Moses Dickson in 1846. In 10 years' time more than 40,000 members were aiding the Underground Railway in the pre-Civil War period. In its present form, the organization was established in 1872.

It maintains a large hospital at Mound Bayou, and a magazine, "The Taborian."

DATE FOR VERNONDALE GOLF TOURNEY SET

—On the Turf—

GEORGE RAMSEY

"DEL MAR" WHERE THE SURF MEET THE TNRF.—The $10,000 added La Jolla Handicap at one mile for 3-year-olds, headlines Saturday's thoroughbred bill of fare at the Seaside course. This will be the final tuneup for the $15,000 added Del Mar Derby to be run two weeks later.

George Ramsey

Sixteen ambitious sophomores who have their sights set on the Derby wreath a fortnight later have been nominated for the La Jolla Handicap, with the Andrew J. Crevolin Co. pair of Allied and War Tryst, the probable post time favorites for main honors.

Allied is one of the few 3-year-olds which have pinned a defeat on Crevolin's Kentucky Derby winner, Determine. He accomplished that feat recently in the Westerner Stakes at Hollywood Park and recently returned from an unsuccessful invasion of Arlington Park in Chicago. War Tryst forms a powerful running mate for Allied in the La Jolla featured event for Saturday.

BEAUTIFUL CALIENTE IN OLD MEXICO.—"Zigana, the 5-year-old daughter of Castel Fusano-Glass Ball hung a length's defeat on Anand, the New Zealand stake horse who refuses to win on this continent, in the featured Washington Handicap. Hard ridden by Alex Maese, the bay mare pounded out the mile and one-sixteenth in 1:45 1/5 to pay in the mutuels $8.60. Last Spring Zigana won three features in a row here. The streak so encouraged the doctor that he shipped her to Hollywood Park in a California campaign that proved brief and disastrous. Zigana failed to beat a horse in two tries at Hollywood Park and one at Del Mar. Describing the protest of Jockey Espinosa, who rode Anand, James C. Mcgill, presiding steward in the absence of George W. Shillings, said it was the first time he ever had been confronted by a jockey claiming foul for an incident after the race was over. The foul was promply disallowed.

'Sports' Enjoy Stag

Ernest Parker hosted a group of his friends with a stag party Sunday in the swank patio of his Kenwood avenue home. A delicious repast of barbecue chicken, ribs and hot dogs with all the trimmings were served during the afternoon and evening.

Among those honored were Paul Hanna, Harold Woods, "Bill" Polee, Ralph "Skeets" Colwell, Sam Armstrong, "Hamp" Walker, Ernest Parker, Jr., and Floyd L. Henderson.

RAMS vs. REDSKINS

The Los Angeles Rams who face the Washington Redskins, in the Coliseum in the Times Charities, Inc. football game Wednesday August 18 may set a new attendance record. The Rams are said to be a red hot ball club this season, loaded with newcomers and backed by the rugged veterans. Eastside fans will get their first glimpse of the much improved Gene Lipscombe, great Ram lineman, Deacon Dan Tower, Rambling Tank Younger, pass-catching Bob Boyd and a Woodley Lewis plus a host of others.

KNOXVILLE PREPS

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. — The Knoxville College Bulldogs under Coach Paul 'Chief' Redden have a nine game football schedule for the 1954 Season. Livingston College of Salisbury, North Carolina, a newcomer to the schedule opens the season on September 25 at the Knoxville College Stadium. Kentucky State, Benedict, Morehouse, and Alabama A. & M. are other teams to play at Knoxville.

PERPETUAL TROPHIES—Inaugurated last year will be the big stake offered in the Vernondale Seventh Annual Open tournament at Fox Hills Country Club. Carl Haley, topflight Rheingold salesman, and Eoline Thorton, last year's winner of the women's flight, display the beautiful hardware.

Annual Open Golf Tourney At Fox Hills

Sunday and Monday, Sept. 5 and 6, has been set as tee-off time for the Seventh Annual Open Vernondale Golf Tournament at Fox Hills Country Club.

This year the members of Vernondale are really planning on out-doing themselves and judging from past performances, they will really have to go some!

What with the two Perpetual Trophies inaugurated last year, golfers from far and near will be there to try and gain a leg. This year Vernondale has really come forth with a novel idea in the way of trophies. It's very hush-hush! There are to be nine flights with 27 trophies plus the two Perpetual Trophies.

Vernondale made the announcement they would have a Guest Flight for non-club members who could play to handicap given them by Vernondale. Because of action by the Western States Golf Association, "Any player without an established handicap who wishes to compete in an Association Member Club Tournament may do so only from scratch."

Thursday, Aug. 26 is the deadline. Last year the field was so large entries had to be returned.

Sinking All Putts

BY "SHOELESS JOE" JACO

The new tournament chairman, of the Cosmopolitan Golf Club, Herman Parker, who was elevated a notch when Leroy Jennings resigned, made a successful debut Sunday at Brookside Park, when he planned and conducted one of the smoothest tournaments the club has had in some time.

This tourney saw 44 cosmos sent out and kept moving steady enough so that every man was in before five hours had elapsed. The golf played was of such a caliber that the spread between the championship flights and most of the A flighters was less than a half dozen blows. This fact proves that it is not necessary to go to extreme in order to play a decent round of golf. Each Cosmopolitan member is surely aware of the difficulty encountered by our chairman in securing week end starting times for tournament play, and the prompt and efficient conducting of this sweepstakes is commendable. Arrangements are being made with the Brookside management to hold the November Sweepstakes, which is also the qualifying round for the Presidents Cup, on Armistice Day.

Sam Cummings repeated his victory of last year in the same month and on the same course by shooting a 38-36 (6)-67, to lead the top-flight boys to the wire. Bob Williams, who had a spasmodic 41 front side came back nicely on the back side with a 34, which included an electrifying 110 yard approach shot on the 17th hole which rolled in the cup for an eagle two.

Williams, however, had to subdue Sol Ellis in a sudden death playoff for runner up honors, as they both netted 68s.

J. Neal won B flight with 36-38 (9)-65. Clayton Moore defeated Fred Sanford in a sudden death for runner up laurels here. Both netted 66. Harold Batiste, the C flighter with the championship tee shot, dusted the boys off with a 45-45 (20)-70. Bill Crayton with 46-46-(21)-71, was C flight runnerup.

Softball Championship Play-Offs Start Monday

Play-offs for the Los Angeles County Softball Championships of 1954 will open Monday, August 16, with 29 teams participating, according to announcement today by County Parks and Recreation Superintendent B. P. Gruendyke. Finals will be played Thursday, August 26.

Arcadia County Park will stage double-headers on August 16 and 18 at 6:30 and 8:30 o'clock.

Beginning August 17 at Lennox and Bell Gardens County Parks, teams will fight it out every Tuesday and Thursday evening until the finals are reached on August 26.

The County Department of Parks and Recreation is entering twelve teams from four districts against teams from Culver City, Huntington Park, Monrovia, El Monte, San Gabriel, Torrance and Arcadia.

Finals will be played for midget teams on August 26 at 6:30 p.m. at Bell Gardens Park, with senior teams using the same diamond at 8:30 p.m.

The junior finals are slated August 26 at 7:30 p.m. at Lennox County Park. There will be nine senior, ten junior, and nine midget teams competing.

BUCKS PLENTIFUL AS SEASON OPENS

SACRAMENTO. — Prospects are good for a record deer harvest when California's early deer season opens Saturday, Aug. 7 for a five-week run in coastal area counties from Mendocino south to Orange and western Riverside.

Deer are plentiful and in good condition in most sections, Department of Fish and Game wardens and game men report. A heavy turn-out of hunters is predicted.

Bag limit for the coastal season is two bucks, forked horn or better. Shooting begins one-half hour before sunrise and ends one-half hour after sunset. The season ends September 12.

PROMISING ROOKIE—Gene Lipscomb, gigantic rookie tackle who was a demon on the line when the Rams defeated New York Giants 30-7 at Portland last week, goes over. Ram plays with Coach Hamp Pool. Lipscomb, Bob Boyd, Tank Younger and Dan Towler were singled out for their efforts against the Giants by the coach.

EASTER EGGS—Big Luke Easter belted out four home runs for San Diego in the Sunday double-header which the Border City nine split with San Francisco. Luke came to town this week as San Diego opened its series with Hollywood Stars Tuesday at Gilmore Field.

BOXING FANS—One of the first stops popular Schuyler Nelson, Pabst Blue Ribbon salesman, seated right, made upon his return to the city was Eddie Atkinson's Town Tavern, where they both enjoyed last night's Archie Moore-Harold Johnson championship TV bout. Both agree that the brew is as smooth and refreshing as a mid-day breeze and most enjoyable when relaxing in the plush Town Tavern, most popular Western Avenue bistro.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery
Find Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to stop bleeding—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form for hemorrhoids under the name Preparation H.* The price is only 98c a tube including an applicator. The name to ask for is Preparation H—at all drug stores. And remember—if not entirely satisfied—your money will be refunded promptly.

TO THEE I WED—Emma Valdry and Aubrey Taylor high school sweethearts, were married in the St. Paul Catholic Church recently. Taylor is an ex-GI.

Emma Valdry Weds Aubrey Taylor In Impressive Catholic Ceremony

Emma Valdry, attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Valdry, recently became the bride of Aubrey Taylor. The marriaged climaxed a romance that started in high school while both were attending the Peabody School in Alexandria.

The ceremony was held in the St. Paul Catholic Church, 4112 West Washington Blvd., before an impressive gathering of friends and relatives with the Father Richard Murray officiating.

The bride was given in marriage by her cousin Alfred Valdry of Berkeley.

The bride chose as her wedding gown tulle and chantilly lace fashioned with a mandarin collar, a fitted bodice of lace with long sleeves a bouffant waltz length skirt with a lace peplum on skirt front. Her finger tip veil fell from a pearl tiara. She carried a frothy white prayer book, and a single white orchid, with streamers of white satin ribbon attached.

Tucked in her right white brocade satin slipper was a penny for luck. Hidden under this beautiful illusion of snowy mist was a delicate powder blue lace and ribbon garter with a tiny blue forget-me-not. She borrowed a pair of pearl earrings from her cousin, Mrs. Alfred Valdry, who attended her as matron of honor. Mrs. Valdry wore baby blue nylon tulle over a matching bolero of lace, a small head piece of blue velvet and tiny forget-me-not's, and carried old fashion muff of white and pink sweet peas. The bride's only bridesmaid was her sister Voronic Valdry. She wore a waltz length pale sun-kist yellow lace and nylon, and carried a muff of white and sky blue sweet peas.

The bride's mother wore shell pink.

Her reception was held at the Kappa House.

Pacific Town To Hold Formal Dance At Elks

Plans have been announced by Bert Kenner, chairman of the entertainment committee of Pacific Town Club, for the holding of the annual summer formal dance at the Elks Ballroom August 27. Music will be furnished by Sammy Franklin's orchestra. Members and wives of the club are busily readying their "best bib and tucker" for what promises to be the highlight of the social season.

WHAT'S COOKING

BARBARA MOUNTS

The weather man says that we have just passed through the hottest month since 1877. We are all looking for ways and means of serving foods which give a cooling effect upon the preparer and the consumer. For a first course or salad try this:

CONSOMME SHERBET

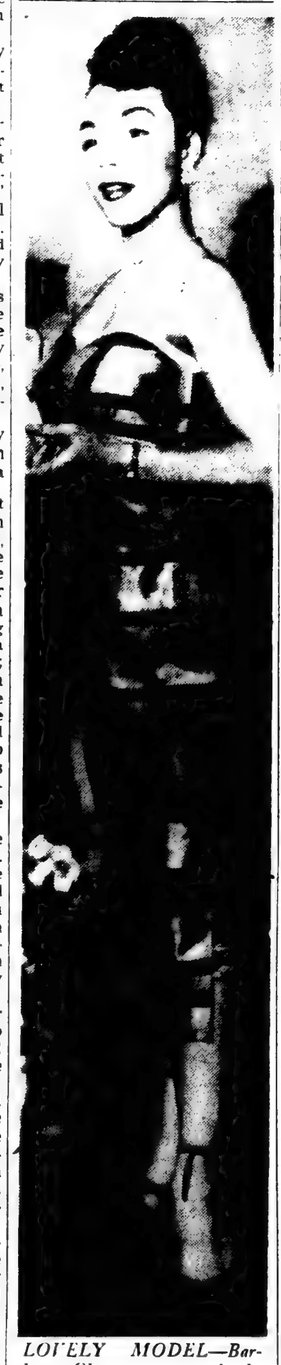
1 can beef consomme
1 can chicken consomme
1 small onion, chopped
1 teaspoon monosodium glutamate
1 tablespoon gelatin softened in 2 tablespoons cold water
¼ cup sour cream
1 teaspoon sugar
½ teaspoon salt
2 whites of eggs, beaten until stiff

Tie ¼ teaspoon each of savory, thyme, marjoram, a few cloves and twigs of rosemary in a bag and bring to a boil in consomme, squeeze to extract flavor.

To the consomme and seasoning add the chopped onion and bring to a boil. Remove from heat and add dissolved gelatin. Turn into a freezing tray and freeze until mushy.

Turn out into a chilled bowl and beat till fluffy. Fold the egg whites quickly into the mush with the sour cream and return immediately to the freezing tray for two hours. Occasionally stir down the sides of the mixture to insure even freezing.

Serve on a lettuce leaf in your pretty boullion cups or salad plates and top with a spoonful of sour cream, garnish as desired.



For the outdoor barbeque fan who is looking for new taste tempters, try making a tea of bay leaves and use it to calm the fires under your meat as the fat causes a blaze. It's simple but it does add a flavor to the meat as the resulting smoke penetrates.

A good mavinade for meat is made by combining ½ cup olive oil, the juice of 3 or 4 lemons, 6 cloves garlic crushed and a pinch of thyme and oregano, 2 tablespoons pepper, ¼ cup salt. This will marinate 3 or 4 sirloin steaks 1½ inches thick.

Bridge Pointers
By 'KENNY' SCOTT

For most people the play of this hand would be routine. But in fact most people would not even be playing it in the right contract, and as a result would miss its possibilities altogether. But with the Nationals upon us and the nation's best bridge players descending upon Oakland shortly, it is wise for all of us to sharpen up on our game.

Now this hand seems easily played at a contract of six diamonds. The queen of diamonds must be finessed, but there is only one obvious way, and in this case it is the right one. Now if the hearts break the contract is made. But even if they don't, the spade suit apparently can be set up for one discard. This makes an easy six diamonds, losing only the opening king of clubs lead.

Other Possibilities

But this hand presents other possibilities. It can be set up for a squeeze in two suits and a pseudo squeeze in the third.

After the king of clubs is led West is marked with the ace. He switches to the diamond and South catches East's queen with his ace. Here is where the squeeze comes in. At trick three South leads to the king of diamonds. Trick four South returns to his hand on the ace of hearts. Tricks five to seven South leads diamonds and West must discard three times. He throws away two clubs and a spade, leaving him with three spades, one heart and two clubs. Dummy discards one club and two spades, East discards two clubs.

At trick eight South leads to the queen of hearts and all follow suit. On trick nine South leads to the ace of hearts and West discards a club, leaving him three spades and the ace of clubs. At trick ten South leads his last diamond and West is helpless. South takes the rest of the tricks.

This method of play is superior than to attempt to set up the spade suit because there is always the possibility of a 5-1 split. The squeeze is on West in whichever long suit he holds beside clubs. If East happened to hold three spades and one less club he would be squeezed also.

A very interesting hand which is apparently routine but which teaches us to look below the surface.

Hunter Hancock In Oasis Jamboree

DEFYING ALL—Friday, the 13th superstitions are popular KFVD-KGFJ Dee-Jay Hunter "Hamlet" Hancock and vocalovely Helen Curry, new Fox-Brooks find. H. 'H.' H. is presenting his jamboree at the Club Oasis starting Friday, Aug. 13, featuring "Tick Tock" Marvin & Johnny band, Miss Curry, and what Hancock calls a "knock-down-drag-out" show.

CHAMPAGNE FOR THE QUEEN—Bartenders Lawrence Sweetwine and Ernest Garner waste little time in popin' the cork for the lady because she is the queen of New Orleans week, currently being celebrated at the popular Central Avenue cocktail parlor. Visiting guests are invited, along with former residents of the famed Crescent City.

"Chazz" Crawford's "SOUND TRACK"

Pinch-hitting for Chazz this week is winsom Wini Orr. The theatre scribe has been swamped this week with other stories and assignments for this and the following week. So Wini has gone to bat for the pen pusher who gives a deep bow from the midsection to one of his favorite newshens! Incidentally, Chazz agrees that the pickcha of "is nibs" is nowhere, and intends to be more realistic next week with another "face".

This is kicks—an opportunity to do a six weeks late review of one of the nation's top theatrical hits. I refer respectfully to that 18 years internationally touring road show, "Porgy and Bess." Naturally I read with interest the reviews of my worthy constitutents of the Fourth Estate after they had attended opening night in their well situated "comps"—I was leery of what may have happened to the lovable beggar and his sexy "baggage" since I had enjoyed Tod Duncan in the role. Controversy ran so high I flanked myself with three buddies — Emily Jones, Clem and Kay Williams—and we took four seats in the Mezzanine Circle within waving distance of each other since the show has been sold out for six consecutive weeks and promise to be likewise this final week, and settled down to form my own opinion.

As the unforgetable Gershwin tunes, with the DuBose Heyward story, jostled my memory palate it was easy to get lost in one of the tenaments of Cat Fish Row. "Summertime," "A Woman Is a Sometime Thing" (and ain't it the truth); "I Got Plenty o' Nuttin'" and the rest—with Bess (and I am glad I caught Irene Williams) one of the best stacked she-individuals to ever hit a footlight—some of the critic comment came back. It is the greatest—and one of the most enjoyable evenings I've spent was in Cat Fish Row peeping into the private lives of "Porgy and Bess." Try not to miss this final week as they take off for the East Coast and then away to Europe.

But I've got a bit of complaint and this is strictly for the producer of the show, whom I am told has plent of loot. The scenery is, after all, 18 years old and certainly Cat Fish Row must have had some architectural improvements with the way Paul R. Williams and Frank Garrott have things moving—so why in heaven's name haven't they, while in the third largest city in the nation, taken a stroll in the cool(?)—just about six or seven blocks straight down Fifth Street from where the Civic Light Opera's Philharmonic Auditorium is—and gathered new ideas for a REAL slum area. At least ours is now—while theirs is pass

Disc Jockey Opens Friday In Frantic Show

Friday the 13th will be bad luck for the blues and good luck for blues followers, for the rhythm and blues king, Hunter Hancock, brings in a rocking, rolling Jamboree starring hit record "Tick Tock" favorites, Marvin and Johnny, at the Club Oasis, Western at 38th.

Along with Marvin and Johnny will be Marvin Phillips combo, plus the first night club appearance of newly discovered songbird Helen Curry, a tremendous stylist with a fabulous vocal range, plus the dancing of exciting Florene Collete.

To top the bill there will be songs by none other than "Old H.H.," himself, making his first appearance as a master of ceremonies and entertainer in a regular nightery stint. A big array of top musical personalities will regularly ringside and perhaps perform guest stints during the engagement, with plenty of surplus stars promised.

The popular KFVD and KGFJ disc jockey is getting in practice by warbling along with the records he regularly spins on his radio programs. Despite Hunter's humorous explanation, "I may not be good, but I sure am loud," his voice is heard and enjoyed regularly in some of Southern California's most famous choirs.

Jackie Sheppherd New Head of Broadway Club

Jackie Sheppherd popular and attractive figure in the city will take over the New Broadway Club, at 4374 South Broadway. One of the highlights of the beautiful new club Broadway is the unique comfortable low piano bar. The drinks are priced right and your favorite mixilogists, Jack Freeman and Bob (The Man) Barbour will be right on hand to really give you that famous club Broadway welcome.

The food is delirious and the friendly atmosphere spearheaded by pretty Jackie Sheppherd will without a doubt make a regular customer of you and your party.

Remember, it's not a spotlight you'll be following Monday night, it'll be the huge crowd, that will be going in one direction, to the newest, jumpiest spot in town to dig the organ artistry of the inimitable Perry Blackwell.

Gourmet Guide

By RALPH E. ALEXANDER

Summer time and the living is easy . . . It is our hope that your summer days have been filled with the best things of life. A gourmet is a lover of the finest foods of life . . . so if your vacation time is yet to come . . . why not take a dining trip with me . . . and I will introduce you to some of the members of the Gourmet Guide . . .

Vina's House of Fine Foods is our choice of the dining place of the week. Sunday I had the pleasure of dining at this unique dining room. I enjoyed a Roast Beef dinner supreme with au gratin potatoes as only CHEF COLLINS can fix . . . an excellent bottle of dry wine, a specialty with Vina's gave the meal a zest. Service by Rubel Ray was tops, there was no need to ask for a thing.

Among the guest we chatted with was Mr. and Mrs. Bowser of Cleveland, Ohio . . . Vina's lovely and talented niece, Miss Reynolds and her two lady friends from Utah.

DINAH WASHINGTON TO END RUN AT 5-4 BALLROOM

Musician Proposes World Orchestra

BEETHOVEN AND WAGNER will vie with celebrated popular artists and songs during Hollywood Bowl's sixth week of Symphonies Under the Stars, which will see one of America's top recording artists, Singer Nat (King) Cole make his debut in the famous amphitheatre Sat., Aug. 21.

Helen Hayes Returning To Legitimate Theatre At Hollywood Showhouse

Richard Skinner, general manager and associate producer for the Huntington Hartford Theatre, has announced officially that the new Hollywood and Vine Street showhouse will open on September 27 with Helen Hayes starring in "What Every Woman Knows".

Historic Landmark

The Huntington Hartford Theatre, originally opened in the late '20s as the Vine Street Theatre, has been completely remodeled and redecorated by its new owner, Huntington Hartford, millionaire philanthropist and art patron, into what is undoubtedly the most beautiful and functional legitimate theatre in the world. It will be the policy of the house to play only top stars in hit plays.

Ten Year Absence

Miss Hayes, who has not been seen on the local stage for ten years, was selected by Hartford and Skinner for the honor of starring in the first play under the new banner, since she has long been considered the "first lady of the theatre". The Sir James Barrie play was selected for the opening vehicle because it has long been considered a modern classic and one in which Miss Hayes has won worldwide acclaim.

Fall Opening

The opening bill will play for only four weeks here, to be followed by a tour of the West Coast of six weeks prior to Miss Hayes opening at the New York City Center. This will mark the first time in a number of years that a locally produced non-musical play has originated here and actually been booked for a New York run.

Ray Charles Joins Dinah In 5-4 Finale

The farewell West Coast appearances of Dinah Washington will be this weekend, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, August 13, 14 and 15, at Billy Berg's 5-4 Ballroom, after which the "Queen of the Juke Boxes" hurries to New York where she will star in a television film.

RAY CHARLES

The vivacious Dee's usual stay on the West Coast ordinarily extends for three months but her urgent recall to the East to film her picture cuts her scheduled appearances. Her program at the 5-4 will include her all-time Mercury record hits, plus her inimitable styling of extra special Dinah Washington blues.

Before her Oakland appearances at Slim Jenkins Supper Club, Dinah recorded a number of sides for Mercury records in Hollywood in a recording session. Joining Dinah will be Ray Charles the highly bleated blind musician.

Percy McDavid Seeks Approval Of Federation

Percy McDavid, organizer and founder of the Los Angeles Metropolitan Band, is requesting approval of the American Federation of Musicians to expand the International Symphony Orchestra and to recruit musicians from other countries. McDavid organized the orchestra in Los Angeles about three years ago, and was careful to include musicians with many national and ethnical backgrounds. The personnel is made up of some of this country's finest artists,—experienced musicians from the symphony orchestras of Vienna, Berlin, London, New York, etc. The main objective of the International Symphony Orchestra is the promotion of international amity.

Copy of Communication

President of Brazil
Rio de Janeiro, Brazil
Your Excellency:

With the firm conviction that music should be used as a valuable instrument for the promotion of friendship among nations, several years ago I organized the forty-five-piece International Symphony Orchestra here in Los Angeles. We were careful to include musicians with many national and ethnical backgrounds, and we are proud that some of this country's finest artists are members of the orchestra. Our faith has been more than justified by an enthusiastic public and private interest in the magnanimity of our project. Futher, the government of the United States, through the Department of State, has assured us that ". . . This government recognizes the importance of the Arts in contributing to international understanding . . ."

Now, it is time to expand our orchestra into what we hope truly will be The International Symphony Orchestra,—a citizens' project espousing no political or economic ideologies. We would recruit one or two outstanding musicians from each major nation of the world, and would welcome the participation of smaller nations. These musicians, along with the forty-five we already have, would make up the International Symphony Orchestra. We wish to have a personnel of approximately one hundred musicians, and consequently propose to decrease or increase the number of musicians from our country in accordance with the number of participants from other countries. We would invite prominent conductors in the various nations to appear as guest conductors with the International Symphony Orchestra. We would rehearse for two months, tour the world for nine months, and rest for one month.

Our plans are flexible. With private support in the United States for our forty-five member nucleus by individuals and organizations, and by business which have international markets; with similar proportionate support from other participating nations; with thoroughly democratic procedures in the expansion and administration of the orchestra, our purpose can be achieved.

Music is the international language, and we are convinced that a world tour by the International Symphony Orchestra would be a priceless medium for inspiring world amity and peace. It would have special significance for the less fortunate peoples of the world, and its worth would far exceed its cost. We must succeed. . . . While no definite commitments to participate are sought at this time, certainly any personal expression of faith in our type of project by you, as a leader of one of the world's great nations, and by leaders of other nations will assure success for the project. Your early reply will shorten our time-table and will be much appreciated.

'DUKE' ELLINGTON'S CRESCENDO DATE TO BEGIN FRIDAY

Angeleno's are still talking about the sensational party that master showman and musician Duke Ellington had thrown in his honor last April, but now they will have a chance to join him in a "Hollywood Party" lasting for three weeks and three days! Yes, Ellington fans are set for a continuous party because the Duke invades the plush Sunset Strip area on Friday, August 13 when he brings his world famous orchestra into the beautiful Crescendo. This will be Ellington's first lengthy stay in the film capitol and will be the last for some time as the band takes off on a lengthy tour in September.

During recent months Duke's Capitol recording "The Isle of Capri," seems to have captured the fancy of Mambo fans all over the country so this has phompted Duke to record another Mambo. It's called "The Bunny Hop Mambo" and already appears to be on its way.

IN THE TRUE SPIRIT of the west, pretty M-G-M star Ann Blyth reigns as Queen of the Tenth Annual Sheriff's Championship Rodeo starring Gene Autry in the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum Sunday afternoon, August 22.

Louis Jordan Set To Rip Up Sunset Strip

The Sunset Strip's sparkling glitter will really get shaken up and rock next week when "Mr. Personality" himself, Louis Jordan, brings his augmented Tympany Five plus The Robbins vocal harmonizing to Pat Coleman's Club Trocadero, 8425 Sunset Blvd., next Thursday, August 19.

Blues-shouting, sax-tooting Louis Jordan has sold well over 15 million record for Decca and has been dubbed "King of the Waxworks," winning numerous music polls and sensationally showing up first 66 times in 78 weeks in a recent Billboard Record Popularity Poll. Louis's all-time hit classics include "Outskirts of Town," "Choo Choo Ch' Boogie," "Beware," "Caldonia" and scores of other hit records.

EVA MARIE SAINT and MARLON BRANDO supply the romantic spark in "On the Waterfront," currently in its second gigantic week at the Downtown Paramount Theatre.

from that—I have no complaints with "Porgy and Bess" —wouldn't anyway after "Tobacco Road" — or the 22 year running "Drunkard" — and something I remember as "The Grapes of Wrath" — at least "Porgy" leaves a musical inheritance to be compared with none.

Current Scenery — Folks still commenting on the modern version of: How to be a Movie Wet-back as focused in the Eagle recently — Took a little figuring to see what one could do with the $6.00 per day—one day—as offered by the Unemployment office for extras for the "Carmen Jones" story. Regardless of who sent who, there had to be a budget stipulated by someone—and I think (correct me if I'm wrong) these policies are set up in many conferences between Director, staff and studio long before shooting starts — Methinks if it occurs again 'twould be a nice opening for the Urban League and NAACP to look into—or for the executives of same to sit under those lights a full day — with overtime not particulary observed as was told—and see if is worth an agument.

Comments on the Cafe Society Circuit—Kitty White—the doll —soon to be heard on Century records with a new release that has her backed by 20 pieces. Her current disc of "Jesse James" leaves me with a beam —Ditto for Scat Man Crothers, who is disc-ing. Last Thursday, previewed the opening of Anita Bogans, Ruby Garrett and Jay Foley's newest venture—a complete wedding shop located at 5521 Central where the old Garrett-dress shop was — Buy, rent or borrow anything from the bride's veil to the groom's garters—boutonniere to nosegay (those are flowers, my fran). Promises to solve more matrimonial problems than the program "Bride and Groom" as only one couple gets lucky on that—Morroco with Eddie Heywood a favorite stopping place —Betty Morris at "Your Room" entertaining with steady piano meanderings and of course that Peter Pan of Pianists. Bob Mosely still, and where else, at the Intime—Thanks, and this has been fun—Wini Orr.

PEOPLE & PLACES

down Mexico and the Senors are taking to her like bees to honey!

CHUCK JACKSON — ex-Jefferson High School track star, is piloting a new two-toned Holiday!

CLAYTON BRUCE — co-owner of Swank Cleaners, may have to tell it to the judge if wifie goes through as planned!

PROMOTING EXAMS — the Sheriff's department got the shock of its life when only five brother badgers passed its recent examination!

BOBO BRAZIL — whose hugs chill you, invited lovely Dalyce Curry to join him in a flight to Arizona but was turned down because of rehearsals!

FIRE CHIEF—His latest move to duck racial segregation is sending out an all ofay fact finding committee. Guess who they called upon? The two all-Negro stations and learned everyone was for integration! Next move chief!

BILL WELCH — upset the classy trade in the Milomo the other afternoon when he strolled in with a looted model out of Chicago who answers to the name of Sue Pointer!

ANNA MARIE — the beautiful body with a voice is making up her mind about three attractive offers!

NAT COLE — flew in to be on hand for Mamie Anderson rites and to sing a special song written for her by her hubby Eddie!

PICNIC ROW — Two young married gals almost came to blows over the charms of another brother at the fourth annual Associated Clubs Brookside Park hoe-down. Each wanted him to eat out of her basket!

BEAUTICIANS — are buzzing over the fact that a well known hair stylist out Western way will have to get another car. Seems like she took over the Ninety-Eight two-toned job purchased by another chick. Now said chick is back in town. Somebody's got to go!

AUDREY EDWARDS — pint-sized brownskin beauty, who won the "Associated Club" Queen contest was the last entry to appear before the judges and when she did she walked off with the title. Her charms are just that breath-taking!

EMMA FLETCHER—the shapely waitress at the Paradise, has the kind of figure that most women die for! While the males just eye-grind!

UNION BLUES — that well-known Western avenoo supper club was minus its music because of Union matters!

JOSEPHINE WALKER — is spreading her irresistible charms about the plush spots in Chicago. She's on her vacation from Thrifty Drugs' at 43rd and Central!

JACKIE SHEPPHERD — takes over the Broadway Club as soon as her doctor releases her. She underwent a major operation a few weeks ago!

BIG PLUNGE — During that gay party for the cast of Porgy and Bess things came within a drink of getting out of hand. In fact a group of brothers tossed another in the pool fully dressed. Another got carried away with the beauty of a hardboiled top Hollywood actor's wife and kissed her passionately on her pretty chops and Cain almost mutinied! Then there were some weird actions in a couple of the rooms involving a quartet of males who weren't advocating Women Suffrage!

CHALKY WRIGHT — ex-featherweight champion, finally cornered a cocktail parlor he calls his own. So drop in the Century at 4211 S. Broadway and bend elbows with National ranking boxers!

JOHNNY WATSON—19-year-old band leader, is the youngest in the business. The gay blades along swing street say he's got a real nervous crew!

NORVA HILL—will manage the smart 2000 Arlington Avenoo Apartments. She'll kick-off with a cocktail party come Sunday afternoon.

WINI ORR — newsgal, will handle her business out of the Isadora Brown West Adams office dealing in rentals, publicity and promotions!

DELLA McCREARY — dynamic, dimpled, darling of the secretarial 'whirl' is devoting her every awakened moment to the Kutcher Civil Rights Committee as its proficient publicist.

WILLIAM "BILL" NORTON — Marshal in Division 29, eases the pain of paying for a traffic violation. Bill's personality has likewise made him one of the most popular members of St. Paul's Catholic church.

DEMILA LEE SANDERS—California Eagle's Northern California Representative is rapidly recuperating from minor surgery. In the relative short period of one month Demila has already made the oldest weekly newspaper a reading must with intelligent Northerners.

THERYSE SMITH—rates more attention than a battery of traffic officers whenever she crosses any westside street in her neat heat attire. Theryse's graciousness and pleasantness have given her more friends than a dollar bill during a Democratic administration.

In the 'Mink'

WHO LIKES MINK?—Jean Murray seems to as she admires the beautiful mink stole Thrifty Drug Stores are giving away in their August Jubilee Jackpot. Lucky Thrifty customers will win this stole and thousands of other valuable prizes, including a complete electric kitchen, during the month of August.

Sheriffs Smash Plumbing, Vases; Seek Evidence

Sheriff's deputies Thursday afternoon entered the well-kept home of Mrs. Rebecca Potters, 5943 Makee street, swept through it like a cyclone and left it in shambles.

Using a hammer, they smashed the toilet to bits. Then in an hour-and-a-half volcano, they ransacked beds, upturned furniture, emptied contents of dresser drawers in heaps, broke vases and left the house a virtual wreck.

Mrs. Potters told the Eagle that she had not resisted arrest or caused any provocation. She said she sat by as quietly as possible trying to still the screams of her daughter's frightened 13 month-old baby.

Claim Evidence Found

The deputies said they raided the place on suspicion that it was a bookie joint and were looking for evidence. They claimed they found it, too, part of it in the trap beneath the toilet bowl.

Mrs. Potters asserts that in addition to the damage to her home, the seven deputies, including one woman, made off with some $200 in cash. Her at-

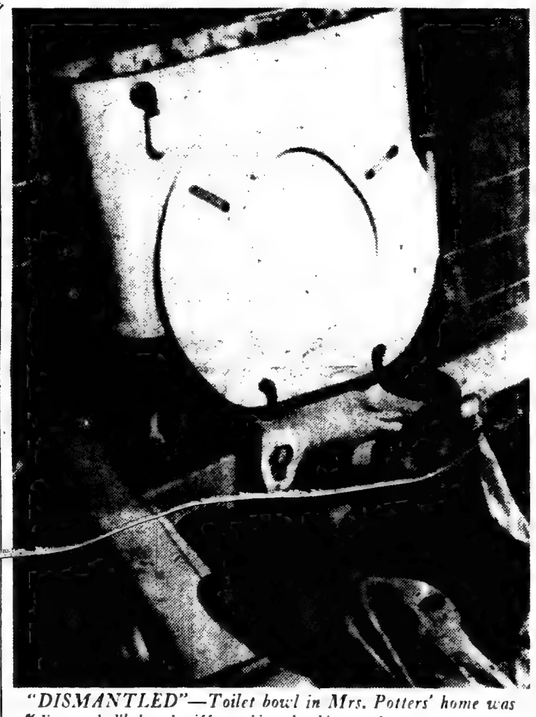
City Approves Relocation of War-Time Homes

Following the advice of the city attorney, the City Housing Advisory and Appeals Board Wednesday refused to revoke a permit for the re-location of war time, barracks-type housing at 120th and Wadsworth streets.

Residents of the area had protested bitterly against placement of the housing on the ground that it would depreciate property values and would cause the entire community to deteriorate. Protests were led by the South Los Angeles Home Owners Protective Association.



Loren Miller and Samuel Sheats, attorneys for the property owners, said they would resort to the court to test the right of the city to grant the permits. Oscar Long, president of the Association, told reporters suits would be filed immediately.

Witnesses at a hearing held by the Board had testified that the buildings do not meet requirements of the city building code, particularly in reference to the use of wall supports and ceiling construction.

The buildings were moved to the location by the Rogers Sales Company and the Janis Investment company following their purchase from the site of the Jordan Downs housing development at 103rd street and Central avenue.

The buildings were constructed by the federal government during the war as emergency projects to meet housing needs and were earmarked as having a ten year life span. They were built almost exactly ten years ago and the government disposed of them to make way for new modern low cost housing developments.

Most of the housing in the community is comparatively new, having been built in the past ten years. The homes are valued at from ten to 14 thousand dollars and appraisers said their value would be cut in half.

Jury Weighs Facts In Murder Trial

The jury was still out at noon Wednesday, after deliberating for a day and a half over the fate of Lewis Samuel Carr, who killed a rival for his wife's affections with a single revolver shot last Feb. 28.

The sensational murder case, which opened Aug. 6, went to the jury at the opening of court Tuesday. On Wednesday morning, after being locked up all night, the 12 men and women returned to the box for a rehearing of vital portions of the testimony.

The state has demanded the death penalty for the 42-year-old husband who claimed he "blanked out" in the fateful early morning when he saw his wife kiss her friend, Charles Williams, goodbye.

The state claimed that the killing was first-degree murder, insisting that the shooting was premeditated.

On the stand, Carr's wife, Mrs. Ruby Lee Carr, mother of a 10-year-old daughter, admitted her relations with the slain man.

During the course of the trial, judge, jury and accused re-visited the scene of the killing.

Through questions in the 11-day legal battle, Carr's attorneys, Gladys Root and Herbert Grossman, attempted to show that the accused man was devoted to his wife, and trusted her despite the rumors he had

Loving Wife Forgives After Attack

Eunice Hill, 20, 2108 Griffith, and husband, Robert got into an argument over food that ended in a little friendly brawl last Sunday. Hill, evidently unhappy with his wife's cooking, threw her a dollar bill and then jumped on her.

Knocking her against a glass table, he grabbed a piece of the broken glass and started cutting and choking her at the same time.

After the hitting, choking and cutting, Hill went to the bedroom and got a gun and threatened her. She told Newton Police officers that he had shot at her once before. Eunice, after being treated at Georgia Receiving Hospital for cuts on the arms and hips, refused to prosecute her husband.

Count Basie, Wife Split On Sour Note

By "Chazz" Crawford

The marriage of the good Count Basie and his winsome wife Catherine had lost its bounce this week and the couple were arguing loudly in the east.

The jazz pianist who just recently made off with the annual Downbeat magazine award as the band of the year is said to have pitched a real down-home donnybrook with Catherine, and she wants a divorce.

The trouble is said to have started over a note she found in one of Basie's suits signed by vocaluscious Bixie Crawford, the femme thrush with his aggregation.

Nice Gift

Catherine just naturally flipped and put the Count out of the pad, informing him to have a good explanation before settling down to roost there again.

Mrs. Basie told newsmen that her musician hubby attempted to placate her with a gift of a spanking new Cadillac, but that

Porgy's 'Bess' Set to Marry News Editor

Michigan Chronicle, please note:

Irene Williams, the flame haired lovely who plays Bess in the Gershwin musical folk drama "Porgy and Bess," confided to this scribbler that she intends to marry Bill Matney, editor of the Michigan Chronicle and secretary to the Michigan Boxing Commission.

The luscious operetta star buttonholed this reporter the closing night of the show's local run to whisper that she and dapper Matney are shopping for a parson and will probably be "welded" any paragraph.

Moreover, the starry-eyed miss has been selected to interpret her stage role of Bess in the Cinemascopic screen version of Porgy and Bess to be filmed in Munich, Germany sometime this winter. And it really couldn't happen to a nicer or more deserving doll. —C.C.

NAACP Leader Suspended as Red; To Fight Dismissal

NEW YORK—Theodore Griffin, president of the Asbury Park-Neptune branch of the NAACP for the past four years, state director of the Civil Liberties Department of the Elks for eight years, and a government employe for 14 years, has been fired from his civilian Air Force job as a "Red."

He was suspended on the grounds he had maintained "sympathetic association" with Communists and might be subject to their influences. Two of the alleged Communists were members of the NAACP Newark branch, and Griffin's association with them was in connection with his official branch duties.

Woman Dies After Arrest On Dope Rap

Alice Johnson, 39, died Sunday morning, Aug. 15, after being arrested for violation of the State Narcotics acts, two days previously. Police officials of the Los Angeles County Jail said that Miss Johnson contracted pneumonia and that other complications contributed to her death. Her only known relative is Viola Conrade, a niece, of 1765 E. 42nd street.

Makes Escape When Woman Yells for Help

A sex-crazed youth struck at his fourth victim in the South Park area Saturday night, escaping when the woman he was molesting screamed for help.

Latest victim of the youthful criminal, whom police believe to be only about 14 years old, was Mrs. Ruby Jamerson, housewife, 22, of 5253 S. Main st.

Followed Her

Mrs. Jamerson told police that after she left her home Saturday night about 9:15 p.m., she became aware that a young man was following her. When she walked rapidly, he quickened his speed. When she stopped suddenly, he stopped, too, pretending to tie his shoe-lace.

Then he disappeared. When Mrs. Jamerson resumed her walk, she said she noticed he had crossed the street, but kept an even pace with her.

As Mrs. Jamerson aproached Park Front Walk, she said the youth could no longer be seen. Then suddenly he reappeared behind her. As she turned, he hit her on the back of the head with a blunt object and attempted to pull her behind some bushes bordering Avalon Park.

Makes Get-Away

Her screams and struggles apparently alarmed him. He threw her to the sidewalk, and made his getaway between a row of houses.

The young woman was treated at Georgia Street Receiving hospital for lacerations of the scalp and bruises. She claimed she could identify her attacker if she ever saw him again.

In a statement to police, she said he was the same youth who had followed her once before. She described him as weighing 110 pounds, and being about 5 foot 6 inches tall. He wore levi pants and tennis shoes.

Police said Mrs. Jamerson was the fourth woman attacked in the same general area.

Man Burned To Death As Home Gutted

Jessie Erwin, 40-year-old native of Texas, died from second and third degree burns on face, hands and the upper parts of his body Sunday morning when fire gutted the apartment in which he was living at 1360¼ E. 48th street.

The Arson Squad reported that they believed the fire had started from a lighted cigarette burning in an overstuffed chair.

Erwin's sister, Mrs. Martha Major, however, questioned this theory. She said she talked to him at 7 a. m. and he made no mention of a fire. His body was found at 8:55 a. m. in the bathroom of the apartment. Firemen believed he had tried to escape through the bathroom window, but was trapped.

A niece, Miss Florine Fluellen, discovered the fire.

Erwin, who came here last October from Gilman, Texas, is survived by four brothers, Otis Erwin, Jeff Erwin, B. C. Erwin, all of Los Angeles; and J. H. Erwin, of Dallas; and four sisters, Mrs. Major, Mrs. Zella B. Henderson, Mrs. Valorie Bozeman, of Los Angeles; and Lotha Mae Stubberfield, of Dallas.

The funeral is being held Saturday, with arrangements by Avalon Funeral Home.

CHARGE DROPPED—Narcotics charges against lovely June Ekseline, divorced wife of Billy, were dropped Monday when the case came up in court. Insufficient evidence was the cause.

KILLED IN FIRE—Jessie Erwin died at his home Sunday, burned to death in a fire police believed was caused by a burning cigarette.

MOST WANTED—Among State's 10 most wanted criminals is Leonard Hamilton, alias Robert Taylor, alias Neil Hamilton. The 51-year-old, 180-pound, sweet-talking hold-up man arrived here from Chicago in a snappy Cadillac in February and since then has committed 20 robberies. 'He packs a revolver, but hasn't used it yet.

Real Estate Men Oppose Truck Route

The Mid-West Realty Board, composed of real estate brokers in the Washington, Adams, Pico and Olympic Blvd. areas, last week vigorously protested a proposal now being considered by traffic engineers to turn Washington Blvd. into an artery for trucks.

The motion was submitted to the board at its regular meeting by Clarence Urban, of 3417 W. Washington Blvd.

It points out that some 20 years ago when a similar proposal was made and opposed by merchants and residents of the district, a compromise was reached whereby all C-2 zone streets in Los Angeles would take their share of truck traffic instead of placing the burden of "noisy, slow and unsightly traffic" on only a few of these streets.

The resolution asks the City Council not to "change the present truck ordinance to the great detriment of a few city streets and boulevards that could easily cause the loss of millions of dollars in property values, cause vacant stores and loss of business investments, as well as a direct nuisance to a well-developed, high-class residential district."

Air Force Fires NAACP Leader; Will Fight Back

ACP administrator, announced the association will defend the accused man. The NAACP, Wilkins asserted, rejects the theory of "guilt by association" and accordingly will use all of its resources in Griffin's defense.

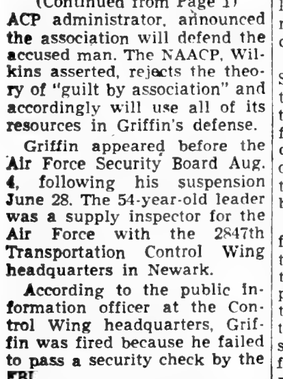
Griffin appeared before the Air Force Security Board Aug. 4, following his suspension June 28. The 54-year-old leader was a supply inspector for the Air Force with the 2847th Transportation Control Wing headquarters in Newark.

According to the public information officer at the Control Wing headquarters, Griffin was fired because he failed to pass a security check by the FBI.

Fighter for Equality

Griffin is widely known in Asbury Park as the champion of many fights for racial equality. He led the fight for integration in the city's school system in 1950, and also led the battle in Salem, N.J. against restaurant owners who refused to serve delegates to the 1948 Elks State convention.

Griffin has been president of the NAACP branch since 1951.



At the hearing before the Security Board, he said he was accused of having associated with three alleged Communists.

He said he testified he had never associated with any of them socially, but that he did encounter them in the course of his duties as president of the NAACP. He said two of those named were members of the branch.

He said he had held his job at the Newark Depot since May 2, 1952, and that he had served previously for 10 years as civilian storekeeper at Fort Hancock.

torney, Alan Ross, advised that his client will sue the County for recovery of the money and for repayment of the damage.

Denies Charges

Mrs. Potters, meanwhile, was taken to Firestone station, from there to the County jail, and booked on suspicion of running a bookie joint. She was released on a habeas corpus writ on $500, and appeared for a preliminary hearing Wednesday morning. She denies the charges made against her.

Lt. W. A. McMann of the Sheriff's Vice Squad, said that the officers went to Mrs. Potters' home following complaints from neighbors about the steady stream of traffic in and out of the house which caused them to suspect that the place was being used for book-making.

He said that Mrs. Potters had flushed something down the toilet and that it was necessary to "dismantle part of the plumbing" in order to recover the markers she had thrown there. He said officers also searched the premises looking for other book-making paraphernalia.

The report of property taken, he said, lists the following items: three telephones, a clock, a revolver, a betting marker, scratch sheets, an "owe" sheet, and other items habitually used by bookies.

heard repeatedly about her infidelity.

On the night of the killing, Mrs. Carr stayed out till about 3 a.m. Carr, seeing her return with Williams, said he wanted to talk to him to try to persuade him not to break up his home. When he saw the two embrace, he said, he acted without being aware of what he was doing.

Williams, seeing Carr coming towards him, stepped on the gas in an endeavor to get away. Carr fired one shot. It hit his rival in the head. The Carrs lived at 1573 E. 47th street. The shooting occurred outside of 1543 E. 47th street.

Polio Sunshine Association In Fund Raising Program

The Polio Sunshine Association has worked a small miracle for little Willie Morrow, who has never been able to walk since he was born six years ago.

While other children were running and romping, Willie was still only able to crawl. Now with the aid of crutches and braces supplied by the association he is busy trying his delicate legs.

Willie's mother, a member of the association, devotes most of her time to aiding her young son. For his birthday, the organization gave him a small saxophone, to encourage him in his musical development and to aid in the exercise of his fingers.

Willie is only one of the many children being helped by the Polio Sunshine Association.

A fund-raising radio and television program is being given for the group Friday evening, Aug. 20, at the Victory Baptist church, 48th and McKinley avenue. The children who are being assisted and members of the association will be present to greet guests.

Soldier Back Home After Korean Stint

Surprise, Mom!

Sgt. Willie Tarver II stopped off briefly in Los Angeles Tuesday on his way to Fontana for a surprise homecoming after 14 months in Korea, three of them in the fierce fighting above the 38th parallel.

He was looking forward with keen anticipation to greeting his father and mother, Willie Tarver and Mrs. Beatrice Tarver, and his nine brothers and sisters at the family home, 6263 Cooper street, Fontana.

Two years ago he enlisted in the Infantry, and his hitch won't be up until July, 1955. He arrived in Seattle on the General John Polk on Friday the 13th.

Prior to embarking for the U.S. he had been stationed with the Korean Military Advisory Group in Taegu, 90 miles south of Pusan, where he had assisted in training troops of the Republic of Korea army.

His outfit, he said, was probably the "best in Korea," as far as integration goes, and then added: "Any soldier will say his outfit's the best."

Born in Shreveport, La. the sergeant came to Santa Monica when he was two years old. After graduating from the Chaffey High school in Ontario in 1949 he worked with his grandfather, E. G. Allen of Santa Monica, in the Allen Maintenance Co.

Nice seeing you, soldier! Welcome back.

Progressive Demos Pick Queen Hopefuls

The Progressive Democratic Club of Los Angeles, meeting at the home of its president, Mrs. Fay Allen, last Friday, received its official charter and selected two candidates for queen of the state-wide Democratic club picnic.

The charter from the Democratic County Central Committee, presented by James Roosevelt, Democratic candidate for Congress in the 26th Congressional district, was accepted by Mrs. Allen and other club officers. A question and answer period followed the presentation during which Jimmy discussed plans for the coming election.

The candidates for queen are Mrs. Rosetta Smith and Miss Fannie Williams. Mrs. Smith, young housewife, is also a photo-colorist and floral arranger, and is an active new member of the club.

Miss Williams is working toward a Master's Degree in Public Health at the University of Southern California. She also participates in bowling, tennis, swimming as outstide activities.

The picnic is to be held on Sunday, Aug. 29, at the La Crescenta picnic grounds.

DRINK Coca-Cola

Larry Doby
veteran ace of the Cleveland Indians, pauses to refresh between innings with a frosty bottle of Coca-Cola.

Ever notice how many baseball players are big stars during spring training, but are never heard of again? The big leagues demand quality performance day after day, week after week, year after year, and only players with something "extra" make the grade. That's the way it is with a lot of other things, too.

Here's a good example: for more than four generations — ever since 1886 — people have enjoyed ice-cold Coca-Cola. Day after day, week after week, year after year, Coke has been a quality product. Best of all, Coca-Cola has always had the same magic sparkle — the same wonderful taste — it has today.

Red Carpet Spread For Mayor of Miss.

Trainload after trainload of delegates and friends, numbering in all about 200, converged on Los Angeles this week to attend the 20th Triennial Grand Session of the Knights and Daughters of Tabor.

The red carpet was spread out for Mayor Benjamin A. Green, of Mound Bayou, Miss., who together with Sir P. M. Smith, International Chief Grand Mentor of the Taborian organization, was greeted at the station by a huge welcoming party.

Meets City Fathers

A city of Los Angeles limousine, red lights flashing, was waiting for the mayor to whisk him off to the Cosmopolitan hotel, convention headquarters, where another welcoming committee headed by Councilman Roybal awaited the visitors.

Gilbert Lindsey, acting as representative of Supervisor Kenneth Hahn, was one of those who met the mayor at the station and who later escorted him on a tour of County facilities. On Wednesday Mayor Green addressed the City Council, visited the Board of Supervisors, and met the city's high chieftains.

No Jail in Mound Bayou

To Inspector England of the Sheriff's Department, Mayor Green pointed out that the town he comes from abolished jails in 1920, when he became mayor.

"Do you mean to say you have no wrong-doers in Mound Bayou?" asked the inspector.

"We have wrong-doers," replied Mayor Green. "But we don't put them in jail. We try to make every person a good citizen. If we have to fine them, we do. Then we talk to them from time to time. If they show they understand the nature of their crime, and show that they want to do better, we return the fine they paid."

Banquet

The delegates were feted with a banquet Monday evening, punctuated by brief speeches from various officers of the order, followed by entertainment featuring Joseph Hairston, Mrs. May Montoya Jones in magnificent Indian regalia, and 16 members of the Circle Square dancers providing an early California welcome for the guests.

Los Angeles' International Grand High Preceptress Mabel V. Gray was chairman of the event.

The first official session of the Taborians convened Tuesday morning. Every woman member was dressed in white. The ritual of the organization, based on history, touches upon events in early Ethiopian life

Speeches Mark Opening of New Kearny P.O.

Amid music, speeches and entertainment, the new Kearny Post Office opened its doors on Friday the 13th.

Acting Postmaster Otto K. Oleson with a giant scissors snipped the ribbon theoretically blocking entrance to the commodious new facility at 1211 E. Vernon avenue.

Community and civic leaders on hand to witness the event included Assemblyman Augustus F. Hawkins, Judge Thomas L. Griffith, Jr., Dr. H. Claude Hudson and Supervisor Kenneth Hahn.

Postal officials in attendance included Post Office Inspector D. A. Pressly, Asst. Postmaster Warner McIntyre, Gen. Supt. of Mails Wm. H. Green, Senior Asst. Supt. Chris Scott, and A. C. Garrott, superintendent, and Francis Anstine, foreman, respectively of Kearny Station.

The entertainment featured the Hunter-Hancock show, the Queens, Singers Ernie Andrews and June Lang, and Johnny Green, pianist and vocalist.

Olesen said the new station was to open for business Wednesday, Aug. 18, at 8 a.m. He explained that the extra space provided by the new building's 8575 square feet of floor space will furnish much needed additional working area for Kearney's 93 employees. He added that the 66-foot loading dock in the front of the building will facilitate the handling of the mail and pointed out additional lock boxes have been installed for the convenience of Kearny patrons.

All Markets Checked, Assures Health Director

The report that 1300 pounds of rotten meat found in a Central avenue market had been destroyed by the Health Department, which appeared in last week's paper, has brought a flood of calls both to the Eagle and to the health center.

Dr. Pauline O. Roberts, Southeast District Health Officer, has again advised the Eagle that she is unable to release the name of the market involved unless and until court action is instituted.

She pointed out, once more, however, that all of the spoiled meat has been destroyed, and that residents can be assured that the department is watching vigilently to see that no tainted foods are put up for sale in any store.

"Health Department District sanitarians routinely inspect the food establishments in the area and whenever violations are discovered necessary action for immediate correction is taken," the health official declared.

"Local residents may be interested to know that a concentrated program of inspection of all meat markets in the district is currently underway," Dr. Robert continued. "This service protects businesses as well as the general public and assures consumers that the foodstuffs purchased are sold under proper sanitary conditions."

Registration For School Starts Sept. 1

A six-day registration period for all new elementary school pupils will begin Sept. 1 in the 368 schools throughout the city.

School principals will pre-register new students, both for kindergarten and for higher grades from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. during the six days in preparation for opening of school Sept. 13.

All students—other than kindergarten or first grade—planning to enter a Los Angeles City school from a school outside the city or state, or from another school within the city system, must present their last report card indicating the grade to which they have been promoted.

Pupils entering kindergarten for the first time must be five years of age on or before Dec. 1, 1954. Pupils entering the first grade must have reached their sixth birthday on or before Dec. 1.

All students being pre-registered must be accompanied by a parent or other adult.

East of Central Group Joins in Area Clean-Up

Joining in with the Southeast District Health Council to promote "Operation Clean-Up" in certain neighborhoods in the Southeast district is the East of Central Avenue Improvement Association, Rev. V. J. Waldron, Chairman of the Southeast District Health Council announced this week.

Mrs. Marie Fredericks, secretary of the association, stated that the Clean-Up Campaign deserves not only the association's help, but full community support. The Improvement Association's success in acquiring land on Long Beach Blvd. for a playground instead of a factory was due to the interest and support of local residents.

Police, Acting on Hunch, Find Dope and $25,000

Police officers acting on a hunch during a routine patrol nabbed a pair of suspects and came up with a packet of narcotics and a wad of bills adding up to a cool $25,000.

The officers spotted a 1940 car parked on E. 53rd street Saturday and noticed two men about to enter. Their actions seemed normal enough until one of them noticed the policemen.

One of the men had something in his hand. When he saw the officer he made a hasty gesture in an attempt to hide the packet in his pocket. It was his haste that was the give-away.

As the police officers approached, the small package dropped to the ground. Inside was a white powdery substance suspiciously like narcotics.

The two men, who gave their names as Lester Cofield, 33, of 1139 E. 55th street, and Alonzo Jones, 30, of 936 E. 54th street, were taken to Newton Street Police station and booked on violation of the state narcotics code.

A search of the men produced three pairs of various sized dice and the roll of greenbacks, in denominations of $10 and up.

A Forthright Stand

The CIO is to be commended for its forthright condemnation of segregation in the Fire Department. Its statement is more than welcome in light of the manner in which liberals and labor organizations have been dodging and pussyfooting on the issue.

All too many liberal and labor organizations have taken their cue from the Daily News which has been giving Fire Chief John H. Alderson very effective aid through pretending that the issue is purely political and that there is merit to Alderson's stand.

The net result has been that Negroes have been stabbed in the back by the very liberal and labor leaders who never tire of beating their breasts and proclaiming their sympathy with Negroes on civil rights issues. The harsh truth is that had it not been for the Daily News stand, segregation would have been wiped out in the Fire Department six months ago.

Another welcome feature of the CIO resolution is that it calls for immediate integration and for forthright termination of segregation. There has been altogether too much talk about the necessity for gradual elimination of segregation in the Fire Department, even from those who are honestly opposed to current practices.

It needs to be kept in mind that this is Los Angeles and that this is 1954. Racial segregation is the exception, not the rule, in public facilities in this city and state. Negroes and whites work side by side in all departments of city, state and federal government in California. State law forbids segregation in many instances and in every case in which the California Supreme Court has spoken in the past 20 years it has condemned Jim Crow.

There is no need for a long drawn-out and gradual abolition of segregation in the Fire Department. Such a policy is far more apt to heighten whatever racial feeling exists than a forthright abolition of segregation practices.

All that is needed is for the Board of Fire Commissioners to institute a rule forbidding assignments on the basis of race and denying administrators the right to take race into consideration in making transfers. Under such rules the 81 Negro firemen could be scattered about the city among the other 2600 firemen without causing a ripple.

Any gradual plan, by its very definition contemplates the retention of some racial segregation. That is bad. The Constitution forbids all racial segregation in municipal functions. The sooner Los Angeles obeys the Constitution the better.

Uncle Tom Is Dead

The governor of Mississippi described himself as "stunned" at the failure of Negroes to go along with his plan to keep Jim Crow schools.

The governor had offered an elaborate plan to equalize Negro schools with white schools and had hoped that this bait would bamboozle Negro leaders.

He should have known better. Negroes have been asked to believe that they could get equality in education under a dual school system for the past 60 years.

Their experience has proved to them that the separate but equal formula just doesn't work. Mississippi is filled with one-room shacks which have been serving as schools for Negroes. Everybody knows that those shacks are not the equal of the much better schools built for whites. Negroes can be pardoned if they doubted that any change would be made if the separate but equal formula was retained.

More than that, Negroes know full well that even if school houses for Negroes were equal to those for whites they would still not get the equality contemplated under the Fourteenth Amendment.

The cases which went to the Supreme Court were replete with testimony from psychologists and sociologists that segregation in and of itself works to the disadvantage of the Negro child. The very act of shunting him aside and fencing him off from fellow students did, and does, work untold harm to the Negro pupil.

We are proud of Mississippi leaders who had the courage to tell their governor off. Uncle Tom's day is done and Dixie had as well face up to that fact.

FHA's New Policy

The Federal Housing Administration has announced that it has undertaken a campaign to "persuade" builders and subdividers of the advisability of dropping color and racial barriers in FHA-insured rental and sale housing.

That is good enough as far as it goes but such a campaign is a poor substitute for a direct ruling by FHA requiring builders to covenant with it that they will not discriminate in sales or rentals because of race or color. That is what FHA should do.

In fact, FHA's decision to institute a campaign of persuasion among builders is eloquent of the mess it has made in encouraging home building for Negroes. Statistics show that fewer than 50,000 of the 2,762,000 units built with FHA-insured funds are open to non-Caucasian occupancy. That ratio may be slightly diminished by the FHA persuasion campaign, but as long as FHA permits segregation and discrimination by builders the overwhelming majority of new housing units will be closed to Negroes, and members of other minority groups.

As everybody knows, builders need and want FHA assistance through loan insurance. That being so, government flunks out miserably when it begs builders to do what it could compel them to do in return for the assistance they need. Sift it all down, and FHA insurance is a pledge of government credit to the builder. A builder who gets such assistance is being aided by all of the people, of every race and color.

Under those circumstances, government does not discharge its duty to its citizens when it takes its hat in hand and tries to "persuade" the builder to do what the Constitution commands it to require of every recipient of government assistance.

Until FHA changes its rules to forbid discrimination by builders who get FHA-insurance it will continue to spread racial residential segregation just as it has throughout the 20 years of its existence.

Another Step Forward

We're glad to see John Brewer named to the position of director in the County Probation Department. Apparently this is a "first" for the department and those who live in the community and know Mr. Brewer know that he will demonstrate anew that ability has no relation to racial identification.

Every such appointment is a vindication of the preachments of democracy which are all too often belied in practice. It is gratifying to observe how many of these appointments have been made in the past few years.

Standing alone, none of them makes much difference except to the individual involved but when they are all added together they underscore the advances that we are making in race relations in the state and in the nation.

Everybody benefits when a person whose qualifications merit it gets a chance to contribute the full measure of his talent to the department in which he is employed.

Battleaxe and Bread

By Lester B. Granger

Race relations in the National Park service has been on the upward move for a number of years—ever since Interior Secretary Harold Ickes took over during the early New Deal.

Lester Granger

Up in New Hampshire, however, in the White Mountain National Park, there's a little situation that needs correction. Those interested can write to the Director of the National Park Service, Interior Department, Washington, D. C., or to the Secretary of the Interior, himself.

'Nigger Nose'

Ten miles northwest of Berlin, N. H., is a peak that rears a half-mile into the air and is officially designated as "Nigger Nose."

Make you angry? Of course it does! Not only because it is an offensive and derogatory designation to be spread on a map, but also because it's your own Federal government that's responsible for its perpetuation.

The fate of the nation doesn't hang on a change of name for this public possession, but it would make a great many folks more comfortable if the current name were wiped out—and all that's needed is a strong push from you, and you, and especially YOU.

All Figured Out

A former Virginian who has lived in New York for a number of years reported to me recently on the social climate in her home town when she went back for one of her infrequent hometown visits. She is white, incidentally. Seems that her family members and neighbors have the Supreme Court segregation decisions all figured out to their satisfaction.

President Eisenhower is going to run again, they say; he will need a great many northern Negro votes, and he's already getting ready, so he hauls Earl Warren out of the governor's post in California and installs him as Chief Justice of the Supreme Court. Then Chief Justice Warren, acting under White House orders, proceeds to jam the separate schools decision down the throats of his eight Associate Justices.

Negroes are happy; Eisenhower has his votes; Communists are happily taking the credit for the whole business, and the country is doomed. At least, that's the way they figure it down in my friend's home town.

'Built In' Segregation

The American Jewish Congress recently wrote a letter to President Eisenhower in which the obvious truth was declared that Federal housing programs "have accelerated rather than retarded the tendency in American cities to exclude non-white and ethnic and religious minorities from the housing market."

Of course the Congress is on solid ground, as this column has been pointing out for years. We should remember, however, that the "acceleration" of housing segregation was not an accidental by-product of administrative absent-mindedness.

It was "built into" the first Federal housing programs. There was some improvement under President Truman. There has been slightly more under President Eisenhower, but until the whole set-up has been taken apart for examination and cleaning, segregationist influences will continue to make themselves felt from within the government which you and I help to pay for.

Up In Alaska

Up in Alaska, native Indians and Eskimos are getting the first nudge of what can become a terrific pushing-around, such as their cousins in the western states have been receiving for years. Territorial Governor Frank Heintzleman declares that there "can be no satisfactory development" of Alaska's natural resources until millions of acres of timber and ore-producing land have been removed from the "possessory rights" ofe the original inhabitants.

The Governor wants Congress to pass a law extinguishing these rights and allowing individual Indians to present their compensation claims to the Court of Claims. Indications are that Interior Secretary Douglas McKay, who recently visited Alaska, tends to agree with Heintzleman.

Congress has always been notoriously ready to lend a helping hand when native Indian resources, supposedly guaranteed by solemn treaty, have been snatched away from their owners and put under the control of "civilized" white management.

And as for compensation, what the Court of Claims has on occasion done to untrained, poorly-represented, unsophisticated claimants shouldn't be allowed to happen to our Alaska cousins.

"ROOM FOR ALL"

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Mr. Steward:

Some one has sent me a copy of the California Eagle of May 6, 1954, in which, in your column "One Man's Opinion," you wrote such nice things concerning my son, Richard R. Wright, III.

I cannot resist the natural impulse of a father who appreciates nice things said about his children, to write and thank you. "Giving flowers while they may be smelled," is a gift some men have and exercise graciously. I am convinced you are such a man. And you can never know how far the aroma of those flowers goes.

Yours of May 6, written on the Pacific, this morning perfumes my study here on the Atlantic —3,000 miles away—with a most pleasing fragrance. May God bless you and yours. My wife joins me in this expression of appreciation.

BISHOP R. R. WRIGHT, JR.
Philadelphia, Pa.

To the Editor:

In my efforts to express my appreciation for your co-operation in publishing the facts anent registration of applicants for the all Negro Picture, Carmen Jones, I. Jasper Weldon, of Central Casting, cannot find words to adequately express myself in thanking you and your paper.

I also owe a great debt to the one and only Harry Levette who was instrumental in interceding with you for the same. He's a great guy!

Thanking you again very kindly, I am

Jasper Weldon

To the Editor:

One Man's Opinion

By LEON STEWARD

You just can't keep a good man down!

This is a story that should be an inspiration to any young man who feels he has no opportunity to make a success of his life.

Charles J. Compton was born in Lake Charles, La., and when he had finished high school he found himself smitten with polio. His loving mother took him to New Orleans for hospital treatment. However, she learned there that the best treatment was in Los Angeles and forthwith brought him to this city with the idea of remaining here.

Leon Steward

Chooses His Life Work

As his condition improved, Charles began to think of some way in which he could show his mother his appreciation for her devotion to him. Some one mentioned watch-making to him. That was it, he told himself, and he began looking up a watch-making school. Because of his own problems and limitations de decided to take the course by correspondence and 20 years later he finds himself an expert in the watch-making field.

Became Ill

Our hero first did his work in his home but when World War II began he looked around for a place to work for the general public and moved his shop to 4424 S. Avalon Blvd. Here, assisted by his mother, whom he says washes and dresses him as well as helps him in the shop, he provided a good living for the two of them. But in 1953 he became ill with pneumonia and had to close shop for 20 months.

When well and strong again he found a store at 4501 S. Broadway where he has opened up a high class watch repair shop, with such assistants as a microscopic watch inspector and an electronic timing machine.

How Is He Afflicted?

Throughout all of these 20 years this young man has been repairing watches he has not had the use of his legs and his mother has had to lift his left hand to his work table. This would be quite a condition for one to cry "I haven't a chance in the world." You do not see any of that kind of stuff in Charles J. Compton, who says his hobby is repairing radios.

What a man!

We asked him about his youth. He didn't play the games which boys enjoyed very much but he loved to read "Popular Science" and other mechanical books and magazines.

His mother, Mrs. Angelenia Edwards, is never without a smile as you talk with her son. She is indeed a splendid example of mother-love-in-action. Her son works in a wheel chair, is unable to wash and dress himself without great difficulty, and that is where this mother comes in.

He is an excellent watch and radio repair man because he, in the first place, is a born mechanic. And what can time in a period of 20 years not do for a young man who loves his work?

Pure and Simple

By L. F. Palmer Jr.

Time was when the laundry room of a big apartment building was the gathering place of the pin curl set. Mixed in with the laundry was the latest chatter about fashions, foods, fads and finagling.

Women in house dresses, aprons and scarfs around their necks made the laundry room the gathering place for gossip. And while the little ones overturned boxes of soap and dragged clean clothes across the floor, the bright young homemakers mixed talk with tubs and somehow managed to get the washing done.

Well, the laundry room in my building ain't like that. Drop by anytime and I'll take you down to the basement for one of the strangest sights you ever saw.

The men have taken over the washing.

No Pin Curls

No pin curls, no house dresses, no aprons. Now the laundry room is a retreat for hairy chested men, some in fancy shorts, others in more conventional attire. But all busy at the back breaking task of washing the family's clothes.

It's nothing to see a group of the manly set shoving the wife's unmentionables and the baby's mentionables into the machine, one eye on the sports page of the evening paper, the other on the little one who's trying to climb into the electric dryer.

You might enter the laundry room of my building and dash back upstairs for a gas mask to fight the deadly fumes from pipes, cigars and cigarettes. And if you are stalwart enough to brave the cloudy atmosphere, the talk will drive you back to safety (if you're a femme, that is).

Wednesday's Fight

Now, all the words that bounce off the laundry room walls have to do with Wednesday evening's fight, or the double header, Sunday. There's much ado over Sen. McCarthy and the latest sensational murder.

Never let anyone tell you that men don't gossip. I can hardly wait until there is a load of dirty clothes so I can rush down to the laundry and pick up on what's happened in the building.

I don't know how long the Wives Association is going to take to get wise to the Independent Order of Husbands Dedicated to Helping the Wife with the Washing.

Good Excuse

What better excuse can a guy have to get away from home for a little while to chew the fat with his intellectual equals? No wife in her right mind is going to balk at letting her husband take care of the washing.

What does it matter that the washing machines are fully automatic and the dryers are, too? It's unimportant that all you have to do is shove the clothes in and rake them back out.

Papa's giving mama a helping hand and I'll be darned if he isn't getting a bang out of it, too.

Whether this represents a trend or not, I don't know. But like I said, there're some strange happenings in the laundry room of my building.

Uniting of Protestants Topic of Discussion

When the official representatives of 161 of the world's Protestant and Eastern Orthodox communions came together this week at Evanston for the Second Assembly of the World Council of Churches, one of their major topic of discussion was be "Our oneness in Christ and our disunity as churches."

What are the chances for eventual union among U. S. Protestants? a reporter asks in the current issue of Collier's Magazine. Although there are 250 denominations in this country, he notes, 74 per cent of U.S. Protestants are in four major groups — Baptist, Lutheran, Methodist or Presbyterian. Further, he points out, negotiations are under way for denominational mergers in both the Presbyterian and the Lutheran families; the Unitarians and the Universalists are moving toward eventual union, and the Congregational Christian Churches and the Evangelical and Reformed Church are resuming their negotiations for the establishment of a United Church of Christ.

Some denominations, the writer points out, have strong theological objections to any movement toward unity. These include three major groups: the United Lutheran Church in America, the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod, and the Southern Baptist Convention. But in spite of theological, cultural and geographic differences, the article continues, both the current religious revival and a long-term U. S. movement toward Christian cooperation rather than competition are bringing the churches closer together.

POWERFUL MIDDLEWEIGHTS MIX MONDAY

(Editor's note: This is the fourth of a series of position-by-position stories about the 1954 UCLA football team. Today, the centers; coming up, the quarterbacks or blocking backs).

The return of Johnny Peterson, 194, of Los Angeles gives UCLA a big, rugged and experienced center. A three-year letterman, Peterson is a superb linebacker who figures to be vastly improved over last year in snapping the pigskin back, a vital ability in Red Sanders' single wing football.

After being an All-Coast defensive end in 1951 and 1952, Peterson was switched to center last year. A hand injury in the 1953 spring practice slowed down his progress in centering the ball. He came along steadily during the season and split playing time right down the middle with the departed Ira Pauly. Pauly played 284 minutes, Peterson 274½.

Peterson is one of the Pacific Coast's top linebackers. He's aggressive, moves well and is mighty adept on pass defense. He intercepted two passes last year, including one for a spectacular 42-yard return for a touchdown. He's a solid All-Coast candidate.

Although he only played 32 minutes as a sophomore last fall, Steve Palmer, 199, of Whittier indicated in spring practice that he has the size and ability to spell Peterson in capable fashion. He's a fine student and was the winner of the coveted Clarence Dykstra Memorial Scholarship as an entering freshman in 1952.

Two other pivot candidates who may see some action are Jack McKay, 195, of San Francisco and Jack Thornton, 187, of Los Angeles. McKay was voted co-captain of the 1953 frosh team and won All-Northern California honors as an end in 1952. Thornton played only seven minutes last year.

With the graduation of Pauly, the Bruins lost a heady, high-spirited performer who was an offensive star. He was the recipient of the team's N. N. Sugarman Trophy given for best spirit and scholarship last year.

GREEN, FLORES BOTH SHOOT FOR QUICK KO

Charlie Green, topranking California middleweight boxer, returns to his old stamping grounds Monday night when he matches punches with Sal Flores, a belter of note from Anaheim. Green didn't fare too well as a four rounder and during his Olympic days he dropped two decisions on his way up.

CHARLIE GREEN — Goes after the big one when he faces Sal Flores this Monday night.

However his old friends will see a much improved warrior since those stormy days as Green has climbed up the fistic ladder, ruled the state middleweights, and is listed as the sixth best in the country.

Sal Flores may not sport as highly impressive a ring record as Green but he is known to cool his foes with one punch in one or more rounds. This could easily stack up as one of the year's best punch brawls and the Monday night ticket holders certainly should get more than they paid for when these two hardpunching boxers get together.

GETS TOP RANKING—Manager Suey Welch, guiding genius behind the sudden rise of young Charlie Powell, talked shop with the promising heavyweight. Powell is rated as California's number one heavyweight.

— Fighters Of Century —

BOXING GREATS—John Thomas, ex-lightweight boxer who is a smooth talking sales representative of Charles Limited and a California popular boxing referee, and Joe Louis, all-time heavyweight great, took time out of their busy schedule to personally congratulate Albert (Chalky) Wright, former world's featherweight champion, when Chalky became manager of the Century Club, 4211 S. Broadway. Specializing in fine cocktails and food at reasonable rates, the Century Club is rapidly becoming the mecca of sportsmen.

Hollywood Stars Count Heavy On Pitching Ace

Chesty Chet Johnson, capable, colorful southpaw with the windmill windup and an amusing bag of tricks, is likely to start one of the games for the Sacramento club as the Solons battle the Hollywood Stars at Gilmore Field. A twin bill is set for Sunday, a night game Tuesday, and a 1 p. m. afternoon game Wednesday.

Johnson always gets plenty of laughs. Fans who saw the All-Star game won't forget how he used binoculars to peer at the catcher and the opposing batsmen and performed numerous other antics which kept the crowd in hysterics. Meanwhile, Chet was fooling Hollywood hitters.

The Stars hope to make further progress on the road to the 1954 flag during the Sacramento series. Their San Diego series winds up Saturday with an afternoon game. And after the Sacramento games, the Twinks move over to Wrigley Field to battle their arch foes, the Los Angeles Angels.

During the past few weeks the Stars have hung onto the league lead despite a series of injuries to Donoso, Basgall, Long, Smith and others. Donoso's wasn't exactly an injury—he had his appendix removed. Lino had a record of 15 victories and three defeats when the surgeon got hold of him. He is ready for action again, however.

Long, with 19 home runs, certainly was missed. Yet the club defended itself nobly against the threat posed by San Diego. Truly the 1954 Hollywood club has proved its courage under difficulty. Meanwhile, the team has continued its attractive, hit-and-run, base-stealing, squeeze-play type of game.

At the start of the week, the club had stolen 134 bases, Bernier leading with 38, followed by Tommy Saffell, with 35. No other club in the league was anywhere close.

As the season draws closer to the end, fans are speculating about the future of individual Hollywood players. Men like Donoso, Saffell, Smith and Phillips, as well as Lee Walls and Roger Bowman, have had major league scouts pop-eyed. It seems a certainty that several of the aforementioned will merit major league trials next spring.

Donoso, in particular, has attracted considerable attention. This 26-year-old left-hander has a sneaky fast ball, a deceptive knuckler and a good curve—plus plenty of nerve. Lino, a Cuban, has been one of the most pleasant surprises of the year for Manager Bobby Bragan.

OFFENSIVE STAR—Veteran Harry Thompson carried the bulk of the defense when the L.A. Rams defeated the Washington Redskins in their initial 1954 Coliseum showing. The Rams appear to have a red hot ball club this year.

DEL MAR, WHERE THE SURF MEET THE TURF"—Older urote horses, priming for the $25,000 added Del Mar Handicap later in the season, get their first big test here Saturday in the $10,000 added San Diego Handicap over a mile and one sixteenth. Twelve horses, representing ten different interests, are slated to clash in the San Diego, a race which annually separates the wheat from the chaf among the top handicap horses here.

George Ramsey

Trainer Mischa Tenny, who conditions for Rex C. Ellsworth, has listed a double-barreled entry of Norooz and Fleet Khal for the San Diego while Robert Hyatt McDaniel, the nation's leading trainer, has countered with Last Round for himself and Stranglehold for his patron, N. Gordon Phillips.

J. Ross Clark II's Southarlington and Mrs. Connie Ring's Blue Trumpeter, one-two in the Del Mar Derby two seasons back, will be renewing their rivalry in San Diego. Both horses have gone on to develop into top stakes performers since. Last year's San Diego Handicap fell to the good handicap ace, Harry Brown's Goose Khal and two years ago it was won by King and Luellwitz Moonrush.

BEAUTIFUL CALIENTE IN OLD MEXICO—John S. Alessio, general manager of beautiful Caliente Race Track, was the host to the Governor of the State of Lower California last Sunday, Lic. Braulio Maldonado, of Ensenada, and the Ensenada Municipal, President Davaid Ojeda Ochoa. The Ensenada Handicap was won by Judds Bud who was ridden by jockey Alex B. Maese.

The Governor was given a grand ovation by the crowd of over 8500. The real star of the day was Ray Diaz, a 16-year-old 97-pound youngster from Los Angeles who tasted victory for the first time in his brief career in the first race on Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Whitehurst's Over Paris, a $9.60 winner. He liked it so well he added two more winners before the day was over. He brought in Fusscat at $28.20 in the seventh race and scored with Sister Butch at $38.20 in the nightcap.

The performance marked the greatest success of a neophyte jockey on his first day since Glenn Lasswell scored with four horses here several years ago.

JOE PERRY HURT IN GIANTS GAME

The San Francisco 49ers finally broke a three year jinx the New York Giants held over them when they defeated them for the first time in three years, 43-35 in Kezar Stadium last week.

The victory proved costly for the 49ers as Gordy Soltau, leading National Football League scorer last year with pass receiving, converting and field goal kicking, suffered a shoulder separation and must undergo an operation. Fullback Joe Perry sprained an ankle in the last quarter and will be out of action a week.

Offers Good Program

Compton Avenue playground is buzzing with activity during the warm and sunny summer. The summer program is under the capable direction of Carrie Haynes and Lorene Isom

Parents are invited to come out and work with the playground directors.

PEACOCK vs. TERAN

Billy Peacock, once the ruler of the state title in the bantamweight division, is signed to box Kenny Teran at the Olympic Monday night, September 6.

Bill Spiller Wins Chicago Golf Tourney

Bill Spiller, a seasoned tournament golfer, won the 9th annual Walter Speedy Memorial tournament at Pipe O'Peace in Chicago last week. The veteran California golfer fired a 70 on opening day and was two strokes of the leader. On the final day of the tourney, with a constant down pour of rain he splashed home with a 71, for 144, and $125. Next big tournament in the eastern golf circuit will be in Cleveland, where the 18th annual Ohio Amateur golf tourney will be played over the Seneca course. Down Dallas way the Coca-Cola company is again donating the trophies for the National UGA tournament which opens August 23 through the 28th.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Find Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to stop bleeding—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form for hemorrhoids under the name Preparation H.* The price is only 98c a tube including an applicator. The name to ask for is Preparation H—at all drug stores. And remember—if not entirely satisfied—your money will be refunded promptly.

Sportsman Feted With Lavish Birthday Party

The usually smug society set, the free wheeling sporting clan, and TV, radio and screen box-office attractions, plus just the little common average Joes, are shouting the praises of Elizabeth Mc Gee, personable wife of Elihu. She invited big names in all walks of life to help her surprise her popular husband on his birthday Monday night at the plush Hollywood Tiffany club.

The dapper sportsman was completely shocked at the terrific party arranged by his wife. He arived at the Tiffany just a little after 10:30 thinking he was taking in the show and was amazed when the guests all shouted in unison "Happy Birthday Dot". The ever popular sportsman graciously accepted the greetings without knowing that the entire party was for him. It wasn't until his attractive wife along with Alyce Key and Joe Adams, assured him this was his night that he caught on. It was a night he'll long remember as champagne flowed from a fountain to refresh the more than two hundred guests who attended the affair. Eliz—as she is affectionately called by her many friends—could not have possibly invited all of her husband's friends. There would have been no place to put them.

Joe Adams, toastmaster par-excellence, introduced the dapper sportsman to his many friends and handled the entire evening's program masterfully. Alyce Key was hostess.

Duke Ellington was there and gave out with his favorite masterpieces and party was at fever pitch when Dinah Washington made her bow on the stage. Ernie Andrews almost drew tears from Elihu's eyes when he sang "My Mother Eyes" and Slappy White was a riot. The brand of entertainment matched the spirit of the party.

The food like the rest of the festivities—the end! Daniel Boone, coming into his own as one of the fastest rising young caterers, out-did himself. The best description would be say it was a gourmet's dream. The lavishly filled tables contained everything from roast tom turkey, beef to ham, and even included mustard greens, and blackeye peas!

The party drew together some of the best known personalities of the society and sporting set in a warm atmosphere of friendliness. Those attending the affair included: Atty. and Mrs. Loren Miller, Duke Ellington, Dinah Washington, Slappy White, Joe and Emma Adams, Earl and Ltanya Griffin, Dr. Patricia L. Shook, Dr. Ben Walker, Velda Perry, Mrs. Edythe E. Kemp, Mrs. Mary L. Woodyard, Mrs. Henry Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. L. Johnson, Mrs. J. E. She's in town, incidentally. Helen Whitman's son, Reggie Fenderson, here to be with her a while. "Jo" Cooper flies east today (Thurs.) to resume her N.Y. address. She's giving up L.A.

Tina Robinson shared Ruby (Barbee) and J. T. Wilson's receiving line at their champagne-from-silver-goblets anniversary party last Sun.

Yep!

Only missing touch from that after-theater party Rosita and Schuyler Nelson gave last Frid. for Georgia Burke and other fun-lovin' misplaced N'Yorkers was Jimmie Daniels singing "It Was Just One of Those Things." Intimate, delightful, stimulating, yep.

Flo Wysinger Allen and her sister were in town briefly. Flo had a nasty accident just recently in S.F. Here from Omaha: Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Hawkins enroute to Honolulu. Joe Adams spends Xmas in Europe. Ann Hunter Craig birthdays Tues. (24th). Masseur Zack Williams (in business again) off to S.F. for a few days. Libby Clark had a gay houseful last Wedn. night. DOT'S DASHES

By Dorothea Foster

Alpha Phi Alpha opened up the social side of the three day Western Regional Convention with a very informal get-together at the Alpha House on Friday night. The casual Hollywood way the Alphas had of getting everyone acquainted, made the evening quite enjoyable. . . .

The beautiful rustic setting of the Fox Hills Country brought the visiting Alphas and the local social set out en masse on Saturday night to a formal dance. Chatted with Elsie and Byron Rumford (they're still bubbling with pride over their grandson); Jackie and Sanford Smith; Mr. and Mrs. James Rumford; Dr. and Mrs. Herman Lewis (Oakland); Dr. and C. W. Ozier; Bobby Brown; Carol Boswell and caught nuz-gal Wini Orr cutting a pretty rug with Alpha National Secretary, Jim Huger. Incidently, I learned that Wini had filed suit, through her attorney, Stanley R. Malone, against Scrivner's Red Hut for the injury she sustained on June 1st. . . .

Mrs. Eugene Braxton and her charming daughter, Phillis are visiting here from Columbus, Ohio and are the house guests of Mrs. John McCaskill of East 49th St. . . .

Attractive grey eyed Conchua Grey arrived from New York City via TWA for a month's vacation in the Angel City. She is the house guest of Nettie and John Lowe on West 56th St. . . .

Cordelia Martin off via American for a month's visit of Paris, Germany and Italy. While in France she will be the house guest of Booker and Laura Carter. . . .

WHAT'S COOKING

BARBARA MOUNTS

Vacation time is the time for picnics and impromptu foods. All of us have sought the wide-open spaces for a bit of relaxation and freedom from the routines of household necessities.

Visitors from other sections of the country marvel at the facilities offered by the Department of Parks for the convenience of the homemaker. Baby's bottle may be warmed on gas stoves and last minute cooking of favorite food items is achieved with ease for those who prefer hot food on an outing.

On an outing last week a large roaster of chicken was prepared at home and with it a casserole of noodles tossed with buttered bread crumbs. A bowl of crisp greens speckled with red tomatoes and cucumbers was tossed at the last minute with a tart garlic French dressing. The top of the roaster was filled with buttered French bread wrapped in foil.

The heat from the oven baked chicken and mushroons kept the bread as hot as fresh toast. The gallon thermos lowed hot cofee, and lemonade made the youngsters happy for it was sparkling from the addition of ginger ale.

Fresh peaches and figs were offered for desert and over them was poured a sauce which transformed them into food for the most elegant occasion. It was made in this manner:

Figs and Peaches Sabayon

For each person to be served use 1 egg yolk and 1 tablespoon powdered sugar. Whip them over hot water until they thicken and remove from heat. Usually takes about five minutes. Add a wineglass of your favorite sweet wine or Jamaica rum and chill. Fold in a cup of whipped cream and serve over the fruit. Can be used over strawberries too with equal gastronomic pleasure. If you do not care for liquor for flavor, then use almond extract or plenty of vanilla and nutmeg. Lemon juice also is a favorite.

It was Boiste who said: "He who has lost confidence can lose nothing more."

While in England, she was a special student, studying and doing research in English Literature at University College of the University of London.

Dr. Woolridge is now serving her third terms of six years as Grand Basileus of Zeta Phi Beta Sorority. She will remain in Los Angeles ten days as a guest of local Zetas and friends.

Bridge Pointers

By 'KENNY' SCOTT

We have not talked for some time about the importance of defense in bridge playing. But we would like to re-emphasize the importance of defense again, not only in making correct leads or observing partner's signals, but in analyzing the hands and perfecting a method of strategy perhaps at the very beginning of the hand which won't pay off until the end.

Must Not Ruff

The opening lead was the king of diamonds. Dummy's ace took that trick and the ace of spades was played from dummy. At this point East must now think carefully. From the bidding, South has at least seven or eight clubs and almost certainly no spades. Therefore a ruff would be playing into South's hands and would cut his trump losses to one instead of two and would probably make his bid. So East must not ruff.

Now a second problem presents itself. What should be discarded? East discards a heart for two reasons. They are useless to him and they may cut down South's entries.

On the ace of spades South discarded the jack of diamonds. He then led a small spade to get to his hand. The ace and king of clubs showed the bad trump split. Meanwhile on the second spade East had discarded another heart. Things looked dark, but South had one more trick up his sleeve.

He was resolved to try the Coup-without-a-Name, so called because of its rarity. This involves trumping a series of tricks, some or all of which might be good, in order to end in the right hand two or three tricks from the end and lead through an enemy hand.

South led a heart. He then led a diamond and ruffed it. Then he led another heart. He had to lead a spade from dummy and at this move East threw away his last heart. Now regardless of what South did, East would get his two trump tricks.

This hand had to be analyzed at trick two by East and the correct discards made from then on, although the hand didn't resolve itself until trick ten. If at any time East had discarded a diamond and been forced to follow suit to hearts three times, South's desparate plan would have worked.

It was a tough hand for South to lose, but a brilliant one for East to win.

Billie Holiday Will Perform Tue., Aug. 24

The great "Lady" Day, Billie Holiday, beloved as jazz music's greatest stylist, promises plenty of bright days and nights for Los Angeles music lovers when she opens this Tuesday, August 24, at the Club Oasis, Western at 38th.

All-Time Favorite

A rags to riches saga with a female Horatio Alger twist is the Billie Holiday story. Working as a waitress in her mother's Harlem restaurant when she was 14, she was discovered by Eddie Condon and given her first singing job for the magnificent sum of $10 a week. Lester Young found her at an after hours spot which later became the Log Cabin and not only gave her her famous tag, "Lady" Day, but helped bring out her inimitable style.

Internationally Famous

Billie Holiday's road to success has been strewn with many pitfalls, but she has gone on, finding her triumphs the more sweet because of the adversities which hindered her. She broke precedent with her Carnegie Hall appearance and set Europe a-blazing with fires at the Holiday shrine during her recent tour. Her early day records with Benny Goodman, Count Basie and Artie Shaw are valued by collectors at $100.

A special one-time-only Sunday afternoon jazz matinee featuring Billie Holiday plus a great jam session will be next Sunday, August 29, from 3 to 7 p.m., at the Oasis.

Yummy Delita Curtiss is the new interest in the Gourmet's eyes. She is the new CBS radio star. He is the Eagle's gumbo guide or food scribe. . . . Helen Dowdy, the "strawberry woman" of "Porgy and Bess," quit the company after its run here. She will start rehearsing shortly for a very big role in "Mrs. Patterson," the vehicle that bows on the great white way this fall and stars Eartha Kitt!

Muzzy Marcellino, who does the whistling on Victor Young's record of the theme song from the "High and the Mighty" pic has penned a tune called "Mighty High Blues."

The flip side of Sammy Davis's "Hey There" hit is rolling like a big wheel too. Tune is the ear-arresting "And This Is My Beloved." Sure hope the last item squares us with "the greatest act in show business," who was a bit put out when we failed to show for his Colgate Comedy Hour TVer. We did admire him from afar tho' (glued to our set). . . . The Will Mastin Trio are currently killing 'em off like flies in Atlantic City!

Cab Calloway told us offhand that he'd like to have an exclusive to lay in our lap, but that he has no moom pickcha commitments. He'll play nitery engagements here and in Las Vegas and—well, let's just see what happens. Awright, Sporting Life! . . . Incidentally Cab didn't want to make that trip with Porgy and them cause he's going to play it real cozy with his family.

Ralph Bass, the record promoter, played the sequel to the "Midnighters" blues and rhythm piece for us the other

Joe 'Mayor o' Melody' Adams Heads Station KOWL "Cabinet" In Resumption of 'Air Activities'

Listeners to Santa Monica station KOWL are able to find all their favorite personalities back on the air "live" this week after a succession of absences due to global activities by the muchly traveled trio of Joe Adams, Louise Beavers and Chico Lionel Sesma.

Everybody 'Working'

Most recent absence was that of Louise Beavers who appeared for three weeks at the plush Sahara Hotel in Las Vegas in the Mae West Show, being the only other woman besides the buxom Mae West. Although the show traveled on, Louise's many taping of her shows in advance, fans missed her so, despite her that she has returned to the station.

Chico, the West Coast's most popular Mexican-American personality, last week celebrated his fifth year (by inking another five year contract) with KOWL by presenting a nine-hour dance featuring five Latin bands, but although he is still receiving congratulations, he is back "live" on KOWL.

Star of 'Moom Picture'

Joe Adams was gone more than eight weeks recently, spending three weeks leading a troup entertaining servicemen in Korea, and five weeks playing the second male lead in the much heralded "Carmen Jones" Otto Preminger-20th Century Fox film.

XMAS PRESENT

JOE 'Mayor' ADAMS — Having stimulated so many highly deserving servicemen with his entertainment unit, has condescended to brighten the lives of hundreds of America's finest fighting men when he embarks on another overseas trek during the Christmas Holidays.

B. B. King Set For Savoy Sing On the Weekend

A tremendous "Thursday Blues Plate Special" headed by B. B. King, and Johnny Otis' Band, with a host of other top names in the blues field, is offered tonight only at the Savoy Ballroom, 77th and Central, presented by Joe Bihari, president of Modern Records.

Blues Favorite

B.B.—standing for Blues Boy—King, has been acclaimed as the biggest blues singing attraction in the nation. Following a special three-day recording session for R.P.M. records, to follow his other top dics like "When My Heart Beats Like A Hammer" and "Please Love Me," B.B. is making this one night appearance and flies East for contracted engagements the next morning.

All-Star Attraction

Johnny Otis, rapidly achieving fame as a leading disc jockey, has long been rated musically tops with his musical aggregation. Also featured in the huge Savoy show tonight will be Marie Adams, the "Honky Tonk Girl" and Junior Ryder, singers with Otis' band, and The Lamplighters, The Queens, The Platters, Marvin & Johnny, Anna Marie and Preacher Stevens.

Slow Drivers Cause Accidents

"Any motor vehicle traveling slower than the normal flow of traffic must be operated in the right hand lane or as close to the right edge of the roadway as is practicable," explained Captain R. Gautsche of the West Los Angeles Area California Highway Patrol office this week.

ayem. "Work With Me Annie" is being followed by "Annie Had a Baby!" . . . somebody bettah slow down before there's a showdown! . . . Bass is talking of bringing Gerald Wilson's orchestra into the Oasis for Sunday afternoon concerts lasting from two till six p.m. . . . Lawrence Stone, the songster, was freed from his Modern Recording contract last Friday at high noon!

OOP SHOOP!

The nation's newest all-female vocal group known as the Queen's and led by statuesque Shirley Gunther (she's about 5 feet 8 in.) are in strong with "Oop Shoop" recording. And Carl "Johnny" Green (the original Johnny of Marvin & Johnny) will take time out from his own career as a single to give the little gals vocal coaching to further their aims.

Intimate note to Nick and Edna Stewart: With each new production at your bigtime little theater we have only desired to see you with a "smash" on your hands. So it is with "Moon Is Blue" no matter what your reasons may be for selecting the piece. We just thought it was a bit controversial for the theater at this time. And we still do inasmuch as we have received a pocketful of mail from folks who think it's an unwise choice for reasons of their own (that we have already pointed out to you) . . . but because it's Ebony's playhouse (with a series of artistic successes) we don't think the Moon is headed for eclipse. Should be big box office with the space hoppers in the community! . . . and we sincerely hope this bit of prose will entice the stay-at-homers to come on in! You see, there is a method to our so-called madness!

You'll be able to see James Edwards in "Amelica Joe" on TV sometime next month. Jimmie pulled out of "Moon Is Blue" at Ebony, and the thespian says it was not because of Chazz Crawford's threats. What threats? That doesn't even sound like us. Didden you read that last paragraph? Jimmie's splash in the current Ebony with the Dot Dandridge story is just a little short of spectacular! . . . Say hey Wini Orr, we've heard nothing but praise over the guest bit you did for Soundtrack last week, bless your heart! . . . and for the way it's going this morning, we could stand to have you here again . . . we've just recovered from intestinal flu that kept us from making the rounds properly . . . but you're always with it gal . . . always with it! . . . NOT THE FLU, HONEY! THE ROUNDS! NEWSBOYS' NIGHTCAP!

Torso-twisting dancer and a song plugger in the village say they are secretly married but please Mr. Soundtrack, it's not for publication . . . okay, so we let you slide, but you know who you are, huh? . . . Bill Doggett's swing organ is liable to make Wild Bill Davis sit up and take sharp notice, or hasn't it already.

We talked it over with organist Korla Pandit and then we heard him play for "In a Persian Market" sequence on one of the 52 half-hour sequences he'll return to TV with, and we'll bet you a fat man that the "Turban" will have Lee Liberace burning his candles at both ends in order to compete with the cat with the hypnotic eyes. . . . And also made it out to the Aragon and picked up on our fiddling friend Spade Cooley whose boots are knee high (Spade's a hipster and his music is far more than just western swing) . . . the man plays for all the people.

CARMENITES—Glamorous new singing star Gloria Lane and Robert Rounseville of the New York City Opera sing leading roles in a lavish production of the opera "Carmen" by Bizet at the Greek Theatre in Los Angeles August 23-28.

Jose Greco Dancing Star Now at the Greek Theatre "Carmen" Opens Aug. 23

Currently featured at the outdoor Greek Theatre in Griffith Park, Los Angeles is Jose Greco and his colorful company of Spanish dancers, performing each evening through August 21. Composed of the finest dancers and musicians of Seville, the internationally famous group presents an exciting program which includes many new dances derived from the romantic folklore of Spain.

International Favorite

Greco, who was La Argentinita's partner until her death, is an American of Italian extraction, raised in Brooklyn. It is a unique tribute to his flashing feet and skill as an artist, that he has been accepted in Madrid as one of the greatest of Spanish dancers. Members of his company include Nila Ampara, Lola de Ronda, Luis Olivares, Juanele Maya, Salome de Cordova, Tina Velez, and many others.

Opening Monday, August 23, the Greek Theatre will present a lavish production of the opera, Carmen, sung by the stars, Robert Rounseville and Gloria Lane of the New York City Opera and Frank Guarrera of the Metropolitan, with a full symphony orchestra under the baton of Conductor Kurt Adler, also of the Metropolitan. David Pardoll, Executive Production Manager of the Metropolitan will direct. Elaborate sets have been especially created by Los Angeles designer Rita Glover. Performances will be nightly through Saturday, August 28.

ROTTEN MEAT—Although City Health Department story (exclusively and fearlessly carried in in the world's oldest weekly newspaper) referred to only one 'mangy meat manager'—hundreds of readers pointed out additional 'butchers' whose over-priced, far from fresh meat is really 'beat' . . . and markets are for from neat. (If the shoe doesn't fit . . . it surely is pinching like H - - - - ! ! ! !)

RUBY WASHINGTON — is the sight causing the wolves to leer

QUESTION OF WEEK—What well-known lawyer, free from loot, took his "war department" to Old Mexico (Tijuana) to relive their honeymoon (yet)?

ELIHU MCGEE's—$1,500 dollar birthday pawtee was switched to the Tiffany Club because Joe Adams closed his Pigalle. Joe and owner Jack Tucker are close friends and Joe got him to give up his Monday nights Jam Session as a favor to Joe. This is to spike those ill-founded rumors about other reasons! Read the Eagle and become informed.

MINK COATS—Nabs is checking a list of popular females who purchased slightly warm coats and westsiders are as nervous as a bebop horn blower, cause the seller is said to have talked!

NIGHT CLUBBERS — are saying in low whispers that a well known ex-lush salesman and his attractive wife are heading down a bumpy road at a fast clip!

WINI ORR — may instruct her dapper lawyer Stanley Malone to file a $5,000 damage suit against a westside cafe!

MOVING STARS — Certain males acted so bad when a noted Hollywood figure entertained the cast that a few fast thinking wives got together and invited the lady out for dinner following the gay and wild party.

LESLIE SCOTT — the Porgy in the cast of Porgy and Bess charms so completely upset a top ofay actor's wife that she offered to purchase a sporty Jaguar for his Europe conquest. The talented actor-singer turned the deal down because he is very much in love with his wifie!

JUDY JEWELETTE — hottest item being peddled via TV is getting sour notes from the fishes that bite. The gimmick is ballyhooed at $2.95 plus sales tax. When it arrives C.O.D. you retrieve it from your postman for $3.65. Upon calling the firm to find out "How Come?" you find you can get a bill passed in Congress faster than an answer from the firm. Finally you reach someone and this is the breakdown you get for the additional fees: money order, 10 cents; your own telephone call 10 cents; postage and C.O.D. charge, 30 cents—all not quoted in the offer!

RAYMOND LIQUORS — newly opened establishment out West Adams Way should be getting the bulk of the trade in that neck of the woods. It's owned and operated by two fine people of color!

STEVE K. SAMUELS—new face at the Katherine Stone smart Western Avenoo beauty nook is attracting the plush female carriage trade!

PAT SIDES — currently the dancing doll out Manchester way has body movements that are as cool as an ocean breeze on a hot summer afternoon!

Instructor of Music Dies

Ida L. Wood, former music instructor at Fisk University and long-time secretary to Madam Malone of the Poro Colleges, died last week after suffering a long illness. She had been living with her daughters at 2731 S. Van Buren Place since her arrival in Los Angeles 10 years ago.

Mrs. Wood's brilliant career started after graduating from Fisk University where she later taught for some 15 years. Her work with Madam Malone took her all over the country, including many trips abroad. She was one of the outstanding members of Central Baptist Church in St. Louis where she directed and headed the large choir.

Funeral services will be held today, Thursday, at Connor and Johnson, 1400 E. 17th street, at 1 p.m.

Her survivors are two twin daughters, Ella Redmond and Evangeline Johnson; one brother, three sisters, and many nieces and nephews.

Count Basie's Wife Wants Out

she froze on his reconciliation plea, and the "cat" left.

She said that it was when he returned the second time that he turned the place out with a freewheeling donnybrook. According to Catherine, Count ripped out the phone, threw it at her, and missed. He is then said to have broken up the furniture in a real knock-out fashion, so she trillied over the phone, dialed M for mayhem, or to bring it right down front, she signalled the cops.

Kept Caddy

But the judge let the Count off after he promised to keep distance between him and his attractive spouse.

Catherine, being a real hep chick kept the Caddy and the letter and told fourth estaters she wants a legal splituation with the eighty-eight great. Beauteous Bixie, Count's canary who is said to have sparked the marital riot, is a local lass, but at press time we hadn't heard her side of the story, but she is expected to sing out a protest in her own behalf.

Friday the 13th Was Sure Unlucky

Unknown thieves entered Bob's Smoke Shop, 4108 S. Central Ave., Friday, Aug. 13 and walked away with $203 in merchandise. The entry was made through an open rear window. An undetermined amount of money was taken from a coin meter of a television set that was broken into.

L & M Offers New King-Size Filtered Fags

Continuing its policy of offering smokers one of the most complete lines of quality tobacco products in the industry, Ligget & Myers Tobacco Company this week announced the introduction of its new king-size L&M Filters. The new L&M kings will get nation-wide distribution at the same low price as the regular L&Ms, $10 per 1,000, with usual trade discounts of 10 percent and two percent.

L&Ms have already won the quickest, most enthusiastic nation-wide acceptance a cigarette ever had in the few months they have been available to the public, Liggett & Meyers claims. Shortly after L&Ms were introduced, thousands of dealers from coast to coast reported in signed statements that L&Ms were the largest selling filter tip cigarette.

L&M's success is attributed to the brand's "miracle tip" filter, which gives the smoker much more flavor and much less nicotine. The new king-size L&M is exactly the same in all respects as the popular regular L&M, except for its larger size.

Teen-Agers Rebel at Closing of DAPs

Plan Protest Petition to Be Sent to Mayor

Mayor Norris Poulson may not know it, but he's stirred up a first class rebellion among the city's youth.

Last Thursday the Welfare Planning Council's committee made a report proposing the transfer of the activities of the Deputy Auxiliary Police from the Police Department to the Recreation and Park Department.

Plan Petition

The youngsters don't like it, and they're prepared to take action to bring their grievance before the proper authorities. This Thursday at 1 p.m. a group of teenagers who look to the DAPs for a good part of their regular social activities are meeting at the home of Jacqueline Taylor, 1012 E. 25th street.

They are going to write out a petition to the mayor and get a number of the approximately 325 members of the Newton DAPs to sign it, urging that no change be made.

In the approximately 10 years that the DAPs has been working with the youngsters of the area, it has come to be regarded as an institution, and the teenagers are determined to preserve it, if there is any chance of doing so.

Don't Want Change

Young Jacqueline Taylor, 15, has been a member of the DAPs for four years. "The kids are used to the DAPs," she told the Eagle. "We don't want to be with the younger children, with kids seven or eight years old. It's like having your little sisters and brothers tagging along.

"Besides," she continued, "some of us can't afford what the Park Dept. charges. We're going on a trip to Val Verde tomorrow"—it was Tuesday evening when she spoke to us—"and it's only costing us 25c for the trip. If we had to pay a dollar or two dollars we couldn't go.

"And some of us have bought DAP uniforms. . . . Tomorrow's trip may be our last. We were planning on having a going-back-to-school party, but we probably won't be able to now."

Operation Clean-Up

In addition to the trips and the parties organized by the DAPs and supervised by officers from Newton, the group also at present is engaged in an alley clean-up campaign. This summer there have been jaunts to Playa del Rey, beach parties and trips to the park.

The activities, the "kids" feel, have done a lot for them and they'd like them to continue.

Take Dim View

They take a dim view of the change. They—and some of their elders—feel that the transfer means the end of the program.

Ask the parents—they'll tell you that the DAPs has been an excellent force in the community, directing the activities of the teenagers into healthful, supervised, frequently civic-minded channels, instead of letting them to wander around on their own. The parents will tell you the DAPs has done a world of good in combatting juvenile delinquency.

But the teenagers themselves don't think in those terms. They only know that the DAPs has provided them with enjoyment and fun and social life. And they don't want to see the organization scuttled.

BUNDLE OF LOVELINESS—Salley Diane Warren, five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sammy Warren, celebrated her fifth birthday Sunday afternoon.

Rival's Killer Guilty Of Manslaughter

After deliberating for two full days, an all-white jury Friday returned a verdict of guilty of manslaughter in the case of Lewis Samuel Carr, who killed a rival for his wife's affections with a single, perfectly aimed shot last Feb. 28.

On Monday, Judge David Coleman turned down a plea from Carr's attorneys, Gladys Root and Herbert Grossman, alleging that Carr was not guilty because of insanity.

The manslaughter conviction carries a prison sentence of one to 10 years. Sept. 14 has been set for hearing on probation and sentencing.

During the sensational two-week trial, Carr's wife, Mrs. Ruby Lee Carr, admitted that she had had a love affair with the slain man, Charles Williams, and stood by her husband in his fight for his life. The state had asked the death penalty for first degree murder.

The killing occurred at 3 in the morning. Carr was waiting for his wife. Williams stoped his car in front of 1543 E. 47th street, a few doors away from the Carr home at 1573 E. 47th street. As she parted from her lover, Mrs. Carr kissed him goodbye.

When Carr saw the embrace, he told the court that his mind went blank. He fired one shot. It struck Williams in the head, killing him instantly.

Judge Curbs 'Right-to-Work' Anti-Union Law

NEW YORK — The Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters last week won an important labor victory in its fight to maintain the union shop on the Seaboard Air Line Railroad.

Judge H. Ray Doubles threw out a complaint and an injunction against the union and the railroad which had been obtained by five anti-union train porters in the Virginia state courts.

The porters were not members of the Brotherhood and, in order to avoid paying joining fees, dues and assessments, claimed that the 1951 amendment of the Railway Labor Act authorizing the union shop was unconstitutional and in conflict with Virginia's so-called "right-to-work" law.

The Court declared that the amendment to the Railway Labor Act "specifically authorizes the making of such an agreement, namely, union shop, notwithstanding any other statute or law of the United States or of any state."

Judge Doubles held that the right to work "includes the right of a man to choose his line of work and to voluntarily change his job. Where a person becomes the employe of another, he does so by virtue of a contract. While he has the absolute right to work or quit as he may see fit, his remaining rights are governed by all the lawful conditions in the contract."

Man Dies of Knife Wound; Killer Held

John L. Johnson, a 26-year-old veteran of the Korean war, was stabbed to death early Sunday morning at the restaurant where he lived and worked, 1602 E. 92nd street.

Arrested and charged with murder was Jack Batups, 1031½ E. 22nd street.

Johnson was knifed in the neck about 6 a.m. As he staggered about the room, blood spurting down his clothes, he asked a witness, O. C. Keeling, 319 W. 61st street, to call an ambulance.

Before the ambulance arrived, however, he slumped to the floor near the door. He was pronounced dead an hour later at General hospital.

Witnesses said the knifing occurred after the two men got into an argument over money. Batups, police were told, tried to collect some money Johnson owed him. When the latter said he could not pay, the two men are said to have scuffled, during which Batups pulled a knife and stabbed his adversary.

Alderson Loses Plea for Delay

Chief Wanted Time to 'Study' Race Problem

A move to delay Fire Chief John H. Alderson's report to the Board of Fire Commissioners on racial segregation failed last Thursday when the Board turned down a request from a "Fact Finding Committee" for more time to "study" the problem. Chief Alderson joined in the request.

Meanwhile the Democratic County Central Committee last week put itself squarely on record in opposition to segregation in the Fire Department and called on Alderson "as a public servant" to "bring an end to this deplorable practice."

The chief was the target of another attack for his policies when the Labor and Industry Committee of the NAACP called on the Central Labor Council to rescind its resolution approving Alderson's policies. The resolution will be presented at the Council's next meeting.

AFL members told the Eagle that the resolution was "slipped over" on the Council by the International Association of Fire Fighters local. The union has a small membership and none of its handful of Negro members was present when the local passed its resolution.

The Fire Fighters local was behind the request for a delay in the Alderson report. It established the Fact Finding Committee and sought to have a $2 contribution deducted from firemen's wages to finance its "study." The City Controller denied that request although Alderson had okayed it. Voluntary contributions are now being sought.

Attorney Edward C. Maddox, representing the NAACP, urged the Board to deny the request for more time for study and pointed out that the matter had been before the chief since last fall.

Alderson was told by the Board last July 20 to bring in a report within six weeks setting forth plans for integration of Negroes in the Department. He has not indicated what his report will be but he has repeatedly told reporters that he will retire if his right to make assignments is curtailed by the Board.

City Hall gossip has it that the Board will assume direct charge of the integration program if Alderson fails to bring in a workable plan and will direct him to shift Negro firemen from Stations 30 and 14 to which they are now confined.

LEADING AMERICAN—Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, Nobel Peace Prize and Spingarn Award winner, this week was named top American to the United Nations secretariat.

Bunche Given Top United Nations Post

Ralph Bunche, Los Angeles' favorite son, moved up another step on the United Nations ladder last week when he was appointed undersecretary without specific assignment in the U.N. Secretariat. He will take office on Jan. 1, 1955.

The promotion made him the top American in the United Nations and one of the most important figures in the whole U.N. apparatus. The appointment was announced by Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold, who also appointed a Russian to a comparable position.

Winner of the coveted Nobel Peace Prize, Bunche has been serving as director of the U.N. Trusteeship department since 1946. He won the Nobel Prize for his success in getting Israel and the Arabs to agree to a truce in their bitter war in Palestine.

The new position carries a salary of $23,000 annually and Bunche will receive an additional amount for travel and expenses. U.N. salaries are tax free.

The appointment came shortly after a Loyalty Board had cleared Bunche of charges preferred by two former Negro Communists. Their testimony that he had associated and cooperated with the Communist party was rejected by the board.

Bunche was educated in Los Angeles public schools and is a graduate of Jefferson High School and of UCLA. He taught at Howard University before entering the diplomatic service.

A. P. Randolph to Spark NAACP Freedom Meet

A. Philip Randolph, international president of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters AFL, prominent labor leader, lecturer and author, will be principal speaker at a meeting Sept. 19 at 3 p.m. at the Pasadena Civic Auditorium, 300 E. Green street, Pasadena.

Randolph will speak under the auspices of the Pasadena branch of the NAACP. The meeting is being held to raise funds to implement the association's "Fight for Freedom" fund.

Work Starting to Drain Bixby Slough Death Trap

Plans to change the city's No. 1 death trap into an extensive park, swimming hole and wild life refuge moved another step forward this week with announcement that the Board of Supervisors will advertise bids next month to construct storm drains at Bixby Slough.

Bixby Slough — sometimes called Machado Lake—is a land-locked, water-logged sump near the harbor which for many years has beckoned to unsuspecting youngsters on summer holiday, sucking them down to their death.

Construction of the drain, at an estimated cost of $797,600, is a necessary first step in making the land usuable and preventing the existing hazard.

The city has already started work on Harbor Park, as the 225-acre area, including the slough and adjacent territory, will be known, and this week or next the city will let bids for a swimming pool.

After the draining is completed and the land acquired from private owners, the stage will be set for the City Recreation and Park Department to develop the area further.

Extortionist Kept Date With Victim; Walked Into Net

A blackmailer and extortionist carrying a paper bag containing $500 in hot money was caught red-handed in South Park Thursday night, when Central Bunco Squad and Newton Street police officers threw a dragnet around the area and closed in on the suspect.

Police believed the arrest may have netted them one of the principal bunco artists of the district.

Kept Appointment

Arrested with the money in his possession was Joe Etral Keys, 29, of 5119 Avalon blvd. Also picked up were Raymond Sommers, 26, of 216¼ W. 70th street, and Dan Wysinger, 30, a machinist, of 641 E. 29th st.

Both Sommers and Wysinger were lingering near the spot and were thought to be accomplices.

At the appointed time, 8 p.m., and at the agreed upon meeting place, Keys arrived and received the bag containing the $500 from Flyod K. Hambright, 57, of 5101 6th avenue. The arrest followed a few minutes later.

Wanted Reward

Police, after a check at the station, revealed that Keys had spent time on McNeil Island for forging government checks. It was also found that he fitted the description of a suspect wanted for numerous other extortion and bunco crimes.

Hambright told police that Keys had called him Monday evening and said he had a wallet which Hambright had lost, and offered to return it for a reward.

Hambright agreed to meet him at 8 p.m. the next night in South Park. At the scheduled hour, Keys arrived and led Hambright to the darkest area of the park. Then he threatened him, telling him he had letters and other evidence that would prove damaging to Hambright, and warning him he was prepared to expose intimate facts in his personal life to his wife and employer.

Demanded $500

He demanded $500, and arranged to meet Hambright on Wednesday during his lunch period in front of Bullocks Department store, downtown. Again Hambright kept the date, but Keys didn't show up.

Later that night, Keys again telephoned, and made the appointment for Thursday night.

At this point Hambright made a report to the police, denied the facts which Keys had threatened to "expose," and asked for protection.

When he kept his date with Keys, and turned over the money to him, police moved in and made the arrest.

U. N. Group In Interracial Meet In South

Miss Helene Boughton, acting president of the Los Angeles Chapter, American Association for the United Nations, has just returned from an interracial United Nations workshop in the South.

The workshop held the first week of August at the Highlander Folk School, Monteagle, Tenn., was attended by 25 community leaders from California, Alabama, South Carolina, Arkansas, Mississippi and Tennessee.

Miss Boughton served as resource leader on the topics "Economic and Social Council," and "Community Action for the UN."

Theme of the workshop was "World Problems, the United Nations and You." Myles Horton, director of the Highlander Folk School, led the workshop, adding his knowledge on "motivating action" in discussion of community problems posed by the group. Mrs. Margaret Lamont and Ahvram Mezerik, both of New York City, served with Miss Boughton as the resource staff for the workshop, and dealt with "Trusteeship Council and films," and "Security Council and international affairs," respectively.

The first day of the workshop was devoted to relating personal and community problems to international problems solved by the agencies of the United Nations.

Participants learned of the work being done by U.N. departments throughout the world, on the second and third days, through films and lectures.

'All Points' Alarm Seeks Bandit Killer

Police this week sent out an all-points alarm for the cold-blooded bandit who killed a 55-year-old lumber yard owner Sunday, then stepped over the dying man and scooped up bills and coins from the cash register.

As he grabbed the money and backed away, the gunman covered three customers with his pistol.

Dead from a bullet wound in his chest was Jessie C. Hexberg, of 6622 6th avenue, owner of the lumber yard at 10806 S. Central avenue where the murder occurred.

The thug, whom witnesses described as a Negro, got away with between $200 and $250, police said.

Detectives reported that he rushed through the main office of the lumber yard past two employes and into the company's inner office.

"This is a stickup!" he told Hexberg menacingly, brandishing a gun, according to Ernest Lee Smith, 40, of 850 E. 93rd street, who was in the office at the time.

Hexberg stood near the cash drawer. When he turned toward it, the gunman fired. Hexberg dropped where he stood, mortally wounded.

In addition to the storm drain project, the Board of Supervisors has appropriated $50,000 for the purchase of land, according to Supervisor Burton W. Chase. Another $100,000 for buying up property has been appropriated by the City Council, Councilman John S. Gibson Jr., in whose district the slough is located, advised.

LIKED CAMP—Young Joyce M. Foster was enthusiastic about interracial experience at "Anytown U.S.A."

Anytown U.S.A. Inspiring, Says Youthful Participant

By JOYCE M. FOSTER

(The following report was written by the Eagle's youngest contributor, Joyce M. Foster, 15 years old.)

I have just returned from having the most wonderful experience anyone could hope to have. To me, it has been very educational and inspirational. You see, I have spent a week in "Anytown, USA," sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews, a week I will never forget.

My palace — no it wasn't Buckingham, nor was it the Statler. It was just a frame cabin, high in the mountains of Idylwild Pines. Yet it had riches that could never be found in palaces or any grand hotel. My gold was the girls I lived with, girls of all races and religions whose friendship I now hold in sacred trust.

Democracy! Tolerance! What is that? That was us singing at night by the campfire, arm in arm, Caucasian, Negro, Japanese, Jewish, Protestant and Catholic, not noticing the color of the skin nor the cross or star of David which might hang around the neck. All we knew about the person we were with was that we were more alike than different.

Have you ever attended a Jewish religious service? Well, I did. There were six of us living in the same cabin, representing the Jewish, Catholic and Protestant religions, each of us attending the other's place of worship — each of us learning to respect everyone's religion.

It was wonderful, not feeling afraid to go to the Jewish girl and ask about her religion or to ask a white girl what she thought of racial differences. This was my feeling the first two days at Camp but then something happened. All of a sudden I was no longer a member of one race. I found security for all of us, the most wonderful race of all . . . the human race.

I have learned so very much. We had discussion groups which followed the theme: "Youth Shows the Way." Problems we discussed openly, freely, with more wonderful new friends.

Dear parents, give us the chance to bring back the Anytown spirit. Give us a chance to help make this a better world. We need you, we need your help.

Teen-Agers In Venice to Stage Show

The name, "The Drifters," has been selected by a newly organized interracial teen-age group in Venice, centered around the Oakwood Playground area, John Bird, playground director, announced this week.

Officers of the 100-member organization are Rosie Muldron, president; Luther Collins, vice president; Paul Chavez Jr., secretary; John Smith, treasurer; Archie Hardnett and James McCleary, sergeants-at-arms.

Meetings are held at the playground auditorium on Wednesday nights. At this week's meeting, a musical group, "The Tropicals," is arranging a singing and dancing entertainment. Plans are now being made for a teen-age talent show in the near future.

In addition to the social affairs and the weekly meetings the group has also inaugurated an art class and a boxing class.

Two Named to County Group

Appointment of two prominent civic leaders to the County Committee on Human Relations has been announced by Supervisor Kenneth Hahn.

Dr. Vada Somerville, 2014 Virginia road, was re-appointed to the committee for a second year.

Henry W. Davis, 667 East 46th street, Grand Esquire of the Improved Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks of the World, was named to his first term.

Dore Schary, MGM producer, is the keynote spokesman for the convention. He will address some 400 delegates from the 88 national chapters of the league on Thursday, Sept. 2, 7:30 p.m. at the opening ceremonies at the Statler. The convention theme is "New Horizons."

AIDED JAPANESE—Atty. Loren Miller, publisher of the California Eagle, will be honored by the Japanese-American Citizens League for his stand in defense of Japanese during war years when friends were hard to find.

Migrant Labor Group Receives National Award

HARRISBURG, Pa.—The Pennsylvania Citizens' Committee on Migrant Agricultural Labor was awarded first prize in a national competition on better race relations conducted by an inter-faith group and at the same time received a cash grant of $5,000 from the Necchi Foundation of New York to help underwrite its work during the coming year.

Both presentations were made by Governor John S. Fine at a luncheon in the Penn-Harris hotel here.

The Citizens' Committee was organized in 1952 by the national office and Pennsylvania State Conference of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Wife Divorces Photographer, C. Williams

Mrs. Yoshi Kuwahara Williams won a divorce from her well-known news photographer husband, Charles Williams, last Thursday, on the grounds of mental cruelty, and was granted custody of the couple's two children, Yoshi, 13, and Charles III, 3.

In addition, Mrs. Williams was accorded $100 a month for the care of the children.

The filing of the divorce brought to light the fact that when the two separated in 1951 Williams gave to his wife full interest in a $20,000 apartment building at the corner of 35th and Cimarron streets, and agreed to pay her $200 a month for child support.

At the time of the separation Williams operated a photography school, a model school for girls and an advertising agency.

NAPE Moves To New Home

WASHINGTON — The National Alliance of Postal Employees this week moved into its new national headquarters building at 11th and R Streets, N.W., here in the capital of the nation, and also began the annual meeting of its national executive board.

The dual affair took on the nature of a christening, when NAPE President James B. Cobb invited Dr. William H. Jernagin, the militant 83-year-old Baptist clergyman and leader, to bless the new headquarters.

"We are re-dedicating the Alliance and this home to the principles of the founding fathers and the implementation of the 14th and 15th Amendments in view of the Supreme Court decision against segregation," President Cobb said.

IMPROVEMENTS

Improvement of major streets, installation of traffic signals, and mercury-vapor safety lighting in Santa Monica will be partially financed by an appropriation of $40,830 voted Tuesday by the Board of Supervisors.

Churches Seeking Segregation Ban

EVANSTON, Ill.—The tremendous gathering of church leaders, Negro and white, from 48 countries and all continents who have gathered here set to work this week to wipe from the churches what is considered their "greatest scandal"—race segregation in the houses of worship.

Dr. Benjamin Mays, president of Baptist Morehouse college in Atlanta, told the Assembly of the World Council of Churches that means must be found to end racial barriers which "scar the soul" and violate the "law of God." He added that to "proclaim one thing and act another is sheer hypocrisy.

"Shutting the door of the church to anyone because of race," said Dr. Mays, "is like saying you made a mistake. God, when you made people of different races and colors."

A committee was appointed to bring in recommendations on the race question to the world body before the close of the two week sessions.

Prominent Churchmen

The second World Council opened Aug. 15, and will continue until Aug. 31. Some 125,000 persons witnessed the opening festival at Chicago's Soldier's field.

Among the prominent churchmen who attended were Dr. J. H. Jackson, president of the National Baptist Convention, USA, Inc., and pastor of the Olivet Baptist church of Chicago; Bishop Frederick Jordon of Los Angeles; Bishop J. A. Hamlett, CME; Rev. Henry Allen Boyd, National Baptist Convention; Bishop William J. Walls, AME Zion; and Mathew W. Clair Jr., Methodist Episcopal.

Urban League To Hold 44th Annual Meet

The 44th annual conference of the National Urban League, the nation's oldest interracial social welfare organization, will be held in Pittsburgh for five days beginning Labor Day, Sept. 6, through Friday, Sept. 10.

Some 1,000 delegates and visitors will meet in the steel city to consider the various aspects of "Building for Tomorrow's Better Living," the conference theme.

More than 50 nationally known authorities in the fields of housing, employment and vocational guidance and health and welfare services will participate in the conference as speakers, panelists and discussion leaders.

The historic May 17 decision of the U.S. Supreme Court outlawing segregated public schools will keynote the conference at its opening session—a panel discussion scheduled for the morning of Sept. 6 at the Fort Pitt Hotel, conference headquarters. Robert W. Dowling, president National Urban League, and president City Investing Company, N.Y., will preside over this session.

EXPECTANT MOTHERS

Nearly 4,000 new mothers had the benefit of Los Angeles County Health Department's classes for expectant parents last year.

NAACP West Coast Region to Hold Meeting

SAN FRANISCO—The West Coast region of the NAACP will meet in conference at Asilomar Oct. 15-17, Franklin H. Williams, NAACP secretary-counsel, announced this week.

Roy Wilkins, NAACP administrator, will deliver the principal address at the region-wide gathering, and will be main speaker at the Saturday night public meeting.

Workshops will be conducted on: Voters' Education and Registration, Internal Structure, Fund Raising, Membership Drives, Branch Program and NAACP Sponsored Credit Unions.

While the conference will have a heavy workshop and business schedule, a barbecue and social hours are planned for delegates.

Floyd Covington At Santa Monica Meet

By BOOKER T. GAMBLE

Floyd Covington, race relations officer of the Federal Housing Administration, was principal speaker at Thursday's regular monthly meeting of the Santa Monica NAACP held at the Masonic Temple, 1725 Broadway, Santa Monica.

Discussing the importance of keeping abreast with the most recent developments in the housing field and the relation between housing and segregation, he stated: "Unless we can live in communities together, we cannot be educated together." Pointing up the importance of accurate knowledge, he continued: "We must get the facts before the fight."

Dr. Noel E. Haye responded to Covington's remarks, praising the NAACP for its role in obtaining and safeguarding the gains now enjoyed by the community.

Vice-President Frank Barnes reported on the recent area meeting in San Pedro, the theme of which was the implementation of the Supreme Court decision on education.

Good Conscience

HOUSTON, Texas — White members of the First Unitarian Church here adopted a resolution recently to admit Negroes on "any person" to its services and membership in its congregation.

Only a few members said they will withdraw if the church implements the policy of non-segregation.

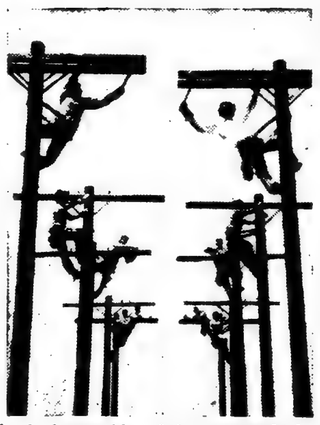
Wini Orr In Suit Against Red Hut Cafe

Wini Orr, well-known publicity woman, filed a damage suit Tuesday through her attorney, Stanley R. Malone, against the Scrivner-owned Red Hut Drive-Inn, Western avenue at 31st street.

Mrs. Orr went to make a telephone call last June 1 while she was lunching with friends. She slipped and fell as she went through the Western avenue entrance, rupturing the blood vessels and damaging the tissues of her right hand and bruising her right knee.



Since the date of the accident, Mrs. Orr claims, she has been under the constant care of her physician, Dr. J. F. Evans, in an attempt to restore the use of her right hand.

Look at S. P., Governor

Governor Goodwin Knight told the AFL convention this week that his administration will not tolerate racial segregation in public schools, public housing or in transportation, or discrimination in places of public accomodation and amusement. He wound up with a rather eloquent plea for equal opportunity for all Californians.

A goodly portion of what the governor said was just old fashioned campaign oratory, a reminder that election day is just around the corner. For example, segregation in public schools is directly forbidden by state law. The same thing is true of discrimination in places of public accomodation. Segregation in public housing persisted in California until the NAACP filed and won a suit against San Francisco last year. We don't recall any specific assistance that the governor lent in that suit and we can't find any record of his speaking out against it.

And if Governor Knight means what he says about segregation in transportation we have just the case for him. Southern Pacific runs a Jim Crow car out of Los Angeles every day in the year on its Sunset Limited. The practice is an old one and S.P. lawyers have filed reams of documents supporting it. We don't know just what the state administration can do about it but we do hope that we will see some tangible results within the near future.

We believe the governor when he says that he is opposed to discrimination in employment. But we don't believe that such a goal can be reached without state fair employment practices legislation and we notice that the governor did not pledge support to any such legislation. We doubt that he will do so. Whether his silence springs from his own lack of sympathy with such legislation or from fear of offending the powerful interests that are supporting him the fact remains that the governor's thundering against discrimination in employment is, and will remain, meaningless until employment discrimination is forbidden by adequate laws.

We believe that there is a certain value in condemnation of segregation and discrimination by responsible officials, even when such sentiments are uttered as part of political campaigns. We also believe that there is far more value in definite legislative programs which put discrimination and segregation under legal bans.

You Better Register

A voting registrar was telling us the other day that he took his registration book into one of the most exclusive sections of the city occupied by Negro professional men and women.

Almost one-half of the people who live in the area weren't registered, he said. Some of them had never registered to vote. Others had permitted their registration to lapse because they had moved or changed their names or had failed to vote in preceding elections.

The picture he painted was a pretty discouraging one. Here were people with every advantage, people who had time to vote, people who are popularly supposed to keep abreast of the times and to have concern with the functioning of their state and nation.

We suspect that an even worse situation exists in some of the less privileged sections of the city where Negro voters predominate. Every election adds to the proof that an alarmingly large number of Negroes don't take the trouble to go to the polls.

We hope that the November election will reverse the trend and that more Negroes will vote than ever before.

There isn't much time left for registration. The books close on September 9 and those who aren't enrolled can't vote for a governor, a United States senator, congressman and state officials who will be chosen on November 2.

Are you registered? Or are you going to stay at home and let others decide the destinies of California and the nation?

Check up on your voting registration now, today! And if you haven't got your name on the voters' rolls get it on there today. And while you're at it, why not jog your neighbor's memory? Urge him to be a good citizen, like you're going to be.

Let 'Em Eat Cake

President Eisenhower's veto of the measure granting lower paid government workers an increase in salaries was a mistake. We don't see how it can be reconciled with the president's expressed concern for the welfare of the average man.

Everybody acquainted with the facts knows that these civil service workers needed the pay boosts in order to keep pace with rising living costs. Even the increase as voted by Congress would have left a big gap between earnings and expenses for most government employes.

The veto will hit a large number of Negro employes because a disproportionate number of Negro civil service servants are in the pay brackets for which the increases were intended.

The refusal of these deserved wage increases is in sharp contrast to the give-away program of the administration where big business is concerned.

Big business has been having its way for the past two years. Its henchmen have been gradually working their way into government boards and commissions where utility rates are set and subtle changes in rules have showered big business with many benefits.

The private public utility companies have been successful in curbing public power projects, thus setting the stage for increased profits.

Wage workers who were beguiled by the Eisenhower myth in 1952 had better take a good long look at what has happened to the government workers. They are not directly concerned but the veto of the pay bill is a tip off as to the administration's policy in respect to wages.

Guilt By Association

The manner in which the government loyalty-security program gets all tangled up in its own feet and falls on its face was illustrated again last week when the president of an NAACP branch in New Jersey lost his government job.

He has been a long time foe of segregation and discrimination in his home town and has earned a fair share of enemies by his insistence on strict adherence to the guarantees of the Fourteenth Amendment.

The employe's undoing was the charge that he had "associated" with known Communists. It turned out that he had known the men in connection with his activities as president of the NAACP branch and had "associated" with them in that sense.

That was enough for his inquisitors. He was fired and the NAACP has the tough job of getting him reinstated.

The doctrine of guilt by association is a dangerous one at best and the manner in which it has been applied by some loyalty boards makes it even more of a threat to civil liberties.

Battleaxe and Bread

By Lester B. Granger

The other side of FEPC was presented a couple of weeks ago when the Connecticut State Commission on Civil Rights released its printed report on "Training of Negroes in the Skilled Trades." The commission, established under Gov. Chester Bowles' progressive administration, is pretty close to being a model for state fair employment operations the country over.

Lester Granger

In addition to investigating and passing on complaints presented to it, the Connecticut Commission has been making reports on basic economic and social situations at the bottom of racial discrimination.

Training Needed

In this particular report, the commission takes a long look at "the extent and types of training received by Negroes in the skilled trades in Connecticut." In doing so, it recognizes that job opportunity doesn't mean much to a chap who hasn't the training and skill to qualitfy for it. As long as Negroes are barred or discouraged from acquiring training, they are going to be automatically out of skilled trades requiring such training.

There are two principal ways of training for skilled trades. One is by completing vocational school courses; the other is through on-the-job apprenticeships which are a part of the state apprenticeship training program. The latter method has produced practically no skilled workers from the Negro group, for out of 1,509 recent graduates, only five-tenths of one percent could be identified as Negroes.

Few Graduate

The vocational schools have a slightly better record, but only slightly. A smaller proportion of Negroes than whites enter vocational schools. An even smaller finish, for 50 percent drop out before graduation as compared with 25 percent among whites.

Negroes choose a narrower range of trade courses, putting more emphasis on auto repair, dressmaking and nursing, and far too little on the better-paid electrical, machine and drafting vocations.

Even in private vocational-technical schools, the principal courses taken by Negroes are shoe-rebuilding, photography and radio and TV repairing. None has ever attended a private school specializing in tool and machine design, which is the aristocrat of the skilled trades.

Discouragement

What's the reason for this failure, typical in other states than Connecticut, to get training to qualify for jobs which the law decrees are open without discrimination? One answer is easy—discouragement. A third of those interviewed in the report had been advised by relatives teachers, friends or employers "that being colored would handicap them in getting jobs." Not seeing the use of training is one fatal deterrent.

Another is the opposition shown by many of the unions to Negroes seeking apprenticeships or union membership. The commission cites the case of one Negro with a college degree in electrical engineering and two years of specialist service in the Army who was admitted to Local 35 of IBEW only on a commission order, and after five years of litigation that went to the Superior Court.

Under conditions like these, there's no wonder that a great many teen-agers, at the age of choosing or rejecting a skilled worker's career, decide against it as being not worth the trouble. But when they do so decide, they are playing squarely into the hands of our enemies. It's up to us to find some answers for their perplexity—if we really believe in FEPC.

Pure and Simple

By L. F. Palmer Jr.

Reached in my pocket for a match the other day and after lighting my stogie I just happened to glance at the message on the match book. "Stake a Claim on One of our Steaks," the ad read and I was getting ready to count my quarters to see if I could claim one of those steaks when I discovered the beef hunks were at Maynard's restaurant in Johnstown, Pa.

Now all things that Maynard had to say about his steaks were real nice and made me want to see what made his any better than anybody else's. But Johnstown, Pa., is a long hike just for a heavy snack.

So I got to wondering about the intelligence quotient of our highly touted ad men. Somehow I had the idea that only geniuses inhabited those mysterious ad offices. But when they ask me to use Klancey's Kleaners in Kobblestone, Ky., or Mike's Pawn Shop in Juno, Alaska, well . . . I just have to wonder about those ad men.

Queer Things

And speaking of match books, they can make people do a lot of queer things. I've got one friend who collects match books. He must have thousands of the things and when he spies one discarded on the street, he'll go into all kinds of acrobatics to get to it before some one else does. As if someone else would.

I saw him tie up traffic in Times Square once when he darted out among the swarming taxicabs to rescue the ghost of a match book he saw helplessly sprawled in the middle of the street.

After risking his neck, drawing upon him the wrath of a dozen cab drivers and almost getting thrown in the clink, he strutted back to the sidewalk bug-eyed and triumphant—until he examined his precious find.

"Of all the blasted luck," he muttered, "just another Munchy."

He tossed "Munchy" back to its ignoble resting place and proceeded on, his nose glued to the pavement. To this day, I have never figured out what the heck a "Munchy" is.

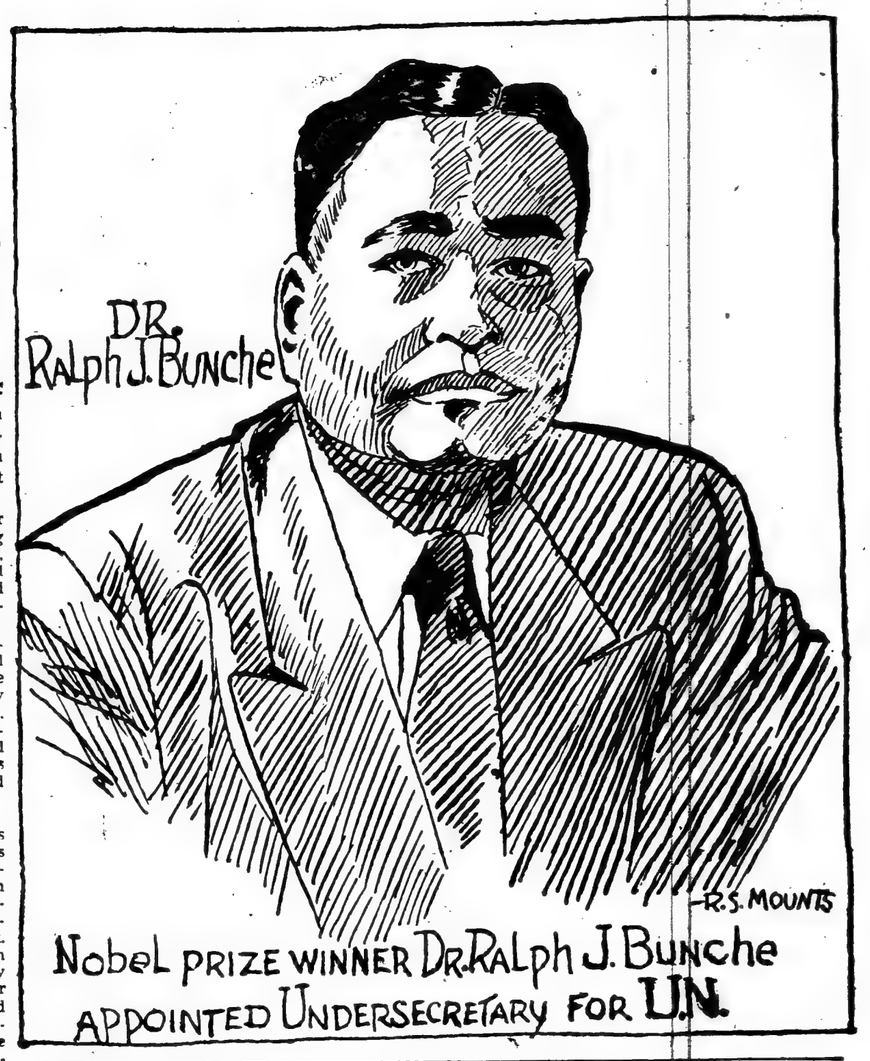
Glamour Books

And then there's this other buddy of mine who collects match books. He only goes for the glamourous ones like the Sands in Las Vegas, the Waldorf in New York, or the Chez Paree in Chi town or Brooks Brothers clothes.

Don't let anyone pull out a cigarette. My friend leaps to his feet, digs into his pocket and comes out with his "quality" book matches and waves the cover in front of the smoker's eyes and just won't give him a light until he gets the idea. You know, I vacation at the Sands . . . I buy my clothes at Brooks Brothers . . .

I tricked up him one day, though. When he wasn't looking I slipped one of my match books in his pocket. When he sprang into his act, the unsuspecting smoker didn't have any choice but to read the cover of the match book in order to get his light.

The look of sympathy that came over the smoker's face puzzled my friend until he glanced down at the match book to see why. It was a beautifully done green and black job. And it read, "I use Carter's Little Liver Pills."



Howard Prof Consultant to Virgin Islands

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Dr. James M. Nabrit Jr., secretary and professor of law at Howard University, has been named legal consultant to the Governor of the Virgin Islands.

In his new position Dr. Nabrit will assist Governor Archie Alexander in the reorganization of some 85 executive departments of the Virgin Islands Government. The reorganization, which was brought about by the New Organic Act, is expected to reduce the number of executive departments to nine. The Act was passed by Congress and approved by President Eisenhower last month.

A native of Atlanta, Ga., Dr. Nabrit has been at Howard since 1936, when he was appointed assistant professor of law. In 1939, he was named secretary of the University, a position which he still holds, and in 1947, he was appointed professor of law.

Dr. Nabrit holds the Bachelor of Arts degree from Morehouse College in Atlanta and the Doctor of Jurisprudence degree from Northwestern University.

One Man's Opinion

By LEON STEWARD

IN BUSINESS FOR THEMSELVES

These young men have had the courage to launch out upon a busines career which is doing very well as of this writing and gives great promise of doing better as time directs a larger number of purchasers to their wonderful store at the corner of 61st and Main streets.

Wilton Clarke was born in Florida and Arrea C. Jones was born in Tyler, Texas. Clarke was in the Navy and Jones was in the Army. Jones was in Los Angeles and married long before Clarke arrived in town, but somehow Clarke became interested in Jones' sister-in-law and presently they were married to two sisters.

Leon Steward

As time passed Jones had some upholstering done. When the upholsterer gave him the bill for the work, he reacted very much as we did when we asked a painter what he would charge to paint two rooms and the painter replied $200. We became an interior decorator. Jones went to an upholstering school on his G.I. Bill of Rights.

Opened Business

Jones went to work for the Sherman Bertram Mfg. Co. and when Clarke was out of the Navy, Jones secured a position for him as an apprentice. They worked in the day and at night they worked out upholstering problems in a practical way. In January, 1950, they opened their first business at 6915 S. Main street. They stayed there long enough to buy the property where they are now located. They moved into it in July, 1953 and they have a large storeroom with plate glass all around. They named it "Clarke, Jones & Co. — Furniture, Upholstering and Draperies."

Both men are buying homes. Jones has eight children while Clarke has seven. If we are not mistaken they are married to Lillian Cumber's sisters. Mrs. Cumber writes for the "Tribune," and we have known her since her childhood.

Before we left we looked at the sign on the window and asked who is the "& Co.?" "My oldest son," was Jones' reply.

Typhoid Fever Is Transmitted By Carriers

By Roy O. Gilbert, M.D.
County Health Officer

Typhoid fever, among the last of the pestilential fevers modern science learned to prevent and keep under control in the Western world, is caused by a bacillus called Salmonella typhosa. The ways in which it may be transmitted are understood and its control readily possible but, nevertheless, an average of 26 cases has been reported annually in Los Angeles County for the last 5-year period, and during the last few days the disease has again made headlines in the local newspapers.

Typhoid fever is a systemic illness that usually localizes in the intestines. Early symptoms of the disease may include general aches and pains over the entire body, headache, nosebleed, increasing tiredness, and loss of appetite and fever for at least a week before the individual becomes sick enough to go to a doctor.

If the disease is severe, extreme weakness, high fever, diarrhea, and ulceration of the intestines may then occur. The acute illness lasts at least 3 or 4 weeks and the diease has a fatality rate of about 10 per cent.

In this area, typhoid fever is not caused by environmental factors, such as polluted water and milk supplies, for sanitation inspections and safeguards have long since eliminated these sources of infection. Investigations disclose that the disease is generally spread by means of chronic typhoid carriers.

Typhoid carriers are individuals who act as symptom-free portable reservoirs for the germs of the disease and many of them are unaware that they may transmit the infection. Most of them are older people who have had the disease earlier in life, sometimes as long as 50 years ago, or have had it in so mild a form that it was not recognized.

Or it may be transmitted by carriers who have come here from other areas where the disease is still prevalent, such as the south-central United States or the countries south of the border.

Whether the disease is mild or otherwise, it is estimated that between three and four per cent of the individuals who have had it become carriers, 70 per cent of them being women. About one-fifth of all carriers have never had the disease in a recognizable form.

All known chronic carriers are kept under strict surveillance by public health officials and are visited at least twice yearly. None, under any circumstances, are permitted to work commercially with milk or other foods. Members of the carrier's household are advised to be vaccinated against the disease and annual booster shots of the vaccine are given as additional protection.

Owing to the instruction and supervision given, carriers usually present no menace to the community or household.

No drug yet found will rid the chronic carrier's body of the germs.

On the Bookshelf

THE TUNNEL OF LOVE by Peter De Vries

You'd think that a request from a married couple you knew well for a recommendation to an adoption agency would be simple enough, but for the narrator of this extremely funny book it is the beginning of endless complications.

Chaos upon chaos develops in the little colony of artists and writers in Connecticut, and many of the episodes are as sidesplitting as anything you will read this year—notably, the production of a would-be funny skit before an audience which grows more and more silent as the desperate actors continue; the narrator's sleepless night after one of his children has asked him an elementary arithmetic problem; an accidental and unwanted love affair; and the ribbing of the more pretentious sort of intellectuals.

And don't miss the outrageous—and often wonderful—puns that fill the book. This material appeared in a different form in the New Yorker.

FUTURE INDEFINITE by Noel Coward

In this second volume of his autobiography, Coward, the darling of English cafe society, recounts his activities from 1939 to V-E Day, hobnobbing with the higher levels of the diplomatic and military sets during a tour of the war theaters from Egypt to Australia.

This is quick, gay reading, which takes us from a hush-hush (and amazingly ineffectual) propaganda office in Paris, to entertaining on a British warship, and to meetings with Churchill, who, in the thick of the Battle of Britain, was understandably a little brusque.

Coward wittily characterizes the host of celebrities he met with all the charm and sophistication for which he is noted.

THE CONQUEST OF FATIGUE AND FEAR by Edward S. Cowles

The author of "Don't Be Afraid," out of 40 years of professional experience speaks to his readers of cases, causes, and cures based on his own mehod of treating psycho-somatic disorders.

Disclaiming psychoanalysis as the inevitable answer to mental disturbance, he feels that fatigue and fear, brought on by depletion of energy in the nervous system, are the real foes of mental well-being. His treatment involves both the physical and mental build-up of the patient before results can be obtained.

The book includes special chapters on shyness, jealousy, alcoholism, the psychopathic personality, and the problems of children.

Amusing illustrations in black and white.

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Thousands of Negro citizens from throughout the United States are expected to gather in the nation's Capital next month for a religious ceremony observing the progress of the Negro since his emancipation from slavery.

Africans In Dire Need Of Missionary Workers

Young Africans today are leaving their traditional, communal village life to work in busy, anonymous factories and offices of cities that have risen from the continent's grasslands, jungle and hills. How can Christian churches help to ease a transition that spans centuries and continents?

Dr. George W. Carpenter, executive secretary of the Africa Committee, Division of Foreign Missions, National Council of Churches, left Aug. 19 by plane for a three-month visit to Africa to confer on the problem with Christian leaders from Ethiopia and the Sudan down to South Africa.

"In these cities," Dr. Carpenter comments, "Africans are lost as completely as country greenhorns were in United States cities years ago. From a life surrounded by the sanctions of family and community, they go to live and work in European urban areas where they face new ideas and temptations as individuals who no longer are part of a community. Here, where the old patterns have broken down, the church is needed more than any place else."

Stressing the urgency of the situation, Dr. Carpenter added: "The future of Africa may well depend on our finding quickly the solution to this urban problem." After he returns to the United States at the end of November, Dr. Carpenter will bring a report and recommendation to members of his committee. They represent 40 denominational boards with mission work in Africa south of the Sahara.

Drownings accounted for 6,700 deaths in the United States during 1953. The Greater Los Angeles Safety Council reports drownings second only to traffic as a cause of accidental death among persons between the ages of five and 44.

Announce New Way To Shrink Painful Piles

Find Healing Substance That Does Both— Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to stop bleeding—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form for hemorrhoids under the name Preparation H.® The price is only 98c a tube including an applicator. The name to ask for is Preparation H—at all drug stores. And remember—if not entirely satisfied—your money will be refunded promptly.

RAMS HOST BROWNS FRIDAY NITE

KAYO LIGHTWEIGHT ARTISTS BATTLE AT OLYMPIC MONDAY

Two young lightweights, Don Jordan a local product, and Oakland's Art Ramponi who has racked up an amazing ring record in a short space of time will collide head on Monday night at the Olympic in the ten round feature event that is being talked of as the bout of the year.

Jordan will go into the bout a ten to six choice. A favorite among the boxing fans, he has dropped only two bouts in 13 pro fights. He is the only boxer to hold a win over Andy Escobar.

Ramponi is the pride of Richmond in the Bay Area. He put the Richmond Club back on its feet, running up a string of sensational victories, most of them being via the knockout route.

Ramponi has replaced Eddie Chavez as the North's most popular lightweight.

Jordan's ascent up the fistic ladder is every bit as impressive as Ramponi's. His only losses were to Escobar and Dickie Wong.

His latest win was a brilliant and sensational victory over the veteran Freddie Babe Herman. Jordan's win over Escobar came in January at the Hollywood Legion were he scored a mild upset in a bout which drew a net gate of $5,800. With the two kayo artist in the ring Monday night and both stepping up for national ranking this bout should be action packed as long as it lasts and it doesn't appear it's going the full ten rounds.

Green Slick In Stopping Sal Flores

Charlie Green, a kid with a couple of potent mitts, is growing up in the middleweight boxing class. The hard-hitting boxer loked in shape, in defeating durable Sal Flores Monday night at the Olympic. Green scored two nifty knock-down in the hotly contested bout, once in the fifth and again in the sixth. Flores didn't answer the bell for the seventh canto. He couldn't as the bell had saved him in the prevoius round after being tagged with a murderous right.

Green moved around the ring like a veteran sliping in nifty left hooks, uppercuts and an assortment of one two punches to indicate he's been learning more of the trade. Later in the dressing room he admitted he was a bit slow but he looked better Monday night than he did on the night he won the State Middleweight title. If Green continues to improve he may make the old timers forget about Jack Chase, Watson Jones, Mad Anthony Jones and the other star midleweight of yesteryears.

More than 60,000 fans are expected to see Hamp Pool stroll on the green grass of the Coliseum in the company of Dan Towler, 226 pounds, Paul (Tank) Younger, 226 pounds, Wodley Lewis, 195 pounds, Odie Posey, 175 pounds, Bob Boyd, 200 pounds, Harry Thompson, 225 pounds and Gene Lipscomb, 280 pounds.

SEALS, STARS PLAYOFFS FOR PLACE IN PCL LOOP

The San Francisco Seals provide the oppostiion for the Hollywood Stars at Gilmore Field this weekend as the Pacific Coast League race sizzles toward its close. The Stars are battling for another pennant, while the Seals are striving to cinch their place in the playoffs. It isn't just prestige—it means cash in the pockets of the players. A single game will be played Saturday afternoon and a double-header Sunday. Both events start at 1:30.

Winning the pennant should mean about $300 to each player on the first-place club. A similar amount goes to the players on the team winning the Governor's Cup playoffs. The Hollywood Stars are gunning for both prizes. Lesser amounts go to the second, third and fourth-place teams, depending on how they fare in the playoffs.

Bill Smallwood
ON THE DELIGHTFUL SIDE

In town on business for three days, Cal Bailey bid our presence just after sun-up or thereabout on Oct. 24th at Carmel for his nuptials with Suzette Harbin. Immediately after, they're playing 18 holes of golf! THEN off a-honeymoonin'! They've taken an apt. in mid-town SF. Cal. incidentally, is giving up his Vine St. studio here after all these years.

Byron Edwards back from a two day romp in SF. Did it via a chum and his charcoal gray and yellow Mercedes-Benz. No pain. Just lived awhile. Due for a brief visit: Carl Jones and Lee Gaines. Zeta national prexy Dr. Nancy Woolridge went onto the Bay Area after local look-see. Mrs. Lillian Black planning Thanksgiving and Xmas in Ft. Wayne, Ind., with daughter Bobbee (Borders) and family.

Edna McCormick (she does Hawaii again come spring) filled Manhattan glasses for five then went onto Harry Bellafonte's Cocoanut Grove opening. Champagne christening: Marie and Nat Cole's new pool. Absolutely tireless: Elsie Foster, dancing on all sets this closing summer season. Her day-by-day calendar would even awe Eleanor. Atty. and Mrs. David Lee honeymooned in SF, guests of his sister. The Dr. Jno. Coleman's daughter Carol off to college in Mass.

Due: American Bridge Association head Victor R. Daly, who came west for their recent ABA national championships upstate playoff. Andy Razaf underwent surgery. Celeste Anderson Sun.-night-supper hostessed for visiting-from-Chi Gladys Outlaw. Women's Sunday Morning Breakfast Club, usually the second Sunday in each month at the Clark, will be held the fourth Sunday in Sept. instead. This affair has become a season to season standard by now, you know.

EPU's picknicked at Mary Jane and Ed Strong's in Pasadena. Billy Durroseau, off to college (at 16), was farewell-partied Tues.

Dorothea Foster birthdayed last Thurs. Omaha has a monopoly right through here on local visitors. Happiest Val Verde weekend vacationer alive: Calme Russe minus jangling phones. I'm sure she stood astride one of those hills, positively yodeling at the moon. Art Doram's sister and her husband, summer visitors here, like it so darn much they're making minute plans hoping to stay on, Unassailable Jay Loft Lynn impresarios Labor Day's Intercollegiate Council's United Negro College Fund's benefit at Moulin Rouge. Who else?

Interesting resemblance: That of Billy Daniels and Henri O'Bryant, had you noticed? Golden anniversary in Oct.: Sojourner Truth Home Club. Jimmy Robinson at a recent Sun. night party says: "Lebanon? It's so wonderful we'd go back tomorrow if we only could!"

Midnight cheek-to-cheek greeting: For modish Eula Henderson in the Trocadero lobby. She was sockeroo in gray and black with one of those lush full black cashmere coats hanging from her shoulders. Lit her cigarette in a Jade holder. Later, gabfesting with Larry Finley, prior to reunion with Lionell Cully in town from KC. He was unhappy because someone had asked archly when his velvet nap was going to wear off. Not even a later-still drink at the Statler cheered him.

Jenadora and Sterling Wagoner, vacation minded. Add to list of nightly roller skaters at that W. Wash. rink: Ageless Berti Hathaway with her teenage son and daughter crowd. H. J.: Pink or blue? They're still reminiscing about Al Thayer's party and the McGhee party. Those evidently are two parties which will go down in local history as the greatest things since the invention of the wheel.

On the coast: Philadelphians Mr. and Mrs. C. Franklyn Norris and daughter and son. Also: Margaret Seamon who took in the bridge playing doings up nawth. And Mrs. Mercer Lewis.

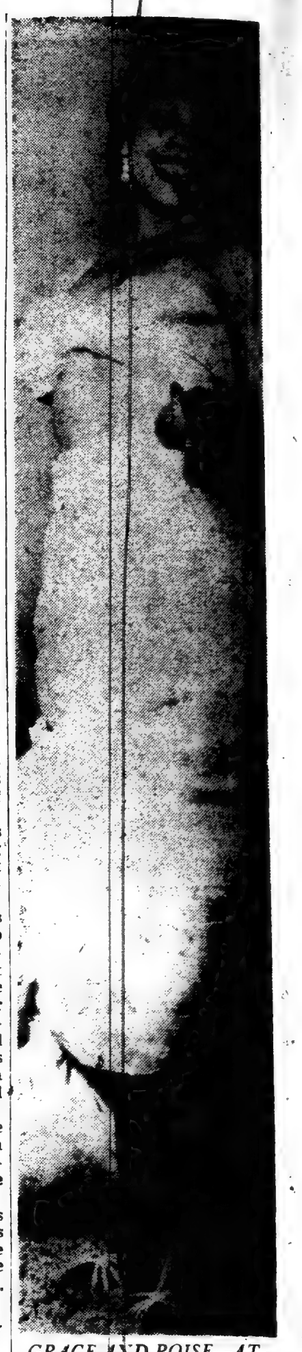
The fashion show sponsored by the Gradale Sorority on Sunday at the Californian Club for the benefit of the 28th Street Y.M.C.A. was well attended. The fashions displayed by the many attractive models were the very latest in the realm of fashion.

The Ann Price and Phyllis Shaw originals showed an unusual amount of class and workmanship as they modeled their own creation. Miss Price also created a stunning evening gown model by Kim Hunter. Jacqueline Tucker was impressive in black and gold lounging pajamas. Joyce Palton, Deloris Pierce, Jackie Simpson, Alice Roberson, Betty Edward, Muriel Israel and Wini Head were all outstanding in modeling the original gowns and sportswear.



The Sorority members and the Y.M.C.A. were elated over their first public affair and expressed a great deal of thanks to the following persons: Wini Orr, Bumps Blackwell and his band, The Flames, Jay Loft Lynn, Kenneth Morris.

In response to the request of a reader we are printing a recipe for cookies which keep well and will make an excellent addition to the lunch box or tea tray. They are made in two layers and are simple to make. I call them

WALNUT STRIPS

For the bottom layer use:

¼ cup softened shortening
½ cup flour and ¼ teaspoon salt.

Cream together till smooth. Pat in thin layer over bottom of greased and floured 9 by 5-inch pan. Bake in a moderate oven 350 degrees for 10 minutes.

Filling:

1 egg well beaten
¾ cup brown sugar well packed in cup
2 tablespoons flour
⅛ teaspoon baking powder
½ cup chopped walnuts
½ cup shredded cocoanut
½ teaspoon vanilla extract

Mix all ingredients together and spread over baked bottom layer as soon as it comes from the oven. Return to oven and bake for 15 minutes longer. Cool and spread with a frosting made by creaming together

1 tablespoon butter or margarine
¾ cup powdered sugar
1 tablespoon orange juice and ½ teaspoon lemon juice
¼ cup coarsely chopped walnut meats.

Spread frosting over cookies and sprinkle with walnuts. Cut in strips 2½ by 1-inch. Will make 1½ dozen bars.

With fall right around the corner you may be wondering how to make those dull-looking suede articles look like new again. Boil water in a large kettle so there will be plenty of steam. Hold the articles over the steam, one by one, until the suede is dampened, then brush against the nap.

'Day' Holds Sway Out Western Way From Club Oasis

It's a great "Day" at the West Coast's mecca of jazz, the Club Oasis, Western at 38th, with Billie Holiday headlining and singing the tunes which have brought her consistent acclaim through the years as the nation's number one song stylist.

Tourists Favorite

The winner of a Metronome award proclaiming her as the greatest female singer—ever—'Lady Day" will receive additional honors this Sunday afternoon, August 29, when the Club Oasis will present her in a special award matinee when Down Beat magazine will give her a special trophy as one of the all-time great vocal personalities in jazz, plus a surprise jam session.

Dunlap Debuts

During this engagement, Billie will be presented nightly except Mondays in a great show which also features Norman Dunlap, whose rich baritone has been a star attraction throughout the nation and Europe, headlining at New York's Apollo and Small's Paradise, New Orleans' Dew Drop, San Francisco's Cable Car and Champagne Supper Club, plus his own television show for eight months, San Diego's Tops, and the Blue Angel in Paris, Copenhagen's Music Festival and other top spots. Oddly enough, and in keeping with this engagement, one of his most popular songs is "Great Day."

Three Terrific Shows

Gourmet Guide

By RALPH E. ALEXANDER

The world is a stage and each of us must play his part—so said a wise sage at one time. To eat a good meal in a pleasant surrounding is a Gourmet's delight and a Gourmet is a lover of fine foods.

I find it a pleasure to eat at B.T.W.'s Side Street Grill at 1064 E. 42 street, where there is a dinner special for 50 cents every day, prepared by Chef Martin . . . if you are a budget watcher and you eat out every day it is B.T.W.'s Side Street Girll for you.

HIS HIGHNESS King Cole, master showman of songs added a touch of intimacy to the huge outdoor Hollywood Bowl that had seldom been witnessed by the bowl habitues, when he thrilled the packed outdoor arena. The dapper Nate used John Cillines, on guitar, Charles Harris, bass and the dean, Lee Young, on drums.

LAMBERT GREEN rated as one of the best dressers in the postal set, is said to be headed down the altar. One of his previous visits to the popular June path lasted just short of 30 days, five minutes, and one second. To his bride-to-be-we quote: "Brave girl!"

WOMEN—Alert wives of business men in the South Los Angeles sections should busy themselves in that area and help stimulate Negro business and community support. Dorothy Rowland, Lola Martinez, Gladys Robinson, Maxine Lundy, members of the Twenty Century Modernettes were present at the opening of Johnny Vivians' smart modern Beauty Shop at 11206 South Central, indicating their interest in new business in that area! There are only 90,000 negroes in that area and mostly home owners!

VISITORS PERMIT—Certain females are beating the visitors' jail permits. Early in a.m. you catch them standing in the parking lot across from the Hall of Justice looking as though they were star-gazing. They are only looking at the 12th floor for their man!

MARY CARR, pretty Latin, was making her sixth birthday party at the Sammy Warrens Sunday afternoon. It was the Warrens' daughter's birthday!

SUGAR JONES and his winsome wife, Emily, tossed a backyard bar-b-cue that lasted two days out on 138th street!

ELIZ McGEE was gifted with a smart sky blue Bel-Air by hubby Elihu but he likes it so well he's always in it!

THAT EDITOR doesn't know why she is missing so many affairs. Could be that her personality is like a mirror—it's showing!

JO ANN LYNN rehearsed with the Louis Jordan's band only eight hours before her Hollywood debut and she performed a like veteran!

PARTY CRASHER—A has been ham actor and a want-to-be actress have been missing out on so many free ones that they crashed that private birthday party the other eve and headed straight for the food!

Midway through the festivities the crowd paused to listen to "One Alone", dedicated to Miss Weldena Hefflin and Ernest Lightner whose engagement was announced the week prior to the party.

Members of some of the families present at the party represented four generations, such as that of Mesdames McCullough, Leonard Stovall, Gerald Stovall and little Pamela; and that of Mrs. Jennie Hefflin, Leon Hefflin Sr., Leon, Jr., Leon III, and little Darryl.

Bridge Pointers

By 'KENNY' SCOTT

There are times when a hand is more interesting when played in the wrong contract than when played in the right one. This one is a good example. While double dummy play can make seven spades, a play at three no-trump is much more instructive. In this instance, the West player was squeezed out of an ace, which doesn't happen every day.

	S A103 H — C Q10876 D AJ842
S J8 H A63 D Q53 C AJ942		S Q H Q109842 D 1076 C K53
	S K976542 H KJ75 D K9 C

West led a small club, and East's king was good. Seeing the futility of continuing the club suit, even though South was void, East switched to the ten of hearts. South played the jack and West's ace won. A low heart was returned and taken by South's king. South then ran six spade tricks which left the situation as follows.

	S — H — D AJ8 C Q
S — H — D Q53 C A		S — H Q D 1076 C —
	S 2 H 5 D K9 C

South played his seventh spade and left West in a hopeless position. South correctly reasoned that West held the ace and jack of clubs after the first trick when East had to play his king on a small club. South was able to make five no-trump which beat everybody who misplayed the hand and only made five spades. Incidentally, if anyone made seven spades against you on this hand, we advise you to hold your hands closer to your vest.

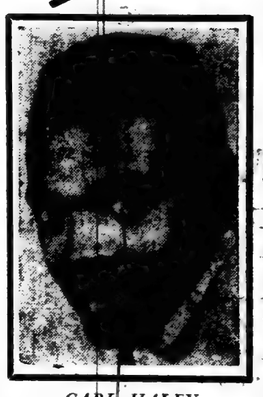
CARL HALEY'S RHEINGOLD SUGGESTION . . .

Delightful Summer Menu!



SAVORY POT ROAST RHEINGOLD

3 to 5 lbs. beef roast
1 cup Rheingold
1 button garlic (optional)
1 tablespoon flour
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 teaspoons salt
1 whole onion, medium size

Use one of the cheaper pieces of meat from the fore-quarter or lower rump. If meat is too lean, lard the roast by threading strips of beef suet or pork fat through the meat or by inserting the strips of fat in gashes cut deep in the meat.

Brown meat in a heavy skillet or pressure pan. Slip a rack under the browned meat, sprinkle with flour, salt and pepper, add one cup Rheingold, onion and garlic and allow to simmer until meat is done, adding more Rheingold as necessary.

For pressure pan, cook at 15 pounds pressure from 45 minutes to 1 hour. For heavy skillet or deep pot with tight fitting lid, simmer 2 to 3 hours longer until meat is done. Serve with natural juice or gravy. Serves 6 to 8.

Chief Tells 'New' Fire Plan

Board Will Study Report By Alderson

A new look was scheduled for the Los Angeles Fire Department as the Board of Fire Commissioners got ready to take a long look at Fire Chief John H. Alderson's "plan" for gradual ending of racial segregation.

Alderson was ordered to hand in his plan by the Commission last July 20 and the deadline was set for today (Thursday.) A joint plea by Alderson and a "Fact Finding Committee" for a delay until December was rejected by the Board last week.

Details of the Alderson plan were shrouded in mystery as the chief's office curtly told reporters that he would say nothing for publication. Mayor Norris Poulson's secretary told the Eagle that the mayor would reserve comment until he had read and studied the plan.

Those who professed to be in the know predicted that the chief could not back down on his claim that he has the right to assign firemen "for the best interests of all the city." Alderson has used that phrase to justify the racial segregation that has existed in the Department for 30 years. He has said that he would retire if the right to assign men was taken from him.

The current fight to end segregation of Negro fire fighters in Stations 30 and 14 on Central Avenue was begun almost a year ago when the local branch of the NAACP filed a petition with the Commission asking it to integrate Negro firemen.

The holdover Commission backed Alderson and it took the appointment of two new members by Mayor Poulson to break the log jam. City Hall rumors have it that the Commission will issue orders to Alderson to end segregation if his plan is unsatisfactory.

Meeting last week in Santa Barbara, the California AFL introduced a strongly worded resolution disapproving racial segregation and urging Chief Alderson to discontinue his policy.

The resolution was withdrawn, however, when the president and secretary of the local AFL Firefighters union submitted a report reversing their previous stand of support for Alderson's segregation practices.

'Stocking Man' Dies From Stab Wound

James Greer, known far and wide as "Jimmy the Stocking Man," was stabbed to death Friday night following a quarrel over a box of nylons.

The knifing occurred about 2:30 a.m. at 5th and Stanford streets, when Green and a young woman, Miss Lorraine Jones, 26, reportedly quarreled over possession of the box of hose.

Knife Wound

At the height of the argument, Miss Jones pulled a three-inch spring-blade knife, police reported, and jabbed Greer once in the chest, inflicting a deep wound an inch below the heart. He was rushed to the hospital, but was dead on arrival.

Miss Jones was arrested and charged with murder. Police said she admitted the killing. An inquest was being held Wednesday morning.

Greer, who lived at the Rossmore hotel, 905 E. 6th street, was well-known in the local community where he has for long sold stockings door-to-door as well as to business firms. He was also known to police who reported that he was a former convict who had done time in the "big house" on a narcotics charge.

Many Admirers

He was said to have been an extensive reader, a lover of music, and collector of nude pictures. He is also reported to have had in his possession hundreds of letters from love-lorn women admirers.

Police believed the box of nylons may have contained something other than filmy stockings, but this was surmise. There was no evidence to back up the supposition.

Miss Jones is also known to police, who said they had several morals charges against her.

Kidnaper Grabs Young Woman; Speeds Away

A 21-year-old woman was kidnaped Friday night at knife point and dragged screaming and struggling to a waiting car.

The kidnaper then made his get-away and managed to elude police.

Mrs. Audrey Jean Rhodes, of 628 W. 54th street, was leaving a beauty parlor at 32nd street and Central avenue and was about to enter the car of a friend, Willie Brown, 2110 E. 103rd street, when she found her way blocked.

Richard Robinson, 34, of 1256 Birch street, reportedly drew a long-bladed knife and held it

FHA Windfall Profiteers Closed Doors On Negroes

Builders and subdividers who pocketed "windfall" profits that dropped into their pockets from FHA-insured loans for housing construction were just as vigilant in excluding Negroes from their projects as they were in making a fast buck. Those facts emerged from a hearing held here this week by a Senate Committee investigating FHA.

Some of the projects that were listed as having afforded their builders neat sums running into thousands of dollars were the Baldwin Gardens, Wilshire-La Cienega Gardens, Montebello and other private developments all of which have drawn a strict color line against all "non-Caucasians."

The hearing, being held by Senator Homer Capehart, also turned up the fact that numerous small-fry FHA appraisers got gifts and hand-outs from the builders who made the large profits.

The windfall profits dropped out of the FHA sky when a builder secured a loan for a large scale housing development and then built the development for less than the amount of the loan. The loans were all insured by FHA. Since rents were scaled to earn the builder a profit on the basis of the loan received, the tenants paid the ultimate costs. If the loan was not repaid the FHA shouldered the loss.

FHA is a government agency which insures loans for housing construction. Available figures show that less than 60,000 of the more than 2,870,000 housing units built with the aid of FHA-insured loans are open to Negro occupancy. While the agency has not permitted recordation of racial covenants on land since Feb. 15, 1950, it has not ruled forbidding discrimination in either sale or

Woman Worked; Child Fell From Upper Window

A young woman who worked all day in a laundry to enable her to support her three small babies learned Saturday night that her youngest child is dead. Simultaneously she was arrested and booked on a charge of manslaughter.

The baby, two-year-old Arlene Thomas, was found about 8:30 p.m. Saturday by neighbors, unconscious on the bed in her home, 484 E. 48th street. There was blood on the mattress, blood was running from the child's mouth and nose and blood-stained towels were on the floor.

Fall From Window

An ambulance was called and the child was rushed to Georgia Street Receiving hospital. She died at 10:30 p.m. from a skull fracture.

The mother, Mrs. Lucille Thomas, was taken into custody, and her two other children, Mercoroy Thomas Jr., 5, and Beverly J. Thomas, 7, were removed to Juvenile Hall.

Police theorized that the child had either fallen from the second-floor, unscreened window of their home, or had wandered out of the front door and fallen down the steps. According to this theory, she may have crawled back up the stairs and into her bed. There

Elks Snubbed By Chi Mayor; Re-elect Ruler

CHICAGO, Ill. (ANP)—With the re-election of Dr. Robert H. Johnson and his entire cabinet, and with approval of his program by the 1,300 delegates representing lodges from this country and from abroad, the 55th annual convention of the Elks reached its climax last week.

Strangely enough, the Elks received no official welcome to the city. Mayor Martin H. Kennelly, who was to attend the sessions Monday, in a telegram said he could not appear. Illinois Governor Stratton did not reply to the invitation extended to him.

The order adopted several strong resolutions requesting the protection of civil liberties of all citizens, regardless of race, color or creed.

Other plans involved national and local projects for the improvement of conditions in other phases of everyday life.

The program also calls for a visit to the governor of Georgia in behalf of Mrs. Rosa Lee Ingram and her sons, "for the reason their conviction was unwarranted and unjustified," the resolution reads.

Resolutions involving discrimination in employment, industry, housing, closer study of national and international affairs, world peace and juvenile delinquency, especially as it relates to narcotics, were approved by the body.

Hobson Reynolds, Grand Director of Civil Liberties, issued a stern challenge to America

City to Seek Fees for Help In Emergencies

A proposal to be submitted to the City Council next week provides for the charging of fees for services at the city-owned Georgia Street Receiving hospital.

A fight on the bill is expected when the proposal, said to be backed by the mayor, comes up for a vote. Opponents of the bill point out that people who are in need of emergency treatment are generally those least able to pay a fee for the service.

It is also pointed out that the Receiving hospital is supported by tax-payers' money.

The Revenue and Taxation Committee has written a report containing the proposal for the service fee. The committee estimates that about $250,000 a year would be obtained from the plan. The proposal reportedly provides for fees based on ability to pay.

Against this it is argued that in order to collect this money a collection agency would have to be set up, a "means" test worked out, and collectors and investigators hired, paid and provided with office space and equipment.

The cost of collecting the money would, opponents believe, virtually wipe out whatever was obtained.

City Fathers Give Teenagers Assist in Fight to Keep DAPs

Teenagers who are determined to do all in their power to prevent the scuttling of the DAPs (Deputy Auxiliary Police) program got a powerful assist this week from city councilmen.

Following a meeting at the home of Jacqueline Taylor, 1012 E. 25th street, Thursday, a committee of four went down to City Hall to present their case personally to the city fathers.

Keep Up Fight

They found a sympathetic ear from Councilmen Edward Roybal, Ernest Debs and Gordon Hahn, who heard their story and then told them "to keep up the fight."

The group attempted to see Mayor Poulson but were advised he was not available. The delegation was composed of Jacqueline, Obelia Mills, Brenda Moore and Darlene Blayton.

Undaunted by their inability to obtain an interview with the mayor, the youngsters have already drawn up a petition urging that the DAP's program be retained by the Police Dept. instead of being transferred to the city's Recreation and Parks Department, as recommended by the Welfare Planning Council.

Before Council

The issue, meanwhile, has been brought up on the floor of the Council, and was referred to the Police and Fire Committee for further study.

Councilman Roybal told the Eagle later that he is "definitely going to fight the closing down of the DAPs."

If the program is turned over to the Recreation and Parks Dept., he said he believed it would "lose its value insofar as public relations between the police and the community are concerned.

"I'm convinced," he continued, "that the DAPs does the best job of public relations being done for the Police Department." He said he was impressed in both the Newton and Hollenbeck areas with the change that has taken place since the DAPs was instituted, and with the new respect the teenagers now show towards the police and the new under-

Political Spotlight

By Observer

Adlai's coming to town to make a big pitch for the Democratic slate and party leaders are in a sweat to get the rank and file to Hollywood Bowl to hear what he has to say. That's all well and good and chances are that a number of Negro voters will be on hand to cheer the popular 1952 leader.

However, there's a fly in the ointment. There isn't a single Negro on the Committee of Arrangements named by Attorney General Pat Brown and there's a whole lot of how-coming on the part of Negroes who think that their devotion to the party merits more than that kind of slight.

The figures show that Adlai got 85 per cent of the Negro vote away back there in 1952 and the Negro vote carried California for Truman in 1948. More than that, Negroes have rallied to the Demos ever since 1934. They wonder how come none of their number is on the Adlai Committee. We don't know. And we wonder why somebody doesn't tell the Party Leaders the facts of life.

Meanwhile, there's some little dissatisfaction in the GOP ranks about the 'manner in which the Brother is being treated. Lawrence La Mar, member of the GOP Central Committee of the 55th district, has just handed in a long epistle in which he laments the fact that there is a "lack of interest" among Republican bigshots in district leadership. He quotes Rayfield Lundy, GOP assembly standard bearer in the 55th, as saying that more "effort must be made at the local level."

Is is a safe guess that not many candidates who hustle for votes in the heavily populated Negro areas will leave Bonnelli's name off their literature, despite top dissatisfaction. Bill has always been a good vote getter among Negroes due to his foresight in seeing to it that some of the jobs in the Board of Equalization always went to Negroes. Good jobs, too.

Democrats ought to get down on their knees every week and thank whoever they thank for political favors that Lucius Lomax took the Democratic nomination away from Walter Ballou in the 63rd district. Ballou, you'll remember, was the officially endorsed candidate and his defeat left some of the Democratic politicos with a bad taste in their mouths. However, Lomax has been right on the ball ever since the primary and has kept interest alive in his district. The upshot of his activity will be that every Democratic nominee is going to get votes that would have been unregistered at the worst, or would have stayed at home at the best. The Lomax case is another situation in which Democratic big-wigs played the Negro voter cheap. A few more years of bungling and the Negro voter will be back in Honest Abe's bosom.

Oh well, as long as we're at it we might as well let the Democrats in on what's cooking with the GOP and its bid for the Negro vote. Ray Tucker had this to say in the Herald Express last July 6:

"Republican political strategists believe that they have ransomed the influential Negro voters who had been voting Republican for years in Northern cities together with the support of labor and other groups which enabled FDR and Harry Truman to roll up tremendous majorities in metropolitan cities . . . .

"Roosevelt and Truman sponsored legislation favorable to Negroes, socially, economically, and politically. They appointed members of the race to higher offices than they had held in years. Their efforts culminated in proposals for enactment of FEP which was always filibustered to death by Southern Democrats . . . .

"No pro-Negro legislation was enacted during FDR's unfinished last term or during the Truman regime . . . The Republicans are taking special pains to corner this issue and from a survey of expressions and editorials in leading Negro newspapers, it appears that their political coup may succeed . . . .

"Attorney General Herbert Brownell, Jr. arose to the judicial and political occasion by submitting briefs against segregation in the public schools. Chief Justice Earl Warren exercised claims to obtain a unanimous decision despite the presence of three Southerners on the bench.

"This does not represent the extent of Republican efforts to recapture the Negro vote. When and if the Southern states refuse to abide by the ruling as South Carolina, Alabama, Virginia and Georgia threaten, it will be up to Brownell to bring proceedings against them. It will be his task to enforce the Supreme Court mandate which will enlist him as the Negro's champion.

"The Justice Department's plans for counteracting the southern states attempt to nullify the Supreme Court decision will be announced on the eve of the November congressional elections.

"The political gains from this strategy are obvious. The colored vote, it is estimated controls the balance of power in 16 Northern and Midwestern states which have almost a majority in the presidential electoral college.

"It is extremely dubious if Ike or any other Republican nominee can hold the South in forthcoming presidential contests. Ike carried only four of these states in 1952. Therefore, the Republican strategists are pitching for 16 states against the loss of historically Democratic commonwealths."

Sleuthing Skill Nets Suspects In Burglary

Skilled police sleuthing this week resulted in the arrest of two men and a woman wanted for a daylight burglary at the home of Mrs. Mattie Walker, 1462 Long Beach avenue, July 8.

The young woman involved, Miss Eloise Green, lives in one of the swankiest sections of the city, 1508 Victoria avenue, although she has been arrested on two previous occasions on morals charges.

Her two companions were Harold Charles Wilson, 34, 3790 S. Western avenue, and James Spates, 27, 109th and Grape streets.

The three reportedly broke into Mrs. Walker's home, ransacked the place and made off with two fur pieces, jewelry, a typewriter, binoculars and miscellaneous objects. They first attempted to leave the stolen property at a shoe shop near the Red Hut, then finally sold the typewriter at a pawn shop, police stated.

They were arrested the next day by Wilshire police in a routine shake-down when officers spotted furs in their car, but the report of the theft had not yet cleared, and the suspects were freed.

By the time the report of the burglary came through, all three had moved, but Newton and University picked up bits of information and tracked down the suspects. All three were taken to County jail, and were held to answer at a hearing Tuesday.

Two Land in Jail Charged With Assault

Two men got into a fight Saturday night, went their separate ways, and then by a curious set of circumstances both landed in the hands of police charged with assault with a deadly weapon.

The weapons used by Harvey Lee Black, 29, an unemployed laborer of 1203 E. 33rd street, were bricks, which he hurled into a home at 1472½ S. Central avenue where he went to talk to his estranged wife, and into the windshield of an automobile.

The automobile belonged to William Hinton, of the Central avenue address. When Black began hurling the bricks, Hinton ran for his gun and peppered the other man.

Black, apparently numbed with anger, said later he didn't feel the bullet hit him. He hailed a passing taxi and went home, where he collapsed in front of his house. A helpful neighbor called police. Black was rushed to Georgia Receiving hospitals, buck shot wounds in the groin and abdomen. He was taken from there to the prison ward of General hospital.

Other officers were summoned to the Hinton home. Mrs. Black told police that Hinton had shot her husband to protect her. Police took a dim view of such action and took Hinton along with them.

to implement its civil rights program with action.

Speaking before the delegates, he said:

"Let us prove that our America is a place where democracy is achieved without vulgarity, developed without hate . . . where the majority is without tyranny, and the minority without fear; where citizens have the right to work for freedom, where respect for the present is not reaction, and the hope and program of the future is not revolution."

The next meeting will be held in Atlantic City.

Many Cities Drop Separate Schools For Fall Term

NEW YORK—When the school bell rings next month, Negro and white children will be sharing classrooms in a number of Southern localities where strict school segregation formerly was maintained by state law, according to a survey of the Southern school situation made by the NAACP.

Communities and cities located in five Southern states have anounced public school integration for next month. These states are West Virginia, Missouri, Arkansas, Maryland and Delaware. In addition, public schools in the District of Columbia will be integrated for the first time this September

Few Complaints

Scattered instances of complaints from white parents following school board desegregation plans have occurred, according to NAACP information. No trouble from children or college students has been reported during the newly integrated summer sessions in various localities.

In Clarkton, Mo., and in Sheridan, Ark., the school board reversed its decision to integrate the schools this September following protests from white parents.

In the five Southern states where school integration already is scheduled on the local level, a total of at least 23 towns or cities and one county have set the action for next month. These places include Kansas City, Mo., Columbia, Mo., Baltimore, Md., and Fayetteville, Ark.

In some cases, integration has been accomplished during the summer term. In Kansas City and Columbia, Mo., and in Wilmington, Del., Negro students were enrolled this summer in what have been all-white public schools.

Missouri Ahead

Of the five Southern states, Missouri is out front.

In the field of higher education, the fall term will find both white and Negro students attending Middle Tennessee State College, Murfreesboro, Tenn.; University of Arkansas, Little Rock, Ark.; Hardin Junior College of Midwest University, Wichita Falls, Tex.; and two teachers colleges in Washington, D. C.; the nine state colleges in West Virginia; Lincoln University, Jefferson City, Mo.; Southwest Missouri State College, Springfield, Mo.; Joplin, Mo., Junior College; and Central Missouri State College, Fayette, Mo.

rental of homes. Exclusion is almost universal.

Negroes and members of other minority groups are excluded from all but a handful of housing developments built with the aid of FHA-insured loans in Los Angeles county. The only exceptions are the projects built near existing Negro communities.

Strong efforts have been made to persuade FHA to change its rules to require builders to covenant with it that they will not discriminate in sale or rental of units to Negroes but no action has been taken on those requests. The FHA recently instituted a new program in which it will try to "persuade" builders to cease discriminatory practices.

The Senate Committe has taken no testimony on FHA's racial policies and indications are that it will make no such inquiries.

Tribute Paid To Works of Leon Ransom

WASHINGTON — Tribute to the public services of Dr. Leon Ransom, leading attorney, who died at his home in Washington, August 25, was paid this week by his many friends and co-workers.

Arthur B. Spingarn, president of the NAACP and himself a lawyer, noting Dr. Ransom's many years of legal service to the cause of Negro rights, said: "While many talented lawyers became too busy with their private affairs to devote much time to public service, Dr. Ransom over the years gave brilliant and devoted attention to legal cases in the civil rights field, often with no more reward than his bare expenses and the satisfaction of having established a new frontier in civil rights law for the benefit of his people."

Dr. Ransom was a graduate of the law school of Ohio State University and received the highest marks ever received there up to that time. He began working with the NAACP as soon as he joined the faculty of the Howard University Law School in 1931.

He was active in most of the suits to equalize teacher's salaries, the Baltimore County high school cases and the University of Tennessee cases.

He argued a number of criminal cases on appeal before the United States Supreme Court and with Z. Alexander Looby of Nashville, Tenn., successfully defended the Negroes involved in the Columbia, Tenn., riot of 1946.

Dr. Ransom was a member of the NAACP national legal committee from 1932 until his death, of the legal committee of the District of Columbia branch of the NAACP, and the legal staff of the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund until he died.

Clarence Moore Gets Jail Term

Clarence Moore, 45, well known businessman and operator of a cafe at 5117 South Avalon Blvd., was convicted of violation of Section 2106, Unemployment Insurance Code, in Division 7, Municipal Court, Tuesday. Judge Park Stilwell sentenced Moore to 40 days in jail or a $200 fine. Probation was denied.

The Unemployment Insurance Code makes the failure to file Unemployment Insurance reports a criminal matter, punishable by a fine of $500 or six months in jail. This action is part of a continuing program of the Department of Employment to make sure all Unemployment Insurance reports and taxes due the State of California are filed and paid.

Man Gets News Of Wife—She Wants Divorce

When the doorbell rang at the residence of Cornelius Gordon, 149 E. 79th street, last Wednesday night, he rushed to the door, hoping it was a message from his missing wife, Fannie Mae Gordon, whose absence he had reported to the Missing Persons Bureau.

It was a message from his wife, all right, but not the one he expected. It was a divorce summons, charging him with extreme cruelty and asking a court award of all the couple's community property consisting of the home, a bank account and all the household furniture, together with permanent alimony.

Mrs. Gordon, a victim of polio from which she has suffered for several years, charged her husband with a long series of brutal acts. Through her attorney, Curtis C. Taylor, she complained that on one occasion he tried to kill her by running her down with the family car, that he has threatened her life and that he has often beat and kicked her.

Gordon, a city employe in the Street Maintenance dept., has been ordered to appear before Judge Elmer D. Doyle Sept. 2.

GOP Hands Out Political Plums To Pair

WASHINGTON—Two Republican stalwarts got political plums this week when John W. Roxborough II of Detroit got a job in the State Department and Brigadier General Richard Jones of Chicago was named to a Liberian military post.

Roxborough was appointed Consultant to Secretary of State, John Foster Dulles. Roxborough is a member of the distinguished Roxborough family of Michigan. He already has a well established legal career in spite of his youth. Mr. Roxborough is only 32. He received his early education in the public schools of Detroit and attended the University of Michigan in 1944, where he was an outstanding athlete, having won three letters in track and in 1943 the Big Ten half-mile championship. He received his Bachelor of Law Degree from the University of Detroit.

General Jones was appointed director of the United States Foreign Operations Mission to Liberia. A citizen of Chicago, he has had a distinguished career in both military and civilian life. He is the first Negro brigadier general in the history of the Illinois State National Guard and he received many citations and decorations during World War II including the Legion of Merit, for outstanding service.

ham and bacon had been discovered in one of the avenue stores. All of this food was destroyed.

First Phase Complete

The spoiled merchandise was found during an intensive program of inspecting all markets.

The first phase of the inspection has now been completed, according to Dr. Pauline O. Roberts, Southeast District Health officer.

"Sanitarians from the City Health Department's Southeast District Health Center, at 4920 Avalon blvd., last week inspected all markets on Central avenue from Washington blvd. to 79th street (northern and southern boundaries of the Southeast Health District) and found them to be generally in satisfactory condition," she stated.

Minor Violations

"There were some minor violations found in a few of the markets, for which written notices for corrections were issued," Dr. Roberts continued, adding that the violations were not significant enough to be of public interest.

According to Dr. Roberts the intensive program of market inspections will be carried on until all markets in the district are covered.

"Routine inspections will continue and when necessary special investigations will be made in response to citizen complaints," the health official concluded.

First Negro to Vote Honored At Graveside

EL PASO, ILL.—The first Negro to vote in the United States after the 15th amendment to the Constitution was declared in effect was honored at a graveside ceremony here last week.

David A. Strother of this town cast his historic ballot in a city election here on April 4, 1870. Article 15 of the Constitution was declared in effect on March 30 that year.

At the memorial service for her, conducted during the El Paso centennial celebration, a Freedom Caravan of 20 automobiles led by the Rev B. N. Moore came from nearby Peoria to participate in the ceremonies. Moore is president of the Peoria branch of the NAACP.

The NAACP delegation presented a plaque to the town of El Paso for erection above the site where Mr. Strothers operated a barber shop for 10 years. The plaque was accepted by Mayor George W. Graack on behalf of the city.

Article 15 of the U. S. Constitution states that the rights of citizens to vote shall not be denied on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude.

Mr. Strother was the first Negro to vote when the amendment went into effect by virtue of the fact that the El Paso city election was held one day earlier than most other elections that month.

Residents of Watts Given Chest X-Rays

A recent report from the office of Watts District Health Officer, Dr. Robert F. Kolts, shows that a total of 1,040 local residents visited the City Health Department's mobile chest x-ray unit when it was stationed in the Watts area last August 5 and 6.

"This total, plus the 1,314 recorded during the June 3 and 4 survey, reflects the fine spirit of cooperation displayed by local groups participating in the over-all promotion of this vital community health program," Dr. Kolts said.

For the benefit of local residents who were unable to visit the mobile unit on either of the survey dates, free chest x-ray tests are given at the Watts District Health Center, 1522 E. 102nd street, from 8:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Monday through Friday, except Friday a.m.

Leonard Reed Becomes First Film Producer

NEW YORK—Veteran showman Leonard Reed, who has been a fixture in the nation's top nitedubs and theatres for 30 years, became the first Negro employed as an associate producer with a TV film making company when he was signed to a contract by Studio Films, Inc.

Currently producing a series of 26 musical shorts for TV showings, Ben Frye, vice-president of the firm, said that he was highly pleased with Reed's qualifications and that he would be responsible for the staging of the musicals before the cameras. Each one will be a complete half hour musical with songs, dances, gags and music emceed by disc jockey Willie Bryant. Already Nat King Cole, the Larks, Duke Ellington's band, Dinah Washington and Coles and Atkins have been filmed.

When the entire series is completed they will be seen throughout the country as a weekly feature. It is estimated that there are more than 200 TV stations with 42 million viewers.

Hollie Steed High Man at 21st Nat'l Bridge Meeting

By KENNETH SCOTT
(Exclusive)

Hollie Steed, of Los Angeles, was high man at the 21st national duplicate bridge championship tournament just concluded at the fashionable Exposition building in Oakland, and is now the top ranking Western player in the American Bridge Association.

The scores of bridge enthusiasts who attended the stiff rounds of championship play were agreed that the week-long meeting was the most successful in the history of the association.

Broke Record

Roosevelt Cook, also of Los Angeles, was another of the wonder-players. He broke an all-time record as a non-master player by winning in five different national events.

Miracle woman of the event was Mrs. Geraldine Peterson, who won first place in the open team of four after only four months' experience as a player. She learned the game as a student in the Wednesday evening class at the Woodlawn Branch YWCA under the tutelage of Kenneth Scott.

Los Angeles day was highlighted by a boat ride in San Francisco bay when the participants relaxed from the hours of strenuous play.

Philadelphia Chosen

The national play was opened by Pres. Victor Daly who in turn introduced Mayor Clifford E. Rishell of Oakland, who welcomed the group and extended greetings to all the players.

Philadelphia was selected for the site of the 1955 national meet. An annual dance and the presentation of awards climaxed the tournament.

83rd Congress Scores 'Zero' on Civil Rights Bills

WASHINGTON—The 83rd Congress got a "zero" score for its record on civil rights legislation, according to Clarence Mitchell, director of the Washington bureau of the NAACP.

While boasting of their record on completed legislation, Mitchell pointed out, Republican Party leaders have said not a word about the failure even to bring up a single civil rights bill.

Members of the congress, Mitchell stated, will try to run for re-election next November on civil rights records made by the Supreme Court and the Executive branch of the government as a cloak to hide their own dismal failure.

was a pool of blood outside the front door of the home.

Heard Child Cry

A neighbor, Mrs. Jewel Brown, of 430½ E. 48th street, told police that she had heard a small child crying and then had heard an older child's voice saying, "Shut up!"

Mrs. Thomas told police: "My husband and I moved to this place with the children two weeks ago. He took care of the babies while I worked in the laundry. He left Tuesday to look for a job, and I haven't seen him since then.

"The children have been alone," she continued, "but I've been trying to find the woman who used to take care of them.

"I felt they would be all right because my sister-in-law, Irene Bates, of 310 W. 66th street, was supposed to pick them up, but she didn't."

Mrs. Thomas had left their small flat at 8 a.m. and had not yet returned when the child was found.

Mrs. Thelma Buchanan, 482 E. 48th street, the landlady, told the Eagle that apparently someone had been in the apartment after the baby was taken to the hospital.

Mississippi to Crack Down on NAACP Action

JACKSON, Miss.—Mississippi took steps Friday to block any attempt by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People to stir up lawsuits against the state's segregated school system.

Representative Byron Long of Lee County proposed a bill that would prohibit any person or organization outside of Mississippi from "fomenting or inciting" lawsuits against local school districts in the touchy segregation issue in public schools.

Gov. Hugh White and Attorney General J. P. Coleman have both studied the Long proposal and agree that it "has considerable merit."

Man Knifed To Death in Cafe Fight

A man was stabbed to death Friday night in front of the Blue Heart Cafe, 149 Weller street, when he tried to "roll" another man of his $130, the killer told police.

Jessie Lynn, 31, of 504 E. 33rd street, said that shortly after he entered the cafe, a woman, later identified as Helen Harris, came up to him and struck up an acquaintance.

While his attention was thus engaged, a man, Charlie Campbell, 32, who lived at the Rex Hotel, 615 E. 4th street, sneaked up behind him.

On his guard for just such an attack, Lynn said he opened his knife inside his pocket, and when Campbell tried to slug him, he slashed out with his knife and cut a deep gash in the man's thigh.

Taken to Georgia Street Receiving hospital, Campbell was pronounced dead on arrival from loss of blood.

Miss Harris, however, claimed that Lynn's story was false, that Lynn had made a play for her and that when Campbell came to her defense, Lynn struck at him with his knife.

On Tuesday the district attorney filed a manslaughter charge against Lynn.

FHA's Real Disgrace

There isn't much chance that the Senatorial Committee investigating FHA activities will investigate, or even take a passing look at, the real scandal concealed in FHA files. That real scandal is the manner in which FHA has openly sponsored and encouraged racial segregation ever since it was founded away back in 1934.

During its existence, FHA has insured loans for well over 2,800,000 housing units. Less than 60,000 of these homes are open to Negro occupancy. Through its loan insurance plan, FHA has pledged the credit of government to enable builders, subdividers and financial institutions to make profits — and plenty of profits.

Despite this government backing, the builders, subdividers and lending institutions have been permitted to draw the color line against Negroes. In fact, FHA openly encouraged them to do so from 1934 to 1949, even to the extent of furnishing them with a model race restrictive covenant in its early days.

Since 1949, FHA has initiated a series of mild reforms, apparently designed more to dupe than to aid Negroes and members of other minorities. The 1949 reform forbade builders to record race restrictions on land after Feb. 15, 1950. It did not forbid them to discriminate in the sale or rental of homes.

FHA took another timid step a month or so ago. It announced that it was going to try to "persuade" builders to construct housing open to Negroes. Again, the pretended reform is nothing more than a sop thrown in the direction of Negroes. At best, the "persuasion" program will do nothing more than result in a few more Jim Crow projects built somewhere near existing Negro ghettos. As a matter of fact the "persuasion" campaign is a tacit admission on FHA's part that builders have the "right" to exclude Negroes from housing built with FHA-insured loans if they desire to do so. That won't do. Those accepting government aid, such as loan insurance, have no right to discriminate against citizens. FHA, as a government agency, has no right to permit, or encourage, them to do so.

It is interesting to note that many of the figures whose names are popping up in the Los Angeles investigation as beneficiaries of windfall profits—at the expense of their tenants and buyers—have been, and are, neck deep in Jim Crow. Many of them have justified their exclusionary policies on the ground that they are just poor business men, unable to take a stand against the discriminatory demands of their renters or buyers. They are being shown up as men with an eye to a fast buck who didn't give a whoop who got hurt just so long as they got theirs.

Among the many thousands of Negroes who were denied the right to buy or rent homes built with government-insured loans were Negro veterans who were guaranteed preferences by the law of the land. These men who had responded to their country's call were discriminated against while FHA permitted builders to gouge out profits through windfalls and through loans for improvements that were never made.

FHA has been a disgrace to the nation. It still is. It will be as long as it tolerates discriminatory treatment of American citizens. That kind of disgrace overshadows a thousand times over the facts that are being turned up which show that FHA shut its eyes while builders and subdividers pocketed millions of dollars to which they were not entitled.

Congress Lays An Egg

The Republican-controlled Congress which has just adjourned laid an egg as far as civil rights legislation was concerned. Its failure didn't hurt President Eisenhower's batting average of which he is so proud. It didn't hurt the average because the president didn't recommend any civil rights measures.

The failure of the president to recommend and the Congress to pass any civil rights measures is in keeping with the administration policy of leaving these matters to the states.

In an effort to compensate for these failures, the Republicans are claiming credit for all of the civil rights decisions of the Supreme Court. Their spokesmen are planning to stress the decisions in the school cases, in reference to the District of Columbia civil rights laws and other cases where the Court has banned segregation. The claim may get votes but it won't stand scrutiny.

The present Supreme Court is composed of eight Roosevelt-Truman appointees and Chief Justice Earl Warren who was named to his position by the president. In every case, the original briefs filed by the government urging the end of the discriminatory practice at issue were initiated by Truman's attorneys general.

Another facet of the administration's claims for Negro votes despite the failure of Congress to act on civil rights legislation revolves around the appointment of Negroes to government posts. None can deny that some important appointments have been made and the administration is entitled to proper credit.

However, there is a limit to the area in which the courts can act and there must be an end of appointments. The need for legislation, particularly in the field of employment and transportation, will remain. Sooner or later, the federal government must face up to that fact.

Success In Business

Henri O'Bryant is proving himself to be one of our most outstanding businessmen. The youthful, ambitious and resourceful uniform manufacturer entered this highly competitive field several years ago.

He was well prepared in his chosen live of endeavor. Building slowly but surely, he finally became recognized as one of the foremost makers of carhop uniforms in the nation. He numbers customers in nearly every state of the union.

Then O'Bryant became interested in the church robe field. He envisioned the tremendous possibilities in this phase of the business. He gave choir robes, usher uniforms, and pastoral vestments the "new look" with colors and streamlined stylings.

That O'Bryant has made history is proven by the fact that he has outfitted more than 300 choral groups of all races and faiths during the past two years.

His business is booming. He and his wife operate a modern factory in Hollywood, employing some 20 persons.

A family man and an ardent church-goer himself, O'Bryant has the respect and confidence of churchdom at large. He has conducted his affairs in a gentlemanly and business-like manner.

His firm is growing and is receiving local and nationwide acclaim through daily and weekly newspapers and magazines.

He has permitted neither race, color or creed to handicap him.

This young man with the French-Irish monicker is a splendid example of being able to take advantage of the opportunities in this great land of ours.

Battleaxe and Bread

By Lester B. Granger

Three news items during the week have special importance for colored Americans, even though they are not labeled "Negro news."

The big housing item from Chicago last week was that the Housing Authority had demoted its executive secretary of 17 years, Miss Elizabeth Wood, by appointing over her a retiring General as the Authority's new executive director. Ostensibly the appointment was merely carrying out a recommendation made as a result of a study of the public housing program in Chicago. Actually, its roots went far deeper than this.

Lester Granger

Ever since 1937 when the Housing Authority was first established, Elizabeth Wood has been one of the few bright spots in the dismal picture of Chicago's public housing program. She has fought stubbornly for sound social policies, including tenant-selection without racial discrimination. She has defended the choice of public housing sites when all kinds of ignorant and bigoted opposition has been brought to bear against them.

In other words, Miss Wood has demonstrated that she is not only a top national expert on the social aspects of housing, but she is also a woman of courage and a believer in democracy. She has, become deeply controversial in that mid-west center for hate movements.

Her demotion is unquestionably a surrender by the city administration to these hateful influences another of many surrenders to race bigotry which Chicago has made in recent years. Thus, the Chicago Housing Authority's action is bad news for Negroes, even though the racial aspect is not mentioned.

Flimsy Objection

Better news along a different line comes from Washington, D. C. For a while, it looked as if Ewan Clague, director of the Bureau of Labor Statistics in the Labor Department, would be out of a job for the flimsiest kind of a reason. Mr. Clague was originally appointed in 1946 and reappointed in 1950. When his name came up again for reappointment, Pennsylvania's Senator Martin blocked action by interposing a temporary objection.

It seems that the good senator had heard that back in 1933 Ewan Clague had made a University Club address in Philadelphia predicting that "state socialism" would be "the economic future of this country." It wasn't especially important that Mr. Clague promply denied ever having made such a prediction.

Suppose he had, back in 1933 – so what? What was important was that so flimsy an objection might have deprived the country of one of our ablest public servants. It's very important for American worker-interest that federal labor statistics should not only be honest and authoritative, but should also be interpreted from the standpoint of the welfare of our working population.

Negroes constitute a healthy hunk of that working population. As workers, we have every reason to be pleased that Senator Martin took a sober second thought, became convinced of his error, and withdrew his objection.

Bread-and-Butter Facts

The racial implications are less clear-cut in the Commerce Department's recent announcement that the average per capita income for the people of the United States jumped in 1953 more than 4 percent over 1952 from $1,644 to $1,709 for That is in theory, of course each man, woman and child, That is in theory, of course, because any colored American can tell you that each dark-skinned "man, woman and child" is apt to come up short in the per capita distribution. The trouble with "average" figures is that that they tell nothing about individuals and little about special groups.

The Commerce Department report for 1953 fails to deal with the unquestionable fact that Negroes do not get their "full average share" of the national income. The latest racial break-down on these figures was for 1950.

It was revealed that the upper-half of white family income began at $3,444, while the upper-half of Negro family income began at $1,295. In other words, the Negro average was only 52 percent of the white average.

They are figures like these that tell the bread-and-butter facts of racial discrimination. We hear a great deal about the gains that Negroes have made during the past twenty years. Let's wait for the next racial breakdown and see whether we're catching up before we talk about gains.

Pure and Simple

By L. F. Palmer Jr.

I'm getting a little fed up with this business of "the first Negro" to do thus and so.

You can hardly pick up a Negro newspaper without finding to your utter amazement that John Doe is the first Negro to be appointed assistant to the undersecretary of the Department for the Disposal of Discarded Nuts and Bolts.

My first reaction is swift—SO?

Of course, I'm not plugging for a hard and fast rule that would kill all references to "firsts" among Negroes. There are some truly legitimate ones. When a Negro becomes President of the United States or Governor of Mississippi, I suppost it might be quite alright to mention in the paper that no other pigmented American ever held that position.

Good Job

But just because some guy happens to ease up on a good job somewhere, or just because some frat has a dance in an exclusive dive, that's no reason why we have to headline the fact that it's a first.

In the first place, the chances are it isn't a first. It's real easy to sit at the rim in the city room and bat out some copy naming a "first." It's something else again to check to facts and really see if it has ever happened before.

I remember doing a story about a doctor who was represented as being the first Negro ever to be elected to some select medical group.

Young and Tender

This was during my young and tender days and I put all I had into the task of showing the great achievement this particular medic had made for the race. It got quite a splash.

It was just a few months later when I was down South somewhere that I was introduced to a highly respected and rather elderly physician. During the course of conversation it was casually mentioned that he, too, was a member of this exalted group.

On probing, I discovered that he had been a member for many years and hadn't considered it newsworthy enough to publicize the fact. Thus it wasn't generally known.

I left the doctor with a funny feeling in the pit of my stomach and I think it was then that I began to grow up "first-wise." Really, there was no way of telling how many Negroes preceded my "first" into this particular organization.

Time for Change

The more I thought about it, the more I became convinced that the playing up of "firsts" among Negroes was a sort of acceptance of inferiority.

The time has now come for Negroes to think of themselves as Americans just like the next guy. And if an achievement is made, let it be considered on the merit of its relative importance, rather than on a racial basis.

So, John Jones was made president of his professional society. So were hundreds of other Americans. Let's let it stand at that.

I've got a hunch some of you won't agree with this. That's great. There's nothing like a good controversy to liven up a newspaper. So who'll fire the first shot?

LANE STRADDLERS

"Lane straddlers are accident causers," declared Captain R. Gautsche, Commander of the West Los Angeles Area California Highway Patrol office.

"Lane straddling in most instances indicates a lack of sufficient driving experience or an attitude of complete disregard for the equal rights of other highway users."

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

I am a New Yorker visiting your city for the first time. I would like to compliment the Eagle for having the good sense and excellent taste to publicize young Joyce Foster's composition about her stay at an interracial camp this summer.

It is gratifying to know that California gives its youngster's the opportunity to get to really know one another by living together. Miss Foster's article was beautifully written, demonstrating obvious talent far above that of the average fifteen year old youngster.

I'm sure the Eagle will continue to publicize any supplementary work of this kind by Miss Foster or any of her contemporaries. I would certainly enjoy reading it.

THE MARTIAN CHRONICLES, by Ray Bradbury.

His feet never leave earth, but his fantasy goes down the space reaches, and that perhaps is the reason Ray Bradbury has so many devotees.

This is a collection of short stories stretching back and forth between planets with people as recognizable as we would be in the next 75 years bridging time and space.

Open the book to "Usher II" for a fierce commentary on the future that follows book-burning, or try "The Third Expedition" for a space-time mind-twister, and you'll be stuck by the authors' versatility.

GREAT GHOST STORIES OF THE WORLD, by Alexander Laing.

The most horrifying story you ever read? Try exchanging them with others, and you'll have a collection to chill the blood. Or read some of the really masterful ones in this collection—"August Heat" for a portrait of a day that will never leave you warm again; "The Wendigo," for accumulation of horror; "Laura" with Saki's wry excursion into reincarnation; "The Yellow Room" for a psychological chiller.

THE SINISTER RESEARCHES OF C. P. RANSOM, by Homer Nearing, Jr.

What better place could one find to investigate the world of the future (or what place could produce such unexpected results) than a college campus, where the inquiring, if impractical, professorial mind holds no experimentation too bold for its purpose?

With no holds barred, Professor Ransom weaves his way to develop a poetry-writing machine, a new version of Hamlet, even a fourth-dimensional basketball to win a faculty game. What next!

Nobody — but nobody — can create as well as Isaac Asimov a world of the future as detailed as those in his three novels.

Here is the history of the Galactic Empire and the Foundations that were striving to maintain order in a universe that spread into the Milky Way. Along with the natural sciences and a bit of the political sciences, we have adventure a-plenty—so much so that Asimov fans are apt to go on reading from here throughout the sum total of his novels and clear out into his "Biochemistry" and "Human Metabolism," which is another kind of science altogether.

FANCIES AND GOODNIGHTS, by John Collier.

Fancies there are in these stories about a man-eating plant, a sleeping beauty, a jinni in a bottle, and other creatures of the imagination, who behave even more peculiarly than they did in the fairy tales.

The goodnights, by the same reasoning, are scarcely bedtime stories, but the horrors are all recounted with such urbanity that you forgive the author for scaring the living daylights out of you.

THE POWER AND THE PRIZE
by Howard Swiggett

Another novel about those who sit in the high places of Big Business, and another example of the new sort of fiction on this subject, vastly different from novels like Dreiser's THE TITAN, which portrayed the great ruthless individualists in the industrial world of a bygone era. The new style is geared to the giant corporations as they are today, collective bodies with international ramifications, and usually dominated by no single individual. In this book, Cleves Berwick, at forty, vice-chairman of Allied Materials, is maneuvering to close a tranatlantic deal with a British combine. In London he meets an unusual girl and falls in love—only to face ruin, because Chairman Salt, of his board, has a rigid idea of the type of women vice presidents should marry and has no scrupules about interfering in the private life of a subordinate. In the ensuing struggle, the reader gets a fascinating glimpse behind the closed doors of board rooms.

LADIES OF COURAGE
by Eleanor Roosevelt and Lorena A. Hickok

A readable, entertaining series of sketches of America's woman in politics, who, throughout our history, have been picturesque and varied. The authors start with Elizabeth Cady Stanton and Susan B. Anthony, depicting sympathetically their lifelong fight to win suffrage for women. The book closes with a chapter of practical advice on how to break into politics. A number of current figures are included, such as Frances Perkins, Anna Rosenberg, Daisy Harriman, Perle Mesta (the inspiration of the movie "Call Me Madam"), Helen Gahagan Douglas, and Oveta Culp Hobby. The authors cannot resist an unsympathetic portrait of Claire Boothe Luce.

THE DARKNESS
by Evan John Simpson (Evan John, pseud.)

This is a book to be compared not with THE ROBE, but with that tour de force of historical fiction, Thornton Wilder's THE IDES OF MARCH. For in his picture of the dark and moving days following the Crucifixion, Evan John Simpson has imagined a series of letters and documents penned by Romans and Jews, soldiers, officials, and workers, bearing on the events as they saw them, with skepticism and wonder. Instead of adapting the New Testament story to fit a modern situation, this historical writer takes the reader into one of the most dramatic moments of history, to give, in a purported realistic account, a new value to the spiritual significance of that day.

ME AND MY RUSSIAN WIFE by Eddy Gilmore

Twelve years behind the Iron Curtain sounds rather grim. But Eddy Gilmore, head of the Moscow bureau of the Associated Press, makes it sound like a lark. His years in Russia were spent hobnobbing with the leaders of the Communist regime and with the members of the international colony of Moscow.

He admits that he did not become an authority on Russia. He did, however, acquire a beautiful Russian ballerina for a wife. Admittedly this is not a profound book, but though it is hard to be amusing about Russia, Gilmore carries it off.

His book is an engaging, often hilarious, personal account of an American newsman in Moscow.

THE OLDEST, THE YOUNGEST, AND THE ONE IN THE MIDDLE, by Lillian Gardner.

Missie, who was refused membership in a club because she had no baby in the family, was most unhappy until, with the help of Peter, they formed a club for the oldest child, the youngest child and the middle children. Illustrations that are filled with action will interest small children or those who can read to themselves.

ELEPHANT HERD, by Miriam Schlein.

A picture book in poetic prose: the tale of two little elephants who ran away from the herd. The two-tone illustrations by Symeon Shimin are beautiful. This book has quite wide appeal.

THE HOUSE OF THE FIFERS, by Rebecca Caudill.

Motherless Monica went to spend the summer with relatives in Kentucky. She resented having to leave her friends and their red convertibles, but gradually becomes a part of the Fifer family and their farm. Particularly for grades 6-8.

OPERAS AND MUSICAL HOLLYWOOD BOWL, by Isabel Morse Jones.

A history of the early days of the Bowl that traces its growth from humble beginnings, and little more than the unwavering faith of a handful of people, to the world-famous cultural institution of today.

One Man's Opinion

By LEON STEWARD

A NOSE FOR BUSINESS

Walter McDuel came to this state from Alexandria, La., after completing the schooling he was seeking. "I came to California looking for a better way of life," proudly declared our hero of today. He arrived in 1923.

The first job he found was to wash automobiles at a wash rack. He did this for three years. He worked for K. Hilmer on 5th and Flower streets for five years polishing cars but by that time he had begun raising and selling chickens also. Finding poultry to be a good business, Mr. McDuel quit his job and gave his time to raising poultry.

Leon Steward

For 20 Years

Our hero conducted his business well and maintained it on success street for 20 years. He sold his place to accommodate the housing project which is now as big as life in that area.

It was 1952 when he made his move. We located him on the corner of Central avenue and 114th street, where he has a very modern store from which he sells fryers, ducks, geese, hens, rabbits and fresh eggs.

We asked him about the lady we generally see in the store. He said that he married Miss Edna Thompson in Alexandria and sent for her as soon as he secured a job in Los Angeles. She is his assistant manager—if not the real manager.

Mr. McDuel is very proud of his being a member of Mt. Maria No. 6 of A.F. and A.M. which he joined six years ago. But Mrs. McDuel's great concern is for their five children and seven grandchildren. Maybe you know Lillie Mae, Dorothy, Lilian and the boys, Walter Jr., 29, and Lawrence, 32. What a man! What a family! And what a business!

Adventist Conference Fetes Youths' Problems

GLENDALE — Pastors of 67 Seventh-day Adventist churches in Santa Barbara, Ventura, and Los Angeles counties will launch a church directed program designed to curb rising youth problems in Southern California on Sat. Sept. 4, according to a statement released this week by R. R. Bietz, president of the Southern California Conference of the Church.

Beitz said that the Sept. 4 services will mark the first of a series of sermons which are part of a broad Adventist church plan to reestablish certain disciplines in the home, the school, and the church to curb an advancing tide of youth problems in the nation.

According to the church official's statement, ministers of Southland Seventh Day Adventist churches will continue the series of talks throughout the coming winter months.

The program will receive special emphasis at the 53rd annual Camp Meeting of the Southern California Conference of the Church in Lynwood next June, when special sermons on the challenge of youth will be presented by outstanding authorities at 11 evening meetings of the conclave.

Healthy Child Will Be Happy As He Adjusts in First Grade

By ROY O. GILBERT, M.D., Los Angeles Health Officer

Starting to school is an important event in the life of a small child and whether or not it will prove to be a happy one depends, to a large extent, on the child's parents. Other things being equal, a healthy child has a better chance of being happy and successful in school than one who is sickly and it is the responsibility of his parents to see that he gets the right send-off.

School days bring with them the greater possibility of exposure to disease. The youngster who starts to school for the first time meets many new children and, because of this, it is wise to make sure that he is protected aaginst the more serious common contagious diseases of childhood. Booster doses of diphtheria and tetanus toxoid are therefore recommended along with revaccination against smallpox if the doctor thinks it advisable.

It is not usually considered necessary to give further protection against whooping cough at this time because the age of greatest danger has already passed. Deaths from whooping cough rarely occur in children over five, while in tetanus, half the deaths from this disease occur in children under 15 years of age.

No child should be allowed to start school with a handicap that can be corrected. The doctor should be permitted to discover poor eyesight so that the child's inability to see the blackboard will not retard his learning process and label him a dullard. If a hearing defect has developed, it may be possible to correct it and prevent progressive hearing loss. And if dental care is needed, it is better to have it done before school opens and thus prevent any needless absence.

Many little things can add to the child's feeling of security as he begins his school life. Familiarity with the route he must take to school, particular instruction in the crossing of streets, and a visit to the school may do much to lessen the feeling of strangeness surrounding the experience. If the child is taken to school by bus, or uses public transportation, a little coaching is in order so that he will know just what to do. These, among other little acts of consideration, will help him to help himself.

A good breakfast, leisurely eaten, is an excellent beginning for a school day. And, until the mid-teen age is reached, children should have at least 10 hours sleep each night.

Most children take to this new life like ducklings to water and delight in this newly-found independence. It is up to parents, and others concerned in their welfare, to make sure they are in good physical condition when starting to school and provide the environment and care that will keep them both healthy and happy.

A publication of the Children's Bureau, "Your Child from 6 to 12," will be mailed to anyone who sends a card of request to the Los Angeles County Health Department, 241 N. Figueroa Street, Los Angeles 12.

WARNING TO MOTORISTS

SACRAMENTO — With thousands of children trekking back to school again this month the California Highway Patrol issued a warning to motorists to be more vigilant and watchful, particularly in areas where school buses are in operation.

Father Drolet Wins Award For Helping Negro Workers

NEW YORK CITY—Selection of a Louisiana priest for special honor because of his courageous championship of workers in the Deep South in their efforts to unionize, was announced this week by the Workers Defense League.

Its 1954 David L. Clendenin Award for Distinguished Service to Labor's Rights will be given to the Rev. Jerome A. Drolet, pastor of St. Charles Catholic Church in Thibodaux, La., Oct. 9.

The presentation will be made at a luncheon sponsored by a committee consisting of Auxiliary Bishop Bernard J. Sheil of the Chicago Catholic Diocese; Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Automobile Workers, CIO; and A. J. Hayes, president of the International Association of Machinists, AFL.

"No one in the United States is more deserving of this honor than Father Drolet," Rowland Watts, the WDL's national secretary, said. "His name became widely known last year because of his militant support of 3,000 sugar cane field workers, in their bitterly fought strike for union recognition, a living wage, and decent working conditions. A large majority of those workers were Negroes. Father Drolet came to New York at his own expense to get aid for the workers.

"He had poignant stories to tell about the unjust treatment of labor in the area around Thibodaux, where countless field workers still live in shacks that were built to house slaves before the Civil War. He denounced from the pulpit the brutal beating of a sugarcane worker by a sheriff with a revolver butt."

This annual award commemorates the late David L. Clendenin, who founded the Workers Defense League in 1936, after Joseph Shoemarker, union organizer, was flogged to death in Tampa, Fla., by klansmen and local policemen.

Pilgrimage Scheduled to Harriet Tubman Shrine

The second annual pilgrimage to the reconstructed Harriet Tubman Home and Shrine in Auburn, N.Y., will be held Thursday afternoon, Sept. 14.

More than 600 persons are expected in attendance, including bishops, general officers, pastors and laymen of the African Methodist Episcopal Zion church, as well as official representatives of national organizations throughout the country and the general public.

The main speaker will be Mrs. Harper Sibley of Rochester, N.Y. Mrs. Sibley is the wife of the president of the Western Union Telegraph Company and is a leader in the Golden Rule organization which selects annually the "American Mother."

A large tri-city chorus of neighboring cities in Western New York will render some of the spirituals favored by Harriet Tubman and frequently used by her to convey cryptic messages to her charges on the "Underground Railroad."

Harriet Tubman is spoken of as the 'Moses of her people" for having led more than 300 Negroes from slavery into freedom through the underground system.

The present Tubman Home reconstruction began in 1951 by Bishop W. J. Walls, supervisor of the Western New York Conference in whose boundaries the property is located. In April 1953, at a cost of $33,000, the dedicatorial services marked the first annual pilgrimage to the Tubman Shrine.

Veteran Carlos Chavez Faces Dick Wong Monday

Carlos Chavez, who has been around - and - about more than somewhat, but who is still qualified to meet the best, will oe the mark with youthful Dickie Wong, the Chinese-Hawaiian welter in the 10-round feature at the Olympic Auditorium Monday night.

Among Carlos opponents this year were such men as Cisco Andrade, twice, and Tony De Marco, the Boston top - hand. Andrade is rated No. 7 among the world's lightweights; and in the September issue of The Ring, Tony De Marco is listed the world's 10th best welter.

In his last fight of '54, Chavez dropped a close fight to Paddy De Marco, now the world lightweight champ.

As for Wong, the last time he met a Chavez—not Carlos!—he won by a knockout in the 7th. That was Gil Chavez, at Hollywood, on July 17th. In his only other local fight, Dickie scored a sharp upset by defeating heavily favored Don Jordan at the Olympic.

Wong's pro record is 14 fights, 13 wins, four by kayo.

Whether the slender Islander can cope with Carlos' aggressive, swarming attack is the big question. On the strength of his two local showing—Jordan and Gil Chavez — Wong merits installation as choice.

But on the strength of Chavez' fine showing against Cisco Andrade at the Olympic, in February one of the officials called it a draw—Carlos seems entitled to plenty of support.

Steve Rowland's Allstars Lose to All Girls Team

Joe Perry's all-girl softball team defeated Steve Rowland's all-stars composed of the city's top beverage salesmen, 13 to 12, in a thrilling game at Will Rogers Playground last Tuesday night.

Rowland's all-stars jumped into an early 4 to 0 lead when leadoff man Dynamite Jackson drilled a long fly to center for a double. Robert Williams followed with a single, and Reg. Williams was safe at first, filling the bases. Abie Robinson sent three scores across the plate when he drove a double into right field. Carl Haley walked and Tommy Miller doubled, scoring Robinson. Frank Smith went to third. Shirley Gagnath, pitching for the girls, finally retired the side when Sy Jones flied out and Frank Smith grounded.

Tommy Miller pitched airtight ball for four innings and was replaced by Robinson and Lloyd La Beach came in to catch for Robert Williams. The girls lashed into Robinson for four runs on three errors as the Rowland all-stars became rattled it took two new pitchers which included Steve Rowland to get the girls out but not before they had tied the score. Tommy Miller was sent back to the mound and the girls touched him for the winning run.

Rowland's all-stars line-up:

Dynamite Jackson	4	2	1

Louis Cooke	3	1	1

The Hudson-mounted chauffeurs are favored over their Ford competitors in tonight's main event. Len Fraker, Mart Davis, and a newcomer from Oregon racing, Bill Kodat, are the favorites in the Hudson team.

Top Ford pilots include Bob Jones of Burbank, Ollie Kaiser of Pacoima, Bob Davidson of Santa Monica, and Eddie Pagan of Lynwood.

Major League Flag Race Moves Into Final Round

Its football in Los Angeles, horse racing at Del Mar and World Series fever in Cleveland, New York, Chicago, Brooklyn and Milwaukee. The Cleveland Indians, playing sensational .721 ball, may be the first team to win more than 110 league games since the Yankees turned in that record in 1927. Should the Indians continue the terrific pace in the remaining 27 games the New York Yankees will have to settle for second place for the first time in five years.

The National League race gets tighter by the game as the on - coming Brooklyn Dodgers, early season favorites, are playing up to the odd-makers predictions. With 28 games left, manager Wally Alston charges appear to have hit their championship form and if figures are correct, when they meet head on with Willie Mays and crew they should be too hot to handle and win in a breeze.

However, should the Dodgers and New Yorkers burn themselves out in the next few games, the Milwaukee Braves just 6½ games out of first place could slip in while the two clubs battle themselves out of contention.

Below is the run down on the remaining games in the desperately hot major loop race currently on the lips of all baseball fans.

Top Players Vie In Open Golf Tourney

Close to 200 golfers will tee off at Fox Hills Country Club September 5 and 6 in quest of the beautiful prizes and trophies donated by the local businessmen. With the largest field in their seven year history Vernondale is putting stress upon the importance of speeding up play. This will enable all golfers to have a more enjoyable game and to finish before dark.

Defending Champion Oscar Clisby will be fighting to get his second leg on the leg trophy. He will have his hands full against such consistent players as Al McDaniels, recent winner of the Cosmopolitan Invitational; Robert Russell, three times winner of the Vernandale Open; Milton Rayson, winner of the Bay Area; Henry Barabin, Arthur George, Theop Smith and Johnnie Robertson.

Living up to one of the main purposes of Vernondale—Sponsoring Young Golfers—the club has invited as their guests four junior golfers between the ages of 11 and 14. Jerene Webb jr., with his special made clubs, J. Hoppe and Charles Fletcher, caddies at Fox Hills Country Club, and Jimmie Thornton, son of last year's Champion Eoline Thornton. In addition to these four golfers Vernondale has as their guests Johnnie Robertson, 1954 High School Champion from San Francisco and Lee Young Jr. promising young local golfer.

Vernondale presents two double threat contestants, Billie Eckstein, a threat to golfers and a threat to the gallery and Kenny Washington, rapidly becoming a first class threat in golf as he was in football.

Competition will be keen in the Women's flight with Defending Champion, Eoline Thornton going for her second leg on the leg trophy against, Thelma Cowans, winner of the National held last week at Dallas, Texas. The two long hitters, Maude Thomas and Madree Jackson will be in there to insure that there will be no walk away for first honers.

The public is welcome to come out and see the fine amateurs in action. Pairings for Sunday, Sept. 5th are as follows:

Stars Battle Angels For City Championship

Hollywood's final home series during the Pacific Coast League season is a climactic one, battling for another pennant, with the Los Angeles Angeles fighting to keep them from it, and from the City Championship. Single games are set for Thursday and Friday nights and Saturday afternoon, with a double header Sunday afternoon. The Stars spend the final week of the year on the road, in Seattle and Portland.

As the Stars - Angel series started, Hollywood held an 11 to 8 advantage in the season's play so far. The Angeles would have to take all five games of the current set in order to win the City Championship. If they took four of the five, the series would wind up tied at 12 each. The Stars, however, expect to continue their mastery over the men of Bill Sweeney.

The Stars have taken the City Series three straight seasons. The last time the Angels bested Hollywood over the year's play was in 1950. Since that time, including this year's games, Hollywood has won 59 games while losing 47.

Bridge Pointers

In line with some of our previous columns, we have another hand with an interesting end play.

This hand was played at four spades, with South opening for three, and North raising to four. The opening lead was a spade. South took the trick in his hand, and thought for a moment.

Obviously he could not trump two clubs because as soonas the opponents were in they would lead trumps again. Therefore, some other suit had to be set up to threw the clubs away on. But this had to be done before leading out trumps because the trump had to be left in dummy as a threat.

Finesse Necessary

The best suit to work on is the heart suit. This suit will have to be finessed anyhow, and it can be made to set up two discards. The queen of hearts was led and covered by West. Dummy took the ace and returned a small heart. If East had won with the king, at the first opportunity the ten would have been finessed. The odds are three to one that one of these finnesses would have worked.

Now a small heart was led and South's ten held as East failed to play his jack. With this excellent defensive play, South is now apparently held to seven spade tricks, two heart tricks, and one diamond trick, for a total of ten.

But South has another plan. He now leads the rest of the trumps. As the spades fall, East becomes squeezed. In order to protect his king of diamonds and his jack of hearts, he is forced to throw away his king of clubs. Then when South sees this it is a simple matter for him to throw East in on a club.

So East is held to his one club trick and his jack of hearts. After he takes these two, he has to lead away from his king of diamonds up to the ten ace in dummy, and South still makes five spades.

This hand is a combination of timing, squeezing and throwing in at the end.

MANY OUT OF TOWNERS ATTEND SUMMER FORMAL

A delightfully cool evening and sweet and scintillating melodies played by Sammy Franklin and his band, added up to an enjoyable and successful Summer Formal dance for Pacific Town Club, at the Elks Ballroom last Friday.

The ladies in their various colored gowns and the men in their white coats made a beautiful picture as they glided about the hall.

The affair was planned by the entertainment committee, headed by Bert Kenner, and no stone was left unturned to make it an eventful occasion. Each member of the club wore a red and white carnation.

Socialites Pleased With 'Moon Is Blue'

Society turned out en masse last Wednesday to take a look at the Ebony Showcase Theater's version of the Broadway hit, The Moon Is Blue. The Wednesday performance was sponsored by the League of Allied Arts.

The highly appreciative audience was more than pleased with the work of a newcomer, Miss Lorre Curry, who showed real talent in the role of Patty. She was fresh and natural as well as attractive.

Ably supporting Miss Curry were Robert Davis, Morris Blackman and Don Derricks. Skillful direction by Tome Browne Henry kept the show moving at a fast pace.

Seen in the audience were Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Carpenter and their guest, Mrs. Mercer Evans of Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. Jon Evans (Jon designed the scenery); Mr. and Mrs. Larry Wilson; Miss Betty Fearonce who is visiting her uncle, Dr. Nat Fearonce, and who was the guest of Mrs. Nancy Harris; Mrs. Gertrude Lovingood; Dr. Alice Garrott; Mrs. Ida Bowman, Mrs. Ethel Branham; Mrs. Loyce Granville; Mrs. Henry Butler; Mrs. Constance Gordon and Miss Carmen De Lavallade.

The League, which is acting as one of the sponsors for the Ebony Showcase, was so enthusiastic over the show that it turned over the entire receipts to the producers. It is planning to honor members of the cast at its opening meeting Sept. 12 and invitations are going out to presidents of all local clubs to be on hand for the affair at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hurd.

WHAT'S COOKING

BARBARA MOUNTS

For a new taste thrill pour some Port Wine or Cointreau over some of the fine fruit peaches you find in the market these days. Peel enough when you slice them for breakfast to make desert for dinner. Let them stand all day poaching in the wine. Serve in a baked pie shell or in a meringue shell with a bit of sweetened whipped cream. Served alone with the walnut cookies will make a fine climax to any meal.

"How many go out in the morning who never come home at night; how many unkind words are spoken that never can be made right."

Broadway Stars On ABC Video's 'Stage' Sept. 7th

NEW YORK, Aug. 30—Frank Wilson and Musa Williams—both prominent Negro performers— and Hall Burdick have been added to the cast of "The Day Before Atlanta," a powerful Civil War drama which will be presented on ABC-TV's CENTER STAGE on Tuesday, Sept. 7, 9:30 to 10:30 p.m., EDT.

Joan Lorring, Luther Adler and Lee Marvin will co-star in the television play, with Paul Stevens and Howard St. John featured. Wilson will play Jonathan, a servant in a Confederate farmhouse; Miss Williams his wife, Esther, and Burdick a farmer, Tom McMaster.

Frank Wilson made his Broadway debut three decades ago and since has appeared in dozens of plays and motion pictures and has written for the stage. In 1925 he played both Lem and the title role in "The Emperor Jones" and two years later he was Porgy in the original Theatre Guild production of "Porgy." He was seen recently on the widely-acclaimed "Fearful Decision" on THE UNTED STATES STEEL HOUR over ABC-TV.

Musa Williams, a busy radio and television actress, has been seen on Broadway in "Happy Birthday," "Deep Are the Roots," "Porgy and Bess," "Cabin in the Sky," "You Can't Take It with You" and "South Pacific" (in the latter as understudy to Juanita Hall as "Bloody Mary.").

Friday evening the Browns entertained with a cocktail party. Their guests were Mr. and Mrs. Gus Campbell, Howard Mitchell, Mrs. Wilda Smith, James Norman Sr., James Norman Jr., Mrs. Allen, Mrs. Charles Norman, all of Los Angeles, and Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Greepan of San Francisco.

Helen 'Stage Rage' Hayes To Reveal September 27th "What Women Know"

One of the outstanding advantages of the new Huntington Hartford Theatre, located at 1615 North Vine Street, is its accessibility by either private or public transportation from all parts of Southern California, and the tremendous parking facilities adjacent to it.

Inexpensive

The new theatre, which will have its formal opening on September 27 when Helen Hayes will begin a four-week engagement in James M. Barrie's "What Every Woman Knows," is located only two blocks from the Hollywood Freeway. This places it less than 20 minutes drive from most points in the San Fernando Valley, the Downtown area and only a few minutes more from Pasadena and the San Gabriel Valley.

Located half a block south of Hollywood Boulevard, it can easily be reached by half a dozen bus lines from any direction while crosstown arteries make it only a few minutes drive from almost any point.

Convenient

Within a distance of half a block from the theatre there is parking space for more than 3000 automobiles.

Another outstanding advantage is the proximity of some of the finest restaurants in Southern California. The world famous Brown Derby is directly across the street from the theatre while its next door neighbor is Lymans. More than a dozen other top eating places are located less than a block from the showhouse.

'Filling Station'

Added to this is the fact that the theatre itself will have an elaborate bar, the first to be installed in any theatre in the United States, where both hard and soft drinks and hot and cold snacks will be served.

Opportunities For Musicians

Choral directors and accompanists again have their annual opportunity to qualify for appointment to the staff of the City of Los Angeles' Bureau of Music, according to city music coordinator J. Arthur Lewis.

Auditions for experienced chorus directors and community sing leaders, and accompanists for both types of work, will be held at the City Hall on the afternoon and evening of Friday, Sept. 10, Lewis noted.

Phone inquiries concerning these part-time musical activities should be made of the Bureau of Music, Los Angeles City Hall, MIchigan 5211, Extension 2172, at the earliest possible moment, in order that times for auditions may be set.

Through the Bureau of Music, a division of the Municipal Arts Dept., the city administers the weekly rehearsals and sing sessions of more than 45 youth and adult choruses and community sings in all parts of the city. There is opportunity for work in many choral styles, with various age groups, or with community sings.

Spanish Conversation

New classes in Spanish Conversation for beginning and advanced students will be offered by Metropolitan Evening School of Business at its new location, 400 West Washington blvd., starting Sept. 13.

CATHERINE OF SIENA
by Sigrid Undset

Shortly before her death in 1949, the great Norwegian novelist, a Catholic convert, completed this biography of an outstanding woman saint. Catherine of Siena was a woman of unusual influence in her era. Beginning her life of dedication as a young girl in a large and bustling household, she later went into public life and became the advisor of kings and popes. In the role of peacemaker to the various hostile factions in 14th century Italy, she was instrumental in unifying the dissenters and in getting the Pope returned from exile at Avignon. Her story will be of interest to both Catholic and Protestant readers.

AN ENGLISH YEAR by Nan Fairbrother

To help us escape from the heat, the smog, and the tension, here is a charming collection of leisurely essays.

Writing on the farm where she lived with her two sons while her husband was away with the RAF, this young mother records her changing moods during the slow turn of the year from bleak winter to mellow autumn.

Her reflections range widely from children, especially her own Peter and John, to her childhood in an English slum, from the common field mouse to the loveliness of English meadow flowers, from John Donne and Gerard Hopkins to Baudelaire and Oscar Wilde. A gracefully written book of mature insights.

OF WHALES AND MEN, by R. B. Robertson.

The senior medical officer of one of the largest whaling expeditions of the 1950-51 season writes this exciting account of a voyage covering 48,000 miles over the Antarctic seas.

Dr. Robertson was responsible for the medical as well as the psychiatric welfare of 650 Scottish and Norwegian whalemen during eight months of tough isolation at sea, but still had time for penetrating observation of everything that went on around him from the chase of the great mammals to the processing of the quarry, from gales and icebergs to the bird and animal life of the South Atlantic.

THE WEB OF SUBVERSION, by James Burnham.

Searching through the records of the Congressional investigating committees, the trials of Alger Hiss, the Communist leaders and the atom spies, the author has summarized evidence, fitted scattered material together and in this book presented clearly and tersely the subversive underground network in the United States government.

It was in the 1930's that the Soviet policy of destruction of governments began to work in Washington. Gaining foothold in the agencies of the depression era, subversion spread later to the wartime agencies, the post-war agencies and eventually right up to the administrative staff of the White House.

TRIES SUICIDE—Former insurance executive, John H. Roy, failed in three suicide attempts. He was despondent over forced separation from his young Japanese bride.

Grieved Over Visa Refusal to Japanese Bride

A former insurance executive, bitter over visa difficulties which separated him from his wealthy Japanese bride, was in the Psychiatric Ward of General hospital this week after three incompleted attempts to commit suicide.

John Whitman Roy, 50, former state supervisor for the Supreme Liberty Life Insurance Co., 4824 Avalon blvd., for three years, 1948 to 1951, walked into the waters of the Pacific Ocean Friday, a few hours after he had been released from a Santa Monica hospital and shortly after penning a note to his wife in Tokyo.

As Near as Possible

"I am getting as near you as I can," he wrote, "near the ocean that separates two who have found that true love means. If only the American government had the heart to realize this."

He walked out into the water, but, apparently dazed and confused, he failed to carry through his intentions.

He was found wandering on the beach. Distracted, he told police he had "just drowned John Roy."

Earlier Attempts

Earlier police had found him in his car which was hanging precariously over a cliff on Pacific Coast highway. He told the officers he had tried to drive the car over the cliff but that the wheels had bogged down in the soft ground. Then he had taken a large dose of sleeping pills.

He was removed to the Santa Monica hospital, but released a few hours later when he seemed to have recovered.

In another suicide note, addressed "To Whom It May Concern," Roy wrote:

Bitter

"I bequeath this deed to those in charge of the visa division at the American Embassy in Tokyo. . . . I have always been a loyal American but I have been repaid by my country with a disgraceful discharge from my Civil Service job and the breaking up of my home."

Illiterates Preferred Down in Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss. — The great state of Mississippi this week set out to prove to the whole wide world that its most prized possession is its cherished jim-crow system and its "right" to keep Negroes "in their place."

Rather than bow to the unanimous decision of the Supreme Court of the United States that it is illegal to segregate children in public schools, the mighty southern commonwealth is setting out to junk all state, county and city-supported instruction.

Illiterates Okay

No matter if the majority of the state's children grow up to be illiterates. Not suh! When it comes to a choice between illiteracy and jim crow, where is the white Mississippi leader who would falter for a moment?

So figures Gov. Hugh White who called the legislature into special session Tuesday for the express and sole purpose of working out a formula to prevent the end of segregation in the schools.

To achieve his aim he has proposed a constitutional amendment empowering the legislature to close down all public schools. And there's nobody in Mississippi who is taking odds that the bill won't pass.

Gov. White appeared before

Short-Cut to Girl Friend Leads to Jail

Leslie A. Johnston, 36, of 1525 E. 103rd street, was caught prowling in a neighborhood many miles from home last Sunday, Sept. 5.

When officers received a call from Mrs. Jane Schaffer of 819¼ W. 41st drive, that she was "holding a prowler," Johnston had a lot of explaining to do.

His excuse for being in the wrong place was this: "I was just going to see my girl friend and decided to take a short cut." It might have been a good excuse but for three reasons: Johnston had in his possession a social security card in the name of Leslie Johnston; a California operator's license in the name of Lonz Carl Brazil;

Five Arrested On Charges of Forgery, Dope

Police this week believed they had uncovered a far-flung forgery and narcotics ring with the arrest Tuesday of four men and a woman and the seizure of a mass of hot evidence.

Investigators expected to round up another 15 members of the ring which allegedly has been forging and passing scores of payroll checks as well as engaging extensively in dope traffic.

Seize Evidence

The five arrested were Carl Ikner, 24, 553 Ceres street; Sterling Scott, Jr., 23, same address; James Lee Jones, 29, 807 E. 76th place; Alonzo Jones, 30, 936 E. 54th street; and Miss Mattie Lee, 25, 553 Ceres street.

Miller Blames FHA for Poor Negro Housing

PITTSBURGH — Advancing a four point program for an all-out attack on racial residential segregation, Loren Miller, Los Angeles attorney and publisher of the California Eagle, told the annual conference of the National Urban League this week that the chief stumbling block to good housing for Negroes is the FHA policy of permitting builders and subdividers to discriminate in the sale or rental of homes built with FHA-insured loans.

"Racial segregation is costly both to its victims and to those who fancy that they profit from it," Miller said as he charged that FHA had "spread race restrictive covenants from one end of this nation to the other" in its earlier years.

Its present policy is under legal attack and the courts will be asked to decide whether or not builders can get government insurance for loans and then discriminate and whether FHA can connive at such practices.

Miller urged the conference to (1) wage a battle for public opinion, (2) urge Negro home buyers to take advantage of opportunities that are present for non-segregated living, (3) support efforts to wipe out segregation in public housing and to pressure FHA to change its rules to provide that every builder who gets an FHA-insured loan must covenant with the agency that he will not discriminate in the sale or rental of homes built with the aid of such loans.

Racial residential segregation creates separate schools and separate institutions of all kinds, Miller said. He said that the Supreme Court decision outlawing separate schools would never be effective so long as Negroes are confined to separate residential areas.

SEEKS DAMAGES—Socially prominent Mrs. Ikalina Shumate's suit against weekly periodical, "Jet," charging libel and asking $100,000, opened here Wednesday.

Shumate $100,000 Court Battle Opens

Trial of Mrs. Ikalina Shumate's $100,000 damage suit against "Jet," weekly periodical, charging malice and libel, opened here Wednesday, with the city's top legal talent locked in battle over the case.

Representing the attractive social leader are Atty. Vaino Hassen Spencer and Atty. Leo Branton. They are pitting their skill against Atty. Edward Maddox, of the law firm of Miller, Maddox and Sheats, who is handling the case for the defendant, John Johnson and the Johnson Publications.

Sexy Article

The case grew out of a sexy article that appeared in the publication Aug. 27, 1953, at the time when the Ikalina Shumate-Dr. Lincoln Shumate divorce was top news in most weekly newspapers. The article appeared under the caption "Are Women Changing Our Sex Morals," and referred inferentially but unmistakably—so her attorneys claim—to Mrs. Shumate.

The lengthy complaint began with the charge that the "defendant through evil motive and malice, wilfully, wickedly, wrongfully, maliciously and with intent and design to injure, disgrace and defame,

Old Man's Waltz Ends At Hospital

Andy Pickett, a 74-year-old grandfather of 1436 E. 53rd street, came to the defence of the fair name of his 16-year-old granddaughter Monday — and ended up at Georgia Street Receiving hospital.

Pickett and one of his cronies, Albert McMiller of 4517½ Compton avenue, were having a quiet discussion when McMiller made a remark about Pickett's granddaughter. The argument became a little heated, and the two men started struggling.

It would probably have ended as an old man's waltz but for the fact that McMiller's son, Mordacai Cecil McMfiller, of 219 E. 93rd street, came on the scene.

Young McMiller chased

Determined to Keep Separate Negro Stations

Devoting eight pages of an eight and a half page report to an elaborate alibi for his Jim Crow policies, Fire Chief John H. Alderson last Thursday told the Board of Fire Commissioners that segregation should "be handled, as it has been in the past, namely, subject to my consideration."

This is no time "for experimentation with social experiments," he added.

The chief's double talk and alibi was his response to the July 20 order from the Commission directing him to present a plan "concerning the manner in which Negro personnel . . . could be integrated."

Draws Fire

Specifically, the chief suggested to the Commission that it (1) "visit white members of the department and discuss with them their attitude and reasons for opposition to dissemination of Negroes throughout the department" and (2) that it confer with the Civil Service commission to satisfy itself that examinations are

Hearing Slated On 'New' Plan

The Board of Fire Commissioners plans a full-scale public hearing on Chief Alderson's new "plan" in which he outlines proposals for keeping the Fire Department as completely segregated as it is at the present time.

Date of the hearing is expected to be announced Sept. 16.

Commissioners are at present studying the chief's report. Mayor Poulson is refraining from public comment until the Commission has acted.

LIFE AT STAKE—Mrs. Odessa Parks, police woman who shot and killed her husband, Hilliard Parks Green, last May, goes on trial for her life Monday.

Police Woman Goes On Trial For Murder

Mrs. Odessa Parks, crack-shot police woman who has been with the Police Department for 10 years, goes on trial for her life Monday in Dept. 41 for the shooting to death of her husband, Hilliard Parks Green, last May.

Charged with murder, Mrs. Parks is expected to plead that she killed her husband in self-defense. It has been ascertained that several doctors who treated her for bruises and cigarette burns on various occasions prior to the slaying will testify at the trial.

Lawyer Silent

It is expected that their testimony will be used in an attempt to demonstrate that Green was abusive and possibly sadistic in his treatment of his wife and that his actions on the fatal night led to the tragedy.

Noted criminal lawyer, Atty. Earl C. Broady, who is representing Mrs. Parks, was out of town this week and could not be reached for comment. His associates refused to "tip his hand" as to the type of defense he will put up.

Mrs. Parks shot her husband Sunday, May 23, in the late afternoon as he crossed the

Bites, Razor, Club Land Two in Jail

Tobe Davis, 65-year-old cafe manager at 1324 W. Jefferson blvd., told University police that on Sunday, Sept. 5 at 2 p.m. he was trying to stop a fight between two patrons.

Gladys Brown, of 3110 Walton place, for no apparent reason, Davis said, pulled a straight razor from her sweater in a threatening manner and shouted to others in the cafe, "Hit him with a bottle!"

Her brother-in-law grabbed Davis, who was cut on the left hand and head. Officers answering the call took him to Georgia Street Receiving Hospital for treatment of a three-inch laceration of the head and an inch wound in the left hand, as well as for wounds caused by bites on the arm.

Miss Brown claims that she was walking into the cafe and overheard Davis arguing with someone, and what she said, "Don't argue, have fun!" Davis, she said, turned and struck her over the head with a club. She was also taken to the Receiving hospital for lacerations of the head.

Both were booked by the police for assault.

Segregation Faces Test As Nation's Schools Open

Impact of the Supreme Court ruling banning segregation in elementary schools began to make itself felt this week as summer vacation ended for the nation's youngsters.

Breaking all precedent, mixed classes began in two military post schools and three Catholic parochial schools in Virginia, Tuesday, although traditional segregation is continuing in all of Virginia's public schools.

In Mississippi, a special session of the legislature was called in an attempt to ban all public schools so as to avoid integration of pupils.

Near Dallas, Texas, a group of Negro parents gathered at a white rural school Tuesday and demanded that their children be enrolled.

Spokesmen for the group of about 100 said they sought enrollment in protest against a split class year at the Negro elementary school which recesses during cotton-picking time.

Principal D. M. Willis said he would have to check with the school board for instructions. The school board said, no, thanks; better wait.

TRAFFIC FATALITIES

Traffic fatalities in Southern California decreased 18 per cent during the first half of 1954 compared to the same period last year, the Automobile Club of Southern California announced this week.

The death figure dropped from 1023 to 836.

Right Wish Makes Her Day's Queen

The legendary "Alice in Wonderland," in all probability, never experienced the thrill and surprise of Mrs. Louise Barrett when she figuratively stepped through a looking glass to become America's "Queen for a Day" recently on the nationally popular Old Gold cigarette sponsored 11:30 a.m. daily radio program.

Lifted from the everyday, hum-drum walk of life, Mrs. Barrett suddenly found herself showered with an array of wonderous gifts, lifted into a glamour-filled atmosphere of celebrities and bright lights as she reigned as a "Queen" for a full 24 hours.

This royal whirl, as accorded over 2,000 "Queens" before her, came as the result of a wish, which Mrs. Barrett voiced when she appeared as a candidate on the program.

The wish, voiced with sincerity, told the story of her personal struggle and her love for her husband, who has been confined in the San Fernando Veterans' hospital since 1949. With lowered eyes and a quiet voice, Mrs. Barrett, a resident of Los Angeles, told of many hardships. Her story was dramatic in its simplicity. Her wish was for a television set for her husband — a television set which represented a luxury that was unbelievably out of reach.

Following her interview with master of ceremonies Jack Bailey, Mrs. Barrett returned to the "Queen" candidates table and waited.

When the time came for the studio audience to vote for the winner, Mrs. Barrett discovered that she had actually torn a handkerchief to ribbons as she sat waiting for the decision.

Then suddenly Mrs. Barrett found herself standing beside Bailey with the audience's applause ringing in her ears. The royal robe was draped around her shoulders, the crown placed upon her head, and a beautiful model handed her the biggest bouquet of roses she had ever seen.

Mrs. Barrett still finds it difficult to believe that all this has happened to her. Old Gold Cigarettes saw to it that her wish was anwsered. And, in addition, she received such gifts as a fabulous wardrobe, a washing machine, a food freezer, a garbage disposal unit, vacuum cleaner and many, many more woundrous prizes.

The betatron, producing 26,000,000 volts of radiation, is used in cancer treatment, the American Cancer Society says.

Vote Bait

The wise boys are saying that the GOP fired its first gun in the war for Negro votes when President Eisenhower took steps to strengthen the machinery against discrimination by defense contractors. There'll be more of the same. Watch for a statement by Attorney General Brownell in the near future announcing government plans to enforce the anti-segregation decision of the Supreme Court in the school cases. Also watch out for some new GOP appointments on both state and federal levels. The Republicans are playing for keeps.

Meanwhile California Democrats are limping along with no apparent plans to keep the Negro vote. Strongest vote getters on the Demo team are Sam Yorty and Ed Roybal and if the Democrats had any know-how at all they would put Sam and Ed to work in the minority districts. Negro voters like them because they like their records and know that they can be depended upon. Richard Graves is an unknown to the Negro voter and he is going to have to hustle hard and hang on to the Yorty-Roybal coat-tails for all he's worth if he expects to do what Adlai did in 1952.

GOP's At It Again

Dan Kimball, former Secretary of the Navy, is Graves' campaign manager. Everybody seems to like Dan but the GOP's are whispering around that he stood for segregated facilities in Naval Shipyards despite the pleas of the Urban League. His Republican successor put a stop to the practice. See what we mean when we say that the GOP is out after the Negro vote?

Lucius Lomax' campaign seems to be ready to take off. Lucius has an excellent chance despite the fact that the Daily News keeps writing him off. We can't understand that. Surely the News has forgiven him for beating its man, Walter Ballou, by this time. In any event, Lucius is going to get the Demos many a vote in the 63rd that they wouldn't have got. Incidentally, the Demos have three strong Assembly candidates in the three districts that make up the 15th Congressional district. They are Lomax in the 63rd; Unruh in the 65th and Tollefson in the 57th. Frank O'Sullivan, Democratic nominee in the 15th, is going to give Gordon L. McDonough a run for his money. Gordon was a good man but he has a bad case of Times fever these days and he can't seem to take a stand that doesn't fit the Times' policies.

Sad News, Ted

Ted Owings is making a lot of brave noises in the 26th district and allowing as to how he is going to beat that man, Jimmy Roosevelt. He's mighty cute with figures too and can show you that the other candidates got more votes combined than Jimmy did last Primary day. We've got news for Ted. Jimmy's going to have more votes than Owings come November 2.

* * *

Tommy Kuchel got his senatorial campaign under way Wednesday with a tasty luncheon at the Rodger Young auditorium. No less a dignitary than Senator Knowland showed up to say that Tommy is a mighty fine fellow badly needed in Washington. Truth to tell, Kuchel is a pretty nice guy and could get a substantial Negro vote if he hadn't had the bad luck to have Sam Yorty oppose him. Sam is a tough man with Negro voters.

Another Boner

Democrats have another one of those cozy little staffed dinners going out at Compton come Sept. 25. Sadly enough, the publicity doesn't list a single Negro dignitary listed for an occasion that is sponsored by the 23rd Congression District, —a district fairly seething with Negro voters. We give up. We just don't understand the Demo brass or maybe we don't understand politics. One thing is sure: either we're nuts or the Democratic big-wigs are. The way we figure it election time is the time, above all others, to cater to the voters who support you. Anyhow the dinner will be fine and there are some good people listed as speakers.

Tough Job

Rayfield Lundy, GOP seeker after the Assembly seat in the 55th, has his work cut out for him to beat Vernon Kilpatrick. Kilpatrick has a good enough record and is an old line favorite with labor. Ray's job is that of convincing Negro voters in his district that it's time for a change.

* * *

Local Republicans are all hot and bothered about the report that Clayton Powell is all set to climb on the Ike bandwagon. Under cover sleuths report there's nothing to the yarn. Anyhow, William A. Easter, GOP power out in Watts, says he wants no part of the handsome husband of Hazel Scott.

Clyde Doyle looks like he has pretty smooth sailing in the 23rd district. Apparently, Negro leaders in his district are pretty much in his corner.

After a game with golfer Eisenhower, ex-football coach Frank Leahy, now sales manager of the sizable Exothermic Alloy Co., said about the President:

"When a man is willing to ask advice of an old broken-down football coach, well, that's a sign of his genuine bigness.

"I think that all of us should get down on our knees every night and thank God for his great leadership."

Eisenhower In New Plea To End Bias

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower, in an apparent endeavor to answer criticisms that he failed to ask Congress for a single civil rights bill, on Monday made an appeal to labor and industry to cooperate toward ending discrimination on the job.

The appeal was made in a booklet prepared by the President's Committee on Government Contracts. The booklet is being mailed to all major industries holding contracts with the Federal government.

Each year the government lets contracts to private industry totalling some $30,000,000,000 for goods and services.

Truman, while president, issued a directive to the effect that there should be no discrimination in employment by contractors working on government orders. The order was freely ignored since it was virtually impossible to enforce it.

When Eisenhower took over as Chief Executive, he issued a similar order. Like Truman's, it has remained practically a dead letter. Informed sources here see little likelihood that the new booklet will change the policies of many firms which refuse to hire Negroes.

Last Friday Eisenhower signed another executive order spelling out in greater detail the non-discriminatory clause contained in all government contracts.

The White House said the new order "is the means by which the administration is working to end racial and religious bars to employment" in government work.

BUSINESS SCHOOL

Latest models of adding and caluculating machines of all standard makes will be available for students in office machine classes when the fall term opens, September 13, at Metropolitan Evening School of Business in its new location, 400 West Washington Boulevard.

RALLY PLANNED—Democrats plan a "Rally for Roybal," candidate for Licut. Governor on the Democratic ticket.

Rally for Roybal

A "Rally for Roybal," Democratic nominee for Lt. Governor is being held in the Willowbrook area Oct. 12. Miss Ann Snider is coordinator for the Roybal campaign.

Members of the Roybal committee are Herman Davis, Champ Sturdivant, Francis Robinson, Floyd White, Eugene Farrell, Patricia Sullivan, Ben Farquar, Charles Free, Thelma Billings, Mrs. Edith Bitticks, Leslie Rhines, Mrs. Virginia Kempton, Leon Freeman, Mrs. Paula Ogren, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lova, and Louis Kelley.

Jeff.-Jackson Dinner

The 15 organizations affiliated with the 23rd Congressional District Democratic Council will participate in the annual Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner in Compton Saturday night, Sept. 25, it was announced this week by Kee Maxwell, council chairman.

Hosting the affair, to be held at the Pathfinders Clubhouse, 440 South Santa Fe Ave. in Compton, will be the Democratic clubs of Compton, Hollydale, Lynwood, Downey, Walnut Park, Huntington Park, South Gate, Avalon and Watts.

The official slate of Democratic nominees in the Nov 2 general election will participate in the dinner, Maxwell said.

Young Democrats

Three Young Democrats Clubs of the Southside area are cosponsoring a dance for the youth of the district Saturday, Sept. 11, beginning at 8:30 p.m., at the Veterans Hall, 5829½ South Broadway.

The three clubs are the Young Democrats of the 55th, 62nd and 66th Assembly Districts.

The theme of the dance is centered around Mexican Independence Day.

Republican Workers

Republican precinct workers are holding a picnic at South Park playground, 51st and Avalon blvd., in front of the grandstand, Sunday, Sept. 12, from 12 noon to 5 p.m.

Kuchel Campaign

Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel's campaign for retention in office started off last week when members of the community under the leadership of Atty. Ivan J. Johnson III mapped plans calling for immediate action including the opening of a headquarters on Central Avenue.

The Citizens Committee for Kuchel from the 62nd Assembly District includes: I. J. Johnson, B. B. Bratton, Atty. Vince M. Townsend, Louis V. Cole, Wilfred E. Charles, Paul McGee, Bishop A. C. SEEKS JOB—Undaunted by a serious physical handicap, Miss Delene Bobby attended classes regularly at City College and last June graduated with a degree in Business Administration. She is a good bookkeeper and a competent worker. She wants a job so she can support herself and her grandmother. Any offers?

Conquers Handicap —Ready for Work

By DONNA PREE

A phone call to the California Eagle from the State Board of Rehabilitation this week brought to light the employment difficulties of a young City College graduate, Miss Delene Bobby, 22, of 9901 S. San Pedro street.

Miss Bobby is what is termed a paraplegic. The entire lower portion of her body is paralyzed. Despite this handicap, she graduated last June from Los Angeles City College with a "B" average in Business Administration.

Great Favorite

Though Miss Bobby is confined to her chair, she was a great favorite on and off City campus for her ready smile and uncomplaining disposition. Students frequently went to her with their many scholastic problems and gripes, forgetting that Delene had more to complain about than they. She would sit quietly on the campus bench and listen to their complaints with her gentle smile, never by look or action attracting attention to the fact that she could not move from that particular bench unless someone lifted her bodily.

She went to her classes daily, no matter what the weather. Each morning her uncle, Wilbert Bobby, would take Delene and her crutches to the campus. Her many friends and her gallant spirit took her triumphantly through her two years at City College.

In conjunction with her heavy studies, she served as secretary of the Red Cross Club on campus, and according to the Rev. A. A. Peters of Victory Baptist Church, of which she is a member, she was recording clerk of the church for three years, is a member of the Youth Choir and is very active in church affairs.

Given Award

All of these positions Delene successfully held while studying hard for her degree of Associate in Arts. On graduation, the administrative officers of City College gave this brilliant, though handicapped, student a $50 war bond.

Miss Bobby lives with her grandmother, Mrs. Metta Bobby. Mrs. Bobby stated she reared Delene from a tiny tot and has carried on the best she could all of these years, trying to be both father and mother to her granddaughter.

Their home is modest, but it radiates an atmosphere that makes one feel as if he is on hallowed ground. The courage and hope in the faces of both the grandmother and granddaughter touch the heart. Their apparent faith in all things good and beautiful would make the cynic question his philosophy.

Wants Chance to Work

Delene isn't sitting home feeling sorry that she doesn't have a television or pretty party dresses or even legs to support her so she can go dancing. The many things that young girls feel are a necessary part of every day living, Delene doesn't have. But she does possess something that can't be bought with love or money—intelligence, fortitude and undying hope.

All she wants is a chance to work. Just a chance to repay her grandmother in some way for her devotion and years of loyalty. Delene Bobby wants an opportunity to use her hard earned education to make a decent living for herself and her grandmother.

She is a qualified bookkeeper. She could do a bang-up job in any office job. Even as a receptionist she would be a definite asset.

The State Board of Rehabilitation will be glad to attest to all of her qualifications to any employer who would be interested in hiring her.

fair and that all requests for transfer be subject to his approval.

The report drew immediate fire from the NAACP which charged that "the plan is merely an attempt by the chief to alibi for, and keep, his present Jim Crow racket." He was branded as "unfit for public office" by Loren Miller, chief counsel for the Association. "If the Commission adopts any such 'plan' as this we will have no option but to sue," Miller added.

Vicious Attack

In addition to his undisguised plea for retention of racial segregation, Alderson made a vicious attack on Negro firemen and officers with the charge that 31 of their number had been promoted or hired out of turn over white men who outranked them on the civil service list.

Firemen were quick to point out that the list of 31 contained a number of duplications and that Alderson did not compute the number of white firemen also named out of turn at the same time or tell the Commission that he himself had appointed white auto firemen out of turn when three Negroes headed the list—ten years ago. There are 81 Negroes in the Department.

Passes Buck

Appointments out of turn for either whites or Negroes, the firemen pointed out, were made by both Alderson and his predecessors to maintain the Jim Crow fire stations. "All we ask is that all favoritism of every kind be abolished and that each fireman stand on his own merits without reference to race or color. If there were no Jim Crow stations there would be no reason for appointments out of turn," they said.

Alderson's attempt to pass the buck to the Civil Service Commission was rapped by the NAACP as an attempt to "whitewash" himself. "Nobody has ever charged that written civil service examinations are not fair," a spokesman said.

"The real trouble lies with the oral examination which is given by Fire Department brass. Since these orals were instituted for promotional examinations no Negro has ever passed when there was no 'Negro vacancy' for officers."

No Negro Trainees

Firemen pointed out that this year an oral examination was added for entrance examinations and that there is not a single Negro in the training class for the first time in years.

"With control of the oral examinations, Alderson has a device to exclude Negroes from promotions and from the department," the NAACP charged. "This control makes his proposal that the Civil Service Commission be brought into the picture absurd. Alderson conducts the orals. Alderson does the hiring. Alderson does the discriminating."

Hollow Mockery

Firemen also pointed out that Alderson's promise to promote all men who pass the promotional examinations and all who qualify on entrance examinations without reference to any vacancies that may exist at Stations 14 and 30 is hollow mockery. "There won't be any promotions and there won't be an entrants unless Alderson wants them and has vacancies at the Negro stations so long as he controls the oral exams," they said.

The Alderson report did achieve one thing in that it gave the lie to the chief's oft repeated contention that assignments are not made on the basis of race.

In effect he admitted racial assignments when he said that "the fire station becomes the fireman's home. He sleeps, eats and lives there for 24 hours every other day. It is not a place to experiment with social experiments."

Although Alderson was at some pains to argue that Washington had not integrated its fire stations he did not refer to the examples of Pittsburgh, Pa., and San Diego where integration has been accomplished without incident in the past two years.

The Fire Commission will "study" the Alderson report at its next meeting which is set for Sept. 16.

Deny Libel

Atty. Maddox, in presenting the defense, pointed out that the article was not libelous since it does not refer to Mrs. Shumate by name.

He further claimed that California law provides that anyone who feels he has been libeled by a newspaper must ask for a retraction within 20 days, and that Mrs. Shumate did not ask for such a retraction.

The case was argued in the judge's chambers Wednesday afternoon, and continued until Friday.

Two 'Frisco Police Sued for Brutality

SAN FRANCISCO—Two policemen were sued in Municipal Court here last week for brutality and violently assaulting a man and his wife with fists and blackjacks.

The couple, James and Dolores Eliston, 611 Waller street, are seeking $6,000 in damages for injuries suffered when two Park Station officers entered their home "without right or authority" and proceeded to beat them.

Mrs. Eliston claims head, face and chest injuries. Her husband asserted that as a result of the attack he suffered contusions of the head, chest and abdomen and a strained back.

Named as defendants were Sgt. Daniel Quinlan and Albert Perry.

The altercation grew out of a complaint that a neighbor's child had taken $2 and divided it with other children, including the nephews of the Elistons, age 6 and 8. When the officers threatened to take the two boys off to juvenile authorities, Mrs. Eliston offered to pay back the $2. Eliston came upon the scene at this point and remarked: "That's a silly thing to do." At this, the officers began swinging, the Elistons claimed.

The firm of Francois and Metoyer, members of the San Francisco NAACP Legal Redress Committee, are representing the Elistons.

Ruby Goodwin Wins Award for 'Best Book'

In a wire from Stuart B. Ward, secretary, literature medal award jury of the Commonwealth Club of California, San Francisco, Ruby Berkley Goodwin, author of "It's Good To Be Black," was advised this week that she has been awarded the Gold Medal for 1953 for the best non-fiction book written by a California author during the year.

The award will be made by the Club president, A. H. Moffitt, Jr., at a dinner meeting Sept. 15 at the St. Francis Hotel, San Francisco. It marks the first time that a Negro author has been so honored.

Ruby Berkley Goodwin is well known to the theatrical, journalistic, and educational professions. Her years as press secretary to the late Hattie McDaniel, her contributions to both the local and national Negro press, her appearances in motion pictures, television and state productions have made her one of the best known writers on the coast.

A. P. Randolph NAACP Rally Main Speaker

Music for the affair will be provided by the Rev. A. A. Peters' famed "Voices of Victory" junior choir.

Lily-White Union Admits 15 Negroes

NEW YORK—Fifteen Negro mechanics have been accepted as members of the previously lily-white AFL Bricklayers, Masons and Plasterers Union in Dade County, Fla., it was announced here this week by Herbert Hill, Labor Relations assistant for the NAACP.

Dade County encompasses Miami and Miami Beach.

Hill said the union's action came as the result of a sustained program to integrate lily-white craft unions in Florida conducted by the NAACP national office and the Miami branch.

Membership in the AFL union is a condition of employment in the major construction installations in the area.

To date, Negroes have been denied employment at the $23,000,000 Homestead Army Air Force Base and on all other construction jobs in Dade County because of non-membership in the AFL, Hill noted.

Unfit For Public Office

After a solid year of double talk, Fire Chief John H. Alderson finally admitted last Thursday that he enforces racial segregation in the Fire Department. His admission was a left-handed one in which he excused the practice on the ground that "under a 24-hour-on and 24-hour-off" shift the fire station "becomes the fireman's home." That, he said, was reason enough for not "experimenting with social experiments" which, in English, means that he believes his Jim Crow system should be continued.

Other than that admission there was nothing new in the chief's report. It displayed him at his arrogant worst, ready to flout the orders of the Commission, prepared to stand against the trend of the times and committed, as always, to his belief that Negroes must be kept segregated no matter what the City Administration or progressive public opinion may demand.

The "plan" that he prepared in response to the Commission order was no plan at all. His recommendation that the Commission visit "white" stations and find out what white firemen think about integration is baby talk, the whine of a defeated man trying to excuse his own derelictions by a cheap appeal to the very racial prejudice that he himself has created.

There is no more substance to his attempt to pass the buck for Fire Department conditions to the Civil Service Commission. Nobody has ever charged that the Civil Service written examinations are not fair. What the firemen charge, and what everybody knows, is that the oral aspects of the examinations are given by Fire Department brass who are under Alderson's control. It is significant that his oral boards have never seen fit to give a Negro a high grade in promotional examinations except when there are vacancies at the "Negro" stations!

Last March, Alderson dreamed up an oral examination for persons seeking entrance to the Department and it is significant that here again the oral was given by Department brass. And oddly (?) enough not a single Negro applicant is among the training class this year for the first time in many years! And if Alderson has his way and is permitted to continue having the oral examinations given by his stooges, there won't be another Negro applicant who will pass the examination until there is a vacancy at the "Negro" stations.

Alderson's control of the oral board makes his proposal that the present conditions be continued and that Negroes who pass promotionals and entrance examinations be eligible for appointment at other stations just so much hokum. There won't be any more Negroes in the Department if his plan is accepted.

As shoddy as his appeal to the racial prejudices of the firmen was Alderson's attempt to excuse his own action with the pretense that white firemen have been discriminated against. He cited figures to show that more than 15 years ago some two dozen Negro firemen were appointed out of turn. We challenge him to produce similar figures of that same period to show how many other firemen were named out of turn. And Alderson didn't say that when three Negroes were at the head of the Auto Firemen's list he refused to appoint any one of them and that on that occasion he took a white fireman out of turn—in order to maintain segregation.

The truth of the matter about this out-of-turn business is Negro firemen were appointed out of turn when such appointments were necessary to keep Jim Crow going in the fire stations and that white firemen were appointed out of turn when only white firemen were wanted. Alderson himself has participated in this same shoddy practice as he did when he refused to appoint a Negro auto fireman when he wanted a white auto fireman.

It must be plain to everybody by this time that Chief Alderson has no intention of changing the segregated system that he has maintained all of these years. For one solid year he denied that there was segregation in his Department. Now he admits it. He has resorted to every shoddy trick in the books to delay and hamper any change. He has defied the mayor. He has flouted the Commission. He has stirred up racial prejudice and whipped up racial animosities. He is violating the law of this state. He is scorning the constitution.

John H. Alderson is unfit for public office.

Toward Fair Employment

President Eisenhower's recent move to strengthen the executive order against discrimination in the employment or upgrading of Negroes in plants holding defense contracts is welcome even if it does come suspiciously close to the fall election.

Under the president's new directive, every such plant is required to post a copy of the non-discriminatory order in a conspicuous place in the plant and to indicate its compliance with the letter and spirit of that order.

That, we think, is a step in the right direction and we hope it presages the establishment of some effective machinery under which an aggrieved person can get redress when he has been discriminated against.

The weakness of both the Truman and Eisenhower directives in this field has been the lack of enforcement machinery. Under the original Roosevelt order the individual could at least lay his case before the FEP Commission and it had a staff of field workers who were on the spot to investigate. The old FEP Commission fell down because it could only issue orders and lacked any real power to crack down on offenders.

The president will learn in time that soft answers don't turn away discrimination and if he is in earnest he will have to provide for sanctions against those who don't follow fair hiring policies. The inevitable conclusion to which he will be driven is that legislation is needed in this field. Until there is effective fair employment legislation there will be continued evasions. The die-hards won't comply until they have to.

Keep A Sharp Watch

We're glad to see that all Central Avenue markets have been given a clean bill of health by the Health Department. Market owners must have breathed a sigh of relief, too, since all of them have been under a cloud since one offender was nabbed a couple of weeks ago.

The Health Department refused to give out the name of the market and hence many honest operators suffered from the general air of suspicion that was generated.

We hope, too, that the Health Department will keep a vigilant watch on the few markets that have long been open to suspicion. Some of them have been cheating on the public for years and have been giving all markets a black eye.

There is too much of a disposition on the part of a handful of these operators to say that Negroes don't require cleanliness and decent meat and to sell the cheapest and worst cuts they can lay their hands on. The Health Department has been somewhat lax in its investigations. The recent incident will serve the public good if it results in more rigorous inspection and if it moves the majority of decent markets to see to it that their erring brothers are kept in line.

Battleaxe and Bread

By Lester B. Granger

It's a crazy, mixed-up world, to be sure, and one doesn't have to go half way 'round the globe to discover this to be the case. All that we need to do is to compare the half-educated Baptist preacher down South with the county engineer in southern Ohio, and we'll have a strong case in point.

Lester Granger

The primitive Baptist is at this moment running around in circles, trying to convince his fellow white Southerners that it is an offense against God to comply with the Supreme Court decree on school segregation.

"'Tain't Christian," the good reverend mourns, "'cause the Lord set up segregation when he made the human race in different colors. We got no right to try to undo the Lord's handiwork."

Plan Miscarried

Meantime, Time Magazine reports that in southern Ohio a white county engineer set fire to the small, rattletrap Negro school, believing that with the segregated school building destroyed, the laggard school board would make up its mind to get along with the desegregation job which it had voted to do but was still delaying to carry out.

The engineer's plans miscarried; the school building caught fire but failed to burn. All that happened was that the colored youngsters went back to school in a partially charred building, while the engineer was hauled off to the insane asylum for a mental examination.

True enough, he was found sane, but a lot of folks around Hillsboro are probably still swearing that he is crazy; while south of there the primitive Baptist gentleman is considered sane, and "reverend."

Knows What He Wants

But none of this is any crazier than the show being put on by Clement Attlee, Aneurin Bevan and assorted characters representing the British Labor Party. A few weeks ago Brother Bevan, fondly known as "Nye" to his left-wing Laborite supporters, was declaiming against American "McCarthyism," "capitalist imperialism" and all the other "isms" that he professed to find so hateful and dangerous in American life.

Attlee, as head of the "moderate" majority faction of the Labor Party, was deploring Bevan's intemperateness but generally approving the content of his charges. And now look and wonder at the two of them—and at the whole blathering Party leadership.

There they are, over in Communist China after a perfectly enchanting experience in Soviet Russia, carrying on the sweetest love affair imaginable with the Red war lords of the Asian mainland. These are the lads who were so frightened by "McCarthyism" that they practically wanted to break off British relations with this country. Crazy? Yes, like a fox! Mixed up? Not so you can notice it. Bevan knows exactly what he wants, and he's over there doing his best to get it.

Opposition to Nehru

And is there any significance in the fact that the first Indian voice of authority to challenge Prime Minister Nehru's dreamy-eyed policy of "neutralism" for South Asia and "peaceful coexistence" with a rapaciously aggressive Communist China came last week from the best-known leader of India's Harijan caste?

Dr. B. R. Ambedkar has long been accustomed to speaking up for the rights of the downtrodden "untouchables" numbering one-sixth of the Indian population.

Now, in the absence of other outspoken voices, he has bluntly questioned the wisdom of Nehru's policy. Speaking on the floor of the Upper House of Parliament, of which he is a member, Ambedkar reminded the Prime Minister that aggression gets to be a dangerous habit—dangerous, that is, for those who stand to suffer from it. Pointing out what has happened to the "peaceful coexistence" of Tibet, Indo-China, and Korea, Dr. Ambedkar calls this policy purchasing peace "at the price of partitioning countries."

Strange, isn't it, that the first solid common sense on the subject, strongly and publicly enunciated by a political leader of stature, comes from a spokesman for the Harijan caste. Doesn't it remind you of the fact that, long before Vice-President Nixon and Adlai Stevenson and Eric Johnston took trips around the world and discovered that a lot of people didn't like us, spokesmen for Negroes, America's Harijans, were trying to talk some common sense into the policy-makers of our own government? Let us hope that the Ambedkars are more successful with Nehru than Negro leaders have thus far been with Presidents Eisenhower, Truman or Roosevelt and their advisers.

One Man's Opinion

By LEON STEWARD

A LADY OF SKILLS

This lady was born in Little Rock, Ark., but came here as an infant in 1918 and passed through the local grade schools and Jefferson High School and then was sent to Wiley College to study. She returned to Los Angeles and married.

Leon Steward

When the war broke out the lady entered Frank Wiggins School to study sheet metal work. Finishing it, she secured employment in a machine shop. She was meticulous about her hair and her associates commented on it with admiration. So she said to herself, "Just why can't I do this for others?" And that is how the story begins.

Hair Weaver

Mrs. Lessie Stevenson found a French weaver of hair in Hollywood who taught her to weave hair. She also learned buying and selling from a friend who was in the business. Soon she opened her first "Stevenson Human Hair Salon" in the Blue Room at 950 S. Central avenue.

Mrs. Stevenson

In 1948 she closed the shop and served ladies in the privacy of their homes until in October, 1953, she discovered a nice place at 1228 W. Jefferson boulevard, and gave the front room blue walls and peach ceilings. Peach is also the color of her vertical blinds. In the rear she has a workshop where her assistant operates, and another room for her patrons.

Wins Prize

A newspaper article dated Aug. 14, 1952, tells that "Mrs. Lessie Stevenson, designer and manufacturer of human hair pieces, won the national sweepstakes prize of the arts and crafts department of the National Colored Women's Clubs during the convention in Los Angeles at the Science of Mind Church."

Mrs. Stevenson says that she gives women service either in their homes or in the salon. Best of all is the fact that she is willing to train some young woman in her skills, if there is one smart enough to accept her offer.

Pure and Simple

By L. F. Palmer Jr.

I am intrigued by the fanatical attachment so many pigmented Americans have to their automobiles.

Honest - to - goodness, you'd think there was only one ultimate aim in life if you listen to a lot of people I know or if you read the society pages of a little magazine called "Jet." Certainly there must be something else in the world worth riding in beside a Cadillac.

Friend of mine honked me down the other day in his powder blue Cad. The look on his face was no more angelic than that on the face of a young wife just turned mother for the first time.

He gave me a demonstration. Power steering. Power brakes. Power windows. Power seat adjusting. Automatic headlight blinker. Radio speaker in the rear. And, get this—air conditioned, no less.

Big Letters

But most of all, written across his face in big, red, smug letters were the words, "I drive a Cadillac."

Now, I've taken a course or two in psycology. And I know that there's a reasonable explanation in the theory that, well, since slave days, Negroes have always been knocking themselves out trying to out-do their former masters.

But, for heaven's sake. You and I don't know any more about slaves than the white man. We all got our dope right out of the history books, for better or for worse.

So isn't it about time that this psychology took to the rear seat?

Salmon Pink

You read about the fabulous salmon pink Cadillac owned by some Negro boxing great. Or the chartreuse (I probably don't know how to spell it and I sure don't know what it looks like) job specially created for the swoon crooner of the moment.

And you wonder. At least I do.

Then you watch the procession of Cadillacs down your favorite street of your favorite metropolis. Pigment just seems to go with Cadillacs these days.

The story goes that the manufacturers of these fabulous autos are greatly worried about the product losing its exclusiveness because so many "culluds" are buying them now-a-days.

Tax Men

Another story has it that the income tax men in one Eastern city helped break up a numbers gang simply by checking with the Cadillac dealers and getting a list of recent sales.

And still another fable is bouncing about town that Cadillac designers are trying to outdo Nash's double-bed model by coming out with a Cad with a convertible bedroom, bath and all. This will be for the gent that has to sleep in his Caddy for lack of room-rent.

Oh, well. Maybe old grumpy is just jealous. Riding the streetcars is awfully unglamorous.

UNESCO Report Shows Progress Toward Equality

Progress made by the American Negro and other minorities toward equality in employment, education and living conditions is described in a detailed report "Racial Equality and the Law," just published by the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization in its series of books on "Race and Society."

UNESCO has also devoted the October issue of its monthly magazine, the "Courier," to a full report on the American Negro.

Tracing the history of group discrimination in the United States, Professor Morroe Berger points out that as late as 1950, minorities formed one-third of America's population. One of the largest minority groups was the 15 million Negroes, 60 per cent of whom still lived in the Southern States.

The first measures to end job discrimination were taken by the Federal Government during the depression of the 1930's. The public works, housing and industrial training programs all contained provisions prohibiting discrimination based on race, color or creed.

America's entry into World War II greatly increased the demand for labor and led directly to improvement in the Negro's working status. Under its economic mobilization program, the Federal Government issued executive orders designed to reduce discrimination in employment as a whole, in the federal civil service and finally in industries which had government defense contracts.

The Government's Committee on Fair Employment Practice handled over 10,000 complaints and settled nearly 5,000 by negotiation. By the end of 1944, the total of Negroes employed in war production had tripled and the number holding skilled jobs had doubled.

Since the war, the continued heavy demand for labor has favored the adoption of further measures to end job discrimination. New York was the first state to adopt a fair employment law (1945) and 12 states and 30 cities have since followed suit. Fair employment laws now prevail in areas that contain one-third of the total population and one-eighth of the non-whites. At the same time, trade unions, professional associations and other organizations have abolished discrimination in their own ranks against persons seeking occupational advancement.

The improvement in the Negro's general conditions may be gauged from the fact that the death rate for this group declined from 17 per 1,000 persons in 1935, to 12.6 in 1949, while the average period spent at school increased from 5.7 years to 7 years. In 1939, the average Negro worker's income was about $400 a year, or less than 40 per cent of the average wage of white workers. In 1950, the Negro worker earned an average of $1,300, or 52 per cent of the white workers' average pay.

The answer to any citizen's doubt about the job his schools are doing can be found—right in his own community. More and more neighborhoods are working out cooperative plans with their school boards and parent-teacher cooperation is widespread. How to work out these community plans for school improvement is fully explained.

One of many books on orientation for college, but especially easy to read.

Learn How to Relax—You'll Live Longer

By Roy O. Gilbert, M.D. Los Angeles Health Officer

In our era of high-tension living we have lost some of the ways of life which fed our forefathers with much of their inner strength. The old and honored custom of the Spanish siesta, long since discarded in California, is one practice that could easily be adopted by many individuals and, according to observers, its powers of relaxation are excellent indeed.

People who have learned the pleasant art of relaxing tend to be healthier and to live longer than their high-pressure neighbors. They also tend to be more efficient in their work. Edison and Napoleon were both masters in the art of relaxing, and it is recorded that Napoleon could take a catnap while on horseback during the heat of battle.

Dynamic People

The most dynamic people in the realms of science, art and the professions seem to be those who have learned to alternate their activities with surges of intense output and periods of repose, according to Dr. Morris Fishbein in a recent issue of the American Medical Association Journal.

With all the facts at hand it seems that men who pride themselves on being able to work hard all day, and still stay up half the night driving themselves mercilessly to complete unfinished tasks, are working at a low level of efficiency.

To work when fatigued is time-wasting. This is something for the homemaker to remember when she puts in a 12 to 14-hour day. When weary, the sooner one rests the less time is required to be ready again for work.

Warning Signal

Furthermore it should be kept in mind that what appears to be simple fatigue is often an early symptom of a physical ailment. Prolonged fatigue which is difficult to account for is always a warning signal to seek medical advice.

There are a few other suggestions which will aid you to relax and thereby increase your vigor, aid your digestion, decrease your irritability — and perhaps even improve your sense of humor.

1. Let your muscles go limp when relaxing.
2. Practice good posture while sitting, as well as when walking and standing.
3. Talk out your troubles with an intimate friend. This acts as a mental catharsis.
4. Face up to worry—action relieves the tensions of indecision.
5. Broaden your interests beyond your usual daily routines.

There is an old saying that a live fox is better than a dead lion. People who work hard, play hard, and live tensely should take the saying to heart and remember that the inability to relax has been called a major American disease.

So, relax—and live longer!

HANDICAPPED CENTER TACKLES JOB PROBLEM

A small group of physically handicapped people at a meeting of their Friday Evening club last January decided it was necesary to do something about the mounting problem of unemployment for members of their group.

R. R. WRIGHT III

They realized that the problem had to be brought to the attention of the general working public, and felt it would be desirable to set up a placement service for handicapped individuals.

They took their difficulty to the Rev. B. Clarence Cooke, pastor of the Greater Faith Community church, 4001 S. Harvard blvd., who immediately recognized the magnitude of the problem.

His church, following his suggestion, undertook to start a "Placement Service for the Handicapped," as one of its missionary projects. They soon found, however, that the need was greater than they had at first realized, with more than 500 physically handicapped persons of all races and creeds looking to them for help from all over California.

The project was then enlarged, with the help of Dr. Elizabeth Austin, director of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation, Los Angeles County General hospital; and William R. Freeman, local attorney, assisting. Together with an advisory council, they set up the city's first "Handicapped Placement Center."

Others associated with the group include Mrs. Ella K. Mays, Dr. Wayman G. McCoo, Atty. Martha Jefferson, Floyd Covington and Mrs. S. P. Johnson, Sr.

R. R. Wright Speaks at CME Conference

Richard R. Wright, III, young business manager of the Broadway Federal Savings and Loan Association, was one of the principal speakers at the 47th Annual California Conference of the C.M.E. Church. The conference was held Wed., Aug. 25 at the Lewis Metropolitan Church, 121 E. 29th street.

The subject that Mr. Wright spoke on was, "What Makes a Good Layman." Four major points were made on the requirements of God in the making of a good church layman: Wisdom against academic degrees; Brotherhood for all men, regardless of social status; loyalty; and a sense of values. Mr. Wright stated that material things must be second to spiritual values, if one would be a good layman. If one meets these requirements he will worship not only with praise and prayer, but with material substances as well. He summarized with, "If one meets God's requirements for a good layman, he will be an example of kindness in job, community, and church."

Tom Direaux Doing Great Training Job

Tom Direaux, former Jefferson high school all-city track and football star, is doing an outstanding job at the Trinity street playground directing its many activities.

Direaux took over the duties as director several months ago and the kids and grown-ups are taking to him like bees to honey. As popular as the big track star was during his hey day, he is finding the same popularity as head of the large eastside playground.

Direaux holds elementary school teaching credentials as well as credentials for the teaching of mentally retarded children in which he is considered a specialist.

Since he became active at Trinity his daily and weekly programs are creating tremendous interest among both children and adults. Playground activities include crafts, woodwork, clay modeling, camping, swimming and movies.

CHAMPIONSHIP—Rocky Marciano and Ezzard Charles will close down training quarters this week as both heavyweights are reported in the pink for their forthcoming world's title bout at Yankee Stadium, Wednesday night, Sept. 15. The Paramount and Orpheum theatres will show the fight direct from ringside in Yankee Stadium. The bout positively will not be shown on home TV. Charles left, will again attempt to upset the "Rock" who is as sturdy as Gibraltar.

Perry, Tittle, McElhenny and Johnson Action-Packed Friday

Coach J. Hampton Pool, just returned from San Francisco where he watched the amazing San Francisco 49ers backfield run up and down Keozar Stadium like they were performing at the Compton Relays.

Pool's observation of Buck Shaw's jet action backs leaves Hamp with the horrible thought of what to do about the foursome since the Rams will be entertaining the 49ers come Friday night, September 10 in the Memorial Coliseum.

One observer pointed out to the astute Ram coach that he could always put up traffic signals or dig manholes in the turf, but anyway you look at it Pool has trouble on his hands.

Experts are rating the 49ers backfield as the best in the business. Quarterback Y.A. Tittle not only threads the needle with passes but also runs like a deer. Hugh McElhenny, Los Angeles' favorite son, coming up for one of his greatest years as pro, looked faster than Ollie Matson. Joltin' Joe Perry, the Compton Comet, still has the savvy which made him the NFL's top ground gainer. Newcomer John Henry Johnson, our vote for the rookie of the year, has the power, speed and size to become the ball packing demon of the league.

MUST WAIT—Al McDaniels, brilliant golfer who tied with Joe Roach with score of 149, will decide who's the 1954 Vernondale titlist September 20, at Fox Hills.

Al McDaniels, Joe Roach in Title Playoff

As predicted, the Seventh Annual Amateur Open Tournament staged by the Vernondale Golf Club at Fox Hills Country Club on Sunday and Labor Day proved to be the greatest ever staged on the west coast.

Drawing entries from Detroit, Seattle, Dallas, Las Vegas, Phoenix and the entire west coast, two gala days of golf resulted. The gallery and the contestants enjoyed a full weekend.

End In Ties

Both the men's and women's championship flights ended in ties. National UGA Champion Joe Roach and Cosmopolitan Invitational Champion Al McDaniels ended the two rounds of play with 149. Since the championship flight came in just before dark there could not be a play-off of this tie. The champion will be decided on Sept. 20 at Fox Hills Country Club at which time these two golfers will play 18 holes to decide the winner.

The women's championship was decided on the 20th hole where Eoline Thornton, defending champion, successfully defended her title against nation UGA champion Thelma Cowans. This win gives Mrs. Thornton the second leg on the Union Oil Leg Trophy.

Many Highlights

In addition to this thrilling climax the tournament had many other highlights. The four young junior golfers whose game proved to be sound enough to out-score quite a few of the older golfers. Billy Eckstine, the idol of many, won the second division of the guest flight.

James Roosevelt, George A. Beavers, Jr., Lee Young, Jr., and Lucius Lomax battled it out on the putting green.

Hole-In-One

James Gay, of Las Vegas, Nev., scored the only hole-in-one of the tournament when his four iron shot from the 8th tee nestled up against the pin and dropped into the cup.

The highlight of the entertainment following the trophy award dinner was the singing of "The Golf Course Blues" by Maggie Hathaway and the ensemble.

The Vernondale Golf Club has apologized to Mrs. Gladys Ricks, president of the Leisure Hour Golf Club, of Portland, Ore., winner of the Women's C Flight. Due to an error on the scoring sheets which was corrected after the awarding of the trophies, Mrs. Ricks did not receive her winner's trophy until the following morning.

Portwigs Entertain Distinguished Visitors

The patio garden of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Portwig provided a delightful setting for a luncheon last Wednesday honoring Mr. and Mrs. James Diggs of Chicago. Professor and Mrs. Paul Moore of West Virginia and Dr. and Mrs. Leroy Weekes, just returning from Switzerland where the doctor was guest speaker to an international medical convention.

Professor Moore is a member of the Pasadena family but he has been making his home in Virginia where he's been teaching for a number of years.

Other distinguished visitors included Judge and Mrs. Fred (Duke) Slater, of Chicago; Dr. Hattie Warner, Atlanta, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. Dan Bowles; Mrs. Daisy Williams, of St. Louis, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. George Royal, New York City; Miss Anna Harrels, Pittsburgh, Penn.; Miss Frankie Bond, Boston, Mass.; Mrs. Walter Gordon of Berkeley; Mrs. W. Bill Smallwood
ON THE DELIGHTFUL SIDE

St. Loo's Della Smiley who was due at the Watkins for a four day visit decided against the trip at the last minute. She was bringing her daughter Micki but her medico mate thumbs-downed the whole idea with our local polio scare. The Leo Drapers eastbound any minute now. Due: Dorothea Towles. The Bill Grahams returned to N.Y. Hazel Sharper back on the coast.

Here: Leavenworth's looted Dr. and Mrs. Melvin Gray visiting his brother and wife, the Leonard Grays. Mrs. Bernestine Moore of Minneapolis visiting Mrs. Lucille Henderson. Wilmer James had a champagne-touched birthday. Gladys (used to live here) Turner in Paris briefly. Ethel Sissle buying N.Y. real estate. Jo Cooper on Harlem YWCA staff now.

Betty Vaughn understandably much relieved. Her mother recovered from a heart attack back east. Tony Hill homeward bound the long way. Evelyn Bond Pride and her sister Frankie hit the highway east Friday. Evelyn sublet her apt. here so doubtless that means she may return to stay later, after all. She's in mad love with Calif. life.

Philly's Minnie Lewis flew home Sunday night. She balled awhile. Wesley Brazier and Joseph Walker went via highway to the Urban League national meet at Pittsburgh, Pa. After attending the Delta Sigma Theta meet (N.Y.) Maurine Perkinson went down to Balto., then made a visit to her alma mater, Cheyney State Teachers' College. She finished there in '27.

Mil Blount due in from N.Y. next week. Smart picture: Ruby Terry dinner-hostessing a visiting friend the other p.m. at the Captain's Table.

Dr. H. H. Towles lost his brother. Bobby Brewington lost his mother. Downright handsome pair: Carol Height and her intensely devoted Philip Leake. They look like crisp young models out of some glossy magazine. By now they're about used to being stared at, so contagious is their attractiveness.

Dr. and Mrs. L. L. Holloman joined the Leimert Park set. And their pool is a 27-foot number. Acacia trees line their drive, what's more. Kingston, Jamaica's terribly wealthy Mrs. Triff Manahan flew in Sunday night for a few weeks of Calif. leisure. She's one of the island's top-drawer business women. She's visiting Louise Cooper and Byron Edwards.

As you heard, Perry Howard was five last week. Fifty other kids saw it through valiantly, happily. Later, assorted parents and I-was-five-once onlookers filled the spacious Howard place. Elliott Carpenter sat blissfully at the baby grand, playing and singing in his flawless French. At that hour Betty and Wayne's champagne flowed in pink sparkles and we were happy. Ah, yes.

Darn clever: Mae Myers' impulsive ability to sing Calypso-style thumbnail comments on chums as they listen, party-wise! Walt Weeden showed up for the Vernondale hoedown, his special made golf clubs intact. Had an Oakland element at his side, her face a copper mask, lovely and inscrutable. We met her over the rim of a nightcap at La Caribe. She told us Bill Chase up SF way went to work for Ebony. Then she went right on looking inscrutable. Last glance at Walt he was just looking.

COOL DEBUTEERS — Four officers of the popular Sir Debuteers take a night out on the town to announce the club's forthcoming Autumn Frolic to be held at the Elks Auditorium, Oct. 16. Dr. D. Overstreet Gray Concludes Five Week Trip

Dr. D. Overstreet Gray,, popular young dentist, just completed a five week tour of the midwest and the east, and has now returned home with many interesting observations.

A general survey of dental conditions, Gray stated, brought out the fact that on the west coast gum infections are slightly more prevelant than in the midwest and east. Other than this particular situation, dental treatment and problems are basically the some throughout the country.

Dr. Gray also was able to observe labor conditions on his trip. In many of the larger midwestern and northwestern cities, people had been out of work from periods of four weeks to six months, due to changeover of industries, closing of some industries and other changing labor conditions.

Especially noted in the midwest was a great improvement in the integration of races. Segregation appeared to be disappearing in such cities as Oklahoma, Washington, and St. Louis. However, despite the rapid improvement of conditions, many of the residents are looking forward to making California their home. Dr. Gray visited Detroit, St. Louis, Atlantic City and New York City before returning home.

RETURNS TO CITY—Dapper Dr. D. Overstreet Gray recently concluded a cross-country tour of the various eastern and mid-western cities observing dental conditions and attending the medical convention in Washington, D.C.

Growing children should consume three fourths to a quart of milk a day. Milk is considered by dietetic consultants to be the best source of the properties for growth that is produced by nature. Therefore to have the basic growing food, milk should be used in some form in the diet of every growing person. And we must consider that growth also includes the replacement of tissue in the body which is constantly being used to keep the individual healthy and happy.

Butterfat, found in whole milk, in cream or butter, is known to be Nature's most valuable fat, for it contains fat soluble vitamin necessary for growth and good health.

Seven Types of Food

Cheese and especially cottage cheese is a valuable form of milk products which will help the homemaker furnish her family with a balanced diet.

There are seven basic groups of foods: Some of each group should be eaten each day. They are: the green and yellow vegetables, citrus fruits, tomatoes and salad greens, milk and dairy products, meat, poultry, fish and eggs, bread and cereals, butter, and other vegetables and fruits.

The green and yellow vegetables include asparagus, beet greens, broccoli, Brussels sprouts, cabbage, chard, chicory, dandelion greens, peppers, peas, lettuce, parsley, beans, spinach, watercress and turnip greens, carrots, squash, sweet potatoes, wax beans, yellow turnips or rutabagas, pumpkin and yams.

Citrus Fruits

Citrus fruits include tomatoes, oranges, grapefruits, limes, lemons, tangerines, and their juices. Salad greens include cabbage, chicory, lettuces, green and red peppers, parsley, dandelion and other greens such as beet tops, spinach, green onion.

Milk and dairy products include dry, condensed and evaporated and whole or skim milk products, buttermilk, cream, the varied cheeses and ice cream.

Meat classification also takes in the meat substitutes. Everyone is familiar with the beef, pork, lamb, mutton, veal, rabbit, chicken, turkey, fish routine. Bologna and the luncheon meat products are bought regularly. The by-products like the heart, liver, brains or tripe are included in the meat classification. Meat substitutes are: kidney, lima and navy beans, blackeye and split peas, eggs, peanut butter, nuts and soybeans.

Breads and Cereals

Enriched and wholewheat bread are preferred over white bread, pumpernickel, rye and cracked wheat breads. Rolls and crackers, corn bread. Rice is placed in the cereal classification for it may be used for breakfast along with hominy grits, cornmeal mush and oatmeal. Brown rice has more vitamins than white rice. Whole wheat and barley are excellent for a hot breakfast cereal.

Butter and vitamin enriched margarine used for seasoning or spread.

Other vegetables or fruits which should be included in the daily diet are: celery, parsnips, corn, eggplant, cucumbers, onions, mushrooms, potatoes, cauliflower, the squash family, apples, avocados, apricots, bananas, cherries, melons, peaches, grapes, raisins, pears, pineapple, rhubarb and plumbs.

Some item from each of these seven classification should be eaten every day to furnish the elements of nutrition necessary for good health.

Eye Appeal

Eye appeal of foods offered the family tempts the appetite and clean cheerful surroundings for dining make for added enjoyment of the most simply prepared meal. The next time a picture of foods makes your mouth water, stop and think how the meals you serve your family compare in color and taste appeal. A bit of thought and care will transform hash into party food. You and your family are as important as the most famous invited guest.

What have you planned for an after-school snack for the youngsters? A glass of milk, sandwiches or cookies. Fresh fruits or scrubbed carrots and celery hearts will not affect the appetite for dinner and will give the growing bodies a needed lift. A large glass of fruit juice without added sugar brings quick energy to both old and young.

If you were a child, wouldn't your heart sing if you came home from school and found a snack, colorful and tasty, prepared just for you? Remember you are the guardian of your child's health, both physically and mentally.

Bridge Pointers

By 'KENNY' SCOTT

Sometimes trump suits are hard to manage when they are divided four and four betweeen declarer and dummy. This is especially true when the opposing trumps are divded four and one. Nevertheless, it is almost always possible to take more tricks when trumps are divided this way and the partnership has a longer suit which is divided perhaps five and three or even six and three, than to have the suit long in one hand as the trump suit. The following hand is a good example.

S. Qxxxx
H. 109xx
D. A9x
C. 9

S. J8x — S. K109x
H. J654 W E H. K
D. 4 — D. Jxx
C. KQJ42 — C. xxxxxx

S.
S. A
H. AQ87
D. KQ10xxx
C. A10

The contract is six hearts and the opening lead is the king of clubs. Declarer prepares to make a double finesse in the heart suit and enters dummy by ruffing a club. He leads the ten of hearts and wins the trick with his ace as East's singleton king falls.

Key Play

Declarer now makes the key play of the hand. He enters dummy on the ace of diamonds and leads another heart. When East shows out he plays low. If West does not take his jack now, declarer leads the last heart from dummy and plays his queen. He then plays his diamonds and the only trick West can take is the jack of hearts.

This current engagement to-of leading his queen after taking his ace West will get two heart tricks no matter what South does. If South leads another heart he would also get two club tricks.

Safety Play

This just entails a simple safety play. But even at the Nationals where this was played, many missed the correct play. Many others played in six diamonds which can be made more easily but which gives less score than six hearts.

For a clue that the hearts may be divided badly there is the singleton in dummy and the singleton in declarer's hand. This should be a warning that the other suits are also freakishly divided.

MIDNIGHTERS & TODD RHODES' BAND AT SAVOY

Stan Kenton Band at Shrine Sept. 17

DOROTHY DONEGAN — The darling doll of the 88s, breezed into town for a run at the Morocco. If ex-hubby J. T. McClain is smart, he'll put her name on the license and she won't be dashing about the country so madly. It is our guess she still loves the guy!

JO BROOKS — West coast publicist is searching for a backer for her new musical find, Helen Curry!

BOYD PICKETT — The saleman is said to be on his way out as a lush salesman. His poor showing over a four-year period was so bad the company planned to forget about Negro salesmen until the Urban League stepped in!

FATBOY COLLINS — The Main Street Motel baron just back from the Shriner's convention says Atlantic City is the playground of the world and he just about played himself into madness!

PAT PATTERSON — Suave and dapper manager of Cosmo had better check his friend's using the freshly painted bistro for the Olympic Auditorium with his ofay gal friends. Such incidents make with the Fifth Street version and the money spenders head for other spots!

DR. GRADY ORANGE — The husky voiced medic's three great weaknesses are his lovely wife, daughter and young son. They get top billing anywhere!

BILLY ECKSTINE—The swoon-crooner guested on Larry Finley's Strictly Informal TV show last Sunday and gave out with his latest wax, "You Leave Me Breathlessly," and pretty Carolyn Drake who was tableside while he sang was just about breathlessly!

PAMELA DRAKE — a coffee-brownskin with interesting curves may come to the attention of a Hollywood talent scout. She's just that pretty!

ELIHU McGEE — Is busy trying to close a deal to give his long lost love a night club. If the deal jells he plans to give Alyce Key and Stuff Crouch a part!

LABOR DAY — The domestic casualties ran high in the upper bracket society set over the three-day holiday. One doctor and his young attractive nurse met with an accident. Wifie followed them to S.F. A big time westside bookmaker placed the wrong bet for a social lovely and when she won he had to pawn wifie's mink. A slick westside chick is threatening to go to the police if that guy fails to make good that package of Calumet.

BOB HANNIBAL — And his pretty wife Jane are having a ball down Mexico way. They have been the guests of Ed Jones of the fabulous Jones brothers of Chicago.

PEGGY ARMSTRONG—Slipped in and out of town. Friends didn't have a chance to see the looted and well liked San Franciscan!

BILL GRAHAM — The noted New York executive's attractive wife boasts she sold him on living out west. We don't care who sold whom. We are glad to have them both!

BETTY FEARONCE — Is Dr. Nate Fearonce's shapely niece visiting from Philadelphia and getting rave notices from the wolves. Slick Dr. is directing her attention to the oil and cattle boys!

YOUR SUPPORT — Our committee to get rid of twenty-five tickets for the California Eagle Night at the Ebony Showcase, currently running the "Moon Is Blue," includes: Betty Howard, Tony Atkinson, Ouida Williams, Mabel Coleman, Jean Sewell, Dorothy Rowland, Sally McDade, Alyce Key, Emma Adams, Marie Cole, Mary Woodyard, Lulu Bendy, Camille Cannady, Aileen Kaiser, Edith Kemp, L'Tanya Griffin, Leontyne King, Elizabeth McGee, Nadine Knight, Kathrine Stone, Frankie Price, Betti Milton, Mae Meyers and Rommel Bagnerise.

TOWN TAVERN — Ex-footballer Eddie Atkinson is getting rave notices for his 50-yard line bus service to the L.A. Rams football games. The bus leaves his plush bistro just before game time.

ROUTE 66 — Those out-of-town meetings involving a well-known stage, screen, radio and TV star and a well-known innkeeper are drawing the attention of neighbors!

ROBERTA PORTER — One of Bay Area's most fashionable young women, will display her flair for fashion in a show staged Sunday eve at the smart San Francisco's Club Tivoli!

DOROTHY GRAY — Winsome and lovely wifie of Wardell, the musician who toots a real nervous horn, just returned from an eight week trip in the east. She claimed the night club circuit is the most!

THELMA WASHINGTON—The blond and sexy Chicago lass operates the smoothest sip-parlor in the Windy City. Her 518 bar and grill is mecca for show folks.

SAMMY DAVIS — Mister Show Business is the rage in Detroit and the peasants love him because he's unlike most big names. When he hits the Motor City he heads straight for the Gotham Hotel for its good brownskin service.

ANGELL DE LAVALLADE—Ex-L.A. beauty completely upset the plush society set in Chicago when she strolled into a party on the arms of a handsome Jamaica judge!

TIMMIE ROGERS' new comic routine is a throw-back to the minstrel days and his show is falling flat in a not too ritzy Detroit night spot!

PHILIP LIEBMAN — Youthful Rheingold Brewing Company president is tossing cocktails for G. G. Penland, newest member to join the staff of Rheingold's Public Relations staff. Thursday afternoon in the Magnolia Room of the Chasens Restaurant out Beverly Hills way!

ALMA WASHINGTON — Is that attractive cashier operating at the busy Boys Market out Rodeo Road way. Her efficient manner in which she handles the daily mob could be the reason why the market will have more of the talented brownskin service!

GLEN SCOBEY WARNER, nicknamed "S.B." became a good 'POP' Tuesday when he "checked out." Mourned by none . . . this old 'fister' was so prejudiced he refused to have black pepper at football training tables, use black boards during skull practises, or schedule any night games. Here's hoping he is now resting in White Heat!!!!

Alicia Markova, 'Ballet' Beauty, In Finale Sat.

Alicia Markova, considered the world's greatest classic ballerina, will appear at the Greek Theatre in Los Angeles for two special evenings of ballet on Wednesday, September 8th and Saturday, September 11. The engagement extends the Greek Theatre's 1954 summer season, which was originally scheduled to close with performances of Martyn Green in "The Mikado," running through Sunday, September 5.

International Favorite

Miss Markova, who is coming direct to Los Angeles from London for her appearances, will be partnered by brilliant French dancer Milorad Miskovitch, in his first visit to the West Coast. Music will be furnished by a full symphony orchestra under the baton of noted ballet conductor Robert Zeller of New York City.

Highly Recognized

The famed ballerina received rare tribute during an engagement at the Palais de Chaillot in Paris last April, where the audience of the sold-out house consisted of most of the major ballet companies of the world. It is doubtful if so many distinguished dancers have ever gathered together to pay homage to one great ballerina, who has created a legend in her own lifetime.

"Mikado" Returns

Greek Theater officials have just announced that the Gilbert and Sullivan comic opera, "The Mikado," starring Martyn Green will be held over for two extra performances on Thursday, October 9 and Friday, October 10 due to popular demand.

The entire round trip will be expense-free for the lucky Thrifty winner.

Three RCA Estate gas ranges are also included in the Silver Jubilee prizes at Thrifty Drug Stores. These deluxe ranges feature a Bar-B-Kewer oven, covered Grid-all, and complete automatic cooking.

The next three Thrifty Drug Store prize winners will receive Speed Queen automatic washers. One of the most compact automatic washers on the market, the Speed Queen rinses dirt and sediment from the machine continuously during the operating cycle.

DON'T CUT IN

"The practice of cutting-in, an accepted custom in dancing, is outlawed and despised in traffic," declared Capt. R. Gautsche, commanding officer of West Los Angeles Area California Highway Patrol unit.

Joe Martinez Assists 'Prexy' For Rheingold

Mr. Joseph L. Martinez has been appointed Assistant to the President of Rheingold Brewing Company of Los Angeles, and its parent organization, Liebmann Breweries, Inc., of New York, it was announced today by Philip Liebmann, President of Rheingold Brewing Company.

Significant Addition

The appointment is effective immediately.

Mr. Martinez was formerly Attorney General for the State of New Mexico from 1948 to 1952 and has been engaged in private law practice in Albuquerque since 1946. A native New Mexican, born in Quay County, N.M., he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Florencio Martinez.

Highly Qualified

A graduate of the University of New Mexico, he won his law degree from the National Law School in Washington, D.C.

Married and the father of two children, Mr. Martinez will make his home in Los Angeles.

Inter-Racial Policy

Philip Liebman informed the California Eagle that: "In an all out effort to give the good people of your great state the finest of Beer I am likewise anxious to engage several worthwhile representatives of the community for assistance.

Proficient persons, such as Joseph L. Martinez and your own Gertrude Gipson Penland are excellent examples."

Letter To The Editor

To the Editor:

It has come to our attention that occasionally an individual seeks to use advertising facilities for the promotion of technics alleged to be of value in cancer diagnosis or treatment, with an attempt to exploit the prestige of the American Cancer Society or of the California Medical Association by referring to these organizations in some manner. Such references are usually so phrased as to be misleading but not legally actionable.

As you know, there are no real cures for cancer except surgery, or radiotherapy, that is x-rays and radium. Nor is there, at this time, a proved universal screening test that will detect cancer in all sites at any stage of the disease, although there are, of course, many valuable diagnostic tests which assist physicians in diagnosing cancer.

Representing the American Cancer Society, California Division, and the Cancer Commission of the California Medical Association, we are greatly concerned lest worried individuals be exploited for purely commercial purposes by those who would promote alleged cancer tests and cures. Therefore, we would like to ask your cooperation in refraining from carrying any such advertising which uses the name of the American Cancer Society or of the California Medical Association, or which seeks to imply any connection between these organizations and such tests or cures. More often than not the full and official name of either organization is not used.

I am sure that you are as concerned about this problem as we are, and that you will cooperate with us to protect your readers from this type of exploitation.

FUND DIRECTOR

NEW YORK — Hollis F. Price, president of LeMoyne College, Memphis, Tenn., has been appointed director of fundraising for the United Negro College Fund, it was announced this week by W. J. Trent, Jr., executive director of the Fund.

TALLADEGA COLLEGE

Talladega College begins its 88th academic year Monday, Sept. 20, with students enrolled from 28 states, the Canal Zone, District of Columbia, Africa and Korea.

MAMBO MAYHEM — Ex-lightweight champ Lauro Salas, who switched from the ring to stage following his defeat by Jimmy Carter for the world title several months ago, picked up the gloves again. Salas will meet Alex Fimbres in the 10-round feature event at the Olympic and pretty starlet Mary Lamar assured the boxer she'll be rooting for him.

CISCO ANDRADE—National ranking lightweight, stopped off at Santa Ana College to help promote the international football game between the Dons and Instituto Politecnico of Mexico City in the Coliseum Thursday night, Sept. 16. Andrade finds it hard to choose as he holds helmets over two college coeds, Rose Marie Garcia, left, freshman, and Martie Musick, game hostess and daughter of ex-Trojan Sheriff Jim Musick.

Sifford, Roach, and Cowan Win Dallas UGA Golf Honors

DALLAS, Texas — Defending UGA champions, Charlie Sifford, Philadelphia pro, and amateur Joe Roach, of St. Louis, negotiated this city's beautiful and difficult Cedar Crest Golf Course last week to retain the top positions as PGA champions in their respective divisions.

In the women's department, two-time winner, Miss Thelma Cowan, Los Angeles shot-maker, came through to capture the tournament and to retire the women's three-leg UGA trophy. All winners in the five divisions of the tournament won championship trophies donated by the Coca-Cola Company, Atlanta, Ga., while Mrs. Parris Brown, Washington, D.C., assistant tournament director, received a commendation trophy from Coca Cola for her efforts in promoting golf among women.

Thomas Weston of Chicago won the senior men's division by defeating M. A. Cary, Detroit, and the junior boys' title went to a Baltimore high school lad, 16-year-old Gordon Chavis, who turned in an exceptionally sharp piece of golf.

Mrs. Ann Gregary, Gary, was unable to defend her women's championship due to a leg injury sustained recently. In taking the top money, the cigar-smoking Sifford toured the tough links in one under par for the 72 holes.

Persons from such distant points as Los Angeles and New York City hailed this 28th annual UGA tournament as the best that the golf association has put on. Incidentally, this was the first national tourney that UGA has held in a southern city. Dr. Ken Brown, UGA president, who comes from Washington, D.C., and all leaders of the association were high in their commendations to Dallas public links officials and staff and the Dallas-Hilliard Golf Association.

Every day 620 Americans die of cancer, American Cancer Society statistics show.

Southern Born Actress Says Baseball Has Helped Race

NEW YORK. — Tallulah Bankhead, the fiery Southern actress, said this week that the entrance of Negro players into baseball has improved race relations considerably.

Writing in the current issue of Look Magazine, Miss Bankhead says that Negro players, with their superb grace, speed and reflexes, have boosted the caliber of major league ball.

"And baseball has done something for the Negroes too," Miss Bankhead points out in "Look." "If nothing else, it has unbigoted some bigots!"

As far as Miss Bankhead, a rabid Giants rooter, is concerned, the amazing Willie Mays is already as great as Babe Ruth. Willie is the difference, she says, between last year's Giants, which finished 35 games behind the Dodgers, and this year's club, which is idriving to the pennant.

And why shouldn't Willie be great, Miss Bankhead asks in her "Look" article? "He has a tradition to live up to. It's the Alabama tradition.

"I was brought up in Jasper, 30 miles from Birmingham. Willie was born in Fairfield, just a little south and west of Birmingham.

"The stars sort of fell on Alabama when it comes to Negro athletes," the famous actress says. "The great and ageless Satchel Paige was born in Mobile, Monty Irvin is from Columbia; Joe Louis was from Lexington; and Jesse Owens, the great runner who upset Hitler's "Master Race" theories, was from Danville."

Five Arrested for Forgery, Narcotics

ing officers K. C. Soderman and M. E. Buckner were: blank checks from the Coburn Roof Co., 833 N. La Brea avenue, Inglewood, along with other blank checks from Adams Bros., 3986 N. Mission road, a checkwriter, a typewriter and cigarets apparently filled with marijuana.

Acting on a tip, police first went to the Ceres address where they found Scott and Ikner. Ikner reportedly told them: "I know all about this paper and Jones' checkwriter, too, but you won't find my name on any of that paper. They might have used my Cad for passing, but not when I was along."

Owned Cadillac

Ikner owned a '51 two-tone blue Cadillac which had been identified as the car used by some of the members of the gang when they were passing the forged checks.

Scott was said to have admitted: "Well, you got me cold. That handwriting don't lie. I passed and signed about 14 checks from the Coburn Co., using Jones' checkwriter. The first check I made up, Jones typed the face of the check on his typewriter and wrote the amount up on his machine.

When the officers proceeded to the home of James Lee Jones, they were met by Mattie Lee. There they found the checkwriter, typewriter and Coburn blank checks.

Marijuana

On the kitchen table they also found 52 brown paper cigarets and a sack partly filled with loose green leafy substance, resembling marijuana.

Shortly after the police arrived, James Jones and Alonzo Jones entered the house. Both were placed under arrest. Jones said, police reported: "I let people use the writer for $10, but I didn't sign any checks. The girl was rolling up the pot (marijuana cigarets) for me."

But Mattie Lee said she "didn't have any idea that that pot was there," and added "I ain't passing no checks."

Alonzo Jones also wasn't admitting anything. "I was here, but I don't know nothing about that pot, and I ain't messed with no paper either," he reportedly told police.

All five were taken to the station and booked on narcotics and forgery charges.

Insurance Man Tries Suicide

It was there that he met 26-year-old Yoko Nishijima, daughter of one of the managing directors of the powerful Mitsui Company, steamship owners and importers, one of the three top combines in Japan.

Fired from Job

Roy served in the Air Force for three years. He said that he was fired after arrival of a new commanding general.

Basis of the discharge, he said, was that a lengthy investigation had turned up the fact that he had failed to mention in his application an arrest 17 years ago in Texas for failure to complete an auto payment.

He said he arrived in Japan in 1950 during the occupation when a passport was not needed. He did not have a birth certificate with him, and after marrying Miss Nishijima, he had returned to the United States to establish his American citizenship. He finally obtained a birth certificate showing he was born in Anaconda, Mont., Dec. 3, 1903, but he was refused a visa to return to Japan.

In Tokyo, his bride was likewise refused a visa to enter the United States.

Father of Six Hurt on Job Is Denied Damages

A South Los Angeles worker, Odus Herron, of 10342 Gorman avenue, injured June 6, 1951, and still incapacitated, lost his suit for $50,000 in damages against his employers, Pacific Electric Railway Co., last week when he appeared in Superior Court here without a jury.

When the court, after taking the matter under advisement for several days, gave oral notice that he would deny judgment for the plaintiff, Odus Herrin, Atty. Edwin Hardwick gave notice he would appeal the decision.

Herrin, who is the father of six minor children, at the time of his injury was employed by the defendants cleaning diesel parts at the company's Torrance plant. He claims he sustained spinal and other major injuries.

Many Negroes Attending USC, 'Crisis' Reports

NEW YORK—A total of 46,343 Negro students was enrolled in U.S. colleges and universities during the 1953-54 academic year, it is reported in the current issue of the "Crisis," official publication of the NAACP.

Of these students, 44,621 attended predominantly Negro colleges, while 1,722 attended racially mixed institutions.

The largest enrollment of Negro students in a mixed college was recorded at Ohio State University in Columbus, O., with 835 Negro students. The Uuniversity of Southern California in Los Angeles was next with 318 Negroes enrolled.

The "Crisis" article notes that the figures cited are not complete, partly because "more and more of the racially mixed schools have given up the practice of keeping records by race."

During the academic year 6,139 Negro students graduated from U.S. colleges and universities—226 more than was reported in the special education issue of the "Crisis" last year.

Auto Crash Suit Settled Out of Court

All concerned in the nasty automobile collision last July 4, at the intersection of 110th and Stanford avenue, in which all of the occupants of two automobiles sustained injuries resulting in a lawsuit, have settled their legal differences out of court.

This fact was revealed when attorneys representing the law firm of Miller, Maddox and Sheats decided to close the matter last week. Atty. Loren Miller represented the interests of Isaac Dillard, his wife and their two passengers, Violet Simms and Robert Boiesley, in the action filed against Salas Valles, driver of the other car. The Dillards live at 232 E. 138th street.

Difficult Job to Explain Away Sackful of Mail

Joe Lee Banks, 35, this week was having a hard time trying to explain away a pouch filled with mail which just happened to be in his room at 161 W. 40th place last Friday afternoon.

Making his job a little more complicated was the fact that police also noted a stolen 1939 automobile outside his house.

University detectives learned that Banks had served five years for robbery in Leavenworth prison. They turned him over to postal authorities on a mail theft charge.

Man Surprised As Police Find Naughty Weed

"Gee, I've been living here only a month. I don't know anything about those cigarettes you found."

That's what George Ernest Shepherd, 28, of 962 E. 41st place, told narcotic agents Friday after they searched his room.

The search brought to light seven white paper cigarettes containing a green, leafy substance singularly resembling marijuana under a newspaper liner in the waste-basket.

The officers were skeptical. They decided to take him into custody. A teletype message brought out the additional fact that he was wanted by the sheriff's office for violation of probation.

Guests also included Wilbur Wilson and Clarence Richardson.

Mail Carrier From Evanston Visits Daughter

Elton Joseph Harding, mail carrier from Evanston, Ill. who retired after pounding the pavements for 25 years, is in Los Angeles this month visiting his daughter, Mrs. William M. Powers, of 2535 11th avenue.

Harding has been enjoying a month's stay with the Powers and their children, William, Bruce and little Judy who is just six. Another son, Benjamin, is with the Air Force in Texas.

This is Harding's second visit to the coast. He has enjoyed his stay in Los Angeles, but has a hankering to get back home to his wife, his other children and his 10 other grandchildren.

In Evanston, where he has resided for 50 years since he came north from his native Fayette, Miss., he lives at 1833 Hartrey avenue.

LET'S TALK SENSE ABOUT OUR SCHOOLS
By Paul Woodring

In the controversy over progressive education and other points in the public schools, many citizens eager to find out just how good our schools are have become confused. In a clear examination of our school system, Dr. Woodring finds that many aspects of the "new education" which developed in the wake of John Dewey's theories have become inacceptible to the majority of the public. His suggestions for changes to strengthen public education are cogent and penetrating. For the citizen who desires to become informed on a vital problem.

Few Incidents Mar Peaceful School Change

There were no rivers of blood in the nation's capital this week—not even a trickle—as the city's children for the first time in history went to the schools nearest their homes without regard to race or color.

Teachers and administrative staffs likewise were integrated.

Despite the South's dire warnings of inevitable and terrible strife, the first day of school in Washington, D.C. passed without a ripple of unpleasantness. Policemen assigned to each school, "just in case," spent the day peacefully directing traffic.

Pickets in West Virginia

Elsewhere in the border states across the country thousands of children likewise attended mixed sessions for the first time. In most cases the change-over was without incident.

In a few places, however, notably in White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., white children, backed by their parents, loudly protested the admission of Negroes into their schools. At White Sulphur Springs, the high school's 430 students went on strike and paraded through the streets of the town, demanding that 23 Negro students be sent back to the Bolling High school in Lewisburg.

During the day white parents crowded into the office of County School Superintendent D. D. Harrah. State police cruised around the city to preserve order.

Gracious Hosts

Later the Board of Education bowed to the pressure and sent the Negroes back to the all-Negro school.

In the majority of schools, however, the children seemed aware that the nation's attention was focused upon them and showed an eager desire to prove they could be relied upon.

At Fayetteville, Ark., when five Negroes registered for classes at the former all-white city high school, a delegation of white teen-agers took it upon themselves to show their new classmates their way around and make them feel at home. Fayetteville was the first high school district in the State to end segregation.

In Delaware, West Virginia, Missouri, parts of Maryland, Arizona, New Mexico and Kansas, and in scattered cities and towns in other states, school districts elected to proceed with integration or partial integration at the opening of the present term, without waiting for

Fireman Laughs At Alderson's Fears

When Chief John H. Alderson sets out to conduct his "investigation" to "prove" that integration in the city's Fire Department just won't work, he'd better omit San Diego from his itinerary.

A white fireman from the city near the border told the Eagle this week: "Sure, we have a Negro in our station. Trouble? No, there's no trouble.

That Was It

"Some of the fellows made a few remarks when they learned the Negroes on the force were going to be sent to all the stations—before that all the Negroes had been at station No. 19. But that's all. They're fine—easy to get along with. Just like anyone else.

"We just learned one day that new assignments had been made, and that was all there was to it.

"Eating and sleeping together? Sure we do. There's five in the unit. The lieutenant has a separate room and the four of us have our bunks along the walls in the larger room.

"Each of us takes our turn at cooking and as for eating,

Integration Aids Fire Fighting In Pittsburgh

The efficiency of the Pittsburgh Fire Department and its flexibility showed a marked improvement following the integration of Negroes into formerly "white" stations in January of this year.

Authority for this statement is an individual who is in a position to know—George W. Culberson, administrator of the Pittsburgh Fire Department.

In a letter to Mayor Norris Poulson dated July 29, Culberson advised:

Negroes Over Whites

"On January 11, 1954, segregation was completely eliminated by administrative order of the superintendent. The two all-Negro companies were broken up and the majority of these men were shifted to new squad companies in all sections of the city. Thus, we had for the first time Negro captains over mixed crews, etc.

"There may have been a few disgruntled individuals among both the Negro and white firemen but nothing came to official attention of the superintendent. Newspaper men canvassed the situation about a month after the change and found that integration was working smoothly.

Efficiency Increased

"There is now much greater flexibility in making work assignments and the efficiency of the force has been increased."

The letter stated further that prior to 1952 Pittsburgh, like Los Angeles, maintained two all-Negro fire stations, with no Negroes in any other stations. At that time a policy was instituted whereby assignments of Negroes were made in pairs to two other stations, with one man relieving the other.

The men were accepted in the stations to which they were assigned, Culberson stated.

Early this year the Pitts-

Rev. J. Glover Files Complaint Against Bishop

Dr. Jesse L. Glover, pastor of St. Matthew's Temple of the A.M.E. church, 5th avenue and Jefferson blvd., last week filed charges formally accusing Bishop D. Ormond Walker of persecution.

Listed in the charges are the claims that Bishop Walker has moved the Rev. Glover from three churches and that there are reports he now plans to remove him from his present pulpit.

The rift was entirely unexpected, since the Rev. Glover has been regarded as an ardent supporter of the Bishop.

Through his counsel, Dr. W. M. Hall, of the A.M.E. General Council, Dr. Glover, able, popular and highly successful minister, complained that he had long suffered a series of injustices at the hands of his superior, Bishop Walker.

In the formal notarized complaint, Dr. Glover is named as the petitioner, and Dr. Walker as the "respondent." The facts in the case will be heard and acted upon when the General Council meets in February.

Jury to Weigh Shumate $100,000 Suit for Libel

Atty. Spencer Testifies for Mrs. Shumate

The knotty question of "when is a newspaper not a newspaper" proved to be the key issue this week in the sensational trial of the $100,000 damage suit Mrs. Ikalina Savoy Shumate has filed against the Johnson pint-sized publication, "Jet."

The case was expected to go to the jury Thursday.

Mrs. Shumate in her suit charged that an article appearing in the weekly Aug. 27, 1953, under the title "Are Women Changing Our Sex Morals," referred to her inferentially but unmistakably, and that this article was born of evil motive and of malice, and that it was wilfully, wickedly and wrongfully designed to cause her injury and disgrace.

Rheingold Hires Negro Workers

The Rheingold Brewing Co., known for its excellent racial policy in New York, this week hired Miss Muriel Wallace as a clerk-typist in its local office. This action followed almost immediately the employment of Mrs. Gertrude G. Penland on its public relations staff.

Philip Liebman, president of the company and a member of the national Board of Directors of the Urban League, has given assurances that the company will hire its local employes on a basis of ability and not on a basis of race.

A thief who snatched five $100 rings from a jewelry counter at 4525 S. Central avenue Tuesday eluded a hastily formed net of police officers armed with tear gas and riot guns thrown up around a nearby apartment house where he was reported hiding.

Police abandoned their search after a painstaking inspection of the attic and 20 apartments of the structure at 1127 E. 47th street.

The ring snatcher was pursued to the house by Mike Solender, 25, jewelry salesman, and James Scott, 52, another salesman at the store. Solender said the man grabbed up a tray of rings and ran, after pretending to be interested in buying a wedding ring.

Loren Miller Given Ovation for Speech To Urban League

(Special to the Eagle)

PITTSBURGH—The approximately 1100 delegates from 62 cities attending the 44th annual conference of the National Urban League here last week rose as one man and applauded thunderously as Loren Miller, publisher of the California Eagle, authority on housing, delivered a ringing challenge for fighting action to bring to an end all racial segregation in housing.

The deafening tribute was interrupted momentarily by President Robert W. Dowling, who proposed that Miller be co-opted immediately to the League's board.

Unanimous Approval

The delegates and visitors heard the proposal, then indicated their unanimous approval by renewing their applause for the man who had stirred them to their depths.

Miller's speech, moreover, caused the League to adopt the policy he advocated—calling on the Federal Housing Administration to see to it that all who received FHA aid are not permitted to discriminate.

Leveling his main attack against segregation policies directly attributable to the Federal Housing Authority, Miller outlined a four-point program.

Full speech of Loren Miller at Urban League conference will be found on page 2.

"These tasks are far more formidable than their mere recitation might make them sound," he continued. "They will be impossible of accomplishment unless the complacency with which residential segregation is accepted by most Americans is shattered.

Deeply Rooted

"That complacency will not yield easily. Residential segregation is rooted in custom and tradition. It is bulwarked behind indifference. It is propped up by popular prejudice. It is made to seem attractive by precept and example. It is shored up and renewed by the very separate institutionalism it breeds.

"We must replace that complacency toward, and support for, residential segregation with a new faith that it is contrary to the letter and spirit of our laws and institutions. That faith must become a fighting faith, a creed for action, a code to live by . . .

"We must not be deterred or delayed by the little men, and the selfish men, and the evil men, and the unseeing men who do not know, and who will not understand, that the bright promise of full equality under the law cannot be realized for

Defense Trips Star Witness In Murder Trial

"I told you if you tried to leave me, I would kill you."

Mrs. Odessa Parks, standing over the unconscious form of her husband, Hilliard Parks Green, made this statement minutes after she shot him last May 23, the state's star witness, Miss Blanche Lee Valentine, testified Tuesday as the sensational murder trial got under way.

Dead silence filled the court as the harsh and damaging testimony was presented.

Mrs. Parks, the witness continued, had called her to help her drag her husband into the house after the shooting. Together, she stated, they had pulled him from the lawn where he had fallen, fatally wounded, into the living room.

Dramatic Cross-Examination

The previous day, Miss Valentine continued relentlessly. Mrs. Parks had visited her and complained about Green, saying that if he came home and started making a "mess" she would kill him.

The state has accused Mrs. Parks of murder, but has not asked the death penalty.

The case, at this point, looked unpromising for the attractive young woman, 35, a crack markswoman on the police

Officer Hears Death Shot Over 'Phone

"Hold the phone." Mrs. Margaret High, 36, of 6406 Compton avenue, told Sheriff's Deputy B. B. Meenk last Sunday noon.

As he waited he heard something that sounded like a scuffle, then a shot. Then there was silence.

A few moments later he heard the woman at the other end of the line saying: "I've just killed my husband."

Dead In Street

Herbert Davis Stevenson, 41, lay dead in the middle of the street, three bullet wounds in his head.

Mrs. High, who works at the Pacific Wire Works in Compton, later told police that she had been living with Stevenson off and on for one year and that he beat her frequently.

On Labor Day he beat her so badly, she said, she had to go to a doctor for medical treatment. She had locked Stevenson out of the house, she continued, but early Sunday he came back begging her to let him come in and get his clothes, and promising not to hurt her.

She let him in. A little later he returned and began drinking with her brother-in-law, Major Saul, 751 E. 107th street, who was visiting her.

Belligerent

Mrs. High said she then tried to leave the house with her sister, Johnnie Mae Saul, but that Stevenson belligerently tried to stop them. They finally made their get-away and jumped into Mrs. High's car, but Stevenson, she claimed, quickly got into another car and tried to run them into the curb.

They managed to make their escape and reported Stevenson to the police. The police allegedly told her they did not have sufficient evidence to arrest Stevenson, but that if he both-

Fortune Smiles On Man Who Sought Suicide

Fortune smiled this week on John Whitman Roy, former state supervisor for the Supreme Liberty Life Insurance Co., who last week made three unsuccessful attempts to commit suicide because of his forced separation from his beautiful young Japanese bride.

He was released as sane Friday from the Psychiatric Ward of General hospital where he had been held after he was picked up by police as he walked, dripping wet and apparently dazed and confused on the ocean front in Santa Monica.

He learned immediately of offers of assistance to help him obtain a visa so he can get into Japan and a job when he arrives. The offers of help came from relatives of his wife, who are connected with the powerful Mitsui Steamship Co. of Japan, and other well-placed Japanese friends.

Roy, who was born in Anaconda, Mont., in 1903, received an M.A. degree in Business Administration in 1926, from the University of Pittsburgh, and is a member of Omega Phi Psi fraternity. Publicist, administrator and insurance man, he met and married lovely Yoko Nishijima while he was serving as a civilian employee of the Air Force in Japan.

Visa difficulties intervened and Roy was stranded in the United States while his wife was stranded in Tokyo. His inability to break through the official red tape and join his bride reportedly led to his suicide attempts.

force, as her attorney, Earl C. Broady, rose to cross-examine the witness.

Dramatically he presented Miss Valentine with a transcript of the testimony she had made at the preliminary hearing into the shooting. He asked her to read back what she had said then. At that time she had stated that all Mrs. Parks had said to her on the fateful afternoon was "Please help me. Please help me get him into the house."

Rapid-Fire Thrusts

Then with rapid-fire thrusts, Broady asked her if in addition to everything else that Mrs. Parks had told her, she had mentioned that her husband had burned her on her breasts with a lighted cigaret.

"No," replied the witness.

"Did she tell you that Mr. Green had beaten her many times over the years?"

"No," was the reply.

"Did she tell you he had recently given her a black eye?"

"No," said the witness once more.

"Did she tell you how Mr. Green wanted her to take all her money and buy him a new car?"

Again Miss Valentine replied "No."

Intoxicated

Another witness, Police Officer J. L. Estes, testified that he had given Mrs. Parks a sobriety test an hour after he had arrived at her home, and that at that time the alcohol content in her blood registered .28.

Health authorities state that a person with a content of .30 would be in a coma.

Dramatic as were the statements of the witnesses, a matching drama was unfolding in the tightly filled courtroom. There sitting close to the accused woman was her mother, Mrs. Ritchie.

Also in the courtroom were the relatives of the slain man, the handsome athlete, well known in local social circles. Among them were his brothers, George and Carl Green, and his sister, Mrs. Sarah Green Hicks.

Both Mrs. Parks and her husband were students at Jefferson High School, where they met and fell in love.

Mrs. Parks, a coordinator of the Deputy Auxiliary Police at Newton Street Station, shot her husband as he was leaving their home, 2325 Tenth avenue, preparing to drive away in his automobile.

Miss Valentine is her next door neighbor.

The prosecution continued to present evidence Wednesday afternoon. At press time, Broady had not yet started to unlimber his defense.

Educator Predicts End of Segregation in 25 Years

One of the most brilliant educators and scholars of the day, Dr. Rufus E. Clement, president of Atlanta University, was guest speaker at the Pacific Town Club last Thursday evening, where he told of many of his experiences, especially in the South, with relation to the recent Supreme Court decision abolishing segregation in education.

Said Dr. Clement, in his opening remarks, "Atlanta is a very good city, outside of Herman Talmadge. I think Los Angeles is a very good city, also. If I should ever move away from Atlanta, I would move to Los Angeles."

Continuing his discourse, Dr. Clement said that most of the people who are ready to stand up and fight did not leave the South. Things would not have happened as they are happening, he observed, if everyone had left.

Dr. Clement cited the changing stature of the Negro as the basic reason for the changing situation. "Without a doubt," said he, "our changing stature has greatly influenced our changing status.

"I predict that 25 years from now there will not remain, in America, anywhere, a single law supporting segregation. This, however, doesn't mean that everybody will love everybody. That isn't true anywhere. In the South, as well as the nation as a whole, we have to recognize that the population is fluid. But I am confident that things will change more rapidly than any of us anticipate," he stated.

Good Sign

"A good sign," continued the educator, "is the fact that people, generally, are beginning to know what their rights are, and the South is beginning to recognize what these rights are."

Speaking of the integration of people in the South, as well as in all other parts of the nation, Dr. Clement said, "this whole thing, whether we like it or not, is going to work out, because we are going to make it work."

Dr. Rufus E. Clement is the son of the late Bishop George Clement of the A.M.E. Zion Church and the late Mrs. Emma C. Clement, 1946 American Mother.

Case Tests Responsibility Of Relatives

Must a son who was abandoned by his father at the age of six, 30 years later be forced to pay the state and county for his father's old age pension?

The County Welfare authorities say "yes," and as a result Howard Johnson, 36, the son, of 3908 S. La Salle avenue, has through his attorney, Richard Richards, candidate for State Senator, brought the case to court in a constitutionality test of the entire Responsible Relatives Clause.

Johnson won the first round in San Bernardino when Deputy County counsels offered to settle out of court for $230, compared to the original assessment of $2,850. This was refused by Johnson since he contended he was not liable for his father's old age pension.

Attorney Richards, following the offer, said he would test the state law's constitutionality.

Johnson sums up his stand like this: "My father deserted his wife and eight children 30 years ago. Ten years afterwards, my mother died and we children wrote to my father in California about our desperate circumstances. He never answered. Then in 1950 I was notified by the Welfare Department in San Bernardino that I was responsible in part for my father's support and that on a retroactive basis my liability amounted to $35 a month, totaling $2,850."

The case is being sponsored by the California Institute of Social Welfare, which urges a "yes" vote on Proposition 4 "Aid to Needy Aged."

Firemen Laugh At L.A. Set-Up well, we just sit down at the table and eat."

Breezy Shrug

Of special interest to the reporter was the breezy and casual way with which the firefighter shrugged off the idea of complications arising from integration and the sly digs he took at the Los Angeles set-up.

"We laugh," he said, "when we come up here and see the men crowding all over the engines when the Negro units go out on a call. There are so many of them they just get in each other's way.

"Send me a copy of the paper, will you? he requested. "We've been discussing the Los Angeles situation at our union. The fellows down there are interested in what's happening."

The only criticism the fireman had of his Negro coworkers was that they weren't very active in the union. It's doubtful, however, if this type of criticism will be of much help to Chief Alderson in his last-ditch fight to hang on to segregation in the Los Angeles Fire Department.

Equality for One Is Equality for All, Miller Tells League

(The following speech was made by Loren Miller, publisher of the California Eagle, before the National Urban League conference in Pittsburgh last week.)

It is good to be in Pittsburgh to discuss the housing problems of the Negro with those of you who are attending this annual convention of the National Urban League. You have already heard various phases of this subject discussed by experts and I will not try to add to the sum of your technical knowledge. Indeed, I could not.

Critical

Rather, I want to consider these problems from the standpoint of the layman who must necessarily be concerned with the practical consequences that flow from popular notions about Negro occupancy of real property, from long-standing practices of builders and from governmental activity in this field.

If I am somewhat critical I hope you will understand that my criticism is a reflection of the attitude of the Negro who simply wants to buy or rent a home on the same terms as other Americans and who is restive because he cannot do so. Under the circumstances, he is apt to be a little less detached and impersonal than those who are less intimately involved. After all, I suppose that the guinea pig rarely takes the same view of the laboratory experiment as the scientist who performs it.

Out of such a critical consideration I hope to advance some concrete suggestions that will merit your serious consideration.

Lying at the root of the Negro's housing problems are his restriction to certain defined urban areas and his exclusion from other metropolitan neighborhoods.

Proved Costly

The effect of these restrictive and exclusionary practices is to differentiate his housing problems from those that confront other Americans of a comparable economic status. However—and fittingly enough—the problems thus bred for the Negro tend to compound and complicate the difficulties that beset other city dwellers.

In some instances, plans for slum clearance and urban redevelopment have foundered because of the impossibility of relocating Negro families in order to clear the slums. City planning has been thwarted because it could not be cut to the pattern of segregated living. Here, as elsewhere, racial segregation has proved costly both to its victims and to those who fancy that they profit from it.

Quite apart from the fact that the concentration of Negroes in defined areas and the concentrated efforts to keep them there have retarded or prevented formulation of sound housing policies, the pursuit of these practices has created a series of interlocked and intertwined social, political and economic problems that have had important repercussions, and adverse effects, in all phases of American life.

Creates Black Belt

This concentration has fostered a separate institutionalism that is well nigh impregnable to legal attack. The public school located in the Black Belt is a school for Negro children. In the ordinary case, it is headed by a Negro principal, staffed by Negro teachers and has its proper complement of Negro clerks and caretakers. It is a Negro school, in fact if not in name, and its separate character is often ironically underscored by naming it for a famous Negro. Its boundaries often expand as the Negro community expands. No state statute, no judicial decree, no constitutional command can change its character as long as the neighborhood remains segregated.

Parks and playgrounds, public libraries and swimming pools, police precincts and fire stations, relief depots and health clinics follow the same pattern. Similar public institutions in "white" neighborhoods reflect the color, or lack of it, of their communities.

Semi-public institutions such as the church and the settlement house, the YMCA and the YWCA, the political club and the PTA inevitably take on the racial characteristics of the neighborhood in which they function. A Boy Scout or Girl Scout troop in a Negro area is a Negro unit. There is an increasing tendency to try to exclude the Negro business man from the "white" neighborhood.

I do not need to multiply these examples.

Shapes Thinking

The urban neighborhood shapes the habits of thinking and acting of its inhabitants. A community peopled by persons of a particular group encourages stereotyped thinking about "other people" who live beyond its boundaries. It creates aloofness, even hostility, between its group and other groups. It seems to justify the easy rationalization that a particular section of a city belongs to members of the group that inhabit it, and that they are justified in trying to exclude members of other groups.

The short of the matter is that racial residential segregation is the chief divisive force in urban life.

All-Pervasive

The attitude thus fostered by the segregated neighborhood and nurtured by the separate institutionalism it spawns is all-pervasive.

Business men and legislators, housing administrators and educators, borrowers and lenders, home seekers and home builders—all who are perforce concerned with the problem of urban housing must reckon with the reality of residential segregation, a reckoning certain to be colored by the fact that they too have had to accommodate themselves, willingly or unwillingly, to that reality and that the process of accommodation has influenced their own attitudes.

It is no matter for marvel that all too many Americans who are concerned with the problem of providing shelter for the Negro regard racial residential segregation with complacency. Albert Cole, administrator of the Housing and Home Finance Agency, has aptly epitomized this complex of attitudes and ways of acting as a "blockade of custom and code" and "unjustified economic fears" that deny "the Negro family . . . access to good homes and good neighborhoods."

Legal Restrictions

Fortunately for us all, substantial progress has been made in removing direct state sanction and support for residential segregation.

As long ago as 1917, the Supreme Court invalidated racial zoning laws and ordinances; it bolstered that stand by refusing to review a Court of Appeals decision to the same effect in 1950.

In 1948 the Court interdicted judicial enforcement of race restrictive covenants and in 1953 it held that white signers of such covenants could not be held liable in damages for sales of restricted property to Negroes. In June, 1954, it refused to review a California decision holding that racial segregation in public housing denies equal protection of law to Negroes.

Federal Housing Administration changed its regulations in 1949 to forbid future recordation of racial covenants on land where FHA loan insurance for home construction was sought. A number of cities and states have proscribed segregation in public or publicly aided housing.

Greater Concentration

Despite this impressive list of judicial decisions and legislative and administrative actions, it is a sobering fact that the degree of concentration of Negroes in our cities is greater than it was in 1917, greater than it was in 1948, greater than it was in 1950, greater than it was in 1953 and that that trend is unchecked at the moment.

As Frank Horne, race relations advisor of the Housing and Home Finance Agency, puts it, "the prevailing pattern is that of a central city, with rapidly increasing and spreading residency by racial minorities, ringed by expanding, relatively new all-white suburban areas."

FHA-Inspired

The most important single factor in increasing concentration of Negroes in the centers of our cities is the phenomenal increase in construction of suburban homes stimulated by FHA-insured loans to builders and subdividers. In the extreme cases, great new cities such as the Levittowns in the East and Lakewood in the West have arisen.

White middle class and working class families have found new homes in these suburban developments. Negroes, barred from these suburbs, have taken over the housing vacated by whites. The net result is that Negroes now occupy better housing than they did a decade ago and that the Black Belts have expanded. Our ghettoes are better places to live in; they are still ghettoes, studiously preserved by the policies of lending institutions and builders.

Nation-Wide

Let me remind you that residential segregation is not a sectional phenomenon. It is as acute in the North and West as in the South, in some cases more acute. The geographical distribution of litigation involving segregation in housing illustrates the nation-wide character of the problem.

Racial zoning ordinance litigation reached the Supreme Court from Louisville, New Orleans and Birmingham.

The restrictive covenant cases involved property in Washington, D. C., St. Louis and Detroit. Attempts to collect damages for the sale of race restrictive property to Negroes were made in Oklahoma City, Los Angeles, Kansas City and Detroit.

Litigation over segregation in public housing has arisen in San Francisco, Evansville, Ind., Camden, N. J., and Savannah, Ga. Violence has erupted to halt Negro occupancy in Chicago, Atlanta, Los Angeles, Dallas, Birmingham and Miami.

Discrimination in the sale or rental of housing built with FHA-insured funds is as rigid in California, Pennsylvania, Illinois or New York as it is in the deep South.

Separate-but-Equal

It will be profitable to spend a few minutes reviewing the widespread character and rigidity of this pattern of residential segregation. We cannot undo the past but by understanding it we may be better able to plan for the future.

You will recall that the city-ward migration of the Negro began after the tragedy of Reconstruction had fixed his social status as that of an inferior.

The separate-but-equal doctrine was formalized in 1896 and as the Negro migration to the cities burgeoned at the turn of the century the nation had accepted, and rationalized, the noxious proposition that the Constitution tolerated racial segregation.

Huddled Together

As other strangers had done before, and have done since, the Negro strangers in the cities huddled together out of fear and for self-protection. They found themselves hemmed in by judicial enforcement of racial covenants.

The first race restriction case reached a State court of last resort in 1915 and for three long decades, from 1915 to 1948, every State Supreme Court—19 of them—which considered the question, held that such agreements were enforcible by the courts. The Supreme Court, in effect, made the same determination in 1926.

Americans tend to regard as morally right that which is said to be constitutional and by 1948 most Americans firmly believed that residential segregation comported with the Christian ethic and was consonant with the equalitarian spirit of the Constitution.

Shunted Off

Inevitably, Negroes were shunted into the less desirable sections of the cities as segregation increased in degree and intensity. Many of these sections were areas of declining value and overcrowding and neglect by municipal authorities accentuated the decline. Cause and effect became confused, and are still confused, in the public mind. The belief still persists that Negro occupancy lowers property values.

City planners gave a boost to residential segregation with their theories of the single-purpose community. Their ideal was the homogenous neighborhood, peopled by residents with the same general economic, social and political outlook and belonging to the same general economic category.

It was easy enough to jump to the conclusion that Negroes would destroy the homogeneity of the neighborhood and that hence their presence would be incompatible with sound city planning.

Ideas Still Dominant

These beliefs in the essential morality of segregation, in the adverse effects of Negro occupancy and of the desirability of the homogeneous neighborhood are still dominant.

The Levitts and the lesser Levitts who build our peripheral cities and who construct our suburban developments follow exclusionary policies partially out of their own subscription to these beliefs and partially out of a fierce determination to cater to those who do.

Every housing development constructed for whites and which excludes Negroes tends to confirm beliefs cultivated by three decades of unconstitutional judicial enforcement of racial covenants, by the half-century-old practices of lending institutions and builders and by blind subservience to outgrown dogmas of city planning.

Crowning Blow

The crowning blow came when the Federal government—at the very time its destinies were being guided by the most ardent believers in the beneficense of the welfare state—threw its weight behind racial residential segregation.

Public housing was first built on a frankly segregated basis. Later, the Federal public housing agency adopted its present indefensible policy of leaving to the municipalities the question of whether or not they would require racial segregation in public housing built with public funds.

In many cities, slum clearance authorities cleared out areas of mixed occupancy and segregation was instituted by the fiat of government itself. As you know, we have secured a series of court decisions forbidding segregation in public housing and I am confident that the Supreme Court will agree with the holdings of lower Federal and state courts on this issue.

Government Sanction

The evil of government sanction and support of segregation in public housing was compounded a thousand times over by the policy established by FHA in 1934.

For 15 years, from 1934 to 1949, FHA openly encouraged racial covenants. In its earlier years it furnished a model covenant for builders and blandly refused to insure loans where a Negro sought to build outside of what it determined was the "Negro" neighborhood.

FHA spread race restrictive covenants from one end of this nation to the other—in the name of sound business practices! More than that, worse than that, FHA policy encouraged and cultivated the belief that government support of residential segregation was morally defensible and consistent with the democratic way of life.

Its old Manual declared that a neighborhood should be evaluated as "less stable and desirable" if the "children of people" residing there "are compelled to attend school where the majority or a goodly number of pupils represent . . . an incompatible racial element."

Utter Failure

Of course, FHA communicated its attitude to the builders, lending institutions and home buyers who were already conditioned to accept it.

Under the circumstances it could not, and did not, offer any substantial assistance to Negro home seekers who as citizens had a right to expect that it would serve them as it did other Americans.

The measure of its utter failure can be gauged from the cold statistics which show that less than 50,000 of the more than 2,761,000 units built with the aid of FHA-insured funds from 1940 to 1950 were open to Negro occupancy.

Much to Be Desired

The 1949 change in FHA regulations leaves much to be desired. The new regulations simply provide that FHA insurance will not be extended to builders unless such builders covenant that no race striction has been recorded against the land after February 15, 1950, and that none will be recorded during the life of the loan.

Discrimination in sales or rentals are not proscribed. Such discrimination has continued, as you well know. Negro veterans have been denied, and are still being denied, the preferences prescribed by law.

All of us must welcome the statment by President Eisenhower that "administrative policies . . . of the several housing agencies" will be strengthened "in order to assure equal opportunity for all our citizens to acquire . . . good and well-located homes."

Government's Duty

In an apparent implementation of that policy, FHA has launched an educational campaign to persuade builders to provide homes open to Negroes as purchasers or renters. We can hope that such a campaign will bear fruit but government does not discharge the full measure of its duty when it only seeks to persuade recipients of its aid and assistance to do what they ought to be enjoined to do.

Builders should be required to covenant with FHA that they will not discriminate in sales or rentals of units built with the aid of FHA-insured loans.

Government has the same right and power and duty to exact such a covenant as it has to require that those holding government contracts shall not discriminate in employing or upgrading of workmen.

"This is no suggestion that government say that 'if building is not carried out for minorities no building will be permitted.' It is a suggestion that government require that all dwellings constructed with the aid of FHA-insured loans shall be open to all Americans."

Stand on Constitution

There is an excellent possibility that discriminatory practices of builders and subdividers can be cured by judicial decree. The NAACP has filed such a suit in California. Others will be filed.

In this litigation we will stand on the simple constitutional proposition that those securing FHA loan insurance must make the consequent housing available to all citizens without discrimination as to race and that FHA cannot, consistent with constitutional provisions, insure loans for housing construction unless such housing is available to all citizens on equal terms.

It would be infinitely better

NAACP Meet Set for Friday

The regular monthly meeting of the Los Angeles branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People will be held Friday evening, Sept. 17, at 8 o'clock at Mt. Moriah Baptist Church, 4155 McKinley avenue, of which Rev. E. A. Pleasant is pastor.

Pres. Dr. E. I. Robinson announced that a full report on the latest developments in the "Fire Department Case" will be made at this meeting.

Negro Proposed For Pasadena School Post

A strong drive is being made in Pasadena to have a Negro appointed to the School Board.

A vacancy has been created there by the recent resignation of Dr. Ray Untereiner, president of the Board, as a result of his appointment by Gov. Knight to the Public Utilities Commission.

At the Board meeting Tuesday afternoon, Atty. Charles B. Johnson, president of the NAACP, and others proposed for consideration the names of Dr. I. B. English and Dr. Adolphus R. Traylor.

Both men are well known in the community and fully equipped to serve effectively on the School Board. Their selection would give representation to the large number of minorities in Pasadena whose problems are not now directly reflected in the city's leading educational body.

further directives from the U.S. Supreme Court.

South Still the South

In the deep South, however, the rule was segregation as usual. Georgia, Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana and South Carolina were rigidly resisting change. Mississippi and Alabama were busy rushing through legislation designed to close all public schools rather than permit integration. And Georgia's Gov. Herman Talmadge continued to thunder about the blood that was sure to flow if Negro and white youngsters were permitted to attend the same classes.

A belated attempt in Washington, D.C. to stem the School Board's integration plan failed last Thursday when the U.S. District Court refused to intervene. U.S. Judge Henry A. Schweinhaut denied a plea by the Federation of Citizens' Association, an all-white group, for a temporary restraining order.

Court Has Spoken

Judge Schweinhaut declared: "The Supreme Court has held that there can't be segregation in the District of Columbia. That, so far as this court is concerned, is the end of the matter." The District's assistant corporation counsel, Milton D. Korman, opposing the injunction, said that "utter chaos" would result if desegregation were stopped now by court order.

Integration in the former segregated areas resulted from the historic May 17 decision of the U.S. Supreme Court outlawing the long held separate-but-equal doctrine.

Directly affected by the decision were the children in 17 states and the District of Columbia, involving more than 40 per cent of the nation's school enrollment — 8,200,000 white and 2,530,000 Negro children, and 400,000 teachers.

The decision, however, did not set a deadline for compliance nor did it rule on methods of integration. These matters will be discussed by the Supreme Court when it convenes in October.

Negro Hater Georgia Winner

ATLANTA.—Lt. Gov. Marvin Griffin, as outspoken an advocate of white supremacy as Gov. Herman Talmadge himself, won a landslide victory Tuesday in his race for Democratic nomination for governor.

Griffin won 300 of the state's 410 county unit votes, which in one-party Georgia, means he was elected.

After a short rest, the governor-nominee plans to stump the state for a constitutional amendment outlawing public schools.

burgh FEPC entered into discussions of the situation with Fire Superintendent Stephen P. Adley.

Indefensible

The FEPC contended that it was indefensible to consider any station a traditional assignment for firemen on the basis of race, to assign Negroes to "Negro" stations on the theory they preferred it or would receive "better" training, to limit advancement to posts available in Negro stations, and to assign Negroes in pairs.

Supt. Adley concurred in the FEPC findings and verified the fact that on the basis of experience there was no reason to continue these practices. Segregation was therefore ended in the department.

Judge Reduces Murder Rap to Manslaughter

A murder charge against a man who knifed another man to death on E. 5th street Aug. 28 was reduced to manslaughter following the preliminary hearing last Friday before Judge Joseph Marchetti.

Jessie Lynn, 1504 E. 33rd street, told the court that the victim, Charles Campbell, sneaked up on him from behind, then hit him over the head with a beer bottle.

Out On Bond

Lynn's attorney, Theodore Schaffer, stated that when the case comes up before Judge Harold C. Schweitzer on Sept. 24, he will make a motion for dismissal on the grounds that there is insufficient evidence against his client.

Lynn, meanwhile, is out of jail on $2,000 bond, an unusually low figure in a case involving a killing.

The knifing occurred about 10 o'clock Friday evening, Aug. 27. Lynn claimed he went to the Red Heart cafe on Waller street, to see his half brother, and that he had not been drinking.

Asked For Hand-Out

Campbell, he stated, approached him and asked him for a quarter, and when he refused, became abusive. Willie Jackson Jr., 441 Meller street, who was in the Red Heart at the time, told the court that after Lynn had refused to give Campbell a hand-out, Campbell, drunk and cursing, remarked: "He doesn't know who he's messing with." Campbell had a knife in his hand at the time, Jackson stated.

A short time afterward, Campbell, staggering, lunged at Lynn. Campbell's wife then reportedly got into the act and hit Lynn with her shoe.

Lynn decided that it was advisable to leave, but he told the court he was afraid Campbell's friends might gang up on him, and to defend himself against possible attack, he opened his pocketknife.

As he crossed the street going to his car, he heard Campbell approaching. After he was hit with the beer bottle, he turned on his assailant, he stated, and stabbed him.

Mississippi Starts War On NAACP

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — Efforts to run the NAACP out of the State of Mississippi were reported here this week by Mrs. Ruby Hurley, the association's Southeast regional secretary.

She said her office has received numerous complaints from NAACP branches in Mississippi describing threatening visits and telephone calls by white persons.

Cause of the lawless threats was laid by Mrs. Hurley to the recent Supreme Court decision banning segregated public schools and to increased interest among Negroes in voting.

"Although our people are terribly annoyed, they are not frightened as they might have been a few years ago," she observed.

Gov. Knight, Randolph to Share NAACP Platform

Gov. Goodwin J. Knight will share the platform with A. Philip Randolph at Sunday afternoon's Freedom Rally of the Pasadena NAACP being held at the Pasadena Civic auditorium, at 3:30 p.m. Sept. 19.

Gov. Knight, according to Atty. Charles B. Johnson, president of the Pasadena branch, has assured him that he will be present.

MAIN SPEAKER—A. Philip Randolph, labor leader and lecturer, will be principal speaker at NAACP's Freedom Rally in Pasadena Sunday afternoon.

Randolph, president of the International Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, one of the nation's top labor leaders, and a noted lecturer, will be the principal speaker at the meeting.

The Victory Baptist Young People's Choir and their celebrated "Voices of Victory" will provide music for the program. The choir, composed of 55 voices of young men and women ranging in age from 17 to 24, is directed by Clifton Moseley.

Man Goes To Trial for Killing Wife

O. T. Copeland, 35, went on trial Tuesday, Sept. 14, for the slaying of his estranged wife, Mrs. Beatrice Copeland, 30, 1703 E. 123rd street.

Copeland, who lived in Alameda, came to Los Angeles to try and effect a reconciliation with his wife. He tried unsuccessfully to reach her a number of times. Early on the morning of June 12, he went to her home which she shared with her sister, Mrs. Lula Mae Tatum, and went into his wife's bedroom. She ordered him out, whereupon he reportedly took a small pen knife and cut her in the neck.

A vein was severed and Mrs. Copeland bled to death before help came.

Copeland left the house apparently with the intention of giving himself up, but changed his mind.

Sheriff's deputies were tipped off as to his whereabouts and went to pick him up. When they arrived Copeland tried to commit suicide by slashing himself about the face and throat.

He was arrested and booked for murder. Copeland is being represented by Atty. William Esterman.

First Test Set On Civil Rights Law in Oregon

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 9.—Denial of service to a Nigerian exchange student at an Athena, Ore., restaurant has caused the first legal action under this state's year-old civil rights law.

The Portland branch of the NAACP has notified the restaurant owner that a law suit will be filed against him for his refusal to serve G. Ibom of Nigeria last June. Ibom has been attending the University of Oregon in Eugene.

Your Vote Will Decide

Registration has ended and those who didn't get their names on the voter's rolls can't cast their ballots in November. Unfortunately, there are too many Negroes in that category.

The job now is to get those who are registered to vote in the general election. On the basis of past performance it is safe to predict that only a fraction of the eligibles will vote. Again, Negroes err heavily in that direction. Year after year the Negro communities show a smaller percentage of registered voters casting their ballots than is the case in other communities.

A part of the blame for that state of affairs rests with Negroes and another share of the blame belongs to the candidates. We don't do nearly enough to make voting a primary responsibility. And if candidates don't offer programs that promise solution for the problems facing the voter he is apt to stay at home. He sees no sense in deciding between tweedle-dum or tweedle-dee. He wants a choice.

The community has a two-fold responsibility. First, it should encourage voting for everybody and secondly it should try to force the candidates to stand up and be counted on issues. If they believe in civil rights they should say so and if they don't they should say that, too. Then the voter can make up his own mind and vote for the man who comes closest to his philosophy.

The November elections are critical. They will determine who our governor and state officials will be for the next four years. They will determine who our senator will be for six years and who will represent us in the House for the next two years. Those periods will be fateful for us all. If you're registered, make up your mind now to vote in November and make up your mind to encourage your neighbor to cast his ballot.

No Sense In Waiting

The die-hard character of the opposition to the end of segregation in some quarters is illustrated by the attempt to secure an injunction against integration in Washington and by the election of Talmadge's stooge in the Georgia election.

Contrasted with this kind of opposition is the fact that a few southern schools did open their doors to Negroes. In the cases where that happened there were no untoward incidents or flare-ups.

In the vast majority of states the school authorities did nothing one way or another. The Jim Crow schools opened their doors to Negro children; the white schools remained white.

The do-nothing policy was the inevitable outcome of the refusal of the Supreme Court to spell out the decree for the desegragation of schools. It will frame that decree some time this year after it has heard arguments on the issue.

Of course, the southern states will argue for an attenuated plan that will leave the old order unchanged as long as possible. They hope that by delaying the end of segregation they will be able to invent evasive practices that will leave their old practices unchanged.

It seems to us that there should be no delay in the exercise of a constitutional right—and the court has said that the right to attend an unsegregated school is a right guaranteed by the provisions of the Fourteenth Amendment. Delay can only heighten opposition and give the bigots the courage for further resistance. Negroes have been waiting for equality in schools ever since the ratification of the Amendment, some 85 years ago, and it is time that its guarantees were put into effect.

Open The Doors, Now

It seems to us that the National Urban League has taken a correct stand in calling on Federal Housing Administration to require that all builders and subdividers who get FHA loan insurance covenant with it that they will not discriminate in the sale or rental of resulting housing.

The specious excuse advanced by Albert Cole, Housing Administrator, that "you cannot legislate acceptance of an idea" is unsound and outworn doctrine. The same thing is always said whenever there is a proposal for a judicial interpretation or a statute that will protect and safeguard civil rights.

We remember very well when it was argued that Fair Employment statutes wouldn't work because "you cannot legislate acceptance of an idea." Experience is otherwise. Fair Employment laws have worked and have insured Negroes a far wider chance at available jobs. The South right now is working itself up into a frenzy with the argument that the Supreme Court order for desegregation won't work because it, too, is an attempt to enforce a code of conduct. The same argument was made in reference to the White Primary, in the Race Restrictive Covenant cases and in the graduate and professional school cases. There, too, experience belies the prophets of doom. These decrees have achieved the end for which they were designed.

FHA's connivance with builders and subdividers has resulted in the exclusion of the Negro from the new housing market. Right here in Los Angeles we have seen the evil results of that policy. New development after development has been built and Negroes have been turned down as often as these developments opened their doors.

The practical result of this policy has been to lay a heavy financial burden on the entire Negro community. Negroes haven't been able to take advantage of the low down-payments and easy interest rates available to FHA purchasers. Instead they have been required to make larger down payments and to pay higher interest rates for old housing. In other words, Negroes have had to pay for the privilege of being discriminated against.

The Urban League's concurrence in the movement to require equality of treatment for all citizens at the hands of builders who get FHA insured loans lines that organization up with the NAACP, the CIO and every other group that has taken a realistic look at governmental activity in housing.

Here at the Eagle we take some pride in the fact that Publisher Loren Miller has been one of the chief exponents of that policy and that it was his speech at the convention that sparked the League's action.

We hope that the League will throw its full resources squarely behind its new policy. Its 64 branches throughout the country can play a large part in creating the kind of public opinion that will move FHA into action.

We need not be discouraged at Mr. Cole's adamant attitude as expressed at the same League conference. He is a public servant and his intransigence will disappear before an organized public opinion.

Unless we rid the nation of the ghetto pattern in housing we won't get desegregation in public schools or in other public institutions. These institutions will remain segregated as long as their neighborhoods hew to the current pattern of residential segregation. America must rid itself of segregation if it is to take the path to complete democracy. And now is the time for it to set its foot on that path.

Battleaxe and Bread

By Lester B. Granger

PITTSBURGH — Here at the annual conference of the National Urban League delegates are talking, and will talk for many weeks to come, about two great speeches delivered during the first three days of conference deliberations.

One was by Major General Arthur G. Trudeau, chief of Army Intelligence and former commanding general of the 7th Army Division during the Korean fighting. The other speech was by Atty. Loren Miller of Los Angeles, who more than any other one person was responsible for the Supreme Court decisions voiding any judicial enforcement of restrictive housing covenants.

Lester Granger

Eloquent

Loren Miller's speech was a great one—profound, eloquent and lucid. This was to be expected, for the Los Angeles legal light is one of the bar's legal philosophers—and this in spite of the fact that he is still a young man with many years of further seasoning ahead of him. What took the Urban League conference by surprise — a solar plexus jolt in the delegates' emotions—was the address of General Trudeau

Here was a West Point graduate whose basic military training was in engineering and who had spent more than 30 years in the Army. His was the kind of training and experience which a few years ago would have been expected to produce a rigidly-efficient leader with enormous military and technical skill, used to administer big programs and command tight discipline.

That training could certainly not be expected to produce a sensitive social awareness of the inner needs of men and the democratic responsibilities of the American society. Yet this is exactly what was plainly revealed during General Trudeau's address, and 400 luncheon guests of the conference could hardly believe what they were hearing as they sat, leaning forward, intent upon missing not a single word.

And From a Military Man

The general talked about Democracy, spelled with a big D. He excoriated racial discrimination in all forms as a direct denial of democratic needs and rights, and he pointed out that every single American suffers from discrimination practiced against any single person. He declared that he had visited 45 countries throughout the world without the Iron Curtain, and knew beyond the possibility of any doubt that no single aspect of American life did more to diminish the faith and respect of others toward the American people than the practice of racial discrimination. All of the delegates had heard this again and again, but which of us had heard such a speech, so movingly delivered, from a military man?

Momentarily the speaker lost control of his emotions when he spoke of his racially integrated units in Korea—of the lessons in "tolerance and understanding" learned by men whose blood flows down a hillside in one common rivulet. He spoke of Haile Selassie of 20 years ago as "a dirty, tired, rumpled and discouraged little man who was walking the streets of London and getting nowhere."

Then he went on to say, "But now, that man, slight but dignified, proved during his recent trip to this country that he has captured the love and admiration of free people and stands as a shining symbol of man's determination to be free."

Angry Protest

Loren Miller's speech followed one by HHFA Administrator Albert Cole on the subject of housing. Mr. Cole's speech was skillfully prepared and made good listening. But Mr. Miller's address was the stirring protest of an angry man. He was angry over the political subtelties of 18 years which had made federal housing operations a trap for the family-and-home ambitions of Americans of darker skin.

"The FHA," he charged, "spread race restrictive covenants from one end of this country to the other—in the name of sound business practices. . . . Worse than that, FHA policy encouraged and cultivated the belief that government support of residential segregation was morally defensible and consistent with the democratic way of life."

Loren Miller put the responsibility for change where it belongs—upon laws and court decisions, yes, but even more upon every organization that is in a position to reach people and influence their ideas. It was a great speech, an effective antidote for the over-cleverness that had characterized too much previous discussion during the day on the subject of housing.

Rose As One Man

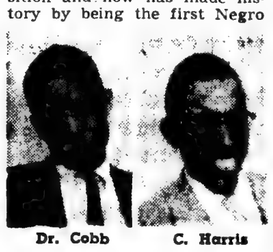
The audience responded by rising as one man and applauding for a full minute.

Perhaps the most impressive reaction, however, was registered when Robert Dowling, the National Urban League's president, jumped to his feet at the applause's end and nominated Loren Miller for board membership as a League Trustee. Then the applause really broke out.

One Man's Opinion

By LEON STEWARD

COBB'S AUTO AND HOME SUPPLIES



Los Angeles has another store which it might be very happy to patronize. It is a $40,000 auto and home supply store, representing the first Negro-owned store dealership in the history of the rubber industry.

It is owned by Dr. P. Price Cobb and his associates and it is managtd by Dr. Cobb's sons, Prince and Price. It is located at 10215 S. Central Ave.

Leon Steward

Prince and another young man were running a clothing store at the above address when Marty Rubino, territory manager of the B. F. Goodrich Co., called to suggest a franchise of his company. Prince thought the matter over and then took it to his father. The father, Dr. Cobb, eventually agreed to the proposition and now has made history by being the first Negro actually to own the store dealership from a rubber company.

Organizational Plan

The plan calls for Prince to do the buying and selling. Price is his assistant or assistant manager; Charles Harris is credit manager; Henry (Hank) Jones is service manager. The store is incorporated with Dr. Cobb as chairman of the board. The store opening days were July 22, 23, 24.

Price Cobb informed us that he had already ordered his Christmas supplies. He therefore will be quite ready for those who want to begin paying on Christmas presents early. They have a store with 32,000 sq. ft. of floor space in the display area.

They carry tubeless tires and everything you will find at any B. F. Goodrich store. Los Angeles will do well to patronize this first Negro rubber dealership ever held. You owe it to yourself and to posterity.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor:

We particularly like the serious columns and editorials and can't get enough of Mr. Miller's news on the real estate situation.

One of the greatest "equalizers" is money, so keep up the good work in trying, in a small way, to show the people how to hang on to some of it.

Why not a column on the many frauds and rackets continually worked on our people, to the detriment of economic and social progress?

Those who were cheated out of education in youth are the ones most often cheated of their particularly hard earned money now.

F.H.A. Backs Segregation

for all concerned if these principles could be established without resort to the coercive process of the courts and without the expense and delay of litigation.

Other Hardships

This is only a bare outline of the problems that plague the Negro home seeker because of his race. I have not had time to discuss the financial hardships that face him because he must buy or rent in a protected seller's market where interest rates and rents tend to be higher than the general average. The long-term burdens thus imposed by these added costs are important factors in family life and stability.

The exclusion of the Negro from the new-housing market has far-reaching consequences for him, both because of the financial disadvantages entailed and because those who buy second-hand homes inherit the second-hand facilities that go with such communities.

The financial and social problems that accrue because the Negro must buy in a seller's market in used-home areas can be solved only by his admission, on terms of equality, to the new-housing market.

End Result

In quick summary, then, the concentration of Negroes in defined urban areas is the end result of the complex action and interaction of ancient but still vital racial prejudices, of the practices of builders and lenders, and of the failure, or worse, of government to exert its power to assure that equality of opportunity and treatment commanded by the Constitution.

No single blast from the horn of any individual Joshua will cause these walls to come tumbling down.

Voluntary groups such as the Urban League and the organizations that look to it, for leadership are charged with a share of the responsibility for helping the nation move toward a solution of this problem. I realize full well that there are practical limits to the action that such groups can take in any given situation. Indeed, you may have to reject some of the suggestions I shall make on the ground that they are inconsistent with League objectives and methods. I offer them for your study and consideration.

Proposals

First, it seems to me, there must be a concerted effort to change the climate of public opinion in respect of housing for racial minorities. The basic job is that of convincing Americans of the harmful effects of racial residential segregation. Its divisive effects must be pointed out. The spotlight must be thrown on the separate institutionalism that flourishes where segregation is tolerated.

Rounded Attack

The difficulties that are thrown in the way of slum clearance and adequate city planning must be stressed. There must be continued appeals to enlightened selfishness through pointing out that it is poor business to neglect a potential market of buyers and renters.

Negro real estate brokers must be urged to halt the all too common practice of flooding neighborhoods with solicitations to white owners to sell when one Negro moves in. This practice accentuates flight and confirms fears. Churches and like institions must be urged to remain and serve new migrants when there is some change in a neighborhood pattern.

Above all, the elimination of residential segregation must be put in its proper perspective as a prime objective in our quest for a democratic society, rather than as the selfish aim of selfish minority groups.

New Concept

The prevailing concept that America's housing problem can be found in building some housing for white Americans and other housing for minorities must be replaced with a new concept that America must build housing for Americans, open to Americans.

We must face up to the fact, and persuade other Americans to face up to the fact, that inherent in the concept of racially designated housing is an acceptance —on a far wider and far more dangerous scale—of the separate-but-equal doctrine which has worked so much mischief and which we have been at so much pains to root out of other dspects of American life.

We must not be blinded by the glittering promise of immediate relief of some particular pressing need. We must be on the alert to see to it that no government committee, whether wittingly or unwittingly and no matter how good its intentions, sets its stamp of approval on an expedient so fraught with danger to the democratic way of life.

The hollow claim that a Levittown which excludes Negroes is an object lesson in democracy must be exploded.

Need Clear Voice

These are times when the clear voice raised against racial segregation can be heard. There are many who are ready to speak out. The task is that of educating those who are ready to speak out and act, so that their words will be effective, and their actions will bear fruit.

SECOND, housing trends in particular communities should be examined with a view of trying to determine the extent to which Negroes are taking advantage of opportunities that are open.

In all too many instances the weight of tradition, fear of change and the Negro's own accommodation to segregation retard change in residential patterns. There is an alarming number of people, both white and Negro, who do not even know that there are no legal impediments to ownership or occupancy.

Full protection

Where resistance to Negro occupancy is attended by violence or threats of violence the home seeker must have the full protection of law and law enforcement authorities. He will not have that protection unless the League and kindred organizations have done their job of creating a climate of public opinion in which there is an understanding of the issues involved and the will to translate that understanding into effective measures to curb the lawless and quell the mob.

THIRD, voluntary groups should press, NOW, for the elimination of racial segregation in public housing. The legal spadework has been done in this field and I am sure that many local Housing Authorities will respond if the case is put before them and their attention called to current legal trends. At the federal level, Public Housing officials should be urged to revise regulations to forbid segregation in public housing developments.

Need FHA Change

It is almost certain that additional lawsuits will have to be filed in some sections of the nation and while I realize that voluntary organizations cannot participate in legal action, I think you would do well to heed the admonition of Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes that "the life of the law is not logic but what is expedient for the community concerned."

Courts will determine what is expedient in a field such as this one by taking stock of community attitudes—and you can help shape those attitudes.

FINALLY, and most important of all, every effort must be made to induce and persuade FHA to change its regulations to provide that every applicant for loan insurance must covenant with it that he will not discriminate in the sale or rental of housing built with the aid of an FHA-insured loan. FHA policy is all important and what FHA does, or does not do, will largely determine whether or not Negroes will be admitted to the new-housing market on terms of equality.

Of course, every assistance should be extended to help in implementation of the new FHA policy of trying to persuade builders to construct open-occupancy housing but we must never be content, or let it be thought that we are content, with such a program with its connotation that exclusionary policies can be pursued at the whim or caprice of builders and with the consent of FHA.

Labeled housing trends to become segregated housing whether it is called "open-occupancy housing," "minority housing" or by some other euphemism.

I have previously called your attention to litigation that is pending and that will be filed to test the right of

Young People Urged to Enter Hymn Contest

NEW YORK.—Last week the Hymn Society of America invited young people—under the age of 30—to try their hand at writing hymns which will "express the current mind of youth as it appears to youth itself." End product of their endeavors will be a new hymnal written by and for youth.

Some of the numbers submitted will be printed in advance of publication of the new edition and distributed to youth groups all over the country for use during the annual observance of Youth Week next Jan. 30-Feb. 6 sponsored by the United Christian Youth Movement of the National Council of Churches.

Society President Deane Edwards suggests contestants may find inspiration in the Youth Week theme "One Fellowship in Christ," but says judges will consider any theme suitable for the Christian life of youth.

Hymns should be written in well-known meters found in standard hymnals and sent to the society, 297 Fourth Ave., New York 10, N.Y., not later than Dec. 1.

OFF TO CONVENTION—Rev. M. Harley Duvall, pastor of Great Hope Missionary Baptist church, 8628 Compton avenue, bids family and members of his congregation goodbye as he boards the special train for the National Baptist Convention that convened in St. Louis. Rev. Duvall preached in the convention's 74th annual session.

Dr. J. Jackson Re-elected Baptist Head

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — Over 13,000 Baptists from all over the United States, the Hawaiian Islands and Africa converged upon the city of St. Louis last week for their 74th annual convention, and after a week of spirited sessions re-elected Dr. Joseph H. Jackson, of Chicago, president for another term.

One of the highlights of the meetings of the National Baptist Convention . U.S.A., Inc., was Dr. Jackson's impressive program for raising $1,000,000 and his plan for a proposed reorganization of Baptist church law.

A recently elected member to the central committee, World Council of Churches, Dr. Jackson said his objective is to change the law which governs the 4,526,847 members of the third largest non-Catholic denomination in the U.S., and the largest Negro religious organization in the country.

The new law, he said, is designed to prohibit members of the church from carrying their local differences to the courts. He said in the past individual members who for some reason were dismissed from the church, have sought redress in courts of law.

Such action is "against the fundamental philosophy of the church," since Baptists believe in separation of church and state, he said.

It was Dr. Jackson's opinion that machinery to handle such differences might be established within the church after his recommendation has been studied for one year by the State conference.

The $1,000,000 fund-raising program is for the purpose of establishing a retirement relief fund for Baptist ministers. Some of this money will also be allotted to church extension and education.

Climax of the drive has been set for the 75th convention, the Diamond Jubilee Celebration to be held at Memphis, Tenn., next year.

Methodist, Baptist Elected to WCC

EVANSTON, Ill. — Three colored ministers—two from the U.S. and one from the Gold Coast—last week were elected to the powerful Central Committee of the World Council of Churches at the second assembly of the organization in Evanston.

Elected from the U. S. were Bishop D. Ward Nichols, secretary of the Bishops council of the AME church, and Dr. J. H. Jackson, president of the National Baptist Convention, U.S.A., Inc.

Dr. Peter K. Dagadu, secretary, Church Council, Accra, Gold Coast, a native African completes the trio of colored religious leaders now on the committee which functions during the interium council meetings.

The WCC asembly, which opened its meeting Aug. 15, closed Aug. 31.

Bishop Nichols is the ranking prelate of the AME denomination, which has an estimated membership of 1.166.301.

Dr. Jackson is head of the Baptist organization which boasts a membership of more than 4.526.847 Negro Baptists. He is pastor of historic Olivet Baptist Church, Chicago.

Dr. Jackson and Bishop Nichols replaced Bishop W. J. Walls, AME Zion Church; and Dr. Benjamin Mays, president, Morehouse college, Atlanta.

The United States Olympic committee, headed by Mrs. Roxy Anderson, is undertaking the project of raising enough funds to send a team of 18 women track and field champions to the Pan-American Games in Mexico City in March, 1955.

Four members of the present world championship sprint relay team, which won at Helsinki in 1952, are Negro girls. The committee was finally successful in getting its quota of team members for the Pan-American games increased from 10 to 18.

This committee, as is true of all other sports committees, must raise approximately $9,000 to finance this team of girls with accompanying coach and chaperone.

The committee is asking a large number of sports-minded Californians to assist them in raising the money.

Contributions need not be large.

Past experience has taught the committee it is better to have a great many people donate 25c each than for a very small number to give $5. Checks should be made payable to UNITED STATES OLYMPIC FUND, 76 Carver Street, San Francisco 10, Calif. for Women's Track and Field.

Your contribution will give talented Negro women athletes an opportunity to receive international recognition for their efforts.

Pro Boxing Resumes At Ocean Park

The Ocean Park Boxing Arena in Santa Monica, once known as the little Madison Square Garden of the West, will resume its boxing program starting Tuesday, Oct. 5.

The once-popular Bay area arena has been dark since 1951. Ralph Hirsch, son of club owner Mike Hirsch, will serve as promoter and stadium manager. Irving Berman, well-known sportsman and owner of the House of Styles, will be associated with Hirsch in the promotion of the weekly bouts.

Ocean Park was formerly the proving grounds for such ring greats as Juan Zorrita, Jack Chase, John Thomas, Watson Jones and Melvin Johnson.

Harold Dade, once the bantamweight champion of the world, fought his first three bouts in the arena.

Hirsch will stage three four-rounders, one six-rounder and a 10-round main event weekly.

LEMON WILL LEAD SOUTHERN TEAM

Chosen to the captaincy of Southern University's Jaguar Cats is Charles "Red" Lemon, Jr., a stellar guard from Galveston, Texas.

"Red," a major in Health and Physical Education, has earned three letters.

Prospects for a successful season loom brighter here in the camp of Southern University's Cats as 60-odd gridders finished the first ten days of the September drills.

Dr. Bradford Wins Tourney

The Pacific Town Club's annual golf tournament was held at the Brookside Golf Course in Pasadena on Sunday, Sept. 12, with Dr. Clarence Bradford being crowned the winner in the club championship and with runner-up laurels going to Eddie Speights.

The guest flight was won by H. Grooms and runner-up was Lionel Kelly. The lowest gross score for the day was turned in by Al McDaniels with a gross of 70.

Considerable interest was shown in the event, which was under the chairmanship of Jess Hutten.

SPORTS ARENA

The Coliseum Commission has re-affirmed its intention to proceed with the development and construction of a sports arena in Exposition Park.

'Say Hey' Willie Mays Is Now After Batting Crown

NEW YORK—"Say Hey" Willie Mays, the New York Giants' sensational fly chaser, is hot after the National League batting crown after his boss, Leo Durocher, instructed him early this season to forget about the home-run title.

Early in the season Mays had fenced 37 home runs, more than the great Babe Ruth had for that period when he set a record of 60 for the season.

However, Durocher wanted the pennant more than he wanted Mays to crack Ruth's record and since that time Mays' timely hitting was chiefly responsible for the New York Giants resting in first place.

Mays is now locked in a tight duel with Brooklyn's Duke Snider for batting honors. He trails Snider by one point, .342 to .341.

In the American League, Bobby Avila of the Indians holds a firm grip on first place with a healthy .340 while runner-up Minnie Minoso is posting an imposing .327.

COLLEGE GRID DOPE

By CHARLES J. SMITH, III

TALLAHASSEE — Florida A & M university's grid fortunes for the coming season took on a brighter outlook last Saturday with the arrival of "Wild Bill" McClung, 260-pound Philadelphia lineman.

A defensive standout as a freshman in 1951, McClung entered the Marines in 1952 where he played two years of topflight service ball. Although a guard, Rattler mentor "Jake" Gaither plans to install the huge lineman at the left tackle slot.

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala.—Coach Cleve Abbott and his associates have been putting the candidates for the Tuskegee Institute 1954 football team through their paces each day since Sept. 1 in preparation for the opening game with the Bulldogs of Alabama A and M College, Sept. 18.

William Vincent of Sylacauga, Ala., who handled a backfield assignment quite acceptably last year, arrived on the campus this week from Hartford, Conn., where he has been employed all summer. Vincent was given the customary physical examination, issued a uniform and rushed to the practice field for a snappy workout with his teammates. He stated that he expected to be in good shape for he game with Alabama A and M College.

NEW ORLEANS — Sixty-five eager athletes, under the watchful eye of Coach Alfred C. Priestley, put only three sessions in light gear and have hastily plunged into bodily contact drills with heavy equipment.

The seriousness with which the 1954 edition of the Gold Rusher's is working gives the casual observers the impression that its members mean business.

Graduates and the selective service have made it necessary for the Xavier university coaching staff to depend very heavily upon the promising group of second year men and the bulge of the attacking forces.

Of this group, Johnny Creal, a 17-year-old freshman ball carrier from Selma, Ala., looms as the number one man.

Other Sophs who are seeking plenty of action during the 1954 campaign are Ronald Chenier, James Stone, Eddie McGowen, Woodrow Smith and Alvin Martin as ball carriers; Thomas Bullock, Dale Post, Edward Patton and Matthew Proctor in the forward wall.

NEW ORLEANS—Head Coach Alfred C. Priestley has announced that the 1954 Gold Rush squad will no longer use the straight "T" formation as its only method of attack.

The crafty mentor revealed that his chargers will spend much of their practice sessions mastering the three phases of a multiple offense—Basic "T," Wing "T" and Single Wing.

With the idea of adding deception, power, and color to its offensive tactics, the Xavier university gridders will shift from one style of attack to another at the most opportune time.

Michigan State, University of Iowa and other highly successful teams have used this very effective attack with perfection in recent seasons. If the Priestley men can effectively adopt this "new look" offense, it should serve to keep their opponents very much on their toes and the spectators daringly close to the edge of their seats.

The new approach may well establish the Gold Rush as highly respected contenders for the SIAC crown.

DURHAM, N.C.—Since Sept. 1 some 50 aspirants for the 1954 edition of the LIONS of Florida Normal and Industrial Memorial college have been in training, with Coach Russell E. Blunt sharing the coaching with Coach L. J. Thomas.

Blunt, who comes from North Carolina college at Durham, N.C., where he was assistant coach, is not new to FNIMC, having coached here in 1942-43. He is a graduate of St. Augustine college, Raleigh, N.C., and has his master's degree from Boston university.

GREENSBORO, N.C.—Nearly 20,000 sports fans are expected to cram Greensboro's Memorial stadium Saturday night, Sept. 18, to see the A&T Aggies and Central State college renew hostilities in the Intersectional football classic.

The estimate was based on figures released early this week by C. R. A. Cunningham, in charge of ticket sales at the college. He stated that not since 1951 when the game drew its largest attendance have orders for advance tickets been as high.

The crowd will be considerably swelled in view of the statewide meeting of the Guardsmen, Inc., being held in the city in connection with the game.

GOOD JOB—Emmett Ashford closed out a brilliant first season as one of the Pacific Coast League's umpires when the Hollywood Stars dropped the title to San Diego. Ashford's work behind the plate and field during the season have been lauded by every baseball fan attending the games.

Brooklyn Dodgers In Last Home Stand—Do or Die

World Series fever is sweeping the nation like the Maine hurricane.

Over in Cleveland tickets are just about ready for the American League as the front running Indians practically wrapped it up last Sunday, dumping the once mighty Yanks twice before the largest baseball crowd in the Buckeye state.

In Flatbush, which houses Ebbets Field, hopes of the Dodgers are running high since they have only nine remaining games and only two games away from home. In the do-or-die stand of the Dodgers, they'll meet last place Pittsburgh Pirates, Cincinnati Redlegs and play three tough games with the hard-pressing New York Giants.

The New York Giants, on the other hand, have 11 games left—three with Brooklyn, Philadelphia six, three with Milwaukee and one with St. Louis.

Trailing the Giants by three games and a game and a half ahead of the Braves, Manager Walt Alston's crew is favored all the way.

Charles Orr Training At Naval Center

Charles Orr, former Jefferson High school football ace, is undergoing his sixth week at the U. S. Naval training center in San Diego.

Orr played center on the varsity team while attending the L. A. school. He has been in the Navy just seven weeks and has expressed to officals his desire to enter sports while attached to the Navy. Orr tips the scales at 175 pounds and is just 17 years old.

Legion Post To Celebrate

The Benj. Bowie Post No. 228 of the American Legion will celebrate its 31st anniversary during the week of Nov. 7 to 13, its commander, Atty. Vince Monroe Townsend, Jr., announced this week.

BATTLES—Classy top-ranking Don Jordan will face Billy Hartman in the 10-round feature event at the Olympic Auditorium Monday night.

BRUINS VS. NAVY SATURDAY NIGHT

Although three big publications, "Look," "Collier's" and "Saturday Evening Post," have tabbed Coach Red Sanders' UCLA Bruins the sixth best in the national football ranking, the popular Bruins' guiding genius isn't taking any bows.

Sanders claims that he has slated double drills as he speeds up preparation for Saturday night's opener with San Diego Navy at the Coliseum.

Even though the Redshirts were on the short end of a 61-0 score, Sanders said Uclans looked very sluggish and slow and all week will be spent on polishing the team.

First-Down Sam Brown is providing the Bruins' bright spot in the backfield and should become one of the number one backs on the coast if he is able to live up to his early drills.

Rams Hit Road for Eagle Tilt And NFL Opener Against Colts

Once again way out ahead in the attendance derby with 281,117 for six games, the Los Angeles Rams wind up their 1954 non-conference campaign against the Philadelphia Eagles Friday night in San Antonio, Texas.

Hamp Pool's Rams suffered their first defeat last Friday night when the San Francisco '49ers nipped them, 28-27, before a mob of 84,572 in Memorial Coliseum.

The Ram-Eagle joust in San Antonio brings a renewal of one of the most amazing series in professional football. During the past 11 years the Rams have beaten Philadelphia just once—a 31-26 non-conference decision at Little Rock, Ark., in 1951.

Jim Trimble's Eagles dumped L. A. last summer by a 28-17 count.

Quarterback Norman Van Brocklin and Fullback Deacon Dan Towler are still maintaining a hot pace in the passing and running departments, respectively. The fiery Dutchman has completed 42 of 72 tosses for 911 yards, eight touchdowns and a 58.3 percent completion average.

Towler holds an 8.27-yard average from scrimmage with 496 yards in 60 tries and six touchdowns.

Woodley Lewis, who duplicated his 95-yard kickoff return against the Washington Redskins last Friday night in the '49er clash, has rolled up 234 yards in five kickoff runbacks for a fat 46.8 average.

Old pro Tom Fears still tops Ram receivers after six outings with 21 for 373 yards and two touchdowns. Bob Boyd has the best average gain per catch with a 30.05 mean on 14 for 422 yards.

Rookie sensation Bill Sherman, formerly of St. Mary's, leads the Ram pass patrol in thefts with five for 167 yards and a touchdown.

Los Angeles is setting a phenomenal pace at the box office. A breakdown of the 281,117 total is as follows: Fort Ord, 12,889; New York, 25,776; Washington, 79,813; Cleveland, 58,567; Chicago Cards, 19,500; and San Francisco, 84,572.

Following the Philadelphia encounter, L. A. travels to Washington, D. C., on Saturday, to await the league opener on Sunday, Sept. 26, in Baltimore against the Colts.

Coach Tabor Greets Wiley College Team

Coach Alva Tabor and head line coach Bob Mike, two former great UCLA football players, are looking forward for a winning season with their charge at Wiley College.

The two ex-Bruins greeted some 60-odd players, started serious drills as the Wiley Wildcats prep for the opener. Line coach Bob Mike expects to field one of the best lines in the history of the school while Coach Alva Tabor is having trouble finding a suitable quarterback.

Both coaches feel that the team will round into championship form after the league opener.

The bride is the daughter df Mrs. J. H. Peak, Sr., and is president of Superior Escrow company. The bridegroom is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. P. D. Lehman and a member of the Los Angeles Police Department.

The new Mrs. Lehman was radiant in a Weaver original of ice-blue lace embedded with hundreds of sea pearls. She wore blue shell hat with slippers to match.

It was one of those small, intimate weddings with only family and a few very close friends in attendance. Mrs. Lucille Mathews, dressed in a baby blue embroidered nylon afternoon dress with matching hat and slippers was matron of honor. William Redmond was the best man.

Sometimes all of us get into situations which we could get out of, but which we don't because we fail to make a careful analysis, one that takes in all factors. The West player in today's hand is in such a predicament.

After East's criminal three diamond bid, West was justified in doubling. His hand alone is almost certain to take three tricks, and partner can surely be counted on for one. However, such was not the case.

Breathed Easier

West opened his singleton diamond which South took with the ace. South realized that the double could only come from length in trumps, so he led his ace to find out if the split was five and zero. After East followed he breathed much easier.

He led the king of spades and then entered dummy on the ace of hearts. On this lead West played the king. Seeing this South felt the club finesse was sure to work, but it didn't. West played his queen of hearts which was ruffed.

Declarer then played two more rounds of clubs. On the next round West ruffed with the ten of spades and dummy discarded a diamond. West was now end-played and was forced to give declarer a diamond discard on the jack of hearts.

Faulty Analysis

As the hand was played, West should have begun to see that East was likely not to take any tricks. And if he could take any, the only way West could get to his hand would be on a club.

At the instant West took the king of clubs he should have seen the possibility of being end-played and eliminated it. His correct play here is a club return. Then as the clubs are continued, he can ruff the fourth club as he did, play the queen of spades, and exit with the queen of hearts. South will then lose four tricks whichever way he goes.

A word about East's bid. The best course is to pass. Second best course is to bid five diamonds right off. Three diamonds is the worst possible bid.

Town And Gown

The Town and Gown Club met Sunday afternoon in the beautiful Ninth avenue home of Mrs. Major Sennell, with the club's president, Mrs. Mattie Tarven, acting as hostess.

Mrs. Tarvin celebrated her birthday with many beautiful gifts and cards from her club sisters and friends.

SOCIAL CLIMBER—it seems as though an ex-singer who failed to make the big time in Show Business is having the same difficulty in her social set—can't get along with people!

TANK YOUNGER — a smart business venture would be for one of our well-off businessmen to interest the great Ram footballer in some business before the ofays grab him!

DOROTHY RAE — a shapely Chicago lass, the newest eye-catching brownskin, is an expert Key Punch Operator wishing to ply her trade in these parts!

SPENCER J. BROWNE—midnight barber shop in the 4200 block on East Central is the mecca for scotch sippers and beautiful gals!

EBONY MAGAZINE — hottest item for a sellable story would be our boss, Atty. Loren Miller, who completely upset the National Urban League convention in Pittsburgh last week at which time the League elected him to the National Board. It would be timely since his office is handling the Shumate 100 G's damage suit against "Jet"!

C. A. BARBER—isn't greeting the peasants from behind the bars of the Bdwy. Club any more. Understand the powers that be let him go!

FRANK SMITH — dapper salesman for the Eastside Beer company is one of our smoothest, well-informed hucksters. His keen knowledge of the Negro market is a valuable asset to his company!

REV. WILLIAM T. WARD — youthful leader of the Bethany Community church is doing a terrific job and could easily become one of our outstanding figures!

WYNONIE HARRIS—the popular blues shouter had to have his phone plugged in order to get some sleep and instructed the bellboy not to give callers his room number. He is just that popular on the West Coast!

BIG BONNETS—Shirley Gunter and her Queens are rapidly heading for Potter's Field. It seems as though that single hit recording they made and several TV appearances have expanded their craniums to such a degree that even the extra large sizes are much too tight!

HUSH HUSH — is the treatment given to the question about the hidden wire recorder in the office of a highly publicized dapper minister. Rumors spread in the large Eastside congregation that information contained is hotter than two tons of dynamite!

MAGGIE AND JIGGS — famous are the Sunday morning comic version of "What Fools These Mortals be." Equally funny is the woomance involving that extra actress and that tramp from down Texas way! Next public showing we are calling names!

MILOMO—Cool Western Avenoo sip-parlor is boasting the rare entertainment of Louis Rivera at the Hammond. At the Cosmo, ofays and oxford greys are bending ears to Gerald Wiggins and Red Calendar. Morocco is featuring the artistry of Dotty Donegan. Town Tavern has a distinctive manner of attracting guys like Leonard Nunnally of the Old Sunny Brook Company, Bill Walker, John Cornish, Dynamite Jackson, Hayward Jones and an array of beautiful gals. The night would be sleepless unless you take in the Rubaiyat Room, Dynamite Jackson's plush Central Avenoo spot or Horace Clark's Le Caribe and swing down East 55th and chat and sip with Lawrenee Sweetwine, not forgetting Ruth (The Body) Powell's smart Club Capri out West Jefferson.

TWEEDSMEN — noted for their well taliored suits, the Tweedsmen will be switching their classy garbs to Western style come Oct. 16 at the Park Manor. They will be holding their annual Western Roundup!

HARRY DAVIS—ex-car salesman replaced Boyd Pickett at the D. W. Snyder lush company this week!

FANNIE ELLSWORTH — got the surprise of her life on her 81st birthday. The Millers, Russ's and Ellsworths honored the family's favorite Mother and she on her birthday baked Abie Robinson, Grace E. Simons and Francis P. Waller, Jr., one of her famous pies!

The Skatium Affords Fun For Everyone

Three for three in baseball terminology means three hits for three times at bat. Out on West Washington Blvd., near Arlington, three terrifically talented fellows: Howard Cantwine, ex-wrestler; Jack Wachs and Albert A. Pops, builders; have, in just three months, made the SKATIUM the most popular mecca of wholesome recreation for the entire family.

Eliminating Delinquency

Batting one-thousand in a proximity where there are a greater number of different nationalities than any other section of Los Angeles, the SKATIUM, under expert and pleasant supervision, is an excellent example of true Americanism and Democracy in Action. Los Angeles' finest officers in blue proficiently patrol the area and have attested to the fact that delinquency has been at a minimum since the opening of the SKATIUM.

Already social tranquility has asserted itself to the extent that a wholesome recreational club has been formed with regular meetings held at this spacious, air conditioned structure. Parents are urged to join their youngsters for an evening of inexpensive enjoyment. If unable to join your offspring, rest assured that even the very youngest will be properly supervised.

As a special inducement for all readers of the good California Eagle, all persons bringing in this story or the advertisement on page 6 will receive a cut rate card entitling the bearer to a substantial reduction in admission, plus other SKATIUM privileges. Matinee skaters may now skate from 2:30 to 5:30 p.m. each week day and from 9:30 to 12 noon on Saturday. Remember this: "You're never too late to make a date for the SKATIUM." Why not phone and make your date for the SKATIUM." Why not phone and make your date NOW? (REpublic 3-3280.)

WHAT'S COOKING

BARBARA MOUNTS

September brings the routine of school for the youngsters and many homemakers are faced with the problem of seeing that their children receive nourishing breakfasts. In most homes breakfast during vacation time consisted of a late snack to tide them over until lunch.

Your family physician or school health director will tell you that breakfast is very important to the well being of every individual and especially to the child of school age. With a bit of thought directed to the nutritive value of the foods you offer the family, many sieges of nervous fatigue and colds may be avoided.

A Fallacy

Some of us believe that because the school cafeteria provides a satisfying lunch for our children we do not have to be careful to see that they eat a hearty breakfast.

This is a fallacy. It is also important that the foods eaten are well masticated and not gulped hurriedly.

Create a cheerful atmosphere at breakfast for your family and eat some fresh fruit, cereal or eggs yourself and see how much smoother the routine of the day will pass.

Quality Important

Quantity is not as important as quality in the foods offered the family. A bit of originality in serving even the most ordinary item will transform it into the most desirable dish. Instead of just plain orange juice, try pouring it over a sliced banana in a pretty glass dish. Or beating it to a froth with the yolk of an egg and a couple of spoons of honey.

Slice the oranges around a small mound of powdered sugar.

Save enough of the orange halfshells and flute the edges. Use them the following morning to hold mixed fruit cocktail. Or fill them with jello for an afterschool snack, or topped with a bit of whipped cream for desert at dinner.

For Energy

Oatmeal and other whole grain cereals offered as the cool weather sets in will provide energy. Crisp bacon, sausage, wheatcakes of French toast are simply and easily prepared. Creamed chipped beef for tuna on toast or over an omelet will also vary menues.

Remember that strong healthy bodies are the result for the most part of what foods are consumed. Other factors being activity, elimination and right thinking.

Collins Re-opens 'Shack' in Style

Ivie's Chicken Shack, for over a decade a virtual landmark at Vernon and Central, has that new look and John and Augusta Collins are responsible. Last week the one of the eastside's finest and most fashionable rooms swung open its plush doors and more than a room full of beautiful flowers greeted the first nighters.

A swank Silver Fox bar, done up in the most modern and eye-refreshing style, in colors that blend beautifully. The opening had all splendor of the Sunset Strip or New York's Great White way Popular John Collins and his attractive wife, Augusta, greeted some of the town's best known figures from the screen, TV, radio and stage.

Out of town guests pour in, best known among the visitors included Cleveland (Popeye) Green, and his lovely wife, Delores, who flew in to be the special guests of John and his wife. Popeye, as he is affectionately known to his many friends sent a boat load of flowers and toasted the opening with a continuous flow of sparkling champagne. The Ivie's Chicken Shack is located at 1105½ East Vernon just east of Central Ave.

Royal Prince Holds Dance

The Royal Prince who will present Snake Whyte in a Fashionating Rhythm show Sunday afternoon, September 26, at the Savoy Ballroom, is backed with many stars.

Nadine Knight will feature ladies' fashions; for the men, Charles, Ltd., for your dancing pleasure Snake Whyte's 18-piece orchestra and guest stars include Lawrence Stone, Johnny and Evelyn, Liz Jones, the Dryden Dancers.

This is a bit of entertainment worth the admission.

JOE ADAMS—The popular "Mayor of Melody," rated among the top disc jockeys of the nation, is working out details of the surprise contest with KOWL general manager, George A. Baron, and promises his fans a really different contest with unusual details and wonderful prizes, not just for the big winner, but for many other entrants.

Jury to Decide Libel Issue In Shumate $100,000 Suit

from a magazine lies the fact that an aggrieved party must ask a newspaper for a retraction before demanding damages.

Failure to do so greatly circumscribes the possibility of obtaining financial relief.

Mrs. Shumate had not sought a retraction.

Atty. Vaino Hassen Spencer, who originally filed the suit on Mrs. Shumate's behalf, bowed out of the counsel seat as the trial opened and appeared instead as a star witness for the plaintiff. Mrs. Shumate is being represented by Atty. Leo Branton.

Atty. Spencer testified that "Jet" had been informed about the details in the divorce case between Mrs. Shumate and her wealthy and socially prominent husband, Dr. Lincoln Shumate.

P.O. Official Testifies

She also stated on the stand that the publication, through its representative, James Goodrich, had been advised months before the article appeared that Dr. Shumate had made a "public apology" to his former wife for the damaging accusations he had made against her.

The suit was filed against the Johnson Publishing Co.; John H. Johnson; James R. Goodrich, Los Angeles representative of "Jet"; and Robert Johnson.

Atty. Edward Carter Maddox, representing the Johnson publications, called George Probert, postal official in charge of second-class mail, as a witness for his clients.

Probert declared that "Jet" is classified by the post office as a newspaper, and then defined a newspaper for the court.

Testimony Stricken

Atty. Branton, however, was quick to intercede and demanded that Judge Jesse Frampton, who is hearing the case, strike Probert's testimony on the grounds that postal regulations cannot be considered proper evidence.

Judge Frampton granted the motion, instructing the jury that they must make their decision independently and should not be influenced by classifications of government agencies.

Atty. Maddox earlier had made a motion for non-suit against Goodrich, and the motion was granted.

On Tuesday afternoon the judge heard legal arguments in the absence of the jury, and the case resumed in open court Wednesday.

builders to discriminate and to determine the correlative question of whether FHA is free to insure loans for discriminatory housing. Here I need only recall, and underscore, my quotation of a moment ago from Justice Holmes.

Deep Roots

These tasks are far more formidable than their mere recitation might make them sound. They will be impossible of accomplishment unless the complacency with which residential segregation is accepted by most Americans is shattered. That complacency will not yield easily. Residential segregation is rooted in custom and tradition; it is bulwarked behind indifference; it is propped up by popular prejudice; it is made to seem attractive by precept and example; it is shored up and renewed by the very separate institutionalism it breeds.

We must replace that complacency toward, and support for, residential segregation with a new faith that it is contrary to the letter and spirit of our laws and institutions. That faith must become a fighting faith, a creed for action, a code to live by.

Equality for All

This is no program for the fearful, or the faint-hearted. It will not recommend itself to the timorous among us who lack faith in the corrective processes of democracy. But this is 1954. Our times demand action. The hucksters of totalitarianism are busy crying our shame in the far-away places of the world.

We must not be deterred or delayed by the little men, and the selfish men, and the evil men, and the unseeing men who do not know, and who will not understand, that the bright promise of full equality under the law cannot be realized for any American until it is within the grasp of all Americans.

Announce New Way To Shrink Painful Piles

Find Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to stop bleeding—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form for hemorrhoids under the name Preparation H.® The price is only 98c a tube including an applicator. The name to ask for is Preparation H—at all drug stores. And remember—if not entirely satisfied—your money will be refunded promptly.

Atty. General Says Jim Crow Violates Laws

Double trouble hit Fire Chief John H. (I Am the Law) Alderson last week.

The Board of Fire Commissioners Thursday slapped down his report of Sept. 2 in which he had sought permission to continue racial segregation in fire stations.

Atty. Gen. Pat Brown followed Friday with a 17-page opinion declaring that Alderson's practices violate both state and federal constitutions.

The Commissioners adopted two resolutions both critical of Alderson. It instructed him to "submit a plan of operation of a system of assignments whereby there may be integration of personnel in the Fire Department without regard to race, creed or color."

Unsatisfactory

In another resolution the Commission told the red-faced Chief that "the report of the chief engineer under date of Sept. 2 in response to the resolution adopted by this commission relative to the assignment of personnel in the Fire Department . . . is unsatisfactory and is void of any worthwhile or constructive suggestion in the matter involved."

The only indication as to what Alderson will do next Thursday when he brings in his next report came when he blasted Brown's opinion with the statement that he proposed to assign personnel as he has in the past.

"The Attorney General is trying to ingratiate himself with the Colored section of the State of California.

"I'm sure the Attorney General doesn't know how a fire department operates. I know he never asked us. I believe a legal opinion should be based on facts and not theory," Alderson said bitterly.

Examinations Hit

Adding to the fire chief's woes, a group of 25 Negro firemen appeared before the Civil Service Commission Friday to charge that the oral boards treated Negro candidates unfairly. The oral boards are furnished by the Fire Department and their findings account for about 40 per cent of the grading.

"We are not protesting segregation in the department as that is being handled by the Fire Commission, but integration or not, we want a fair

Popular Watts Dentist Named in Paternity Suit

AWAITING VERDICT—Mrs. Margaret High, flanked by her attorneys, Xenophon Lang, left, and Walter Gordon, was snapped by Eagle Photographer Adams as the trio tensely awaited the verdict of the coroner's jury. The killing of Herbert Stevenson, for which Mrs. High was held, was found to be justifiable homicide.

She Bit My Thumb First, Man Claims

When Linsley Nunnley, 28, 628 E. 22nd street, gets mad, he is really mad! Saturday morning, Sept. 18, about 4 a.m. Nunnley started fighting with his wife, Sammie, and her sister, Willie Mae Nunnley, 31, 433 S. Gless street. Some money was missing and Nunnley thought his wife and her sister knew the answer.

Mrs. Nunnley told her husband not to hit her sister and that started the ball rolling. Nunnley reportedly turned on the sister and beat her over the head with a large white plate.

Radio officers answered the early morning call "Man assaulting woman" and found Willie Mae bleeding from a ¾ inch cut over the eye.

Nunnley, who was booked at Newton on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon, stated, "Well, she was biting my thumb, so I just hit her to make her stop."

Mrs. Willie Mae Nunnley was treated at Georgia Receiving Hospital and released.

Woman Acquitted In 'Phone' Killing

"Justifiable homicide!"

This solemn verdict of a six-man coroner's jury last Friday brought hand-clapping and tears of joy, punctuated with piercing shouts.

Mrs. Margaret High, who faced charges for killing her husband, Herbert Stevenson, burst out sobbing and slumped into the arms of her attorney, Walter Gordon.

Officers Testify

Weighing heavily with the jurors undoubtedly was the testimony of Firestone Deputy Sheriffs B. B. Meenk and George Bullock.

Deputy Meenk told the hearing how a woman had telephoned him Sunday, Sept. 12, and reported that someone was breaking in the rear door of her home, that he heard a scuffle and then the muffled sound of a shot. A few moments later, the woman again spoke into the mouthpiece: "I've just killed my husband."

Had Sought Protection

It was then, Meenk testified, that he realized the woman who telephoned was Mrs. High who less than an hour previously had gone to the police station, reported that her common law husband abused her, beat her and threatened her, and asked for protection. There was not sufficient evidence, the police told her, to warrant Stevenson's arrest, but advised her that if she had any further trouble, to call immediately.

The first shot Mrs. High fired, it was established at the inquest, did not hit Stevenson, but went over his head and was found embedded high up in the living room wall.

That was the shot Meenk had heard while he was listening at the other end of the telephone.

Stevenson, the testimony further brought out, was chasing Mrs. High when she fired the fatal bullets. She claimed she was running away from him and fired as she ran.

Fight Firing of Maceo Smith From F.H.A.

NEW YORK—The Board of Directors of the NAACP this week urged the Federal Housing Administration to cease efforts to force the resignation of A. Maceo Smith of Dallas, Tex., Southwest racial relations advisor for the federal agency.

Smith is a member of the NAACP Board of Directors, as well as executive secretary of the Texas state conference of NAACP branches.

"This attack on Mr. Smith is either for selfish political reasons or because of his forthright fight for unalloyed opportunity for all Americans, especially in education, voting and housing without regard to race or color. We strongly oppose such assaults upon the federal civil service system," the NAACP declared.

Young Mother Asks Support of Dr. E. Wyndon

The mother of a two-year-old boy on Wednesday of this week filed suit against prominent South Los Angeles dentist Dr. Emitt E. Wyndon, naming him the father of her child and demanding adequate support.

Friends of the attractive young mother claim that she decided to file suit when she learned that Dr. Wyndon had purchased a 1954 Cadillac and that as a result of this expense had reduced the amount of money he was allegedly giving her for the care of the child.

Miss Hortense Flores, 10471 Gorman avenue, who is represented by Atty. Edward Hardwick, alleges in her complaint that she and Dr. Wyndon, whose offices are at 1954 E. 105th street, have been intimate since 1949 and that their child was born Dec. 20, 1952.

Miss Flores is suing in the name of her son, Robert Flores. She is asking the court to establish paternity and to compel Dr. Wyndon to pay $100 a month for his support. She claims the socialite dentist's earnings justify that amount.

Miss Flores asserts further that Dr. Wyndon contributed $90 a month for the support of the child until last December, when he reduced the payments to $30 a month.

Roy Wilkins To Speak at NAACP Meet

Roy Wilkins, NAACP administrator, will speak in Los Angeles at the Peoples Independent Church of Christ, 18th and Paloma streets, Friday, Oct. 8, at 8 p.m. as the branch launches its 28th annual Freedom Seal Drive.

Mrs. Emily Woody local school teacher, is chairman of the drive. Dr. E. I. Robinson announced this week.

The funds raised from the drive go into the general fund of the NAACP to carry on the work in its fight for freedom.

ORDEAL ENDS — Odessa Parks was freed Wednesday of the charge of murdering her husband.

S. P. Officials Admit Negroes Put In Car 20

(NPB) — Admissions were made by officials of the Southern Pacific Railroad last week that they segregate Negroes on their crack Dixie-bound "Sunset Ltd.," assigning them all to the jim-crow car No. 20, unless they specifically ask for seats elsewhere on the train.

The segregation is accomplished by means of a subtle telephone code, the officials admitted, in describing the process whereby they communicate the fact that the man or woman seeking a reservation is a Negro.

'Up Front'

When the agent telephones in for a reservation for a customer, he mentions he would like "one of the front cars," or rejects a proffered seat in say, Car No. 24, saying, "No, I'd like one further front." The man at the other end of the wire is aware that "up front" or "further front" is equivalent to an explanation that the customer is colored. The reservation will be made in Car No. 20.

These admissions were made in depositions taken by Attys. Herbert Simmons and Samuel C. Sheats last Tuesday from George Baldwin, ticket agent for the Southern Pacific, and his assistant in the Union Station ticket office, Thomas R. Hodges.

Questioned Separately

The two men were questioned separately and while their statements tallied for the most part, there was a discrepancy regarding Negroes whose destination lies this side of El Paso, Texas. Baldwin said that in such cases Negroes are not as-

Police Woman Wins Freedom on Her Plea Of Self Defense

"Not Guilty!"

The foreman of the jury delivered these fateful words that saved attractive young policewoman Odessa Parks from a possible life in prison to a hushed courtroom that had waited one full day for the verdict.

Odessa Parks walked from the courtroom a free woman, vindicated in her plea, so ably presented by her attorney, Earl C. Broady, that she had fired the shots that killed her husband, Hilliard Parks Green, in self-defense.

The case went to the jury Tuesday afternoon, and a quick decision was expected. The 11 women and one man, however, pondered the case all that afternoon, were locked up for the night, and again deliberated on Wednesday. They reached an agreement about 2:30 p.m. Wednesday.

The state had accused Mrs. Parks of murder. The prosecutor had not demanded the death sentence, but had sought to place the young mother behind bars for the rest of her life.

Drama-Packed

During the closing hours of the tense, drama-packed trial, Defense Atty. Broady pleaded earnestly and fervently for his client, skillfully casting doubt on the testimony of the state's chief witness, bearing heavily on the plea of self defense, and urging the jury to free the attractive, harrassed young policewoman.

Deputy District Atty. Evan Lewis answered him in a piercing, hammering attack, demanding the full penalty of the law, depicting Mrs. Parks as a drunken, cold-blooded murderess. Vigorously he slashed away at Broady's arguments, seeking to smash the self-defense plea and to break down the feeling of sympathy which the defense attorney had effectively evoked.

As the case went to the jury Tuesday afternoon, the spectators, openly and sharply divided in their sympathies, waited expectantly and did not leave until it was announced that the jury would be locked up for the night.

Wall of Hostility

Separated by a wall of hostility were members of the Green family and their friends, on one side, and apart from them relatives and well-wishers of Mrs. Parks.

One of the saddest but most impressive incidents in the trial occurred when Mrs. Parks' appealing 15-year-old daughter, Patricia, a student at Los Angeles high school, took the stand and in a clear but quiet voice promised to tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth.

Breaks Down

As Patricia began to speak, Mrs. Parks, who had kept a tight control over her emotions up to that point, although she appeared ill and worn, burst into tears and sobbing, buried her head in her arms.

With a simple directness, Patricia told of the frequent quarrels and fights between

Jet Must Pay $15,000 for Libeling Ikey

Mrs. Ikalina Savoy Shumate is $15,000 richer—almost—because a jury of seven women and five men decided last Thursday that Jet, a magazine or is it a newspaper (?) published in Chicago, had libeled her to that extent with a story published in August, 1953.

The issue of whether Jet is a magazine or a newspaper got as much attention as Mrs. Shumate's recital of how the story had wounded her in spirit and reputation with its report. Judge Jess Frampton told the jury that if it was a newspaper, Mrs. Shumate could get nothing.

On the other hand, Judge Frampton told the jury, if Jet is a magazine, Mrs. Shumate was entitled to damages both to compensate for wounded feelings and by way of punishment against the publishers and editors.

Holding that the publication was a newspaper, the jury gave Mrs. Shumate $5000 for compensating damages, and awarded $5000 against the Johnson Publishing company by way of punitive damages and another $5000 against John Johnson, its publisher.

Edward Maddox, attorney for Jet, said he would file a motion for a new trial and secured a stay of execution for his client until ten days after the motion is ruled on. He did not say when the motion would be filed.

Leo Branton, attorney for Mrs. Shumate, and Maddox each marshalled expert witnesses from rival schools of journalism to bear out claims as to the character of the publication.

Jeff High Student in Mad Ride

A 16-year-old Jefferson High school student, whose name is being withheld, was taken for a mad ride Wednesday morning by an irate husband, and threatened with a knife. But he managed to make his get-away and contacted police.

Authorities are looking for the man known only as "Curtis," about 29 or 30 years old, who forced the youth to accompany him.

Curtis, the Jeff student told police, threatened him, told him he knew that the youth had helped the man's wife move and that he'd better get in the car if he knew what was good for him.

He took the youth to 8411 Lou Dillon street, but the errant wife wasn't there, then back to the 700 block on E. 52nd street, then to E. 31st street.

When Curtis went into the house, the youth jumped from the car and found refuge in the home of a friend.

Prophet from West Controls Hurricane

NEW YORK—King Canute, the fabled monarch who could not control the tides, was a piker compared to Prophet Jones, who swept into New York last week.

"Hurricane Edna will not strike New York," declared the great one from out of the West. "God said he will let no hurricane prohibit me from carrying on the work he has sent me to do."

And the prophet proved more correct than the weather forecasters. The hurrican skimmed ever so lightly over Manhattan, saving its fury for other shores.

Stopped Traffic

The work that Prophet Jones had been sent to accomplish was aided by a smashing, standing - room - only resplendant performance that filled spacious Carnegie Hall to overflowing, as adherents and sensation seekers battled for tickets.

Detroit's James F. Jones, Dominion Ruler of the Church of the Universal Triumph, the Dominion of God, Inc., stopped traffic even in jaded New York as he stepped from his custom-built beige Cadillac, clothed in a $235 light brown suit, yellow checked vest, yellow shoes, red socks and a red tie.

Hanging from the lobe of his left ear was a heart-shaped amethyst earring. His slender left wrist was encircled with a chain of gold and strings of signed to Car No. 20. Hodges said that regardless of their destination they are placed in the jim-crow coach. Baldwin said further that Negroes entraining for Dallas or Fort Worth are generally assigned to Car No. 21. Both stated that when the individual specifically asks for a seat elsewhere his request is honored.

Significance of the deposition lies in the fact that Judge Lucius Green ruled last year in the two-year-old case that California law prohibits discrimination and segregation on the part of public carriers. The question of law was at issue, but not the question of whether or not the S.P. does practice segregation. At that time, the S.P. insisted that it does not discriminate.

The test case of the jim-crow practice was instituted about two years ago by Claudia Whittmore, Carrie Williams, James Martin Sr. and Mae Duport, who claimed that the rail line denied them proper traveling accommodations by violating the equal accommodations clause of the law, and asked damages of $2500.

WHO'S GRAVEST?

Everybody who gets around to hearing him goes away with the feeling that Richard Graves, Democratic candidate for governor, is quite a fellow and knows what he's talking about. Chief trouble with Graves in the primary election is that he never got to see and talk to enough Negro voters. Goodie beat him all hollow when it came to hand shaking and back patting among Negro voters. Graves supporters are moving heaven and earth in an attempt to get the candidate before the Negro voters before November 2.

Truth of the matter is that Graves has quite a good record; that he's full of courage and that he's ready, willing and able to tell just where he stands on all issues. He doesn't bite his tongue about his support for civil rights and will tell anybody who asks that he's in favor of an FEPC. Good idea to keep your eyes on the papers and when Richard shows up in your community go out and hear him. Also ask him anything you want to. He'll answer.

YOU ALL COME

Wanna eat breakfast? The Lomax For Assembly Committee will feed you an excellent breakfast for just one buck at the Wilfandel Club House, come Sunday. You not only get bacon cooked by the candidate himself but your dollar will be put in the pot to help Lucius get to the assembly from the 63rd district. And that's something. Lucius' Ever-Loving claims that he's quite a cook. We wouldn't know but after all, what can any cook do to hurt bacon and eggs and grits?

CONFUSING, WE SAY

Under date of Sept. 16 we got a letter signed by GOP'ers Ivan J. Johnson, Doris Penland, Betty Hill, Louis V. Cole, Bishop Driscoll, Walter Lawson, Kenneth Wallace, Paul McGee, B. B. Bratton, Mattie Williams, Wood Wilson, Louis Driver, Venita Evans, Willis Carson, E. J. Porter and Marque Neal saying that they would no longer function as a Committee for the election of Senator Thomas E. Kuchel. "We request to be released as an organized committee for Senator Kuchel," they said. We figured the boys and girls were pretty warm under the collar but this week we got a release from Kuchel headquarters saying that Ivan. J. Johnson, Vince Monroe Townsend, W. A. Easter and W. E. Charles were in "charge of minorities" in the senator's campaign. Headquarters will be opened in the Central Avenue and Watts area, the release said. Peace. It's Wonderful. Townsend and Charles, incidentally, were listed as Democrats.

WHAT GIVES HERE?

There's some unhappiness in the Knight-For-Governor headquarters these days, our informants tell us. Chief beef is that most of the Republicans who have toiled in the vineyard these many years think that Goodie is putting too much power in the hands of Architecht Paul R. Williams. Paul's a nice guy with plenty on the ball, the boys say, but they add in the next breath that what he doesn't know about politick-

Youths Urge City Committee To Keep DAPs

Teen-agers last Wednesday told the City Council Police and Fire Committee that they like the DAPs and want the organization retained just as it is.

The committee conducted a hearing on a proposal that the Deputy Auxiliary Police program be transferred from the Police Department to the Recreation and Parks Department.

One 14-year-old girl told the officials that if the transfer goes through many members would drop out.

Police officials claim the program is too costly and the change has been recommended in the interests of economy. Councilman Harold Harby, chairman of the committee, has also expressed concern over the cost.

The backers of the DAPs, however, and many of the teenagers feel that the program under its preesnt auspices offers much needed recreation and an excellent civic outlet and is a great help in overcoming juvenile delinquency.

The report of the committee is expected this week.

Chicago Mayor Told to End Race Riots or Resign

CHICAGO — In an open letter to Mayor Martin Kennelly the two powerful meat packing unions of Chicago jointly demanded that the city's chief executive either halt the terror and violence that has continued at Trumbull Park for 13 months, or resign from his office.

In a two-column, page-length advertisement, the two rival unions declared: "The members of our unions, Negro and white, work side by side in Chicago's great meat industry. If Chicago citizens can work in harmony inside our industries, Chicago citizens can live in harmony inside our communities."

The letter pointedly asked: "Mr. Mayor, could a 13-month-long race riot take place in Chicago if the law were being enforced?"

It then stated that the two unions "join the vast majority of law-abiding citizens in this city in demanding that you enforce the law at Trumbull Park Homes or admit your lack of courage to do so. In such event, then you should resign as mayor of Chicago."

The demand was made by the AFL Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America and the CIO United Packinghouse Workers of America, with an estimated combined membership of 40,000. The Letter was the first official action of the newly formed Committee for Equality in Housing sponsored by the two unions.

Our debts are traitors and make us lose the good we often might win by fearing to attempt.

Seek Damage In Car Crash

Nathaniel George, former football, baseball and track star of Whittier College, and one-time sprint champion, has followed up his claim against Pasadena for $50,000 by filing a suit for the same amount against Dr. Benjamin A. T. Bowlin, prominent Pasadena physician, his son, Benjamin, Jr., and Eugene F. Peron, a Pasadena police officer.

The suit arises out of the death of George's son, David, who was killed in an automobile accident March 14 at the intersection of Fair Oaks and California streets. The complaint which was filed through the office of Atty. Curtis C. Taylor, charges that the two automobiles driven by young Bowlin and Peron collided and that George, who was a passenger in the Bowlin car, was instantly killed.

A separate suit has been filed by Mrs. Sarah Alice George, the mother of the young student, who obtained a divorce, and custody of the three children, two of whom are girls. She seeks to recover the entire amount of damages and to exclude the father from any portion of the proceeds in event of an award.

There was no jewelry on the right. Prophet Jones explained that God always approaches him from the right, so he keeps that flank unencumbered.

But No Mink

Lacking as he made his entrance to the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel was his fabulous mink coat. That he was saving for his appearance at Carnegie Hall.

As he arrived at the Waldorf in his chauffeur-driven automobile, he was met by the hotel's assistant manager who escorted him to his $100-a-day suite. The hotel's chief security agent trailed the Prophet's 78-member entourage to protect the $100,000 worth of jewelry stowed away in 44 pieces of luggage.

With him were four valets, four bodyguards, three secretaries, a cook, dietician, housekeeper, hairdresser, three musicians and 60 singers.

Earthly minded individuals noted that admisison at Carnegie Hall is $2 and up.

As Prophet Jones packed them in, neither Father Devine nor Daddy Grace were around for comment.

Mississippi Issues Challenge to U.S.

Dixie this week was still bent on finding legal dodges to enable it to evade integration in its public schools, while in many cities and towns in the border states mixed classes were instituted for the first time with a minimum of friction.

In Mississippi, the Senate, in a challenge to the Supreme Court, approved an amendment to the State Constitution authorizing the abolition of public schools. The bill had previously been approved by the House of Representatives, and is scheduled for a vote by the people on Dec. 21.

Brash Proposal

A brash proposal in the House to use state funds to publicize the "need" for the amendment was surprisingly voted down.

The amendment gives the Legislature the right to abolish public schools throughout Mississippi by a two-thirds vote; to set up local option plans by a majority vote; to sell, lease or rent State-owned property to private individuals or corporations; and to pay tuition for students to attend private schools.

"Citizens councils" popped up all over Mississippi, and announced their intention of preserving segregation in all its aspects, and not just in the schools.

Alabama, Too

In Alabama, state leaders looked longingly at the Mississippi happenings, and a legislative committee recommended that Gov. Gordon Persons call a special session to vote a somewhat similar constitutional amendment.

At the college level, however, a few of the Dixie institutions appeared to be bowing to the inevitable. Southwestern Louisiana Institute, in Lafayette, La., admitted Negroes last week for the first time in its history. Not far away, however, at Southeastern Louisiana College and McNeese State College, Negro applicants were rejected.

At Edinburg, Texas, officials of the Pan-American College admitted the first four Negroes to attend the school in its 27-year history.

Supreme Court to Meet

A number of states, meanwhile, have signified their intention to appear before the Supreme Court this fall when it gets down to the practical task of determining how and when its mandate ordering integration is to be put into effect.

Oklahoma, Florida and North Carolina have notified the clerk of the Supreme Court that they wish to be represented when new arguments are heard.

Arkansas, Tennessee, Maryland and Texas have also signified that they wish to file as "friends of the court." The clerk stated he wasn't quite sure whether or not they wished to participate in the oral argument as well.

The states where the five test cases originated — Virginia, South Carolina, Kansas, Delaware and the District of Columbia—were still on the docket and can present their views to the court.

Few Flare-Ups Hinder Schools In Border Area

Two demonstrations against the admission of Negro students in white high schools occurred in Boone County in the coal and lumber section of the southwestern part of West Virgina this week.

There were incidents also near Evansville, Ind., and in Milford, Del.

Despite these isolated flare-ups, the majority of schools in the border areas adjusted to the change-over with remarkable ease.

Troube-Makers

At Seth, W. Va., from 15 to 20 student pickets roamed the streets in front of Sherman High School where three Negroes are enrolled in a student body of 700. The principal, C. P. Smith, said the picketing was incited by "four trouble-makers." No parents were involved.

In Madison, W. Va., some 300 people massed in the county courthouse to hold a "protest meeting" against the admission of 18 part-time Negro students to Scott High School. Last week 12 students refused to attend classes because the Negroes were there, but Principal E. C. Brown said the situation quieted down following a meeting with the student council and parents.

At Harwood School in Center Township, outside of Evansville, Ind., 40 pickets paraded against the admission of 30 Negro pupils. The picketing was orderly.

Schools Close

The two public schools in Milford, Del., closed for the second day Tuesday following telephoned threats of violence if Negro children attended classes.

Superintendent of Schools Dr. Raymond C. Cobbs issued a statement saying the schools will be closed until further notice "in the interest of the safety of all the children."

The high school students at Sulphur Springs, W. Va., who went on strike the first day of classes with the backing of their parents, have now withdrawn their objections to mixed attendance, the NAACP reports.

Fraternity Bias Vetoed By Students

Eighty per cent of both college presidents and college students oppose racial and religious discrimination in fraternities and sororities, according to a survey by the National Committee on Fraternities in Education, an organization of prominent college educators and community leaders formed to combat discrimination in fraternities.

Prof. Alfred McClung Lee, president of NCFE and chairman of the Sociology Department at Brooklyn College, reports that "powerful alumni forces" were responsible for maintaining restrictive practices. Dr. Lee stated also that the survey contradicts a commonly-held belief that fraternity discrimination is gradually disappearing.

Local Cadet To Command Encampment

Cadet First Lieut. Archille W. Herbert II of the Civil Air Patrol Cadets' Auxiliary of the U. S. Air Force, son of Mr. and Mrs. Archie W. Berbert of 2286 W. 22nd street, was highly honored recently at the annual Civil Air Patrol summer encampment held at March Air Force Base.

After an extensive three-hour drill competition with 40 other cadet officers, and a rigorous oral examination, Cadet Herbert was selected as the commanding officer of the encampment.

The group was composed of Civil Air Patrol units from all of Southern California in which 240 cadets, consisting of young men and young women of all races, were represented.

The selection, representing the first time that a Negro has been so honored, was made by Fourth Air Force officers and two senior officers of the Civil Air Patrol serving in the capacity of a board of examiners. On the basis of his command and performance, Cadet Herbert was assigned to the rank of cadet colonel during the encampment.

Cafe Sued For Denying Service

SAN FRANCISCO — Kenneth Afdil and Henry Foster were told by the management of the Copper Kettle, 2062 Divisadero, recently that they could not be served because they were in the company of a friend, Clarence Stern, a Negro.

Afdil and Foster, both white, were further informed that they could receive service if they would return without Stern. All three complaind to NAACP lawyers Terry Francois and Carl Metoyer, who filed for redress last Friday.

Admitted Killer Avoids Possible Death Sentence

Atty. Edward C. Maddox is being credited this week with having snatched an admitted slayer from possible death in the State's gas chamber.

Atty. Maddox pleaded at the hearing Friday that Floyd Jackson was not guilty of a premeditated act, and urged Judge Charles Fricke to consider the state of mind of the prisoner and the period of excitement that prevailed before the slaying.

Although Jackson had entered a plea of guilty of murder, the court fixed the crime as second degree.

Last July 4, Jackson shot and killed Granville Johnson with a rifle in front of 1814 E. 103rd street. The two men reportedly quarreled and fought when the accused man struck his common-law wife, Josephine Price, a sister-in-law of the dead man. All three lived at the above address.

The autopsy disclosed that the victim had been shot three times. Witnesses told police and the court that Johnson was attempting to flee the scene when Jackson opened fire on him.

Richard Wright To Head 1955 History Week

Richard Wright III, manager of the Broadway Federal and Loan Ass'n, has been chosen to serve as chairman for Negro History Week in 1955.

The nomination was made by Our Authors Study Club which sponsors the annual week long, varied and exceptionally interesting local celebration.

Wright, who was one of the speakers at the recent meeting of the club, urged members to inform themselves and study the history of their people. Wright, himself, is an authority on the subject and an unusually fine choice for the post of chairman.

Medical Group Accepts Negro In Carolina

CHARLOTTE, N.C.—Dr. Emery L. Rann was recently voted into membership of the Mecklenburg County Medical Society, the first Negro to hold membership in this all-white organization since its origin 51 years ago.

At the meeting of the society last May, the word "white" was removed from the by-laws and constitution of the society by a more than two-thirds majority vote which opened the way for Negro membership into the organization.

The move was in direct contradiction to action taken earlier by the state medical society when, meeting at Pinehurst, delegates beat down a proposal which would open the doors to Negro doctors. The Mecklenburg society is the first medical organization in the state to allow Negro participation.

Jury Finds Odessa Parks Not Guilty of Murder Rap

her mother and father "ever since they had moved into their 10th avenue home." She couldn't remember before that.

She told of how her father had hit her mother with his fists, of one instance when as a result of the blows, Mrs. Parks had fallen and then Green had kicked her. She recounted another time when Green had knocked her mother to the ground. She said she pleaded with him not to strike her mother again.

Contradicted Witness

The testimony of the young girl also called into question the statements made on the stand by the state's star witness, Mrs. Blanche Valentine, a next-door neighbor. Mrs. Valentine earlier had told the court how the day prior to the killing Mrs. Parks had visited her in her home, that she had been drinking, and that she threatened to kill her husband.

Young Miss Parks told the court that on that day she and her mother had gone to the Ross Snyder playground with members of the Deputy Auxiliary Police, of which Mrs. Parks was co-ordinator. She said they played volley ball, soft ball and engaged in other activities at the playground until about 4:30 p.m.

Took Stand

Patricia also told of three separate occasions when she had telephoned her grandmother to try to get her to intercede. Sadly she told the court she had loved her father.

Earlier Mrs. Parks had taken the stand in her own defense.

Mrs. Parks, a crack marksswoman who had been with the Police Department for the past 10 years and was attached to the Newton Street Police Station where she was DAPs coordinator, shot and mortally wounded her husband last May 23, on the lawn in front of their home at 2325 10th avenue. When police arrived after the shooting she reportedly fought with them to prevent them from taking her to jail. She was booked but was then released until two days later when Green died of his wounds. She was again taken into custody, but was not held, being released on bond.

Mrs. Robinson Returning From Stay at Hospital

Friends of Mrs. Florence G. Robinson were happy to learn that she would be returning to her home, 907 E. Adams street, Friday, after an illness which has kept her confined to the California Hospital for the past two weeks.

Mrs. Robinson is the wife of Dr. E. I. Robinson, president of the local branch of the NAACP.

Houston, senior methods analyst with his company, will address the group on "Centralization of Office Services in the Smaller Home Office."

Mrs. Betty Bond, pioneer resident of this city, died in the General Hospital last week after suffering a long illness. Mrs. Bond came to Los Angeles in 1905 and had been living at 3208 S. Compton avenue.

She leaves two daughters, Lorraine and Stella Bond. Both reside here in the city. Funeral services will be held from the Roberts Mortuary at 14th and S. Central avenue.
